In announcing his candidacy, Harold said he was grateful for the support and encouragement he has received from the people of his district.

He said he is seeking reelection in order to continue important legislative and district projects and see them to completion.

"We are making real progress with a major legislative initiative to reform the criminal justice system in Massachusetts through the so-called Presumptive Sentencing bill, which will bring about uniformity and truth in sentencing," Harold said.

In the district, Harold said he wants to:

Continue working with unions at the Quincy Shipyard to try to preserve the shipyard for shipbuilding, and work to secure either a new owner or an employee buyout of the yard.

PAUL D. HAROLD

Guarantee the longterm viability of Quincy Junior College through state funding.

Continue monitoring the cleanup of Quincy Bay.

Increase efforts to upgrade MBTA Redline service.

Push for the successful completion of work at the Baird and Maguire hazardous waste site in Holbrook.

See the Braintree Five Corners project, now in the final design phase, through construction.

Speed up the construction of a new Norfolk County Jail and close down the temporary jail site in Braintree Highlands as soon as possible.

Assist the town of Avon in securing a longterm reliable source of water sufficient for the town and for planned future industrial growth.

Harold was the recipient of the 1985 Humanitarian of the Year Award from St. Coletta's School, Braintree, for his efforts on behalf of exceptional children, and received the Quincy Jewish War Veterans "Citizen of the Year" award for his work with veterans.

The Italian-American Civic League last year presented him with its Medal of Honor as "Man of the Year." Next month, he is to receive the Massachusetts Veterans of Foreign Wars Silver Medal Award, the highest honor bestowed by the state VFW, in recognition of his work on behalf of veterans and their dependents.

Harold, 37, is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, Weymouth Landing. He earned his bachelor's degree in Government at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, his law degree at Suffolk University Law School, Boston, and his Masters Degree in Public Administration at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University.

He also studied at Johns Hopkins European Center in Italy and Worcester College at Oxford University, England.

An attorney and former Quincy city councillor-at-large, Harold lives at 31 Riverside Ave., Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

It has been said that criticism is the one thing most of us think is more blessed to give than to receive. How true this is... Yet none of us is perfect. So why do we expect and demand perfection from other people?

Too many times we are too quick to criticize both our peers and those who are in authority over us. Too many times we find it easy to say what was done wrong - or what should have been done...

If the truth were to be known, we might be surprised were we to know the various pressures and problems that most people operate under. We also might be surprised at how well they have done... and conversely at how poorly we might have done were we in the same place.

Isn't it true that the call to each of us is not to tear down but to build up, and to encourage? Couldn't it be said that destructive criticism is seldom worth considering? Those who know more than you do know better than to criticize; they should rather encourage; and the criticism of those who know less than you do is not worthwhile...

Granite Cooperative Completes Conversion

The Granite Co-operative Bank (GNTE) of Quincy completed conversion from Mutual to Stock form April 24.

The bank issued 517,500 shares at 9.58 per share, which has yielded the bank additional capital of approximately $4.8 million after conversion expenses.

As of April 30, the bank has completed the most successful year in its history. Assets increased from $43.9 million to $58.4 million while the net worth of the bank increased from $1.9 million to $7.8 million due to record earnings and capital derived from the stock sale.

Unaudited earnings after provision for income taxes amounted to $853,409 or $1.64/share. Earnings showed a 127 per cent increase over the April 30, 1985 results of $375,476.

Announcements Soon On Crown Colony Sites

Announcements are expected in the next few weeks on the purchase of land for five commercial buildings at Crown Colony Place, West Quincy, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

The developers of the 177-acre project on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St. are also negotiating with a major hotel, the mayor said. The project, estimated at $250 to $500 million, will be the largest development in the city's history, said McCauley.

The Musaad Al-Saleh family of Kuwait is planning the project. Meredith & Grew is the real estate broker.

or state agency involved." Dukakis wrote to McCauley that he reviewed the news article in question.

"I believe a careful reading, particularly with reference to the placement of the quotation marks, indicates that Chairman Rodriguez did not state that the City of Quincy was either acting in bad faith or lying."

"Rather, in response to a reporter's question, the chairman apparently used Quincy as an example of what would happen if a community were not in compliance."

Dukakis said that he also spoke to Rodriguez about the matter.

"I know that you and City Council president (Stephen) McGrath as well as Chairman Rodriguez and I share a common goal: ensuring the civil rights of all the citizens of our Commonwealth," stated Dukakis.

Council Takes Authority Over Trash Energy Facilities

The City Council voted unanimously Monday night to establish itself as the special permit granting authority for trash to energy facilities which might be sited in Quincy, and approved by at least a two-thirds vote of the City Council.

"This gives tremendous protection to Quincy," said Sheets.

Projects Making Progress

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Progress is being made on the city's construction projects involving the police station, animal shelter and Squantum fire station, according to David Colton, Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.

"The police station is right about on schedule, the animal shelter is a bit ahead of schedule, and the Squantum fire station is behind schedule," said Colton.

"When you lump them all together, we're doing fine," he said.

Quincy Police Station - The architect is working on the final design for the $8 million addition and renovation of the station, according to Colton. Those plans are expected by around November, he said.

The conceptual appearance of the station has been drawn, he said, and now finer details are being planned such as duct work, wiring, phone conduits and the location of offices.

The addition to the station should be built by the end of 1987, and the renovation done by 1988, he said.

Animal Shelter - A preliminary report from the architect for the animal shelter has been received, said

Colton. Once approved, the architect can start drawing up plans and design the actual building.

The animal shelter should be built and operational in 12 to 18 months, he said. A price has not yet been set for the work, he said.

Squantum Fire Station - About $218,000 worth of work is expected to begin about June 1 on the fire station, Colton said.

An addition to accommodate larger, more modern pieces of apparatus, is planned as well as work on the heating system, roof, windows and insulation of the building which was built around 1940, he said.

Renovation of the Squantum Community Center, in the basement of the fire station, is also planned, according to Colton.

A 30-week construction period is expected, he said.

Other work this summer will include rehabilitation of the Quincy Pumping Station and sewer interceptor work in Quincy Point using a $1,700,000 federal grant, street resurfacing, water main replacements and water pumping station work, Colton said.

Citywide Parents' Council Raises $4,000 For Computer Program

The Quincy Citywide Parents' Council announces that it has raised $4,000 for the computer program in Quincy Public Schools.

Arthur Gillis and his Quincy Public School computer staff have allotted the funds to purchase software programs for all schools and storage cabinets for each high school. The money will also go towards establishing a software fund for special teacher projects which will be available by application.

The parent group had selected computer literacy as its goal for the 1984-1985 school year. At the recommendation of school administration, a drive for funds to purchase computer equipment was launched.

The computer was raffled off during Sidewalk Sale Days in July and contributions were solicited from area businesses.

The Citywide Parents' Council expressed its appreciation to Mrs. Barbara Morris and Mrs. Ruth Lenahan for spearheading the fund-raising effort at a recent meeting. It presented each of them with a gift certificate to a local restaurant in recognition of their hard work.

The Parents' Council also extends special thanks to Unicom of Dedham for donating the Apple IIc for the raffle; to the school administration, especially Arthur Gillis and his staff for their help; to Mayor Francis McCauley for his support and cooperation as well as that of his staff; to the QEA for its assistance in coordinating the collection of funds and for its help; to the Royal Bookstore for its cooperation during Sidewalk Sale Days; and to the Quincy Chamber of Commerce and Downtown Businessmen's Association for their cooperation.

The Citywide Parents' Council thanks the individuals and businesses who made donations to the computer fund.

Boston Gas, Colonial Federal Savings, Derbes Brothers, Granite Coop Bank, Kinney Systems, F.X. Messina Enterprises, National Fire Protection Ass'n., The Patriot Ledger, Quincy Cable Systems, Quinoid Industries, Inc., Ricciardi Co., Inc.

Shaws Supermarkets Inc., South Shore Bank, Joanne Condon, Ted DeCristofaro, Brian Donnelly, Dr. Harold Goodman, Senator Paul Harold, Christopher Kennedy, Michael Morrissey, Mark Mundy, Mary and Robert Quinn, Kathryn Roberts, Patricia Toland.

The Parents' Council extends grateful appreciation to all those individuals who gave their time and efforts selling raffle tickets and staffing the booth at the Sidewalk Sale.

The parents' group hopes that a business-school partnership will result from this initial effort to support the public schools in its efforts to make Quincy school children computer literate.

Manet Health Center Director Wins Award

Ellen Hafer, executive director of Manet Community Health Center, is a recipient of the Massachusetts League of Community Health Centers' "Kathleen Crampton Award" for "outstanding contribution to the health center movement."

The award was presented at the League's Annual Dinner attended by over 400 people and celebrating 20 years of health center history.

There are over 70 community health centers statewide throughout over 1.5 million visits providing the commonwealth.

Mrs. Hafer serves as chairwoman of the Department of Public Welfare Medical Advisory Committee, and is an active member of the League of Community Health Centers.

She was previously Executive Director of the Affiliated Neighborhood Health Centers of Boston, Inc., and has served on the Brookside Health Center Board and Martha Eliot Health Center Board.

She serves on the Harvard Street Neighborhood Health Center Board and Brigham and Women's Hospital Board.

Mrs. Hafer resides in Jamaica Plain with her husband and three children.

In her remarks, Mrs. Hafer reflected "pride in the quality of care at health centers and their commitment to provide care in areas that others have left."

She challenged the group to "maintain that quality and strive to have medical care available for everyone whether or not they can pay the cost."

Representative Richard Voke, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, addressed the group on the State's commitment to health care.

He is supportive of legislation and appropriations to reimburse health centers for uncompensated care.

Gertrude Peter, president of Manet Community Health Center's Board of Directors, was also honored as a nominee for the Joseph Smith Consumer Award for having made a significant contribution to the health center movement.

She serves on the Massachusetts League of Community Health Center Board and chairs Education Board and chairs its Education Committee. She contributed to the formation and development of Manet Community Health center and is a resident of Hough's Neck.

Beechwood Center Annual Budget $312,000

At a recent meeting of the Beechwood Community Life Center, Executive Director Betty Southwick, presented reports which listed an annual budget of $312,000.

The report also stated that some 900 persons use the building facilities each week.

New programs added during 1985, said the report, included a second day care program for toddlers, an Alzheimer's Disease support group, a monthly Coffee-house, an after-school program for children, walking clubs and expanded physical fitness activities for older persons.

At the meeting, and re-lected to the Board of Directors were Nancy Zona, William Horte and Gail Lombardi. New members elected were Joseph Daly, Warren Kirkland and Cathleen Thornley.

Nearly 200 Compete In Senior Olympics

By JOHN KLINGENSTEIN

Last week nearly 200 senior citizens proved they were not only young at heart but in body too, as they competed in a number of athletic events at the fourth annual Senior Olympics.

The olympics, co-sponsored by the City of Quincy and the Beechwood Community Life Center, brought together people between the ages of 50-65 who participated week-long in sports such as the long jump, bowling, the javelin and the three mile walk.

This olympic competition is still the only Senior Olympics held in Massachusetts.

Fitzpatrick Hurls No-Hitter For Kiwanis

Kiwanis climbed above the 500 mark in the second week of the Little League Baseball season winning twice. Kiwanis defeated the Elks 8-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Bobby Fitzpatrick, who struck out 10 while walking just two. Fitzpatrick also shone as a hitter pacing Kiwanis with a single and a grand slam home run.

In addition to Fitzpatrick's two-way play Kiwanis also got fine efforts from David Jolly and Chris Olsen who had two singles each. Tommy Hutley, Mike McManus and Sean MacDonald also had singles and Nutley and MacDonald played outstanding defense behind home plate and at shortstop respectively.

Kiwanis won again, beating Colonial Federal 13-3. Chris Olsen fired a three-hitter to earn his second win of the season. Olsen helped his own cause by hitting three singles while MacDonald added a double and a pair of singles. Nutley had a triple and a single, Jolly had two singles and McManus had one single.

The defense play of the game was a 6-4-3 double play turned in by Kiwanis' Fitzpatrick, MacDonald and McManus.

First JFK Regatta Saturday, Sunday

Edward M. Kennedy, Jr. and M. Kerry Kennedy were present at the recent press conference to kick off the first annual John F. Kennedy Regatta.

The Memorial Day weekend regatta is sponsored by Marina Bay of North Quincy to benefit the Friends of the Kennedy Library. The regatta is expected to attract more than 150 boats in 10 classes. Racers will sail an 18 to 25-mile course from Marina Bay to Graves Light and back.

The Regatta weekend begins Friday night, May 23, with a skippers' reception at the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library. Racing begins Saturday morning, May 24, and the same schedule will be repeated Sunday, May 25. The awards ceremony will be held Sunday at Marina Bay.

Although the library is maintained by the federal government, the Friends of the Kennedy Library provide the "extras" that transcend the library's archives. The Friends refurbished and still maintain "Victoria," the 25-foot sloop President Kennedy sailed.

Marina Bay is a 400-acre development with docking space for more than 600 boats. Several restaurants and shops line the Marina Bay waterfront. The JFK Regatta is one of several events sponsored by Marina Bay although sponsors expect the race will become the centerpiece of their seasonal calendar.

"In the near future this race will compete with the major classic sailing events in the country," said Peter O'Connell, partner of O'Connell Management Company, Inc., Marina Bay developers. The regatta is open to all sailors. The entry fee is $25 per boat, the last day for registration is Wednesday, May 21.

Stadium Lighting Committee Launches Drive For $100,000

The Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee held a reception last Thursday for local businessmen at Amelia's Restaurant at Marina Bay in an effort to raise funds for permanent lights at the stadium.

The reception was hosted by Frank and Richard Barrett of the Barrett Family Restaurants.

Committee president Bob Meenan gave a presentation outlining the plans the committee has for the stadium, not only the lights but other renovations to the stadium.

Quincy football coach Jack Raymer and North coach Ken McPhee addressed the group, explaining the "shot in the arm" the project will give to all the athletic teams in Quincy, including the youth football, soccer and track programs.

"We feel up to 5000 could attend football games under lights every Friday night," Raymer said. "The two games we had under temporary lights last fall proved this."

McPhee explained that the youth football teams can play under the lights and the Quincy Track Club, which operates weekly with more than 400 boys and girls, can hold night meets.

The goal of the committee is to raise $100,000 and it is hoped the money will be raised in time for the games this coming fall.

"We are going to do it," said Raymer. "If we can't raise that much money in this city, then there is a real problem. We have a really beautiful facility—potentially one of the best in the area for high school sports. We need to make the most of it."

Lighting is the first stage of what is hopefully a complete overhaul, including funds to renovate the press box, which was damaged by vandals, add a concession stand, resod the field and recondition the track.

Businessmen are asked, if interested, to send a tax deductible donation to Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee, P.O. Box 7228, Quincy 02269-2778.

Police Club Sends Out Message

The Quincy Police Club has sent the message to other teams that it will be difficult for anyone to remove them from their throne this season.

The Police, defending Babe Ruth champions remained undefeated with wins over Quincy Firemen and the Elks Club.

Pitcher Jeff Calvert notched his first win of the season showing excellent control as Police defeated the Firemen 8-2.

Police struck three times in the first inning and batted through the order. Brian Kelly led off with a single but was out on a fielder's choice by Tom Roberts. Bill Bellew followed with a walk and he and Roberts scored on a long triple by Mike Ainsley. Ainsley later scored when Firemen walked three straight batters. Police scored three more in the third on base hits by Jim Ward and Mike Cronin. Mike Iacobacci walked and he, Cronin and Ward scored on base hits by Roberts and Bellew.

Firemen finally got on the board in the fourth on a triple by Bill McDougall and an RBI double by Chris Noble. The Firemen came up with a late seventh inning rally with McDougall and Noble both reaching base on singles. McDougall scored but Calvert got out of the jam nicely with two groundouts and a strikeout.

Police lost the services of rookie Sean Cafferty for a few weeks. Cafferty jammed a finger sliding into second base and was treated for the injury. For the Firemen, Mark Feeney made an outstanding catch but it wasn't enough. Police defeated the Elks club the next day by an almost identical score of 8-3. Ainsley went the distance for the Police as he recorded 10 strikeouts. Ainsley now averages 10 strikeouts per game. The Police scored one each in the second and third, twice in the fourth and four times in the fifth to complete their scoring.

For Police Jim Ward and Matt Ryan played well while for the Elks, Rob Buttomer had a single and Scott Logan had a towering triple.

In a strange happening in the sixth, the field umpire called Buttomer out for distracting Ralph Bevilacqua as he attempted to catch an infield pop-up. Buttomer was called out for apparently shouting "I've got it, I've got it."

Cubs Edge Mets, Blast Red Sox

The defending champion Cubs raised their record to 2-1 with two very different wins.

The Cubs pulled out a 5-4 victory over the Mets when Billy Coughlin doubled home two runs in the last of the sixth inning. The Cubs also got RBIs from Susan Sheehan who knocked in one with a double and Sean Mahoney who knocked in two.

The Cubs offense was led by Brendan Ridge who had three singles and Matthew Miller who had two A.J.

Carthas also had two hits while Billy Dunn and Billy Manning each singled. Carthas and Ridge shared the pitching duties for the Cubs.

In the second win, the Cubs pounded out 12 hits including a homerun by Gerard Baccalao to blast the Red Sox 14-0.

Ridge and Carthas each had three hits. Ridge and Carthas had nine RBIs between them as Ridge had six and Carthas three. Sheehan had two singles and two RBIs as did Coughlin. Carthas and Ridge combined again to hold the Red Sox to one hit while striking out eleven.

In other action the Pirates beat the Dodgers 6-5 on a home run by Dave Pacion. A fine pitching effort was turned in by the quartet of Pat Donovan, Shawn Hoy, Bradley Grey and Matt McSweeney. Matt Radevich and Jimmy Murphy had hits for the Pirates.

Carroll Ends Plymouth State Career With Award

Senior co-captain Ed Carroll of North Quincy has finished his career in style for the Plymouth State College basketball team by being selected for the 12th annual Paul Durand Memorial Award.

Head coach Phil Rowe presented the 6-4 former North Quincy High star with the award given annually to the PSC player who displays the best attitude, hustle and desire on the team.

"Eddie played four years of basketball here and always gave it his all," said Rowe.

"He was a very good co-captain and leader for us and enjoyed an outstanding final game for us against Southern Maine. We enjoyed having Ed play basketball for us and feel he was a great example for our younger players."

Carroll scored 12 points and pulled down five rebounds despite a bruised foot in the 86-70 upset win over Southern Maine. The Panthers finished at 13-11, the best record by a PSC team since 1976-77.

"The Durand Award is a very prestigious honor," said Carroll. "It's a nice way to end your career and I've certainly enjoyed playing basketball at Plymouth State."

The hard-working Carroll averaged 6.4 points a game and was second in rebounding with an average of six a game. He finished second in field goal percentage (56.8).

The Durand Memorial Award is sponsored by Otto and Connie Durand of Plymouth, N.H., whose son Paul died in a 1974 automobile accident.

Josephs' Team Wins Koch Women's Crown

Charlene Josephs' team won the 31st annual championship of the Koch Club Women's Bowling League, downing the Linda Melaren combine 1468-1357.

Josephs' team won the first half and Linda Melaren the second half to set up the championship match.

Sharing in the victory with Josephs were teammates Edie Maher, Claire Fitch, Marie Shea and Mina Scanlan.

In the championship rolloff Josephs' team took the opening string 469-466 with Maher leading the way for the winners with a 112 while Josephs had a 99. Jeanne Burgess kept the match close in the opening round with a 123 for the losers.

The winners picked up 50 pins in the second string and made it a sweep in the final and a 111 pin victory.

High scorers for the match were Maher, 325, and Josephs, 295 for the winners and Burgess, 319 for the losers.

Barbara Murphy proved the outstanding individual bowler with top average of 107.7, high individual three string total of 378, most spares, 210 and total strikes, 25.

Debra Koch finished with the best solo single string of 149.

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League will conduct their 31st annual awards banquet on Friday, May 30, at the Neighborhood Club in Quincy.

Red Hot Quincy Racks Up 3 Wins

Quincy High remained hot this week winning three including an exciting victory Monday against Newton North 7-6.

Quincy won the game in the eighth inning when it broke a six-all tie under some strange circumstances. Jay Lepusio took a third strike but the ball got by the catcher and Lepusio beat the throw to first base. Dan Biagini then beat out a sacrifice bunt and Dave Tocchio walked to load the bases. Tommy Hogan delivered a clutch game winning single that scored Lepusio and raised Quincy's record to 9-6.

Catcher Steve Austin and Bobby Hunter both played well offensively, knocking in two runs and getting two hits apiece.

Quincy had its batting shoes on again last Thursday night as it rolled over North Quincy, 13-0, in the first night game at revamped Adams Field. The Presidents again claimed the city title, as they topped the Raiders, 3-1, earlier.

Larry Taglieri pitched five-hit ball and struck out 15 for his second win in as many days.

His mates gave him plenty of plate support with Dave Tocchio and Tom Logan having three hits apiece and Steve Austin and Steve Constat two each.

Quincy had another big hitting day earlier in the week to top Cambridge Rindge and Latin 12-9, with Taglieri picking up the win, striking out five in three innings of relief.

Bobby Hunter, Logan and Austin all hit home runs for the Presidents. In the fifth inning Dan Biagini (two hits) and Taglieri (2-for-2 and three walks) had run producing doubles to put Quincy up, 9-6.

North Bombed By Brookline 13-7

North Quincy High baseball team was again beset by poor pitching as it lost to Brookline last night 13-7, lowering its record to 3-13.

The Raiders got solid hitting from Chris Rossi who had two hits, and Chris Gray who had a 2 run single in the seventh. Bill McDougall, Tom Casey and Chris Ricciuti also had hits for North.

North's season continued as the Raiders played Brockton yesterday (Wednesday), will meet Cambridge tonight (Thursday) under the lights of Adams Field and will play Tuesday against Weymouth South also home night game.

Last Thursday night, in the first night game at revamped Adams Field, North was pounded by Quincy, 13-0, as the Presidents claimed the city title, having edged the Raiders, 3-1, earlier.

Quincy's Larry Taglieri pitched five-hit ball and struck out 15 Raiders.

Peter Tufts, Steve Haggas, Bill McDougall, Chris Rossi and Ted Shionis had North's hits. Chris Cody pitched well in relief.

The previous day North handed Waltham many unearned runs and lost, 15-11, the second time in three days it had scored 11 runs and lost.

Earlier in the week the Raiders topped Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 11-7, for their third win of the year.

North pounded out 14 hits and five players drove in two runs each.

Freshman McDougall went 3-for-3 in his first varsity game and had two RBI. Tufts homered and Dan Santry was the winning pitcher.

Raiderettes Defeat First Ladies

The North Quincy girls' softball team capped a busy week when it defeated Quincy, 9-4, last Thursday.

The four-game schedule in as many days resulted from the rescheduling of a rained-out game with Cambridge Rindge and Latin from the previous week.

The Raiderettes finished the week with a 2-2 record to make their season's mark 6-7.

North opened by handing Newton North its first loss of the season, 5-3. The Raiderettes then lost to Cambridge, 8-7, and to Waltham, 17-7, before the win over Quincy.

Ann Anderlonis was the winning pitcher against Newton and Quincy while Noreen Connolly took the loss to Cambridge and Ann McGuigan was the loser to Waltham.

Anderlonis, who continues to hit at a .469 clip, came up with a double and single against Quincy, driving in two runs. Quincy took a 4-3 lead into the fourth when North scored four times to take a 7-4 lead. Tricia Grant's two-run double, and Anderlonis' single accounted for the runs. Nancy Leonard had three hits and continued to play sound defense at third base.

The Waltham game was a replica of the game played earlier. Waltham parlayed 14 walks and seven hits into 17 runs. North out-hit the Hawks with 10 hits but shabby fielding coupled with the pitchers' wildness spelled early defeat. Anderlonis again led the hitting with a double and two singles.

The Cambridge game was a see-saw affair in which the lead changed hands many times. North overcame an early Cambridge lead by tying the score at 4-4 in the second.

With the score again tied, 6-6, in the fourth, North scored a go-ahead run in the fifth when Connolly drove in Kristine Drake, who had opened the inning with a single.

It all proved in vain as Cambridge, without the benefit of a hit, scored twice in the sixth. North had the potential tying run on third when it stranded Leonard, who had collected her fourth hit.

In the big win over previously unbeaten Newton North, Anderlonis, who pitched her steadiest game of the season, scattered four hits and walked three. Anderlonis and Karen Reister led a seven-hit attack, each with two hits. Leonard sparked on defense, coming up with the start of a seventh inning double play.

Mary Pratt's Raiderettes ended the week just as they began, with a win in a 15-11 slugfest with Brookline that included much wildness by both teams' pitchers.

Colleen Hannon who replaced Noreen Connolly in the third inning, survived a five-run onslaught in the fourth inning and completed the game to earn the victory.

North batters continue to hit and yesterday collected 11 hits. Sara Harrington, Connolly, and Hannon paced the attack with two hits apiece. Connolly's tripled and singled in a big 11 run fifth inning to put North ahead for good 15-11. North's record is now 7-7. They entertained Brockton yesterday and travel to Cambridge today.

Lister Inducted Into NU's Hall Of Fame

Quincy native David G. Lister was recently inducted into the Northeastern University Hall of Fame for his accomplishments in crew.

Lister, a 1963 graduate of North Quincy High School, rowed for the Huskies when the sport was introduced in 1965 and now, 20 years later, he is one of the program's guiding forces as president of the Northeastern University Alumni Rowing Association.

He was captain of Northeastern's first ever freshman boat in 1965 and won three varsity letters for crew through 1968 when he was named the sport's MVP.

At the end of the 1968 season he received an invitation to the 1968 Olympic Development Camp.

As a Husky freshman Lister helped the Husky crew program to some early glory when he stroked the freshman eight to the Dad Vail Regatta championship, symbolic of the national title for small college crew programs.

The Huskies were rowing on the Charles and the Seekonk and the Carnegie in those early springs, and from 1966-68 put together an impressive aggregate regatta record of 12-6 against the best in the East.

Lister came out of high school as a versatile, all-around athlete. He was a track and soccer standout at North Quincy High, was co-captain of the soccer team in 1963 and a second team Patriot Ledger all-scholastic.

In track he established the school record in the 120-yard low hurdles and was also a big point scorer in the dash and middle distances.

Lister was Northeastern's MVP as a senior in 1968 when the Huskies twice defeated Boston University and also defeated a strong Brown heavyweight crew.

In addition to running the NU Alumni Rowing Association he is a vice president of the crew in the Northeastern Varsity Club.

He was freshman crew coach at NU as a fifth year co-op education student in 1969 when he graduated with a degree in physical education. He is currently Department Coordinator for Health and Physical Education in the Duxbury public school system.

An active white water rafter, sky diver and marathoner (he finished the Boston Marathon in 1978 and 1980), Lister resides in Duxbury with his wife Terry and two children, Jennifer, 15, and Geoffrey, 12.

Dudek Signs With Denver

Plymouth State and North Quincy High School standout running back Joe Dudek came to terms with the Denver Broncos of the National Football League and will report to their minicamp tomorrow as a free agent.

Dudek, who scored a record 79 touchdowns in college was not chosen by any NFL club in this year's draft. He had however been pursued by several teams including the New England Patriots, Chicago Bears, and Dallas Cowboys, in addition to the Broncos.

Dudek was drafted in the fourth round by the Tampa Bay Bandits of the United States Football League as their second choice overall but chose instead the stability of the NFL.

Terms of the contract were not discussed by Dudek or the Broncos organization.

Century 21 and Pandick Press battled to a 2-2 tie. Chris Frieling and Brendan O'Brien had the goals for Century and Andy Vermette and David Carney for Pandick. Chris Foley, Zac Costa and Robbie Lesinskas played well for Century and Stephen MacDougall and Bob Galewski for Pandick.

Searry Real Estate shut out O'Connell Gardens, 4-0 on goals by John Gott, Pat Bryan, Matt Howarth and Timmy Pomar. Jason Picardi was outstanding in goal and Charles Billikas turned in a good performance.

Tucker Anthony blanked Friar Tucks, 2-0, with Shawn Erler scoring both goals. Bob Ragusa, Brian Sharp and Erick Fleming played well for Friar and Ryan Bell for Tucker Anthony.

Quincy Police defeated Quirk Ford, 3-1. Doug Nolan had two goals for the police and Mike McKinnon one. Jason Fennelly turned in a good game in goal and Jason Wakelin played well. Joshua Wingate scored the Quirk goal while Martin Rickie, Peter Johnson and Keith Reynolds played well.

Commonwealth Builders built a 2-1 win over Sweeney Brothers on goals by Brendan McCarthy and Brian Zuffante and with good work from Chris Meade, Kevin Keady and Andrew Joyce. Mike Ferguson had the Sweeny goal while John Cheverie and Matthew McDonough turned in nice games.

Boys Under 12: American Legion defeated Knights of Columbus, 3-1 on goals by Joe Foley, Roberto Wilkosky and Keith Treandafilus. David Flaherty, John Rueti and Brandon Anderson played well. The Knight's lone goal was by Stephen O'Brien. Derrick Thompson, Jason D'Angelo and Ken Drinkwater had nice games.

Quincy Fire blanked Wickens & Troupe, 1-0 on Danny Melzard's goal. David Bogan was outstanding in goal and Jason Schofield and Patrick Shea played well. Patrick Hannan, Michael Fitzgerald and Daniel Smith turned in good games for the losers.

Quincy Cooperative shut out Presidents Pharmacy, 4-0.

Girls Under 12: The Ink Spot blanked Shore Taxi, 2-0 with both goals by Kara

Feeney, Carrie Frenette and JoAnne Sprague turned in good games for the winners and Carol Blaikie and Calece Greeley for the losers.

Ford and Bertrand edged Fleming & Langlois 1-0, with Ern Lydon winning it on a penalty kick. Ann Marie Geary and Theresa Quinn played well for the winners and Colleen Zuffante, Tricia Callahan and Stephanie Olsen for the losers.

Boys Under 14: Dependable Cleaners defeated Sons of Italy, 4-2. John Fahey and Mark McMillen each had two goals for the winners while Michael Sherwood, John Geary, Richard Frazier and Chris Olsen turned in strong performances.

Special Needs: Quincy's Billy McDonoughs were edged by Weymouth, 6-5. The Quincy goal were scored by Tracy Princioti, Kenny Duncan, Alice O'Keefe, Richard Vallee (2). Mary Birchmore turned in a good performance in goal and Elaine McKoon was outstanding on defense for the Quincy team.

Barrett, Brown Curry Standouts

The Curry College baseball team ended one of its longest seasons in years with a disappointing 6-23-1 record, playing a challenging schedule with many young players getting their baptism Division 3 baseball right from the start.

Two Quincy players provided some of the few bright spots for the Colonels, each having an outstanding season.

Junior outfielder Bob Barrett had a torrid final week at the plate to finish at .366. He had 34 hits in 93 times at bat.

Senior outfielder Jack Brown of North Quincy finished his career with a .258 batting average. He was awarded the team's Best Fielder trophy with only one error in 42 chances.

The Quincy Youth Soccer League's traveling teams lost five and won three games over the weekend.

The results:

Boys Under 12: The Quincy Comets were dimmed by Easton, 1-0. Tom Nutley and John MacNeil had good games for the Comets.

The Quincy Bees stung Whitman, 9-0 with Matthew Dwyer leading the attack with four goals. Michael Dern had two and Varinder Dhillon, Robert Cibotti, Billy Degan one each. It was an outstanding team effort.

Girls Under 12: The Quincy Sockarets socked it to Braintree, 6-2, paced by Angela Marinella's three goals and Susan McCole's two. Karen McCabe had the other. Danielle Bartell and Cindy Mitten turned in good performances.

Boys Under 14: Quincy Rovers were stopped by Brockton, 6-1. Patrick O'Donough scored the Rovers' only goal. Chris Halloran, Shawn Echelle and John Foster played well.

Quincy Patriots were blanked by East Bridgewater, 4-0. Rob Dunn, Kenny Erickson, Kenny Piccini and Joe Baker turned in good games for the losers.

Girls Under 14: The Quincy Presidents were voted by East Bridgewater, 2-1. Quincy's only goal was scored by Karen Miller. The Quincy team played well but East Bridgewater was a little better.

Girls Under 16: Quincy Early Birds flew by East Bridgewater, 6-1, led by Kellene Duffy and Dawn Sullivan who had three and two goals respectively. Patty Feeney had the other. Deanna Nigro and Kaitlyn O'Brien turned in good performances. The Quincy Hurricanes found Weymouth too strong, bowing 2-0. Julie Murphy, Maureen Shea, Donna Mastriani and Bethan Walsh played well for the losers.

Holiday At Pool

In observance of the Memorial Day Holiday weekend, the normal schedule of swimming sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool will be cancelled on Sunday May 25, and Memorial Day Monday May 26, 1986.

The normal schedule of pool activities will resume on Tuesday May 27, 1986 at 5 p.m.

Scorza Team Koch Men Champs

Mario Scorza won the second half of the Koch Club Men's Bowling League competition with 82 wins and 30 losses and shared the victory with teammates Paul Thompson, Matt Micelli, Mark Smith and Rich Brown.

The Scorza combine then went on to down the first half winning team of Del Derochea to win the season championship.

Other finishers in the second half standings were Mike Doyle, 68-44; Tony Monti, 56-56; Jim Broadbent, 54-58; Tom Dowling, 53-59; Steve Mancuso, 50-62; Dan Brennan, 43-69, and Del Derochea, 42-70.

Jim Broadbent edged out Tom Dowling for the top average with 108.9 to Dowling's 108.5 while others finishing in the top ten included Doyle, 107.8; John Broadbent, 105.3; Monti, 104.5; Russ Melanson, 103.6; Mancuso, 103.4; Matt Micelli, 103.3; Mario Scorza, 102.4 and Dan Micelli, 100.4.

Scorza's team bowled the high three string total of 1542 while Dowling's combine posted the best team single string of 556.

Dowling scored the best individual three string total of 380 while Doyle posted the best solo single string of 153.

In the final week of bowling, John Broadbent topped the weekly elite "320 Club" bowling a 347 and was joined by Bob Woddman, Sr., 337, Jim Broadbent, 331 and Melanson, 328.

The Koch Club Men's Bowling League will conduct their 36th annual awards banquet on Friday, May 23, at the American Legion Post #95 Hall in Quincy.

 and down week as it beat the Hawks 11-7, then lost a heartbreaker to Keohane's 7-6 before bouncing back to pound Colonial Federal 26-4.

In beating the Elks, Burgin was led by his catcher Mark Kelleher who had his second homerun of the season. Mike Malvesti, Brian Doherty, and Mike Burke all had two hits apiece. Pitcher Tom Balzano got the win, striking out 11.

Burgin lost to Keohane's 7-6 on a bases loaded walk in the bottom of the sixth. Burgin was hit by the hitting of Duane Holmes whose base clearing double in the top of the fifth tied the game at six apiece. Keohane's was led by the pitching of Ridge who struck out eight. Ridge also helped his own cause with a couple of key hits.

Burgin exploded for 23 hits in downing Colonial 26-4. Mike Burke had five hits and Balzano had four including his second home run of the season.

Quincy Cable continued to play good ball as it raised its record to 3-2 with a 14-10 win over Rotary. Pat Gallagher had three triples, a double and five RBIs for Rotary. Gallagher also pitched the game striking out seven while walking two to earn his second win of the season. Chris Peck had four hits including two triples and a double as he scored three of Cable's runs. Mike McDonald also had four hits and scored three runs while Aidan O'Donoghue and Mike Kavanaugh chipped in with three hits each. For the Rotary, Mike McDougall had two hits and played a fine centerfield. Vin Anderlions had four hits in the losing effort.

Elementary Schools Hold Bookmark Contest

Students in four of Quincy's elementary schools celebrated School Library Media Center Month by participating in a bookmark contest and by taking part in other library-related activities.

Prizes were awarded to the best bookmarks created in each grade at Merrymount, Montclair, Parker and Squantum Schools as judged by Media Specialist Theodore Clarke, Art Specialist Robin McGoff and the principals of the schools, Gerald Gowen, Lee Gould, Daniel Malvesta and Fatima Allie.

April was also the month for learning about Folk Tales and their derivations by the third-graders of each school, while fourth and fifth graders pursued scavenger hunts that led through the mazes of card catalogs and indexes to ferret out specific information. For the lower grades there were book talks, stories and filmstrips, the acclaimed favorite being "Mr. Popper's Penguins" from 1938.

The winning entries from the bookmark contest from each school were entered into a state-wide contest. The winners:

Merrymount School: Michael Johnston, Stacey Knight, James Lencki, Jennifer Cabrera and Lisa Chenette.

Montclair School: Jeanne McKinnon, Jimmy Lee, David Carney, Mary Quilty, Timothy Brown and Junior Mahoney.

Parker School: Peter Donnelly, Mike Doyle, John Monti, Kelly Goff, Sean Williamson and Tracy O'Sullivan.

Squantum School: Wendy Trafton, Jennifer Cullen, Sarah Radell, Joseph Leona, Elizabeth Gustin and Susanne Hamilton.

American Cablesystems Named Finalist In 1986 CLIO Awards

American Cablesystems Corporation of Beverly, has been named a finalist in the local U.S. Cable Advertising category of the 1986 CLIO Awards competition.

The CLIO Award is the world's most recognized and coveted advertising accolade. Now in its 26th year, the 1985 competition drew 19,506 entries from 40 countries, making it the world's largest advertising awards program.

"Furniture World—On The Move," the nominated 30-second commercial, was produced by American's Quincy-based Massachusetts advertising team, who employed stop-action videography to create the illusion of animated furniture.

James Ladas of Quincy was producer/creative director of American's commercial for Furniture World and Water retailer, an independent retailer of furniture and waterbeds in Weymouth. Copywriters were Donna Robertson of Milton and Ladas. Lighting, camera work and editing were handled by freelance videographer editor Thomas Fahey of Weymouth. James Liedka of Scituate was the account executive.

American's advertising team produces 30-second commercials for Massachusetts businesses. The spots reach an audience of over 60,000 households on cable satellite stations carried by American's 28 Massachusetts systems. These stations include Cable News Network (CNN), Music Television (MTV), ESPN, Video Hits One (VH-1) and the Lifetime Network.

American Cablesystems has been nominated in the past for advertising awards by the Cable Television Administration and Marketing Society and the Cable Television Advertising Bureau. This is the company's first CLIO nomination. CLIO winners will be announced at a ceremony on June 16 at the New York State Theatre's Lincoln Center in New York City.

American Cablesystems Corporation is a seven-year-old multiple cable system operator which owns and operates cable systems with more than 310,000 subscribers in Massachusetts, New York, Florida, Illinois, and California. It's 28 Massachusetts systems have nearly 100,000 basic cable and subscribers.

WEEK OF: MAY 22

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
It's important to double check any work that you are supervising. Partner responds favorably to your whimsical moods. Casual meeting may lead to longlasting partnership.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Novel approach can bring surprisingly bright results on the homefront. Loved ones may seem to be testing your patience, but give them the benefit of the doubt.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Novel approach can bring surprisingly bright results on the homefront. Loved ones may seem to be testing your patience, but give them the benefit of the doubt.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Family ties strengthen noticeably and you gain new respect for a relative. Neighbors may seem petty, but don't try to beat them at their own game. Romantic situation stabilizes.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Unusual coincidences are scattered through the week. A relationship becomes less strained thanks to your ability to empathize. Neighbor's or colleague's favors may have strings attached.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Financial or other information coming your way can be misinterpreted. . . don't jump to instant conclusions. Casual relationship may be enhanced during this period. Writing skills are highlighted.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Identifying and strengthening a character weakness can turn this one of the year's most productive weeks. Extensive comparative shopping is important if considering a major purchase.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Despite your low-key approach, people recognize and applaud your unique abilities. Travel is favored but be sure to budget for unexpected expenses. Weekend may see a reconciliation.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Week sees you enjoying the limelight and re-establishing an important relationship. Financial belt tightening may be in order. Employment prospect may show signs of brightening.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
The week may see the start of a long lasting relationship, personal or professional. Youngsters get the inspiration for some bright ideas. Contests of skill are generally favorable.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Honing your skills can lead to professional advancement. Community undertakings are generally highlighted, but avoid making too many commitments. Loved one shows a poetic side.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Judgment is all important; leave little to chance or intuition. Sense of humor can help you cement a friendship. Sense of design is sharp; it's a fine time for redecorating.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You express yourself effectively through the spoken or written word, yet often you keep your innermost thoughts to yourself. A more open approach can lead to an expansion of your small friendship circle and to a notable improvement in your career situation. Periodic financial reviews are a must.

Lydon Calls Zoning Changes Policy For The Future

as in setting the tone and policy," said Lydon.

The most dense P.U.D. ever approved was Bay Shore on Quincy Shore Drive, he said, and that has one unit per 1500 square feet, 500 square feet more than the council is requiring as a minimum.

Lydon said the 1,000 square foot limit had been advanced by developers initially.

Sheets said, "You have to look at all the zoning changes as part of a much broader plan to control development."

"Obviously, I would have preferred to have a 100 foot limit (which he suggested at the meeting), than 110 foot, but it was a good compromise where the votes weren't there."

"I was much more disappointed in the council's action to change P.U.D. to 1,000 rather than 2,000."

"Their failure to adopt 2,000 or something close, say 1750, is really a continuation of the same kind of decision making occurring on zoning issues since January."

"When it comes time to change, no one is willing to make tough decisions."

"Hopefully the zoning task force (of the City Council) will come in with helpful recommendations. But who knows when that report will come in, or how long the council will take to act."

Sheets predicted an explosion of development in residential housing in Quincy during the next five to six months because of the lack of "meaningful zoning changes" and low interest rates.

He said he is not sure if all the councilors equally feel the pressure from developers.

"They're not aware of the damage being done. It depends on how the ward is zoned. There is a lot of Residence B in Ward 4, and quite a bit of P.U.D."

Sheets has introduced zoning amendments in the past, said and says he will continue to do so.

"It's the only way to deal with the problem," Sheets said.

Voting against the 110 foot height limitation were Sheets and Councilors Thomas Nutley and Joseph LaRaia.

Sheets and Councilor Richard Koch, Jr. voted against the 1,000 square feet for PUD.

Hot Words Erupt Over Pay Raises

things is to consider a raise for yourself," said Cheney, "but you have to separate yourself from the position."

"I feel very strongly that both the mayor's and the council's raises are adequate."

"If a particular councilor (LaRaia) feels that strongly, there is a charitable amount which has been set up, and you could put the balance in that. It will be interesting to see if that happens."

Councilor James Sheets said, "At the Finance Committee meeting, Councilor LaRaia wanted the opportunity to change his vote."

"I think he should have been able to change his vote. That's why we are debating this tonight."

Finance Committee chairman Richard Koch, Jr., said, "the council did nothing improper. We dealt with the appropriations in committee."

"The council's existence is a means for open discussion," said LaRaia. "You people denied me the right to comment on the matter."

"The mayor's duties have been diminished, there is almost complete severance in running Quincy City Hospital."

"I know the City Council works very hard but I'm being consistent with my vote."

"If I've offended anyone, then I'm sorry," said LaRaia.

Councilor John Lydon countered, "You've been consistent many times in seizing an issue for political reasons."

"This has gotten completely out of hand," said LaRaia.

"The council, including you, works very, very hard," continued Lydon. "We've received substantial documentation on whether or not the mayor and city council should receive pay raises."

"The issue has been pointed out analytically by the city."

LaRaia then stood up and asked, "What did I do to offend?"

"You wanted a discussion, Joe," said Cheney. "now you have it. There should be discussion. People should know what we think, and you shouldn't feel so sensitive."

Councilor Thomas Nutley attested to the amount of work done by the council. Referring to himself as a freshman councilor, he said he is "bewildered by the amount of paperwork and calls."

Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro, who voted against both raises, said, "We deserve the money we get, but I didn't take the job for the money. I was elected to the job."

Councilor Patricia Toland said that she was not present for the Finance Committee vote last week because of a previous commitment out of state.

She suggested a review committee to deal with salaries.

LaRaia's motion to reduce the money for the mayor's raise from the budget failed when his was the only vote in favor.

Council Passes $91,962,245 Budget

"The Council did a good job," said Mayor Francis McCauley after that body unanimously passed a $91,962,245 municipal budget for fiscal 1987 at its meeting Monday night.

"I want to congratulate the councilors, especially Richard Koch, Jr., the finance committee chairman," said McCauley.

"The council acted on the budget within the 45 day limit."

It's a good budget, a tight budget.

"It has to be a tight budget with Proposition 2½."

The council made only two cuts totalling $55,000.

A requested increase for the law department in judgments, losses and claims from $150,000 to $200,000 was cut back to $150,000.

The budget had included an increase for labor negotiator from $35,000 to $40,000, but that was cut back to $35,000.

McCauley said the cuts in the budget were the smallest since he has been mayor.

The budget takes effect July 1, 1986.

No! No! No!

QUINCY SAID NO to drugs recently as students from Broad Meadows, Sterling, Point Webster and Central Middle as well as St. Ann's Schools marched through the rain to Quincy Center for a rally against drug abuse. From left, Kelly Ross and Carrie Hughes, both seventh graders at Broad Meadows where the idea originated, carried bunches of balloons. Mayor Francis McCauley and Councillor Michael Cheney joined the marchers.

Expect $308,000 In Hurricane Gloria Aid

The city expects to receive $308,053 during the first half of June as part of the federal and state reimbursement for damage caused by Hurricane Gloria last fall.

But it will very likely be beyond the Sept. 27, anniversary of the storm before all of the money is reimbursed.

"It was two years after the Blizzard of '78 before we were reimbursed," said Principal Planner Richard Meade who was designated as disaster assessment officer.

"This time, we do have all of the documentation," said

Meade who noted that the application was submitted in February.

"We had expected the first payment sooner. It's just the process.

"Some communities have already received payment. At least we're receiving the first payment now."

This payment was approved for emergency work by city employees and private contractors who worked on such things as clearing the streets of debris after the storm, Meade said.

There was $645,000 amount of damage in total, he said.

To be reimbursed for repairs to such things as sidewalks where trees had to be removed, or sites such as Adams Field which were damaged, the city must complete the work and then request payment, according to Meade.

"We anticipate that all of the work will be completed by September or earlier," said Meade.

The federal government will pay 75 per cent of the damage, state, 12½ per cent and the city 12½ per cent.

McCauley Undecided On Fourth Term

Mayor Francis McCauley said he hasn't given any major thought to whether or not he will seek a fourth term in office.

"I'll make a decision the first of the year," said

McCauley. "It's a little early.

"I'll start to think about it after the fall state elections," he said.

McCauley, a former banker, easily defeated Councillor Joanne Condon by a 64 per cent margin in last fall's election.

Councillors Joseph LaRaia, James Sheets and

Stephen McGrath have been mentioned as possible mayoral candidates.

Retail Or Office Building Possible

UDAG Funds May Help Renew Kincaide Site

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A portion of the more than $2 million the city received after the sale of 200 Newport Ave. could be used to revitalize the site of the former Kincaide Furniture Building in Quincy Sq. destroyed by a recent five-alarm fire.

"The money has to be used for community development purposes, and that's a possibility," said Arthur Foley, administrative assistant to Mayor Francis McCauley.

The money is repayment of a $1 million UDAG grant which was awarded in 1984 and was to have been paid back over 15 years. It also includes such things as interest and a share of the profits which were part of the agreement.

The possibility was discussed at a meeting attended by Foley and some Quincy Square merchants. Planning Director James Lydon and Principal Planner Kevin Shea also attended.

"It was a very preliminary meeting," said Foley. "The merchants were concerned about what might happen.

"There is about an acre of land, and it offers quite a few possibilities," said Foley, who noted that the possibilities of a large retailer or office building were discussed.

"If we could attract a good tenant, we could continue to revitalize downtown Quincy in conjunction with the Bargain Center project," Foley said.

The Bargain Center is scheduled to be demolished soon to make way for President's Place, a $54 million project to include offices, retail and residential space.

"When the dust settles, we want to sit down with the owners of the property and discuss possibilities.

New UHF Radio System For Fire Department

Chief Carl V. Valenti announces that a new radio communications system is being installed in the Quincy Fire Department.

The new UHF Radio System, recently approved by Mayor Francis X. McCauley and the City Council, will be operational on or before June 1, he said.

The UHF radios are the latest State of the Art design and will provide a greater range of communications.

"We wish to thank the Mayor and the City Council for their support of the Fire Department by providing us with the modern tools of the trade which allow us to do a better job for the citizens of Quincy," Valenti said.

Valenti has asked that the new UHF frequency be made known to the general public.

"Hundreds of Quincy and South Shore residents enjoy listening to our operation on their scanner radios," he said. "We consider them to be supporters and friends of the Quincy Fire Department and wish to share this information with them."

The new operational frequency is 483.5375 MHZ. Quincy Fire Alarm will also be active on the Metrofire frequency of 483.3125 MHZ. The new Quincy channel is now active during installation for tests and operations.

The Quincy Fire Department conducts radio tests twice each day on the new frequency. These tests are at 8:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Don't Put Rubbish Out Too Early

Quincy residents are reminded that rubbish for collection must not be put out prior to 4 p.m. the day before pick up is scheduled.

Numerous complaints have been received from citizens objecting to the practice of putting rubbish out early, according to David Coltin, Deputy Commissioner of Public Works.

Large household items will be picked up on the regular rubbish day as well as limbs and lumber if properly bundled in four-foot packages, according to Coltin.

Health Commissioner Petition On Governor's Desk

A home rule petition dropping the requirement of an MD degree for Quincy's health commissioner is expected to be signed shortly by Gov. Michael Dukakis.

The petition was passed in both the House of Representatives and the Senate and was sent to the governor May 22. He has 10 days in which to act. An aide to Dukakis said she saw no reason the petition would not be signed.

Mayor Francis McCauley

said he could not estimate when the health commissioner position might be filled once the petition is signed.

That position has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985. Richard Stuart filled in as acting health coordinator, but suffered a heart attack and is not expected to return to work.

Personnel director David Smith is filling in, McCauley said.

"We'll have to begin the process with personnel," said McCauley, "and advertise in trade magazines."

"We'll move as quickly as possible, but I don't know how long it will take," he said.

The city council voted unanimously Jan. 21, to approve the home rule petition introduced by McCauley after he had difficulty finding a medical doctor to take the job for the salary of slightly over $40,000 the city was offering.

McCauley had earlier submitted a home rule petition to establish an unpaid, five member Board of Health and a Health Commissioner appointed by the mayor for three years.

The council added amendments, introduced by then councillor and mayoral candidate Joanne Condon, to the petition which McCauley rejected.

Boat Looted

James Meehan of Cedar St., Wollaston, reported to police May 21, that $384 worth of equipment was stolen from his boat at the Squantum Yacht Club.

Reported stolen were a six-gallon Johnson gasoline tank worth $59, two fishing poles and reels, $250; and three life jackets, $75.

Board Revokes Vissa License

By DAN CONNELLY

The city Licensing Board voted Tuesday to revoke the license of the Vissa Construction, Furnace Ave., West Quincy, for failure to erect a fence around the property.

A letter written by abutter Joseph R. Valante, concerning the area surrounding Vissa, was brought to the board's attention during the hearing.

In Valante's letter he said: "The Board voted that Vissa would erect a fence around his property no later than April 15, and keep all his equipment within this area. As of this date, Vissa has erected some fencing along the property line that borders mine and a partial fence not on his property. Vissa has not complied with the License Board's vote that he fence in his own area completely, and stay within his licensed area. I believe the Board has been very lenient and fair in allowing Vissa ample time to correct his problems and should take the action it proposed because of his failure to abide by the Board's vote."

The Board told Robert Vissa his license was revoked until such time as conditions are rectified and that the business site is properly fenced in to comply with the existing license.

Valante told the Board he purchased the abutting property several years ago.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall:

- Granted a request from Quincy Fireman's Muster Team for a one-day beer and wine license for Sunday, June 29, from 12 noon to 6 p.m. at the Quincy Elks Home. Proceeds will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Rain date for the event is July 6.
- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license on July 26 for a wedding reception to be held at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus was granted to Carolyn Shaughnessy.

• Continued to June 10 a hearing regarding a request from Chioumin Harry Lee for a common victualer license, formerly held by Doughboy Diner, 625 Washington St., Quincy Point. Lee told the board he plans to convert the diner to a Mandarin Szechuan type Chinese restaurant. The continuance was ordered pending a routine police check.

New Hours At Quincy IRS Office

The Quincy office of the Internal Revenue Service will have new taxpayer assistance hours, announces John D. Johnson, district director for the IRS in Massachusetts.

Plymouth Stolen

A 1986 Plymouth Duster owned by Richard Fottler of Sea St., was reported stolen from the parking lot of the former Dutton's restaurant, Sea St. May 21.

Beginning June 2, the office, located at 1458 Hancock St., will provide taxpayer assistance on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Collection Division will have service available on Mondays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Those who cannot get to the office for assistance can call toll-free 1-800-424-1040.

FIX-UP DOLLAR SENSE

QUESTION: What is the best way to make home improvements with the thought of getting a better price when you sell?

ANSWER: It's what a buyer SEES that makes the difference. Which would add more to the visual value of a home — new insulation or a new kitchen? Unless the insulation is really on its last legs, a new kitchen is a better investment. A buyer can SEE a new kitchen or remodeled bathroom, or an exterior paint job, but will he SEE the insulation behind the walls?

It's always nice to do both, but if you have a choice, spend your money where it will be seen the most. It will make your house more attractive and more salable.

IT'S WHAT THE BUYER sees, not what you tell him that makes the difference.

BROCKTON CITY CLERK JOHN J. LYONS, was the keynote speaker at Quincy's Memorial Day parade and ceremonies sponsored by the Quincy Veteran's Council.

On Memorial Day:

A Special Tribute To Vietnam Veterans

Brockton City Clerk John J. Lyons gave special praise to Vietnam veterans as the keynote speaker at a ceremony in Mount Wollaston cemetery during Quincy's Memorial Day observance.

Lyons, introduced by Quincy City Clerk John

Gillis, chairman of the city's holiday exercises, told a cemetery crowd "We are assembled on this Memorial Day to bring a tribute of respect to the revered memory of those whom our great country owes so much.

"In this the 'City of Presidents' you have always conducted yourselves in a manner worthy of your fallen comrades of all wars and on this particular Memorial Day morning, I wish to single out the Vietnam honored dead.

"Their names are carved on a monument in our nation's capital and also etched on a scroll in the 'City of Presidents.' There may be a monument in Washington, D.C., but their monument is in our hearts.

"The beautiful flag of our country that flies over the many headstones in this cemetery and cemeteries all over the world on this Memorial Day shows what veterans of all wars represent. They represent democracy which symbolizes what these young men gave up for you in the prime of their lives.

"Let us never forget. It is because of them we have this land of golden opportunity. So here we are today in this great historic city. It heritages the many gifts that were preserved for us by those who gave up so much."

Vote For Shipyard Buy-Out Study

Meeting behind closed doors Monday night at Quincy Vocational Technical High School, about 70 salaried workers at General Dynamics Shipyard overwhelmingly voted to contribute toward a $100,000 study of the feasibility of a worker buy-out of the yard.

The vote by engineers, superintendents and other salaried personnel came after union leaders reassured them that the yard's blue collar workers voted for the study last week.

This latest vote action by yard personnel clears the way for the study which will be done for the state by the Industrial Cooperative Association of Somerville.

The vote commits the employees to contribute $25 to $50 apiece toward the study. Of the $100,000, $75,000 will come from the state, $20,000 from blue-collar workers and $5,000 from the salaried employees.

With both white-collar and blue-collar workers behind the study, the Industrial Cooperative Association, a non-profit national consulting firm specializing in worker buy-outs, will examine whether an employee-run yard would work in Quincy.

General Dynamics announced last summer it would close the 102-year-old shipyard due to the lack of work. The work force at the yard has been reduced from 5,700 to 650 since April 1985, when the first layoffs began.

The St. Louis, Mo.-based company is trying to sell the 183-acre site to industrial or commercial developers.

'Her Excellency' Change Scheduled For Convention

If ninth graders at North Quincy High School have their way, the Constitution will be changed to allow for the possibility of a woman governor.

A bill to that effect was filed by Rep. Michael Morrissey on behalf of the students and was scheduled to be on the agenda for the Constitutional Convention yesterday (Wednesday) at the State House.

Morrissey explained that, according to Article 61 of the Constitution, the governor shall be known as "His Excellency."

"They want it to read 'His or Her Excellency.' " Morrissey explained.

The change must be approved by a majority vote of two successive sitting legislatures, according to Morrissey.

"If that happens, it could be on the ballot in 1988," he said.

Readers Forum North Quincy Pride Committee Members A Valuable Asset

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would like to call attention to a valuable asset to the city of Quincy, namely, the teenagers who belong to the North Quincy Pride Committee.

Recently, our parish had the privilege to host 17 Japanese high school students and two of their teachers for nine days. They were touring the United States to experience our culture and lifestyle. While they were with us they went sightseeing in Quincy and Boston, and attended North Quincy High School for three days.

The highlight of our Japanese visitors' time with us were those three days at North Quincy High School. I attribute this to the Pride Committee. Peter Chrisom, principal of North Quincy High School, asked each member of the Pride Committee to escort one of our visitors through that particular student's schedule for that particular day the visitor was with the student. I could not get over how warmly and enthusiastically the Pride Committee representative took to this task and to the Japanese student assigned to them. To say the least they were wonderful.

The concern and openness of the Pride Committee to these foreign strangers who spoke only a little English soon won our visitors over and strangers became friends. They not only gave their time and energy during school hours, but by the third day their friendship had grown so much that the Pride Committee members decided to take their new friends shopping and to a pizza dinner after school. This, truly, was an American teenage experience.

I write this letter to say thank you to Mr. Chrisom, and to the North Quincy High School Pride Committee. I also write this letter to let the City of Quincy realize the quality of teenagers we are fortunate to have in this city; they have been ambassadors of goodwill on our behalf. So let us all say, thanks for a job well done!

The State Elections: Yawn!

If you have trouble sleeping nights you won't need any pills this fall.

Just — yawn — try the state and county elections. They'll send you to night-night for sure and fast.

There are eight Quincy candidates on the ballot — all getting free rides to re-election.

Running unopposed:

State Senator Paul Harold, State Reps. Thomas Brownell, Robert Cerasoli and Michael Morrissey; Governor's Councillor Peter Eeley, Dist. Atty. William Delahunt, Sheriff Clifford Marshall and County Treasurer Daniel Raymond.

That may never have happened before. Not in recent times, anyway.

Looking at the county political picture you'd have to say there certainly is a strong Quincy influence there.

In addition to Delahunt, Marshall and Raymond, another Quincy resident, Nicholas Barbadoro is Norfolk County clerk of courts.

And, of course, George McDonald is a county commissioner.

The county seat may still be in Dedham but all the political power is coming out of Quincy.

And, it's all Democratic.

Just the complete opposite of the 1930's and 1940's when the county was still a GOP stronghold and every elective office was held by a Republican.

Back in those days there were so few Democrats they could hold a political rally in a telephone booth.

DICK SETTLES of the Settles Glass Company in Quincy and his wife, Shyla, recently took a three-week visit to Europe and didn't let the threat of terrorism spoil it.

"Security at the airports was tightened," he said. "At the Vienna Airport, we were met by a half dozen soldiers with sub-machine guns.

Donnelly Urges Ban On Lobbying By Former Officials

Charging that too many people are trying to "cash in" on their work for the government, Cong. Brian Donnelly has introduced legislation to curb lobbying by former government officials.

Donnelly said his proposal is aimed at "weeding out those who view their stint with the federal government as a mere stepping stone."

According to the proposal, former federal employees, including members of the Congress, would be prohibited from lobbying or attempting to influence the government for one year. They would be forbidden to represent a foreign government for two years.

Cabinet-level officers, high-ranking White House officials, and heads of intelligence agencies would be permanently barred from working for foreign governments, according to the legislation.

"The highly-publicized case of former White House aide-turned-lobbyist Michael K. Deaver is only the most visible example of a growing trend," Donnelly said.

"At both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue, from the White House to the Capital, too many people are leaving government to cash in on their federal experience and contacts," Donnelly said. "This practice is seriously eroding the public's confidence in the integrity of all public servants."

Donnelly predicted quick action this year on legislation to curb lobbying by former officials. His proposal, he said, "provides a simple, enforceable way to prevent those who are employed by the federal government from leaving federal service and marketing their influence for private gains."

Former officials who violate the law would be subject to fines of up to $500,000 and four years imprisonment. The penalties are substantially stiffer than those provided in companion Senate legislation proposed by Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), Donnelly said.

"Anyone who has followed recent news reports recognizes the need for this legislation," Donnelly said. "Former federal officials are now openly selling their influence to foreign governments and bragging about it in the press."

"These individuals have made it clear, through their actions and their works, that they view their government service as a mere 'resume builder,' a minor inconvenience necessary to achieve the financial rewards they believe they so richly deserve for having endured the government service detour," Donnelly said.

"Federal law should be designed to attract the best people to government," he said. "Weeding out those who view their stint with the federal government as a stepping-stone can only result in a higher caliber of federal employee."

"We want to give them the opportunity to work with us," said Foley.

Meanwhile, the lot at the old Mutual Building (Kincaide's) continued to be cleared and investigators are still probing the cause of the fire of suspicious origin at 1601-1621 Hancock St. which caused an estimated $4 million damage.

The State Fire Marshal's office, Quincy Fire Prevention Bureau and Quincy Police Department are investigating.

Samples from the five areas where the fire was set have been sent to the State Laboratory, according to Acting Quincy Fire Chief Carl Valenti.

New Bells For St. Mary's

Four bells were dedicated in blessing ceremonies at St. Mary's Church, West Quincy this week.

It was noted that this was the first time such ceremonies were held in the city, since St. Mary's was the only Catholic Church in Quincy which had bells.

The bells were blessed by pastor Rev. William O'Connor. The largest of the bells was donated by Dr. Joseph Sheahan.

BURGLARY AT THOMAS CRANE LIBRARY

Burglars broke into two safes at Thomas Crane Library over the weekend. The amount stolen was only $10.

Librarian Truman Temple explained that monies from fines and other receipts were never left in the building overnight.

Inspector John Avery noted that the burglars were very considerate of the premises. Instead of staining the floor with tobacco juice, they used a cup for a cuspidor.

QUINCY REGISTRY BRANCH BOOMING

Inspector William McConnell, officer in charge of the Quincy Registry branch noted a 300 percent increase in receipts, since the branch opened in 1923.

He said that more than 50 people a day visited the Quincy office for license examinations. He also said that Quincy's allocation of 15,000 license plates had already been exhausted.

Assisting McConnell at the branch was Miss Mary Hayes and Miss Florence McKinnon.

MILLION DOLLARS OF CONSTRUCTION

Building Inspector Warren Parker said that building in the city reached the million dollar mark for new construction during the month of May. An average of three permits a day were issued by this department. Quincy, he noted, was one of the few cities in the state to show growth at such an unusually rapid speed.

'Diabetes And Health' At QCH June 3

"Diabetes and Health," a program focusing on the ability of people to control their diabetes, and not allow it to control them, will begin Tuesday, June 3, at Quincy City Hospital.

The program, a series of weekly topics, will emphasize the four cornerstones of diabetes management, What Is Diabetes?, Living With Diabetes, Medications, and Eating For Health.

This month's program will meet in the evening, by special request, and will be incorporated into two, two and a half-hour sessions. The first session, which will include "What Is Diabetes?" and "Living With Diabetes," will meet Tuesday, June 3, from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

The second session, including the topics of "Medications" and "Eating For Health" will meet Tuesday, June 10 from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Pre-registration is required for these programs, and a registration fee will be charged. To register for the Diabetes Program, or to receive additional information, contact Arleen Ferretti, R.N., Diabetes Educator, at 773-6100, ext. 3029.

Allen Goldfarb: He Tries To Give Students The Ability To Think

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

In the classroom at Broad Meadows, he helps students learn social studies and to think for themselves.

At his part-time job in Filene's Basement Men's Department, he helps people dress well.

The common denominator is Allen Goldfarb's enjoyment of people.

"I get along with them," smiled the middle school teacher who has been honored by both students and the School Committee for his work in the schools.

Teacher Profiles

Goldfarb has also received a service recognition award from Filene's where he has been employed part-time for 35 years. He has the longest service record of any of that chain's employees across the country.

Goldfarb enjoys both careers.

"I try to give students the ability to think and make decisions," he said.

"Sometimes they don't want to do that. They find it difficult to think for themselves.

"It gives me satisfaction to see people who had been in my class to become successful. I feel that I've helped shape their lives.

"Recently, one of my students from Chelsea came by. He's now a state legislator."

"Teaching is totally different than dealing with people in Filene's Basement.

"You're whole attitude is different. At Filene's, you're there with a smile and a joke.

"I enjoy the people I work with," said Goldfarb, whose customers include Gov. Michael Dukakis, as well as personalities from television and the theatre.

"Also, I don't have to go home and prepare for the next day's work.

"I feel that it's not really my job. I can relax and there's a freeness."

His "real job," education, is a family tradition, according to Goldfarb whose brother, Dan, teaches romance languages at Quincy High School.

"My parents were always interested in education. A college education was vital important," he said.

Goldfarb taught in Chelsea from 1957 to 1965.

While teaching and supporting a wife and the first of two daughters, he studied part time and received a master of education degree from Northeastern University in 1962. The university held a special commencement for Goldfarb in the president's office so that he could qualify for a master's degree increment in the city.

When he left Chelsea to join the Quincy School Department in 1965, a testimonial was held in his honor and an article in a local paper was headlined, "Master Teacher Leaves City."

summer school program offered at Broad Meadows, and was nominated for the Distinguished Teaching of Geography Award for 1986.

One of the achievements of which he is most proud is the success of the Annual Student Centered Instructional Materials Exhibit and Conference held for the past 12 years at Broad Meadows Middle School.

The School Committee presented him with a plaque for his efforts on the 10th anniversary of the exhibit. "I feel that it's my contribution to education in Quincy," said Goldfarb.

Educators and parents from the South Shore are invited to the event at which publishers display instructional material.

Goldfarb explained that it is difficult for teachers to attend most materials exhibits, and expensive because they have to take a day off from school.

"So we brought the exhibit to Quincy," said Goldfarb, who was one of four educators who began the event.

"Now it's all done by me - what we do and where we do it."

"After a while, you get it down to a science and everything falls into place. Any place I go now, I leave a brochure for the exhibit in the School Superintendent's office."

Fifty-nine publishers participated in this year's event which attracted representatives from 20 communities.

"It helps everyone," explained Goldfarb, who said that teachers are able to see books in their hands rather than in a catalogue, and the PTO is helped financially by the admission paid by publishers.

"It's excellent public relations for the city," said Goldfarb who is known as "Mr. Quincy" by the New England book publishers.

But back in the classroom, he is Mr. Goldfarb.

At the beginning of the school year, he sets the tone by telling students, "I'm not your friend - I'm your teacher."

"I can be funny, but not in the classroom very often."

"Behavior comes first or you can't teach anything," explained Goldfarb.

"If you step out of line, you have to pay for it. If you have discipline, you can learn."

"I'm a hard marker, but fair."

His classes include film strips, movies, currents events.

"Their hands and minds are always in use," said Goldfarb who has received "Best Teacher" awards from past student groups.

He gets much satisfaction from all of his endeavors.

"I like to be appreciated, and I feel what I have done - people appreciate."

(Editor's Note: Allen Goldfarb was selected for a teacher profile by a panel from the Quincy Education Association for his work as a professional educator and an involved community person.

Panelists are Deanna White-Hebert, Snug Harbor School; Paul Phillips, North Quincy High School; Jack Buckley, president, Central Middle School; Thomas Walsh, Quincy High School; and Mary Curtin, Atherton Hough School.

Teacher profiles will continue in The Quincy Sun.

Task Force Planned To Control Future Of Moon Island

Mayor Francis McCauley is in the process of forming a task force, suggested by Rep. Michael Morrissey, to control the future of Moon Island.

Morrissey made the suggestion because he is concerned that Moon Island, which was under consideration for the Suffolk County House of Correction until a Boston site was chosen, may be a target for other "offensive uses" by Boston.

"Until the island is designated as a park or open space, Quincy residents should not rest on their recent victory," said Morrissey.

McCauley called the suggestion a good idea. "I agree that we shouldn't just let things die, until the next fight arises," said McCauley.

The mayor said he expects to name people to the task force next week.

Morrissey also requested that the task force address questions about the ownership of the island, as well as the permitted uses that were raised during the siting process.

Quincy recently took the island, which had been owned by Boston, by eminent domain.

McCauley said that he has received no response from Boston on that action.

HN Legion Post Bar To Open Earlier Sundays

The Houghs Neck Legion Post told the License Board Tuesday it is losing bar business because it can't open until 1 p.m. on Sundays.

So the board voted to grant a temporary six-month license to the post for a 12 noon opening, the first to any club in the city.

According to Thomas McDonald, new bar manager and his assistant, Raymond LaRue, the Houghs Neck post is losing a number of its Sunday member patrons to private enterprise, all because other bars feature televised sporting events soon after noon openings.

McDonald and LaRue were in harmony when they told the Board no one was going into a bar at noon to view a sporting TV game and when the clock strikes 1 p.m.

vacate their seats and head for the legion post to resume TV watching.

After some discussion the Board granted the request with a stipulation: they can open at noon but attendance MUST be members only.

The new Sunday opening time will be monitored by the Board.

Don Gohl To Speak At QCA Meeting

An official of the Quincy Cooperative Bank will be the featured speaker at the Quincy Citizen's Association Meeting June 4, 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd.

Don Gohl, an assistant vice president and Newport Avenue bank branch manager will give an informative talk on which way interest rates will go, future mortgage rates, the prospects for IRA's under the tax reform bill and investments in general.

Also slated for discussion at the meeting is the recent action by the City Council who voted for a 110-foot building height limit and not to curtail density in future planned unit development projects.

Stephen Morad Student Council V.P.

Stephen S. Morad, 40 Rawson Rd., Wollaston has been elected vice president of the Student Council at Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston for 1986-87.

Rev. Maureen Young Bethany Guest Preacher

Sunday, Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, will have as its guest preacher, the Rev. Maureen E. Young.

Rev. Young is an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ and is Director of the Department of Pastoral Care at Quincy City Hospital. She received her Master of Divinity Degree from Andover Newton Theological School, is a Ph.D. candidate in Pastoral Counseling at Boston University, and is a nationally certified Clinical Pastoral Education Supervisor. In addition to her other duties she is presently serving as interim minister of the North Community Church in Marshfield Hills.

The service of worship is at 10 a.m. and will include the celebration of the Lord's Supper. Holy Communion is open to all Christians. Members of the community are invited to share in the worship, in the breaking of bread and in hearing Rev. Young preach on the topic, "Picnic On The Beach." Her sermon is based on the Gospel of John, chapter 21 which speaks of Jesus' appearance to the disciples by the sea.

The Scripture reader for the service will be Tora Fernald Huntington wife of the Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, who is the liturgist for the service. Peter E. Krasinski will be at the organ and will direct the Chancel Choir.

The worship service is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA, 1300kc. Taped copies of the service are available for $2 by contacting the church office.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. with classes from preschool through eighth grade. Nursery and toddler care is provided as well. Our Early Childhood Coordinator, Alana O'Shea, will be present to supervise the care of the children and to welcome new families.

It will feature works of Bach, Mendelssohn, Vierni and others as well as old time favorites.

Children's Sunday At United First Parish

United First Parish Unitarian Church, Quincy Center, will observe Children's Sunday June 1 at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Cynthia Edson will lead the service. The theme will be "Celebration of Childhood."

Readings will include poems by Shel Silverstein and the Children's Version of the U.A.A. Principles and By Laws.

Soloist Eleanor McGourty will sing "All Things Bright and Beautiful," accompanied by Norman Corey.

The program will include presentations by each church school class. The sixth and seventh graders will retell some of Jesus' parables with illustrations done by the children themselves, then lead the younger children in singing "The Wise Man Built His House Upon a Rock."

The third-fifth graders will do a presentation of their personal icons of God, under the direction of their teacher.

Dr. Linda Williams. The preschoolers will tell about fun in church, with a display of photos the children took themselves with teachers Kendra Kiraithe and Cindy Adams.

The second grade class will receive special recognition for the completion of a yearlong project about Unitarianism. The children, who worked under the direction of Charlotte Currie, learned about the history of the U.U. movement, current U.U. beliefs and ideals, the story of their own historic church, and participated in various social action projects.

Those who completed the project include:

Russell Savelle, Brad Currie, Valerie Chin, Alyssa Coatello, Ned Wickberg, Marc Adams, Leigh Williams, Angela Bohl, and Jennifer Post. Flaming chalice pins will be presented to each child by chairman of the board Ann Wickberg.

Level III in the church school will graduate to the Jr. High class. Celia Blight, chairman of the Religious Education Committee, will present each graduate with a T-shirt featuring the flaming chalice, symbol of Unitarianism.

Level II members will receive personalized Bibles, to be used the next year in the church school studies.

Mary Vallier will give each child a tomato plant for their own gardens, to remind them of their year in church school during the summer recess.

Music will include "Sing a Song," "You're Special," and "Love is Something If You Give It Away."

The children will present a banner, designed by 8 yr. old Alyssa Costello, which will represent the church at the General Assembly in New York this summer.

Children from the church school will usher, greet, and pour during Social Hour.

'The Will Of God' Topic At Quantum First Church

"What Is The Will of God?"

was the sermon topic Sunday at the First Church of Quantum during the second service. The sermon at the early service was "Taking Your Stand Against Drugs." Both sermons were preached by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langvin.

Chris and Robert Dixey were the ushers at the early service. Mindi Hurd led the call to worship, Susan Scott gave the opening prayer. Sarah Mildram read the scripture and Karen Reister offered the prayer of dedication.

At the second service, the greeters were Laura and Robert Smith, the ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott, and Joan Hansen and Diane Lindblad were in charge of the Fellowship Hour.

The offertory anthem sung by the Chancel Choir and the Youth Choir combined was "I Believe" by Gene Bartlett. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

The hymns were "When Morning Gilds the Skies," "Take My Life and Let It Be," "Be Thou My Vision" and "Now, O Lord, Go With Us." During the early service, the congregation was accompanied by guitarists Andrew Ogilvie, David Williams and Mary Ruth Scott.

This Sunday there will be only one service at 10:30 a.m. Deacon Tom Williamson will be the preacher.

In Sun Spotlight Settles Offering Everything In Glass For 62 Years

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Richard Settles is sometimes asked, tongue-in-check, if it's a "pane" to be in the glass business. But kidding or not, he doesn't have trouble coming up with an answer.
For Settles Glass Co., with its main office at 196 Washington St., Quincy, has been in business for 62 years and has 17 operations from Andover to Hyannis. It continues to grow.
"We're a full service glass company to the public," said

Settles, president of the business which was started by his grandfather John H. Sullivan, in 1923, and continued by his father, J. Clarke Settles, until his death in 1973.
"We have everything in the way of glass that the public needs," said the Braintree resident who is married and the father of three children.
The company offers everything from glass table tops and insulated windows for residential customers to mirrors for such businesses as beauty parlors, according to Settles.

A large portion of the business is auto glass, he said.
Settles also installs glass in commercial buildings, and has a $500,000 contract with O'Connell Brothers Construction for the World Trade Center under construction on Boston's waterfront.
The company expects to open in early June a large wholesale auto glass center in Randolph after Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

This Memorial Day our American Flag will be flying in memory of all who served in their country's time of need...

1 AM OLD GLORY... For over 200 years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of America's fight for freedom, I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a nation of fifty sovereign states. Planted firmly on a high pinnacle of American Faith my gently fluttering folds have proved an inspiration to untold millions. They have looked upon me as a symbol of national unity. They have prayed that they and their fellow citizens might continue to enjoy life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which have been granted to every American as the heritage of free men. So long as men love liberty more than life itself; so long as they treasure the priceless privileges bought with the blood of our forefathers; so long as the principles of truth, justice and charity for all remain deeply rooted in human hearts, I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States of America...

Koch Commends Personnel For 'Excellent' Conditions At City's Cemeteries

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments praised Cemetery Department personnel for the "excellent conditions" at the Quincy Public Burial Places during the month of May and over the Memorial Day holiday weekend.

Many people visit the Mount Wollaston, Pine Hill and Hall Cemeteries over Memorial Day.

Historical Hancock Cemetery, Sailor's Home off of Fenno St. and the Snug Harbor Memorial Cemetery in Germantown were also prepared for the Memorial Day weekend.

Koch said that the tedious work of trimming around the thousands of monuments and markers plus the need to continually cut the multi acres of grass despite the adverse weather conditions of periods of rain and rizzle was a credit to the determination and pride of the Cemetery Work Force.

Koch attributed the yeoman task to the field supervision of Foremen Richard McNeice and Henry Verlicco and Working Foreman Ralph Brancaccio under the direction of Supt. J. Vincent Smyth. The Cemetery Department Office Principal Clerk assisted in expediting the clerical and work orders as recorded in the office.

"The augmentation of additional equipment by Mayor Francis McCauley and City Council and a responsive reaction by Cemetery Department Employees have increased the efficiency and effectiveness of the city agency."

Graves Registration Officer

Lawrence Carnali is responsible for the annual placement of flags at all veteran grave sites reflecting the array of patriotic colors each Memorial Day.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off laundry costs with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories before you eat them? Take control with a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

Settles: Everything In Glass For 62 Years

being awarded the Super Distributorship for Ford Auto Glass Parts. "Ford has selected us to be the exclusive representative for all of their glass parts for the state," said Settles, who is active in several trade organizations.

Part of the company's success is due to its use of computers, according to Settles.

"Any company which wants to survive needs to be computerized," he said.

"We couldn't handle our large inventory without computers."

Another asset is the 110 skilled employees.

For example, Settles has employees experienced in working with mirrors to assist residential customers decorating their homes.

"We're not interior decorators, but we can tell you if something will work."

"If it can be done with glass, we'll do it. If it can't, we'll tell you," he said.

Settles also offers quick service replacement. Since such items as insulated glass for windows are made in-house, the company doesn't have to wait for delivery.

"We stand behind everything we do. If there's a problem, we're around to solve it."

"If we make a mistake, we own up to it."

"If you do business with us, you know you'll end up satisfied."

Settles hopes that one day, one of his children will take over the business.

"It's sad to see a business flounder and fail when the principal dies."

"I'm glad we've been able to keep the company on an upward path since my father passed away."

"A business shouldn't rely on one person to run it."

"If I weren't here tomorrow, the business would continue."

"We have a lot of dedicated people."

Memorial Mass May 29 For Koch Club

The ninth annual memorial Mass for deceased members and friends of the Koch Club of Quincy will be held Thursday, May 29, at 7:30 p.m. in Our Lady's Chapel of Sacred Heart Church, 388 Hancock St., North Quincy. The Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, will be celebrant of the Mass.

Families and friends of the deceased members are invited to attend the memorial Mass.

Light refreshments will be served in the Sacred Heart School Cafeteria (adjacent to the church) following the Mass for those in attendance.

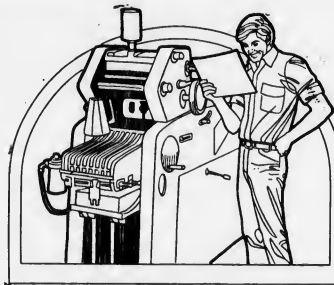

Officers, members and friends of the Koch Club are urged to attend and participate.

Among the more than 100 names to be remembered will be the late President John F. Kennedy who was the only honorary member of the Koch Club. President Kennedy received the recognition in October of 1958 when as a United States Senator he visited the Koch Club Recreational Programs at Cavanagh Stadium in North Quincy.

Edward J. Keohane is general chairman of the program. He is being assisted by Mrs. Simone Koch, Mrs. Marilyn Nestor, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Donaghue, Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crowley, Mrs. Mina Scanlan, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Moody, Mrs. Linda Bowes, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony T. Delmonico, Debra Koch and Simone Joanne Koch.

Donahue Has High Hopes With N.Y. Jets

By JOHN KLINGERSTEIN

If you have five generations of one family living in the same city, you've built a solid foundation.

Quincy resident Brian Donahue hopes he can build a solid foundation as a defensive lineman with the New York Jets.

Donahue, a graduate of Abp. Williams High School and a fifth generation Donahue in Quincy, signed as a free agent with the New York Jets and participated in their rookie mini-camp.

Strangely, the 6-foot 4-inch 295 pound defensive lineman's athletic foundation was not based on football but in track and field where he was a Patriot Ledger and Globe All-Scholastic and had visions of competing in the Olympics.

"I didn't make the 1984 Olympic team but I would have made the 1988 squad," Donahue said.

Instead of making it in track he made it in football and did so after playing only a season for an O-11 Iona College after transferring from Texas.

"I was at Texas for a year but then I transferred to Iona so I could train for the shot put with Olympic coach Tony Neclario."

Now Donahue will train with Joe Walton and his staff at their training site in Long Island. Donahue who signed a one year contract and said that both he and the Jets coaching staff were happy with his performance at mini-camp. "I felt very good. I was very pleased with my performance."

Donahue said that Walton was so pleased, he wants Donahue to spend the summer and live and train at the Long Island facility to improve his mobility so he will be quick enough to handle the demanding chores of the noseguard position. He is not projected as a starter, but Donahue said he will be a backup noseguard to All-Pro and off-injured Joe Klecko.

Even though he is only a free agent Donahue feels he has an excellent shot at staying with the Jets. Jets coaches feel the attitude of Donahue and his willingness to be coached will be a plus in his favor.

Donahue's attitude toward drugs will also be a plus in favor. Donahue will devote his summers to discussing and describing the evils and dangers of drugs and alcohol through the Heavenly High Youth Ministries, an anti-drug organization founded by Brian's brother Jack Donahue, himself a former drug abuser.

The Jets like the idea of the ministries so much (it's actually a co-sponsored organization with a state-run project, Feelings) they want to extend the program into Long Island, something Jack Donahue is both happy and proud of.

Brian is the son of Pearl Donahue of 98 California Ave. and the late Frederick Donahue.

Quincy Must Win To Make Tournament

Pressure.

That's what the Quincy High Baseball team must be feeling right now as it faces a must win situation.

By losing to Waltham last week, 6-3, Quincy (9-8) must win its last three games of the season to qualify for the E. Mass. tournament. The only other way to qualify is to finish second in the Suburban League, a spot held by Waltham.

Quincy Pitcher Larry Taglieri held Waltham to one run until the fifth when Waltham scored an unearned run. Taglieri then surrendered two runs in each of the last two innings.

Quincy got all three of their runs' the fourth. Tom Logan started the inning with a walk and moved to second on a single by Steve Austin. A passed ball advanced the runners and Taglieri tied the score at 1-1 with a sacrifice fly scoring Logan. Quincy scored its next two runs on a two-run double by Steve Contas. Quincy faces a tough struggle to make the tournament. It must play Brookline twice and first place Brockton.

Tufts, Santry Shine, But North Bows, 4-2

Despite an outstanding hitting performance from Peter Tufts, North Quincy dropped another one at home, this time to Cambridge, 4-2.

Tuft had three hits including a triple, but it wasn't enough as Cambridge pitcher

Jamie Holoway scattered just four hits and fanned 11 Red Raiders to lead Cambridge to victory. North's only runs came in the sixth when Chris Gray hit a two-run single. At the top of the inning Cambridge had jumped out to a 3-0 lead and added another one an inning later to complete the scoring.

North Quincy pitcher Dan Santry turned in a fine pitching performance in the losing effort. Santry scattered five hits and struck out three.

Lynch, Carlyn Medal Play Winners

Ponkapoag Golf course Ladies' Inner Club recently held a nine-hole and an 18-hole medal play tournament.

Laura Lynch won the nine-hole tournament with a net of 38 and Charlotte Dickie finished in first place in the 18-hole tournament with a net of 71. Second place went to Nancy Carlyn with a net 72. Mary Michaels came in third with a net 74 and Stephanie Riza followed in fourth place with a net 77. Dorothy Yancey finished fifth with a net 82.

The golf pros at Ponkapoag are conducting a golf clinic for the Ladies' Inner Club members on Tuesday mornings before the weekly tournaments start.

Killion, Collings, Barrett Shine For North Girls

At MIT Friday, several members of the North Quincy Girls track team turned in outstanding performances at the Suburban League meet.

Highlight for the Raiders was Julie Killion who placed first in the javelin. Theresa Collings took third in the high jump with a leap of 4-10 and Tricia Barrett finished third in the middle at 5:25.

Bridgit Toland placed third in the two mile finishing with a time of 12:49 while her sister Ann finished two spots behind in fifth with a time of 13:12. Robin Guilfooy finished fourth in the 100 meters.

Police Lose To HN, Rebound Against S.O.I.

The Quincy Police Club's undefeated season came to an end this week but the team continues to set the pace in Babe Ruth action.

The Police split a pair of games, losing to Houghs Neck before coming back to defeat Sons of Italy. The Police lost 11-4 to Houghs Neck Legion Post No. 380 when the pitching broke down. The game was close as Houghs Neck was leading 5-4 before exploding for six runs in the sixth inning. Houghs Neck capitalized on Police starter Jeff Calver's wildness as he walked in several runs. Bill Bellev's relief effort was not much better and Houghs Neck won the game going away.

Hough's Neck starter Danny McLaughlin shut the door on the Police in the seventh inning and took home the win.

The next night the police bounced back and squeaked a 1-0 win over Sons of Italy on the pitching of Mike Ainsley. Ainsley showed excellent control and power as he shut out SOI and struck out 12. Ainsley now averages 10.53 strikeouts a game.

The lone run of the game was scored by Police in the sixth inning when Bellev scored on a triple by Ainsley. Bellev had walked earlier in the inning.

In the third inning the Police had a run nullified when leadoff batter Mike Iacobacci was called out by the umpire on an appeal by SOI. Iacobacci, who had tripled, was called out on the appeal for not touching first base.

Barry's Deli improved its record to 3-2 with a win over Granite City Electric. Jim Kearns picked up the win for Barry's Deli. Barry won its second game of the week as it defeated Sons of Italy 10-3.

Houghs Neck continued to play well as it defeated Morrisette Post 9-4. Danny McLaughlin won again and he helped his own cause with a triple and a two-run homer. Mike Donovan had two doubles and a triple and Jim Glynn continued on a torrid hitting pace. Glynn is 5 for 8 in his first three games.

M.L. Carr Program At Broad Meadows

M.L. Carr, former Boston

Celtics star, will present "The M.L. Carr Challenge: Stand Tall Against Drugs" Tuesday, June 3 from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. at Broad Meadows Middle School, 50 Calvin Rd., Quincy.

The program is sponsored by Bank of Boston and endorsed by the Governor's Alliance Against Drugs.

Representatives of the Bank of Boston who will be present at the program include Donna Nolan, Quincy Branch Manager, Bank of Boston.

4 North Players In Girl's Softball All-Star Game

Four members of the North Quincy girls softball team participated in the annual All-Star game Saturday night in Newton.

Playing for the North squad were senior Noreen Connolly and juniors Ann Anderlonis, Colleen Hannon and Ann McGuigan.

One of the game's highlights was a towering home run by Anderlonis.

In league action, inconsistent pitching continued to haunt North as their record ran to 7-9. North bested Brookline 15-11 but were upended by Brockton and Cambridge.

In the Brockton game, Kristin Drake took a two-hitter and a 9-2 lead into the sixth inning. However, the league leaders struck for 10 runs in their half of the sixth and won 13-9.

Walks contributed to the Brockton victory as North out hit Brockton 12 to 5.

Against Cambridge, errors and walks hurt North as they were trampled, 20-8.

Anderlonis, who leads all North batters with a .471 average, clubbed a home run in the second inning to give North a short-lived lead.

North completes their season at home this week with games against Weymouth North and Newton.

• Farm League

Braves Rack Up 5 Straight

Strong hitting, good pitching and timely defensive gems are three reasons the Braves are undefeated in Farm League play.

The Braves, 5-0, began their winning ways with a 7-6 victory over the Cubs. Dan Farrell and Jeffery Russell combined for the victory. Russell (3-0) did his best impersonation of Roger Clemens as he recorded nine strikeouts in three innings of relief work. Russell and Farrell helped their own cause as each had two hits in the Braves season opener.

The Braves then went on the warpath and barraged opponents with runs. In their next three games the Braves averaged 21 runs scored per game, easily outdistancing their opponents the Dodgers, Mets and Pirates 24-15, 18-6, and 23-7 respectively.

Jeff Russell was outstanding at the plate in the three games as he collected seven hits including two home runs, one of which was a grand slam. Steve McDougall (2-0) also a pitcher for the Braves, chipped in with four hits including two grand slams. Farrell had five hits in the three games including two home runs and five RBIs in a win over the Pirates. Santoro contributed four hits and David Gunther added three more including a grand slam against the Pirates.

In their last game the Braves defeated the Cubs for the second time 9-4. Steven MacDougall picked up the win with help from Kevin Coleman who provided the offensive punch. Coleman had five RBIs, two triples and scored twice. Steve Koch, MacDougall and Santoro had two hits apiece as the Braves played sharply in the field turning over a double play.

The Cubs got a strong pitching performance from Dan Donahue who struck out eight in three innings of relief. Donahue also had a triple and a single. Brendan Ridge and A.J. Carthas also had hits for the Cubs.

Earlier in the week the Cubs pulled out an extra inning victory over the Angels 12-9. Carthas had a two-run homer and an RBI triple and Matt Miller added a two-run round tripper. Dan Donahue went 3 for 3 for the Cubs with a double and two singles. Donahue and Carthas combined for 14 strikeouts as Carthas picked up the win.

Tom Malvesti played well for the Angels, blasting a three-run homer and Keith Martinson pitched strongly striking out 10 Cubs in six innings.

A Quincy woman is helping provide free health services to Malden residents.

Anna McManus of Southern Artery, a student at UMass Boston's School of Nursing, located at the Harbor Campus on Morrissey Blvd., earns six academic credits in family and community health by participating in UMass Boston's Project: Outreach Nursing, started in 1980.

Students in the program spend two eight-hour days providing a variety of health services to clients of the Senior Center and the Tri-Cap Head Start Program for pre-schoolers, says Dean Ann Kibrick.

Those services vary according to client needs, says Laura Glover, Ed. D., Project Director and Assistant Dean of the Nursing School.

UMass/Boston nursing students provide direct nursing care, physical treatment and psychological counseling on issues from bereavement to coping with chronic illnesses for patients and their families. Students also conduct blood pressure clinics, programs on nutrition and exercise, teach parenting and family development skills, as well as bring services to the house-bound.

Malden Mayor James Conway estimates the students provide his community with some $100,000 worth of nursing services free of charge.

CITY OF QUINCY IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 120
ORDERED:

March 17, 1986

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended are further amended in Chapter 11, licenses, by adding the following new section:

SECTION 22(a)

The Treasurer and Collector shall annually furnish to each department and board, hereinafter referred to as the licensing authorities that issues licenses or permits including renewals and transfers, a list of any person, corporation, or business enterprise, hereinafter referred to as the party, that has neglected or refused to pay any local taxes, fees, assessments, betterments or other municipal charges for not less than a twelve month period, and that such party has not filed in good faith pending application for an abatement of such tax or a pending position before the appellate tax board. Such listing shall be prepared with the assistance of the Director of Data Processing.

SECTION 22(b)

The licensing authority may deny, revoke or suspend any license or permit, including renewals and transfers of any party whose name appears on said list furnished to the licensing authority from the Treasurer and Collector, provided, however, that written notice is given to the party and the Treasurer and Collector, as required by applicable provisions of law, and the party is given a hearing to be held not earlier than fourteen days after said notice. Said list shall be prima facie evidence for denial, revocation or suspension of said license or permit to any party. The Treasurer and Collector shall have the right to intervene in any hearing conducted with respect to such license denial, revocation or suspension. Any findings made by the licensing authority with respect to such license denial, revocation or suspension shall be made only for the purposes of such proceeding and shall not be relevant to or introduced in any other proceeding at law, except for any appeal from such license denial, revocation or suspension. Any license or permit denied, suspended or revoked under this section shall not be renewed or renewed until the licensing authority receives a certificate issued by the Treasurer and Collector that the party is in good standing with respect to any and all local taxes, fees, assessments, betterments or other municipal charges, payable to the City of Quincy as the date of issuance of said certificate.

SECTION 22(c)

Any party shall be given an opportunity to enter into a payment agreement, thereby allowing the licensing authority to issue a certificate indicating said limitations to the license or permit and the validity of said license shall be conditioned upon the satisfactory compliance with said agreement. Failure to comply with said agreement shall be grounds for the suspension or revocation of said license or permit; provided, however, that the holder by given notice and a hearing as required by applicable provisions of law.

SECTION 22(d)

The Mayor may waive such denial, with the City Council's approval, suspension or revocation if he finds there is no direct or indirect business interest by the property owner, its officers or stockholders, if any, or members of his immediate family, as defined in section one of chapter two hundred and sixty-eight in the business or activity conducted in or on said property.

This section shall not apply to the following licenses and permits, open housing, section thirteen of chapter forty-eight; bicycle permits; section eleven A of chapter eighty-five; sales of articles for charitable purposes, section thirty-three of chapter one hundred and one; children work permits, section sixty-nine of chapter one hundred and forty-nine; clubs, associations dispensing food or beverage licenses, section twenty-one E of chapter one hundred and forty; dog licenses, section one hundred and thirty-seven of chapter one hundred and forty; fishing, hunting, trapping license, section twelve of chapter one hundred and thirty-one; marriage licenses, section twenty-eight of chapter two hundred and seven and theatrical events, public exhibition permits, section one hundred and eighty-one of chapter one hundred and forty.

7 Residents Attend Accountants Dinner

Seven Quincy residents were among 50 members of the American Society of Women Accountants, Boston Chapter who celebrated the organization's 25th anniversary recently.

A dinner meeting was held at Anthony's Pier Four, Boston.

Quincy residents who attended were Marjorie F. Arnold, Carolyn J. Marks, Yolanda E. Romanelli, all past presidents of the society; Dorothy M. Conlon, Anne M. Foley, Winnifred Lord, and Joanne L. Werner.

The first speaker at the meeting covered phases of the updated Seabrook nuclear reactor. The second speaker explained the accounting procedures required for such an installation.

Joan MacDonald Helps Renovate UMass Library

Joan MacDonald of Quincy was among the seniors at University of Massachusetts, Amherst, who joined some 200 freelance painters, electricians and janitors, during a recent weekend, in a volunteer project to renovate the university's Tower Library.

"A Class Act" was organized as a senior class project and is part of the Mass Transformation project, Sept. 25-28, when several thousand volunteers are expected to take part in a major renovation of the library.

Wollaston Radio Veteran Wins National Award

WEEI AM Radio in Boston recently won the 1986 National Headliner Award for Outstanding Public Service by a radio station.

The station's award winning entry was a six-week public service campaign directed by veteran news anchor Jim Pansullo of Wollaston, and promotion coordinator, Wendy Goldberg, on the plight of Boston's homeless.

The effort began with hundreds of public service appeals broadcast requesting financial contributions on behalf of the homeless and culminated with a documentary, "In Search of a Home," written and narrated by Pansullo.

The campaign raised over $160,000 for Boston's homeless, which was distributed to 14 Boston shelters.

The National Headliner Awards program is the largest annual recognition of journalistic merit in the entire communications industry.

Pansullo has resided with

Joanna Poole Performs In Puerto Rico

Joanna Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Poole of Winthrop Ave., Wollaston, performed with the Simmons College singing group, Chorale, in San Juan, Puerto Rico during her spring break.

Under the direction of conductor and keyboard artist Robert Gronquist, the Chorale performed a repertoire of songs, including: three choruses from Irving Fine's "Alice in Wonderland;" Giovanni Battista Pergolesi's "Stabat mater dolorosa;" and a selection of American folk and pop tunes. They performed for students at the Escuela de Musica and the University of Puerto Rico.

Miss Poole is a senior majoring in English. She currently serves as president of Chorale and has also held offices as treasurer, fund-raising co-chairwoman, and publicity director. She is a graduate of North Quincy High School.

WEEK OF: MAY 29

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Partnership arrangements are positively spotlighted now with misunderstandings put to rest. Finances require more practical approach; career benefits from some originality.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Long-term financial goals benefit from refinement; romance benefits from spontaneity. Teamwork brings outstanding results but spend time selecting the members of that team.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Unexpected phone calls, visitors and obligations dominate the period through Monday. Tuesday may include a financial news-brightener. Saturday-Wednesday offer chance for reconciliation.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
You project confidence, attracting friends and acquaintances who seek advice on a spectrum of topics. Domestic dilemma comes to happy solution - when you take the lead.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Commitments made this week should be realistic - as far as finances and time are concerned. Transportation/communication tie-ups are ending and travel is a present highlight.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Capacity for hard work expands significantly; be sure to devote adequate time to the planning stages. In romance, caution is keyword, partner may be uncommonly sensitive.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Political discussions can reach a fever pitch; enter them at your own risk. Large decisions are easier to make than are minor ones. Partner becomes much more generous.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Watch tendency to overreact to small mishaps and to criticize the minor shortcomings of those you love most. Career news and financial announcements are encouraging.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Brief lull in work is followed by a string of challenging tasks. Watch tendency to embellish stories - your credibility may be challenged. Close friend shares good news.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
You enjoy playing the role of detective and can make some interesting finds this week. Friend shares a personal secret, but don't feel compelled to reciprocate.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Your famous brand of outspokenness wins you admiration and criticism. Learning a new language can lead to personal and professional development. Platonic friendship is accented.

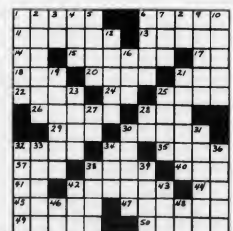

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
A practical approach is helpful as you outline important new goal. Inventory of family health needs proves beneficial. Friend finds it easier to promise than to deliver.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You have a winning way with people - especially with new acquaintances - but tend to be inflexible. A more open-minded approach to a romantic or professional situation helps you learn so much more about your own self. Late-year financial developments are encouraging.

ORDER NO. 26
ORDERED:

January 21, 1986

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976 as amended are further amended as follows:

In Chapter 2 Administration, Article XXI Planning Board, add the following new section:

Section 107A - Process for the Purchase of City Owned Land

The process for the purchase of any parcel of City Owned land shall be as follows:

1.) Any party wishing to make an offer to purchase city owned land shall submit an offer form to the Treasurer-Collector in such form and in as many copies as the Treasurer-Collector shall determine. Accompanying such offer shall be a deposit of at least 25% of the proposed purchase price, but not less than $100.00. The Treasurer-Collector need not accept an offer of less than $100.00. Notification of each offer to purchase is to be given to the Clerk of Committees by the Treasurer-Collector.

2.) The Treasurer-Collector shall verify the City's ownership and report the method and manner that the City obtained ownership in his report which he shall forward to the Planning Board and City Engineer at his earliest convenience.

3.) The City Engineer shall issue a report to the Planning Board which shall include a description of the property, any easements and restrictions which he feels should be retained by the City and his opinion, based on his best professional judgement, as to whether the parcel should be sold. The Planning Board and City Engineer shall not be bound by such opinion. If a subdivision plan is necessary, the Applicant shall forward a copy of the plan to the City Engineer for his consideration.

4.) After receiving the reports of the Treasurer-Collector and City Engineer, the Planning Board, acting through the Planning Director shall determine whether a notice in the Central Register, established by M.G.L. Chapter 9, Section 20A is necessary. If so, such notice, or, if not required, at the next practical date the Planning Board shall hold a hearing to determine their recommendation on the proposed purchase. The Planning Board's recommendation shall be forwarded to the City Council.

5.) The City Clerk, upon receiving a positive recommendation from the Planning Board shall draft an order including the description for the City Council's consideration. If the Planning Board's recommendation is unfavorable, the City Clerk need not draw the order until the Land Conveyance Committee indicates that it will recommend that the Council not adopt the Planning Board's recommendation.

6.) Following a favorable vote by the City Council, and approval by the Mayor, the prospective purchaser shall pay the balance of the purchase price and pro-rated taxes as required by M.G.L. Chapter 44, Section 63A to the Treasurer-Collector within sixty days. If such payment is not made within such sixty days, the offer shall be deemed withdrawn and the deposit returned.

7.) Upon receipt of total payment, the Treasurer-Collector shall so inform the City Solicitor who shall prepare a deed, be forwarded to the purchaser. The responsibility for recording the deed shall be that of the purchaser.

Some Lawsuits No Longer Actionable

Lawsuits for "alienation of affection" and "criminal conversation" are no longer actionable in Massachusetts, State Senator Paul D. Harold noted.

Under new legislation now in effect, both actions are abolished, he said.

Actions for breach of contract were abolished in 1938, Harold noted, but the old-fashioned "alienation of affection" and "criminal conversation" suits were still available.

"Alienation of affection" amounts to wooing another person's fiancée, while "criminal conversation" amounts to a lawsuit over a fiancée's sexual conduct with another person, he explained.

Harold said neither type of action has been popular in recent decades. The new law provides that the abolition does not apply to any such suits already pending.

He noted that although the new law abolishes civil lawsuits, the crimes of adultery and fornication are still recognized in the state.

Volunteers Needed For Wollaston Beach Clean-Up

MDC Commissioner William J. Geary and Quincy city officials will welcome volunteers for the MetroParks Wollaston Beach Clean Up Saturday May 31 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All volunteers will be offered free refreshments donated by McDonald's Restaurant and Tony's Clamshop, all located in Quincy. Participants will also receive free MetroParks T-shirts in appreciation of their continued support. WROR radio will broadcast from Wollaston Beach during the clean-up. Commissioner Geary commended area businesses and restaurants for donating refreshments and supplies for the clean-up.

The project has the support of Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, Mayor Francis X. McCauley and City Councilor Patricia M. Tolland.

Sponsored by MetroParks, a service of the Metropolitan District Commission, the clean-up is part of the Governor's state-wide beautification campaign - a program designed to banish litter and trash from public lands to maintain the beauty of the metropolitan areas.

"This clean-up is a perfect example of a state agency and the public working together for the benefit of the community," said Geary.

"With our flower planting program now in its third year, Wollaston Beach will be more beautiful than ever for the many commuters, joggers and beachgoers that enjoy this area."

Among those joining in to paint the sea wall and clear debris along the three-mile beach will be Geary, Brownell, Cerasoli, Morrissey, Mayor McCauley and Tolland.

Volunteers are asked to meet at 10 a.m. at the Squantum Yacht Club on Quincy Shore Drive.

$161,031 Grant

To Housing Authority

A $161,031 grant has been awarded to the Quincy Housing Authority by the Executive Office of Communities and Development through The Supportive Services Program, State Senator Paul D. Harold announced.

Senator Harold said the Housing Authority would use $14,639 for administrative costs and $25,768 to continue the authority's program of outreach and recruitment of its residents for educational and training programs.

A portion of the grant will also be used for continued funding of the elder services coordinator who will be planning how to facilitate the delivery of homemaker, medical and other services to the elderly residents of the Housing Authority's facilities.

A total of $85,784 of the grant will be used to continue the Quincy Housing Authority's youth employment program through the South Coastal Career Development Agency, said Senator Harold.

Participants will also receive free MetroParks T-shirts in appreciation of their continued support. WROR radio will broadcast from Wollaston Beach during the clean-up. Commissioner Geary commended area businesses and restaurants for donating refreshments and supplies for the clean-up.

The project has the support of Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell, Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli, Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, Mayor Francis X. McCauley and City Councilor Patricia M. Toland.

Sponsored by MetroParks, a service of the Metropolitan District Commission, the clean-up is part of the Governor's state-wide beautification campaign - a program designed to banish litter and trash from public lands to maintain the beauty of the metropolitan areas.

"This clean-up is a perfect example of a state agency and the public working together for the benefit of the community," said Geary. "With our flower planting program now in its third year, Wollaston Beach will be more beautiful than ever for the many commuters, joggers and beachgoers that enjoy this area."

Among those joining in to paint the sea wall and clear debris along the three-mile beach will be Geary, Brownell, Cerasoli, Morrissey, Mayor McCauley and Toland.

Volunteers are asked to meet at 10 a.m. at the Squantum Yacht Club on Quincy Shore Drive.

$161,031 Grant To Housing Authority

A $161,031 grant has been awarded to the Quincy Housing Authority by the Executive Office of Communities and Development through The Supportive Services Program, State Senator Paul D. Harold announced.

Senator Harold said the Housing Authority would use $14,639 for administrative costs and $25,768 to continue the authority's program of outreach and recruitment of its residents for educational and training programs.

A portion of the grant will also be used for continued funding of the elder services coordinator who will be planning how to facilitate the delivery of homemaker, medical and other services to the elderly residents of the Housing Authority's facilities.

A total of $85,784 of the grant will be used to continue the Quincy Housing Authority's youth employment program through the South Coastal Career Development Agency, said Senator Harold.

Wants Stronger Measures

McCauley To Veto PUD Plan

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley announced Tuesday he will veto a City Council order regarding density in Planned Unit Development areas because he feels it is not adequate.

And if his veto is not overridden by the council, McCauley said he will introduce stronger measures.

But several councillors, including opponents and proponents, agree that the mayor has an uphill battle to fight if he is to sustain his veto.

The City Council voted 7 to 2 May 19, to increase the square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1000. Councillors Richard Koch and James Sheets were opposed.

That vote followed an earlier one to increase the square feet per dwelling unit from 250 to 2,000. However, City Clerk John Gillis ruled that new hearings would have to be held because there were substantial changes made to the proposal which was advertised.

The Planning Board then recommended an increase from 250 to 1750. However, the council voted against that recommendation.

McCauley said that if his veto is sustained, he will resubmit the 1750 to the council.

Six votes would be needed to override the veto and 1,000 square feet would stand. McCauley would need four votes to sustain his veto.

"Originally, I thought that 1,000 square feet was a step in the right direction," said McCauley.

"But after listening to neighborhood groups, I decided that 1750 is better."

McCauley said that the veto, the second he has issued as mayor, will be presented to the council at its June 16 meeting. It must then remain on the table for seven days before any action can be taken.

The other veto regarded rezoning Quincy City Hospital to PUD, he said.

That was overridden by a 6 to 1

$260 Million Complex Gets Mixed Reaction

Plans for a $260 million complex proposed for West Quincy by the Ricciardi Co. have received mixed reaction from some officials.

"I haven't seen all the details, but we'd like to see a good project commensurate with the area," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

"I'm not giving blanket approval, but it could be a big plus."

Councillor James Sheets, in whose ward the project would be located, had another view. "I don't think the project, as defined, is going anywhere," he said.

"Some of the developers have to get the stars out of their eyes and come down to earth."

The proposal includes an office park, 300-room hotel and a waste treatment plant on a 400-acre site surrounding the historic Quincy Quarry.

It would be located on an area off Willard St. and the Southeast Expressway at a point near the expressway's Furnace Brook Parkway exit.

The company holds options on about 220 acres of the land, according to Steve Ricciardi. Quincy owns 180 acres of adjacent land which it uses for the city dump.

Ricciardi said his company is proposing that an $80 million waste treatment plant be constructed adjacent to the dump. It would look like a four-story suburban office building, operate internally and not emit waste externally into the atmosphere, he said.

Flatley To Meet With Management, Union On Buying Shipyard

Developer Thomas Flatley, who has expressed interest in buying the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard which closed last weekend, plans to meet with union and management officials of the yard to explore that option.

"He'd like to see it continue as a shipyard," said Mayor Francis McCauley who met with Flatley during an hour-long meeting at City Hall Monday.

The meeting, which McCauley termed "very preliminary," was also attended by a Flatley staff member, Planning Director James Lydon and Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant.

"We talked about General Dynamics and the tax abatement case," McCauley said.

"Tom has friends, business associates, who are in shipbuilding, and he expressed an interest in the yard."

"The yard is now marketing the property."

"As I understand, General Dynamics will look at bona fide offers in mid-August. They could make a decision by the end of September."

McCauley noted that it would like to sell the yard to a company which would continue shipbuilding.

"The city will strongly support the efforts of anyone interested in buying the yard and continuing it as a shipyard," McCauley said.

"Tom Flatley is a very successful business man. I'm delighted that he is at least interested in looking at the shipyard."

McCauley said that no other meeting with Flatley has been scheduled, but that he intends to keep in touch.

The mayor said he had no problem with allowing Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward the shipyard is located, a union official and state representative to attend any future meetings if Flatley does not object.

That was suggested in a

Grand Jury Probing Former Hospital Employee

A federal grand jury is making inquiries concerning a former employee of Quincy City Hospital relative to Medicaid and Medicare payments, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley had been asked by The Sun to comment on reports an investigation was underway at the hospital.

"I've been aware of the situation for a number of months," said McCauley. "The hospital has kept me up to date."

"At the present time, the status is that testimony has been given before the grand jury. To my knowledge, no action has been taken. It may never be, or an indictment could be handed down."

"It has nothing to do with Hospital Corporation of America as our manager of the hospital. It involves a hospital employee, an individual, not a whole department or an HCA employee."

McCauley said that the employee is no longer with the hospital.

"He has left the hospital, voluntarily, to seek a career change," said McCauley who declined to name the individual.

"If an indictment comes down, then it will become public record."

"The inquiry is ongoing. No action has been taken."

"I don't know if that's good or bad."

"In cases of Medicaid and Medicare, reimbursements are ongoing all the time,"

McCauley To Veto PUD Council Order

3 vote.

"We're at a critical situation in Quincy regarding density," said McCauley. "It's important that we do better than 1,000 square feet.

"Development isn't bad, but it has to be checked and controlled."

McCauley said that developers have stressed the need for affordable housing in Quincy.

"There's no question that there is a problem," McCauley said. "But I don't think because there is a housing shortage, the City of Quincy should bear the whole burden, or those who live here now should suffer."

The mayor said that one result of increased density is increased traffic problems.

He said that he decided to veto the order after discussing the technical aspects with Planning Director James Lydon and City Solicitor Joseph (Jay) MacRitchie.

"I asked about existing PUDs," explained McCauley, who noted that he looked at the Duane project on Southern Artery.

McCauley said that with 1,000 square feet per dwelling unit, 309 units would be allowed, with 1750 square feet, 176 units.

"The less density, the less amount of cars," the mayor said.

McCauley said that he will contact City Councilors to try and collect more votes.

Council president Stephen McGrath, as well as Koch and Sheets agreed that will be an uphill battle.

"I'm somewhat surprised that he vetoed it, where initially it was his own proposal," said McGrath.

"The council deliberated at length and the feelings of the council are clear."

"The whole issue is somewhat of a red herring. We are talking about a discretionary figure on the part of the council."

"I don't think the council would approve anything as dense as 1,000 square feet. I don't see any impact on development."

"The (Council) Zoning Task Force is looking closely at the issue, and will make a recommendation soon."

"The mayor introduced 1,000 square feet at first and I agree with that assessment."

"The council thought very long and hard, and I think they've made their decision."

Koch said that he would keep his position.

"I'm going to stay right where I am," he said. "I'm happy the mayor chose to veto it."

"I hope the seven councilors who supported the order will reconsider."

"I'd be happy to vote for the 1750."

"I'd say the councilors all made their arguments on the issue at the meetings."

"If they have any doubt whatsoever, I hope they'll think about it."

Sheets also said that the mayor could count on his support.

"I won't vote to override the veto," said Sheets. "What the mayor is doing is sending a message to the people of the city that he believes the zoning ordinances should be tightened up."

"Every official should be made to believe that as far as density in development, 1,000 is meaningless."

"I hope the council will not override his veto."

"He has an uphill battle to convince two other councilors to sustain his veto."

"It will necessitate a lot of work on his part."

There's One Sure Way To Stop A Teenager From Drinking And Driving...FOREVER

Fortunately, there are other ways to get this message across. And, considering the importance of this issue to everyone in the community, we hope that you'll want to join us in our effort. We have a film on "Teenage Drinking and Driving" that offers good suggestions for effectively communicating with teenagers.

It not only offers guidance to adults, but it shows how teenagers can join forces to influence their peers and how to persuade a drunk person not to drive. If you're involved in a service club, church organization, or youth group, ask us to bring this program to your next meeting.

We all know that young people are the future of our society. And if by sharing this information with your group, we can change the course of even one young person's life, it will be worth much more than the time we spend. Please call us if you feel the same way.

McGrath Says Surplus Funds Could Reopen Wollaston School

The president of the City Council is urging the mayor to use $340,000 in surplus personnel funds in existing departments to help fund the proposed reopening of the Wollaston School.

Stephen J. McGrath, in a communique to Mayor Francis X. McCauley said: "In reviewing with the City Auditor the existing funding available in various personnel accounts for positions funded by the City Council in the current fiscal budget but not filled by the department heads, there is available some $340,000 which could be used for refitting and reopening the Wollaston School."

transfer of funds would have to be accomplished with the approval of McCauley and department heads.

He said the following departments and their available personnel funds are:

Building Inspector, $50,000; Health, $30,000; Sewer-Water-Drain, $100,000; Highway, $80,000; Snow and Ice, $50,000; Pensions, $13,000; Auditor, $12,000; Elections, $5,000.

McGrath said that if these monies are still available by the close of the fiscal year, June 30, these funds are automatically reverted to the excess and deficiency account.

"As these monies were raised by taxation and are essentially surplus, I feel it appropriate to utilize these monies on city services and not to have them added to the surplus excess and deficiency account," McGrath said.

He went on to say "I feel strongly, as do my fellow councillors, that the Wollaston School should be reopened. The parent-group reasoning in this regard is persuasive to reinstitute a tenth school district. As funding is available, I feel that such an expenditure would be a wise investment of these surplus funds and our children's educational future."

LaRaia Stalls Action On Mayor, Council Raises

Further action on pay raises for the mayor and City Council was stalled Monday night when Councillor Joseph LaRaia, an opponent of the increases, objected and the members had to lay on the table.

The issue can be removed from the table by a City Councillor at the next meeting.

The raises of $40,000 to $50,000 a year, in two steps for mayor, and from $6,500 to $9,000 a year for City Councillors had already been approved by the Finance Committee and by the City Council as part of the overall budget.

LaRaia had objected to both, but said he inadvertently voted in favor of the council raise.

Before the council Monday night were amendments to the city ordinances to allow for the salary increases.

LaRaia's objections meant there could be no discussion or action on the matters.

"I'm against the procedure the whole thing took," said LaRaia, a former mayor who has been mentioned as a mayoral candidate in the future.

"When there is a change in the salary structure, the ordinance change should be first," said LaRaia. "That requires a two-thirds vote."

"Then the finance order should follow, which requires a majority vote."

"I know what the eventual outcome will be, but I just wanted to register my vote against it."

Council president Stephen McGrath said, "We did the raises in 1983 exactly the same way."

"It doesn't really matter as long as a discussion on the merits is allowed."

"There's no requirement one way or the other."

An ordinance change to allow for an increase in School Committee members' salary from $100 to $200 a month was referred to the ordinance committee.

LaRaia voted against that move.

"I'm not against the School Committee pay raises," said LaRaia. "I'm against the procedure."

2 Of City's Largest Cab Fleets To Merge

By DAN CONNELLY

At an informal hearing Tuesday the city License Board decided to wait until June 10 to rule on the planned merger of two of Quincy's largest taxi fleets.

George Parker told the board the planned business venture will involve his 40-fleet Yellow Cabs, based at 91 McGrath Highway, and Wayne McCulley's North Quincy Taxi, which has 24 taxis and is headquartered at 2 Billings Rd.

Both fleet owners said the merger will not, at this time, affect present vehicle identifications, such as color or names.

McCulley said his cabs will continue to park at the North Quincy MBTA and State Street South business area waiting for dispatching orders. Parker will operate his fleet of Yellow Cabs from his present location.

A Last Letter From J. Vincent Smyth

(Editor's note: The following letter from J. Vincent Smyth was written two days before his sudden death for publication in this week's Quincy Sun. We are carrying out his wishes.)

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
A personal thank you is expressed to all personnel of the Cemetery Department for their diligent efforts in preparing the seven city cemeteries for Memorial Day. During the preceding two weeks twelve hour work days were instituted to accomplish all necessary maintenance duties in addition to servicing funerals. The personnel displayed strong civic pride, promptness and courtesy in responding to individual requests for assistance.

Lot owners, their heirs and citizens of Quincy can be justly proud of the cemetery workers important role as a branch of city service.

Tribute To A Friend

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
On May 12, 1986, the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens lost a loyal and industrious supporter, Sylvia Roberts of Quincy. Sylvia was not only a member, but also Secretary of the Board of Directors, and in recent years, a historian of the agency. Mrs. Roberts compiled books which traced the Association's 35-year history in the South Shore.

Sylvia was a parent of a child who is mentally retarded; therefore, she had first-hand knowledge of the needs of persons with handicaps. Both she and her husband, Murray, made a commitment to raise their child at home. They were strong advocates for the SSARC Workshop.

Sylvia was part of a nucleus of parents who formed SSARC Workshop Parents and Friends. Over the years, the group has aided SSARC in difficult and prosperous times. Sylvia will be missed by many persons. She was part of a generation which made our country more aware of special needs.

Sylvia spoke at the December Public Hearing at Quincy City Hall, about the many parents and clients who still wait for support, day, and residential service.

One gift which we could give to her would be to insure services for all persons who are mentally retarded!

LaRaia 'Leaning Heavily'

Joseph LaRaia is "leaning heavily." Translation: he is almost sure he is going to run for mayor next year.

"I'm looking forward to it," he says. "But I'm not 100 percent sure I will go. It's still a little too early to make a final decision. But I am leaning heavily toward running."

LaRaia says he will make his final decision before the end of this year.

And it won't matter, he says whether incumbent Francis McCauley is a candidate for re-election or not. "That wouldn't make any difference to me," he says.

"The way I look at it, if you see an opening you go regardless of who else is in the race."

Does he see an opening?

"Right now Frank (McCauley) looks good. There are pluses but there are also liabilities. Just being in office six years is a liability. People get tired of the same faces."

McCauley, whose face Quincy voters apparently have not gotten tired of yet, rolled to an early third term victory over former Councillor Joanne Condon last year.

He says it is too early to decide whether he will seek a fourth term.

"I'll make a decision the first of the year," he says. Meanwhile there's speculation he might not run and that he is in line for a job in the private sector -- possibly a bank.

McCauley was president of the former Shipbuilders Cooperative Bank before running for mayor.

LaRaia says he has heard that speculation but it won't affect his own decision.

"I won't let the fact I would be running against an incumbent bother me," he says. "If you're going to get into a race, you get into it."

"If you wait for another time because of an incumbent in the picture, you can lose an opportunity."

LaRaia says he has been getting good response from people about running for mayor.

"Some of it, though," he says, "is mixed. Some people think I should wait until the office is open. But, as I say, if you see an opening you should go."

McCauley

McCauley

LaRaia in just a couple of months has come from "thinking about running" to "leaning heavily" toward running.

A McCauley-LaRaia matchup would be a pretty good horse race.

THE SUDDEN DEATH of J. Vincent Smyth last week saddened many, many friends who through the years had come to know and respect him.

He served well as a city councillor from Ward 6 and then became superintendent of the city cemetery Department.

Ironically, he wrote a letter to the Sun dated May 28 -- two days before his death -- for publication in this week's issue. In the letter he thanked department personnel for their work in preparing the city's cemeteries for Memorial Day. The cemeteries really did look beautiful this year.

The letter appears on Page 4.

Our personal tribute to Vinnie is this: he was a good family man, a religious man, he always made an honest effort and never went around badmouthing anyone. He was both a gentle man, and a gentleman.

Hughes, incidentally, has lived all his life in the same house on Gross St. in West Quincy.

$260 Million Complex Gets Mixed Reactions

The waste plant would be financed by and built by Power Recovery Systems, Inc., according to Ricciardi.

"The Ricciardi Co. is a good outfit, they've done good work," said McCauley. "They have a good track record with developments of this kind."

McCauley said no determination has been made on the refuse facility.

He noted that the city has a Refuse Disposal Committee which is exploring options since the city has said it will get out of the landfill dumping system by 1993.

An option is the possibility of Quincy using a proposed waste treatment plant that Mayor Raymond Flynn wants constructed in Boston's South Bay area. McCauley said.

The other aspects of the project are in line with other projects in the city, said McCauley, who noted that hotels have been mentioned for Marina Bay, North Quincy, and Crown Colony Place, West Quincy.

"The City of Quincy is long overdue for a hotel," said McCauley.

"I don't see any major impact, but I am concerned about density of the project," he said.

Sheets said, "I doubt very seriously that the Power Recovery Systems will ever be built there. It simply doesn't fit into any of the proposed uses for the area."

He said that a study recommended residential, commercial and light industry use for the area.

"The City Council, as well as the Planning Department, will have to take a look at the proposal for a hotel," said Sheets who also noted that a hotel is planned for Crown Colony Place.

"It's subject to question whether the city can use another 300 hotel rooms."

"The city will make the decision, not the developer."

Sheets noted that he submitted a proposal two weeks ago to rezone the area to Planned Unit Development. It was sent to the Planning Board, but is expected to pass, he said.

He also said he was concerned that some of the acreage the Ricciardi Co. is interested in is the same that the MDC wanted to take as part of a belt.

"I'm concerned that developers such as Ricciardi can come along and make independent offers for the same land."

"The city belongs to the people, it doesn't belong to the developers."

LOCATION COUNTS

QUESTION: Just how important is location to the purchase price of a home?

ANSWER: Any Realtor will tell you that the three most important factors concerning the value of a house are "Location, Location, and Location." Unfortunately, most home buyers ignore this important advice.

Location is especially vital when buying a house for maximum resale value. Statistics say that you will be reselling your home long before the final mortgage payment is in the mail. Therefore, take a long, hard look, not only at the present, but the future prospects for the community and immediate neighborhood. Remember, you can always change a house but you can never change a location.

THE LOCATION, LOCATION AND LOCATION are the three most important factors in home value.

Bicycles Allowed On MBTA Sundays, Holidays

MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary announces that beginning June 1, bicycles will be allowed on the Red, Blue, and Orange lines on Sundays and selected holidays.

"The program gives many cyclists the opportunity to get to areas that would otherwise be inaccessible to them, without interfering with other passengers or normal MBTA operations," O'Leary said.

Passenger conditions permitting, up to two bicycles will be allowed to ride in the last car of each train on Sundays and holidays during all hours of system operation.

Due to increased ridership during the holiday season, bicycles will not be allowed on the system between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

To participate in the program, cyclists must:

1. purchase a special two year permit, at a cost of $5.

2. Sign a waiver releasing the Authority from liability related to the bicycle program, and

3. Agree to abide by rules and regulations established for the program.

Those who obtained a pass during a six-month trial program conducted during the second half of 1985 will be issued stickers extending the validity of their passes for an additional year.

Permits may be obtained at the MBTA's Senior Citizens Special Needs Pass Office in the Washington station concourse, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to noon and 12:30 p.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Interested Cyclists can obtain additional information by calling the MBTA Bicycle Program office (617) 722-5975.

Alternate Site Sought For Vo-Tech School

The City Council was seeking an alternate site for the proposed Quincy Vocational Technical School, the estimated cost of which had soared from $3.6 million to $5 million.

June 3-9

22 Years Ago

One of the reasons for the rising cost estimates was the expense of site preparation and development at the chosen location, the Faxon family property across Coddington St. from the YMCA.

One site that was attracting considerable attention from members of the City Council was the old Coddington School, occupied by the Quincy Junior College. It could save up to $3.4 million.

School Committeeman Francis Anselmo, however, defended the Faxon site in a panel discussion at the Quincy Health Center and urged the Council to "follow through" with a vote to avoid the expense of delay.

Skin Cancer Clinic At QCH June 21

Quincy City Hospital will again sponsor a free Skin Cancer Detection Clinic by three South Shore dermatologists Saturday, June 21, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Ambulatory Care Department.

Dermatologists who will participate are Dr. George Blumental, Dr. Steven Kahn and Dr. Kenneth Reed.

The three-fold purpose of the clinic will be: to provide literature and information regarding the causative factors relating to skin cancer; to examine any specific, suspicious areas and to provide information regarding measures to prevent the occurrence of skin cancer.

The clinic is provided as a community service by Quincy

City Hospital in response to demonstrated interest in such a program.

The Skin Cancer Detection Clinic at Quincy City Hospital recently was an overwhelming success, both in the number of participants and in the number of persons who were referred to physicians for follow-up after the clinic, according to QCH.

The hospital in need of further evaluation and treatment were so advised, while the majority of participants were found to have no serious skin lesions. They were reassured of the benign nature of their condition and instructed as to proper care of their skin to avoid future problems with sun exposure.

According to the hospital, most types of skin cancer are curable, and early detection plays a very important role. Anyone who has a sore that does not heal, a "wart" or suspicious lesion or mole that changes shape or color, or an unusual skin growth, should plan to attend this clinic or consult their physician, the hospital said.

For an appointment to have a specific area examined by one of the dermatologists who will be conducting the Skin Cancer Detection Clinic at Quincy City Hospital, call the Community Relations Department at the Hospital at 773-6100, ext. 4016, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Youths Invited To Take Part In Flag Day Parade

Youth organizations from Quincy and the South Shore are invited to participate in the 35th Annual Flag Day Parade Saturday, June 14, at 10 a.m.

Some 1500 will march in a tribute to "Old Glory."

The parade will form at the Quincy Vocational Technical School parking area on Coddington St. at 9:45 a.m. and proceed along Hancock St. to Veterans Memorial Stadium for a flag raising and brief ceremonies on the field.

Preceding the parade, several children will visit the First Parish Church in Quincy Center and place wreaths on the tombs of the second and sixth presidents of the United States, John and John Quincy Adams. The line of march will pause at the John F. Kennedy Health Center as a wreath is laid at the plaque in the lobby designating the site in memory of the 35th president.

During the past three and a half decades, the parade and observance, the parade and observance has been sponsored by the Koch Club of Quincy with all organizations from the South Shore welcome to be part of the program. Further information may be obtained from Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy.

All boys and girls participating in the parade will be presented with a 12-inch-by-18-inch U.S. flag to carry in the line of march and keep as a memento following the occasion. Boys and girls are requested to participate in the stadium flag raising ceremonies and brief exercises immediately following and remain in the stands. The flags are provided by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy City Club.

Youth organizations accepting invitations to join in the Flag Day Parade include the Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council, the South Shore Council Camp Fire Girls and units of Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts. Other groups participating include the Quincy Youth Soccer League, the Quincy Track Club, St. Ann's Baseball Leagues and the host, the Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues of the North Quincy, Broad Meadows, Montclair and West Quincy Districts? The Houghs Neck Legion Post will participate along with 50 girls representing the Houghs Neck Girl Scout Troops.

The colorful spectacular featuring hundreds of boys and girls wearing the uniform of their organization and carrying the flag of their country provides one of the outstanding parades in the South Shore area.

Dr. William S. Altman, 83 Former Hospital Chief Of Radiology

A funeral service for Dr. William S. Altman, 83, of Lauderhill, former chief of radiology at Quincy City Hospital, was conducted Tuesday by Rabbi David J. Jacobs at Temple Beth El, Quincy.

Dr. Altman died Monday at New England Deaconess Hospital, Boston, after a brief illness.

He collaborated with Dr. Vitaliano Morace of Naples, Italy, in 1960, to develop laminography, which produced three-dimensional X-rays of the hip. The procedure was especially important in treating dislocations, fractures, and diseases of the hip, especially in children.

Previously the only way to get three-dimensional pictures of the hip was to take multiple X-rays which exposed patients to considerable radiation.

Born in Boston, Dr. Altman was a 1927 graduate of Tufts Medical School and a clinical instructor of radiology there for many years.

He practiced internal medicine at Boston City Hospital and Central Islip Hospital on Long Island, N.Y., before becoming the first resident-trainee in radiology at Beth Israel Hospital in 1930.

At Quincy City Hospital, he was chief of radiology from 1945 to 1969. He started a school for X-ray technicians which later integrated with Northeastern University programs. He was chief of staff for one year.

Dr. Altman was also on the staff of South Shore Hospital, South Weymouth; Jordan Hospital, Plymouth; Norfolk County Hospital, Braintree; and Beth Israel. He was a member of Massachusetts Medical Society and American Medical Society, the New England Roentgen Ray Society, North American Medical Radiological Society and other professional organizations.

He was a fellow of the American College of Radiology and wrote many scientific articles.

He was a member of the Kiwanis Club of Quincy.

Husband of Esther I. (Kimball) Altman of Florida, he is survived by a son, Dr. Lawrence K. Altman of New York, medical writer for The New York Times; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Weber of Boston; a sister, Edna Leavitt of Springfield; and a grandchild. He was the brother of the late Dr. Isadore Altman of North Attleboro and the late Jack Altman of Boston.

Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park.

Memorial observance will be held through Sunday at his late residence, 32 Spear St., Quincy.

Arrangements were completed by the Levine Funeral Home, Brookline.

Jane M. O'Hare, 94

A funeral Mass for Jane M. (Dairymple) O'Hare, 94, of Quincy, a native of Boston, was celebrated May 30 in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. O'Hare died May 27 at home after a brief illness.

She had lived in Dorchester before moving to Quincy 15 years ago.

Wife of the late Albert A. O'Hare, she is survived by a daughter, Helen Cadegan of Quincy; a sister, Helen Harrington of Milton; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. She was the mother of the late Albert M. O'Hare and the late Virginia Griffin.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

There is a story told about two women who lived in the same apartment building. One evening they happened to meet while returning from a shopping center. They walked together back to their apartment building and found they enjoyed one another's company very much. When they got to the apartment building they discovered, much to their surprise, that their apartments were side-by-side, yet they had never so much as seen one another before. One of the women exclaimed: "Why, we've been next door strangers more than neighbors. If I'd known it was you behind that door, I would have taken the time to knock!"

We think this story proves a very interesting point... All of us are surrounded by potential friendships and opportunities. Each one a yet-unopened door to God's blessings for our lives. Yet too many times if we wait for favorable circumstances before we take time to discover these blessings, we risk losing our opportunities. It's like passing by a door marked "what-could-be" until one day the door reads "what-might-have-been."

Jesus said: "Every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." There are many doors around us ready to be opened if we only take the time to open them... (Your comments are welcome on this or any other thought you read here - and are appreciated)

Housing Services, Water Conservation Weeks Proclaimed

Mayor Francis X. McCauley issued two proclamations this week focusing on neighborhood housing services and water conservation.

In the first proclamation McCauley proclaimed June 1-7 to be Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services Week, and called upon residents to recognize this special observance.

McCauley said this service has, primarily through the use of local and private resources and countless hours of volunteer work, established a community relations committee to deal with neighborhood issues, given out low interest loans to people who could not otherwise have obtained loans, conducted free home inspections, and provided weatherization services to residents of the Southwest Quincy area.

In the second proclamation, McCauley said June 7-13 will be observed as Water Conservation Week in Quincy.

He said water is a precious resource which is vital to both the environmental and economic well-being of the people and urges water conservation because it is a proven and successful way to extend existing water supplies.

Faith Lutheran Church Picnic Sunday

Faith Lutheran Church will hold its annual church picnic at the Finnish Temperance Society Camp in Pembroke Sunday.

Car pools will leave the church parking lot immediately following the 9 Sunday worship service. For directions to the camp site or transportation, call the church office at 472-1247.

The church youth group will sell hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks, and ice cream at the picnic. Those attending are invited to bring a salad or dessert for the common table.

There will be a Folk Service and games for all ages, including volleyball, softball, swimming, egg toss, horseshoes etc.

Bishop To Preach At Bethany

Sunday, Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, welcomes guest preacher, the Rev. Charles D. Harper.

Rev. Harper is the area minister of the Metropolitan Boston Association of the United Church of Christ. As such he is the Congregational version of "bishop," advising and aiding local churches but having no authority to intervene directly in the affairs of any local church. Rev. Harper has been area minister since 1977. He received his theological training at Yale Divinity School and has served in a number of churches and church related agencies. It is an honor to welcome Rev. Harper to Bethany's pulpit.

Rev. Harper will preach on the subject "War And Peace" reflecting on Psalm 20:1-9 and Matthew 5:9. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as liturgist for the service. The Guest organist, Kevin Galie, will direct the choir in singing "Now Let Us All Praise God And Sing" by Gordon Young as the offertory anthem.

The worship service is at 10 a.m. and is broadcast live over WJDA, 1300kc.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. with classes from preschool through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies will be provided, as well as a toddler class for young children. Our Early Childhood coordinator, Allana O'Shea, will also be present to supervise the care of infants and children.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Meredith Stone Invested Cantor

Meredith Lee Stone, daughter of Earl Stone of Boston and formerly of Quincy, was recently invested a cantor by Dr. Alfred Gottschalk, President of Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of Religion.

Cantor Stone received an AB in music and semiotics from Brown University and a MM in voice from the University of Southern California.

While a student, she served Rye Community Synagogue and Congregational Emanuel of Worcester, where she will remain as cantor.

Laymen, Deacons Lead Squantum Worship Service

Laymen and deacons of the First Church of Squantum led the worship service at the church last Sunday.

The call to worship was given by Frederick MacMillan. Gretchen Bumpus gave the opening prayer and led the congregation in the Lord's Prayer. Clifford Mason greeted the congregation and read the announcements of coming events. The Prayer of Dedication was given by Stewart Scott.

The sermon was given by Thomas Williamson, who spoke about "The Gift of Laughter."

The Chancel Choir sang Hal Hopson's arrangement of the 16th century canon, "Dona Nobis Pacem."

Greeters for the morning were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Scott. Dana Olson and Tore Wallin were the ushers.

There will be only one service this Sunday, as the church celebrates Children's Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The Cherub Choir, Crusader Choir, Chancel Choir and Youth Choir will sing.

The annual church flea market will be held on Saturday, June 21. Table space is available for $12. To reserve table space, or for further information, call Hazel Mayne at 328-4367 or Ruth Swenson at 328-1990. The rain date is Saturday, June 28.

$6,850 In Scholarships To Be Awarded At Bethany

As part of this Sunday's worship service, special scholarship awards amounting to $6,850 will be made to Bethany students beginning or continuing their college education.

The scholarships come from special funds set up specifically for this purpose to which members and friends of Bethany make contributions. Awards this year are being made from The Bethany Scholarship Fund, The Munroe D. MacLean Scholarship Fund, The Hazel MacGregor Scholarship Fund, The John D. Williams Fund for Educational Purposes, The Virginia Wakeman Noyes Memorial Fund, and The Goudy Fund.

Recipients of these awards will be: Richard Carr, Lisa Lundin, Melissa Mikami, Elizabeth Morse, David Murphy, Erik Pulsifer, Christopher Roberts, Paul Sangree, Barbara Stuart, Tammy Vozella, and Susan Zeiba.

These awards express in concrete terms the church's continuing care and support of the educational goals of our youth and young adults.

In addition to the scholarships, a presentation of the Ben Hodgkinson

Memorial Award will be made. This is a special honor awarded to a Bethany young adult in memory of the self-giving life and work of Ben Hodgkinson. To be eligible a candidate must be under 21 years old, an active member of the church, and most importantly be a person of faith and deeds—faith in Jesus Christ and deeds of kindness, done both in the church and the community.

Along with the presentation of scholarships, the giving of the Ben Hodgkinson Award is a highlight of Bethany's "Graduation and Awards Sunday."

Five Confirmed

At Covenant Congregational

Last Sunday was Confirmation Sunday for the five students of Rev. Fred Lawson's class of the past two years.

The confirmands are: Richard Copp, David Francoeur, Ronald McKim, Derek Nelson, and Robert Purpura.

At the 10 a.m. worship service the confirmands took part in the call to worship, scripture readings, the review by the class, the rite of confirmation, and the confession of personal faith.

Smith, sang "The Lord is My Light" by Allitsen and "Sanctus" by Gounod. After a prayer of dedication by Rev. Lawson, Luisa Dano sang "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and Karen Nelson, church president, presented Bibles to the confirmands.

Communion was shared by the class and the pastor, then the congregation.

After the service, a coffee hour in honor of the confirmands was held in the fellowship hall.

Rev. Lawson's message was "The Greatest Truth in the World," based on John 3:16. The choir, directed and accompanied by Richard

Quincy Co-operative Bank Earnings Up

The Quincy Co-operative Bank (NASDAQ:QCBK) reports earnings for the fourth quarter and for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1986.

Fourth quarter net income of $1,083,000 increased 140 per cent over the same period last year. For the fiscal year ended April 30, 1986, consolidated net income of the Bank and its subsidiary was $2,644,000 an increase of 92 per cent over net income of $1,379,000 for the year ended April 30, 1985.

The bank converted to stock ownership in November, 1985, making the fourth quarter of fiscal 1986 the first full quarter that the Bank operated as a public company. Quarterly earnings per share, adjusted for the 10 per cent stock dividend in the form of a stock split that will be paid June 18, 1986 to stockholders of record May 30, 1986, were $.56.

Earnings per share (adjusted as above) were $1.36 for the year ended April 30, 1986 reflecting the bank's conversion in November 1985. Such data was not applicable for the year ended April 30, 1985.

Total assets were $233,548,000 at April 30, 1986, an increase of 22 per cent over total assets of $191,714,000 at April 30, 1985. Stockholders' equity totaled $35,977,000 at April 30, 1986, and represented 15 per cent of total assets.

Carr Tells Students 'Help Each Other To Reject Drugs'

By ROBERT BOSWORTH

When M.L. Carr played for the Boston Celtics, he was known as the team's cheerleader, and his cheering and towel-waving helped the Celtics win the championship in 1981 and 1984.

Now Carr is on a new team with a different goal: to stop youths from using drugs.

Carr brought his "M.L. Carr Challenge: Stand Tall Against Drugs" program to the Broad Meadows Middle School in Quincy Tuesday and told more than 250 students to "just say no to drugs and to be proud of who you are."

The anti-drug program consists of visits to schools throughout the state during which Carr delivers an upbeat message of self-respect, pride, two-way communication and mutual trust.

Sponsored by the Bank of Boston, the program's main goals are to direct student energies into constructive activities, to encourage them to make their own decisions and to help them "put their strength to work for themselves" in anything they decide to do.

Carr, a Boston Celtic for six seasons, said he visits junior high schools to rally students against drug use and to make sure they understand that true friends, like good teammates, don't push each other into experimenting with drugs.

"Friends should support each other in resisting drugs," said Carr.

Carr said his main message to youths is to tell them there is pressure to do drugs and that they have the right to make their own decisions.

"We understand there are

pressures but you don't have to conform to any one decision unless you want to," he said. "You have the right to make your own decisions and to feel good about that decision and to feel good about who you are," Carr told the attentive audience.

According to Carr, peer pressure is the main reason youths turn to drug use.

"Kids try drugs because of the pressure from other kids. For you to say no is sometimes viewed as the chicken in the group or the square and that's not right."

Another reason for drug experimentation is boredom, said Carr.

"What you have to do is find something creative to do. You do things, you get involved with creative people to get rid of the boredom," said Carr.

After finishing his 35-minute presentation, Carr was given a green and white t-shirt with the message "Quincy Says No" printed on the front. Broad Meadows Principal Eugene Creedon made the presentation.

Carr immediately put it on to the delight of the audience.

Carr then presented the school with a large white banner with a logo displaying Carr's face and message "Stand Tall Against Drugs."

The banner was raised to the gym's ceiling where it will serve as a reminder of Carr's visit.

Carr wrapped up his presentation by saying the students are at a critical age.

"The games get bigger now as you get older. You're winners now and without a doubt you'll win in the future."

"Just say no because drugs are illegal, they destroy families and they destroy lives," Carr said.

Zoning, Review Task Force To Meet June 12

Councillor Thomas J. Nutley announces a special meeting of the new zoning review task force will be held Thursday, June 12, 7:30 p.m. in the conference room at new City Hall.

Nutley said the task force which he chairs, was formed to hear live comments from representatives of civic organizations and other residents concerning zoning laws.

"This task force was formed to review the zoning laws and to recommend changes where deemed necessary," said Nutley.

"Written comments may be provided to our committee by anybody at any time but, we want to provide meetings with live testimony by those concerned," he added.

On June 19, 7:30 p.m., also at new City Hall, task force will listen to input from builders, developers and architects.

Class Size Policy Is Significant, Says Durkin

The Quincy School Committee's recent adoption of a policy regarding class sizes throughout the school system is significant, according to vice chairman Stephen Durkin.

"For the first time, the School Committee has made a statement concerning the educational desirability of smaller class sizes," stated Durkin.

In an effort to bring about more manageable class sizes at all grade levels, Durkin proposed that class size limits should be set at each grade level. The superintendent would be required to seek the School Committee's approval in order to exceed the class size limits, according to the proposal.

Of particular concern were class sizes in the very early grades, where children obtain their educational foundation and where class sizes in the recent past have been much too high in some cases, according to Durkin.

The committee adopted the following policy to serve as a guideline:

"That the maximum number of pupils in K-3 classes be 22-26; that the maximum number in Grades 4-8 classes be 24-28; that the maximum class size in all academic areas at the high schools be 25-30, as of Oct. 1, 1986. If it is deemed necessary to exceed the class size limit at any of the respective grade levels, the superintendent should inform the School Committee at its next meeting."

"For purposes of the school system's open enrollment policy, the school department administration now has a guideline for determining when space is available to allow a student to attend an out-of-district school," Durkin said.

"While the policy allows for needed flexibility, the clause requiring the superintendent to report to the School Committee provides a means for the committee to monitor whether class size objectives are being met and whether additional teachers are needed," he said.

John C. Harvey Jr. of Quincy, has been promoted to assistant secretary in the master trust services division of the State Street Bank and Trust Company, Boston.

Harvey joined the bank in 1982 as an accountant and was later named account supervisor.

Flatley To Meet With Officials On Buying Shipyard

resolve submitted by DeCristofaro and passed at Monday night's council meeting.

George O'Kane, president of Local 5 of the Shipbuilders Union, could not be reached for comment.

But he said last week that his group remains optimistic that the yard will be saved for shipbuilding purposes.

O'Kane said the union is in Stage 2 of a feasibility study regarding a worker buy-out of the yard.

But according to O'Kane, General Dynamics doesn't think the buy-out will work. "They (GD) wish we'd go away and let them have their way," said O'Kane.

General Dynamics has reportedly sent potential buyers of the yard a document illustrating the 182-acre site with 900 condominiums and 10-story office, hotel and apartment buildings.

"I don't think Quincy needs that many more condominiums and another marine here," said O'Kane.

He expressed concern for shipyard workers seeking work to suit their technical skills if the yard is purchased by developers.

"There will be nothing for steel workers and blue collar workers to do," said O'Kane.

Legislation Would Require WRA Make Tax Lieu Payments

Two local officials have filed legislation to require the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority to make annual payments in lieu of taxes to the City of Quincy and the Town of Winthrop.

Intent of the legislation, filed by Rep. Thomas Brownell and Ward One Councillor Michael Cheney, is to provide the communities with financial mitigation for hosting the authority's two sewage treatment plants.

As a public facility, the Nut Island plant cannot be assessed property taxes by a local community.

However, the bill filed by Rep. Brownell and Councillor Cheney would require the authority to make payments in lieu of taxes.

The amount of yearly payments would be determined by joint agreement of the authority and the city. If the parties were unable to reach an agreement, the matter would be decided by the Supreme Judicial Court.

Rep. Brownell said, "For too long, the City of Quincy and the Town of Winthrop have hosted the treatment plants, receiving nothing in return. This legislation is just one way of ensuring that other communities will share the burden of sewage treatment."

Councillor Cheney added, "I am pleased to work alongside Rep. Brownell, with this being one of the largest mitigating measures the city could receive in terms of the cost of cleaning up Quincy Bay."

The legislation is modeled after a law requiring the Massachusetts Port Authority (MassPort) to make payments in lieu of taxes to the cities of Boston, Chelsea, and the Town of Winthrop.

Norfolk County Public Defender Office Opens July 1

Realtor Luncheon June 11

The Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors' semi-annual business meeting and realtor of the year luncheon will be held Wednesday, June 11, 11:45 a.m. at Jessica's at Lombardo's in Randolph.

All reservations must be made in advance, no later than Friday, June 6. For more information call 773-0770.

The Committee for Public Counsel Services, the state public defender agency, announces that it will open a public defender office for Norfolk County July 1. The office will be located at 450 Washington St. Joel A. Goodman, presently the assistant regional supervisor for Suffolk County, has been named as the new attorney-in-charge of this office.

Goodman is a resident of Medfield and has been a public defender since 1972. He has worked in the various district courts and in the Superior Court, serving as the attorney assigned to Norfolk County on three different prior occasions. Goodman is a graduate of Boston University and Washington College of Law of American University, where he received his J.D. in 1972.

The staff of four attorneys in Norfolk County will handle the most serious criminal cases in both the district and Superior Courts of the county.

For further information contact: Arnold R. Rosenfeld, Chief Counsel, Committee for Public Counsel Services, 80 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02116, telephone 482-6212.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

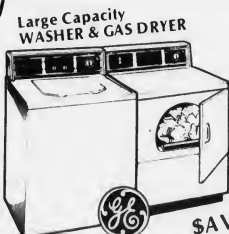

Take a big load off laundry costs with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories before you eat them? Take control with a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

364 Graduate At Quincy Junior College

The 364 men and women who graduated from Quincy Junior College were told about the importance of that school to the greater South Shore during commencement exercises Sunday at Quincy Vocational School gymnasium.

The speaker was Councillor Patricia M. Toland who cited a number of examples of students graduating from the college who might not have had access to other schools. She also told the graduates she supports legislation which has been filed to make the school the 16th self-standing state community college.

After her address, Mrs. Toland was presented with the 1986 President's Community Service Award by college president Dr. Johnson for her service to the college.

Graduates were greeted by Mayor Francis X. McAuley, public school superintendent John A. Osterman, Paul A.M. Hunt, chairman of the Community College Association of Quincy and the South Shore, and Peter Eleey, chairman of the school's board of trustees.

In his charge to the graduates, Dr. O. Clayton Johnson told them to look ahead, and to always be ready to lend a helping hand as they go through life.

The graduates: Degrees in Arts: Lila J. Abraham, Patricia Anne Adamczyk, Mariclaire P. Cheney, Pauline M. Connolly, Patricia A. Crafley, Daniel J. DiSandro, Jean Ann Furey, Kimberly A. Fitzrell, Deborah

M.V. NEWPORT

Clipper Cruise Line Docks At Marina Bay

Clipper Cruise Line first class vacation cruise will use Marina Bay in Squantum as the turnaround port for a second season for it's New England program.

The first vessel docks Friday June 6 at 1 p.m. at Marina Bay. The M.V. Newport is 207 feet long and provides luxurious facilities and excellent personalized service.

The 100 passengers on board will disembark from a cruise along the Chesapeake Waterways on Saturday. Then new passengers will board to begin a 7 day New England cruise through the Cape Cod Canal to Nantucket Island, Martha's Vineyard, Newport R.I., New Bedford and Plymouth. The passengers come from as far away as California and Texas to explore and enjoy the scenic New England Coast.

The Public is invited to view this magnificent cruise ship from the docks at Marina Bay from Friday at 1:00p.m. to Sunday at 6:00 p.m. Throughout the summer, from June to September, the ship will arrive at 7:00a.m. every Saturday and leave early Sunday morning from Marina Bay.

Quincy Youth Soccer Road Teams 5-3-1 For Weekend

The Quincy Youth Soccer League road teams had another good weekend with a 5-3-1 record.

In boys under 12 the Quincy Comets walloped Raynham, 7-1, with Matt Fennessy having two goals and John MacNeil, Jamie Arnstein, Chris Brophy, Kevin Kane and Kevin Murphy one each. The entire team played well.

The Quincy Bees defeated East Bridgewater, 5-1, paced by Michael Martarano's hat trick. Mike Dern had the other two goals. Kenny Downey and Richard Gorman had two assists each and Matt Dwyer one. Mark Walsh, Mark Cahill, Paul McCluskey and Richard Stasiak played strong games.

In boys under 14 Raynham blanked Quincy Rovers, 5-0. Goalie Chris Halloran, Jim Flaherty and Shawn Schelle played well.

In boys under 16 the Quincy Bullets tied Brockton,

2-2, with Kevin Burke having both Quincy goals and Rob Hubbard assisting on each. Kerry Byrne was outstanding in goal and Jay Eggers, Jamie Fennessy, Dan Piccini and Bill Early had good games.

In boys under 19 the Quincy Cosmos topped Sharon, 3-1, as Chris Myers scored twice and Tom Burke once. Mike Cree had two assists and Mark Farrand one. Joe Mastrianni and Mike Cocce played well.

In girls under 12 the Quincy Sockerettes blanked Holbrook, 4-0, as Karen McCabe and Kim Hearn scored two goals each. Erin Duffy, Angela Marinelli and Susan McCole had assists and goalie Jennifer Murray, Jennifer Steen and Cindy Mitton played fine games.

Whitman topped the Quincy Raiders, 5-1, with Melissa Johnson scoring the Quincy goal and Zina Haque assisting. Cheryl Kelly, Ann Murphy and Lisa Gacia played well.

In girls under 14 Rockland defeated the Quincy Presidents, 8-2. Karen Miller and Chris Delaney had the Quincy goals, both unassisted. The entire team gave a fine effort.

In girls under 16 the Quincy Early Birds shut out Raynham, 2-0, on goals by Chris McGonagle and Patty Feeney. Tara Miles and Stacy Walsh had assists and goalie Maureen Shea, Kelen Duffy, Marie McAdams, Kerri Blake and Debbie Early had fine games.

Lynn Fullerton Wins Speed Typing Test

Quincy High School senior Lynn Fullerton has earned an outstanding achievement award in the Class III typing contest held annually at Aquinas Junior College, Milton.

A total of 230 students from Southeastern Massachusetts competed in the five-minute timed writing competition.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens'

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal. We need $25,000 of this sum by June 22nd.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

NORTH QUINCY'S Joe Dudek arrives in Denver where he signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos. He received plenty of attention from local and national news media.

Bronco Fans Excited

Dudek Gets Royal Welcome In Denver

By TOM SULLIVAN
North Quincy's Joe Dudek already is big in Colorado. And I do mean BIG!

While vacationing in Colorado during the past two weeks, I first learned of Dudek's decision to sign with the Denver Broncos when I picked up a copy of the May 20 Denver Post and saw the story featured on Page 1 of the sports section.

The all-time NCAA touchdown leader was spotlighted on all the television newscasts that night. The sportscaster on Denver's Channel 9 spoke with Dudek's coach at Plymouth, N.H., State College, Jay Cottone, who compared Joe with the great Marcus Allen.

"If Dudek is one-third as good as Allen, he should be a valuable addition to the Broncos," said the sportscaster. "His arrival is eagerly awaited by all."

Dudek was expected to sign his contract the next day but arrived in Denver too late, signing on Thursday.

If I had still been in Littleton, just south of Denver, that day I might have attended the signing.

However, I already was in Durango, 400 miles from Denver. Dudek was prominent on Durango's Channel 6, on which the sportscaster praised the Broncos for signing the former North Quincy High standout. He was also highlighted in the Durango Herald and the Rocky Mountain News.

Dudek was wildly greeted when he arrived at Denver's Stapleton International Airport.

All three of Denver's network television affiliates responded to his arrival with mini-cams and microphones. "I didn't know who they wanted and I kept on walking," Dudek said. "I thought the President must have been behind me."

Sports Illustrated called the Broncos' publicity department to ask if a "formal press conference" was planned. The answer was no, but at the hotel that is home to many Broncos, Dudek was presented -- informally -- to three of the four Colorado dailies that regularly cover the team.

Zone 6 Legion Baseball:

Morrisette, Quincy, Wollaston Open Season

The Zone 6 American Legion baseball season gets under way Sunday with defending champion Morrisette seeking its 24th zone title and Quincy, which has had little luck in recent years, hoping for better things with two new coaches.

In Sunday's openers, Quincy will host Canton at 8 p.m. at Adams Field and Wollaston will be at Randolph for a 2 p.m. game. Monday Morrisette opens against Wollaston at 8 at Adams Field and Quincy plays at Randolph at 6. Next Wednesday it will be Carter Post vs. Wollaston at 8 at Adams. Morrisette at Canton at 6 and Quincy at Holbrook at 8:30 p.m.

Head coach Ray Cattaneo and assistants Bill Corcoran and Connie Carozzi are starting their 17th year at the Morrisette helm. This year former Morrisette players Dave Perdios and Bob Biagini have been added as assistants.

Morrisette has eight veterans back, led by two excellent pitchers, Larry Taglieri of Quincy High and John Christiani of Suffolk University.

Other returnees are third baseman Bob Hunter of Quincy High, pitcher-outfielder Mike Joyce of Xaverian, first baseman Chris Marshall of B.C. High, outfielder Steve Minichello of B.C. High, catcher Bob McDonald of Quincy and outfielder Chris Ricciuti of North Quincy.

Newcomers are catcher

Joel Balducci of Xaverian, shortstop Dan Biagini of Quincy, infielder John DeBartolo of Quincy, outfielder Ed Flavin of Quincy, infielder Ron Fletcher of B.C. High, infielder Mike Mullane of B.C. High, pitcher Dan Overby of Quincy and infielder Jim Ross of Quincy.

"We don't have as much experience as last year, but we have a solid nucleus and if our pitching comes through we should do all right," Cattaneo said.

Quincy hopes to rebound after several disappointing seasons with new coaches Dick Laracy and Fran Donovan joining returning coach Ed Spring.

With a line turnout of 40 candidates, the coaches had a hard time selecting the final 18-player roster.

Catching was one of Quincy's biggest needs and the team has three excellent prospects in Mark Simonelli, Bill Mulhern and Sean Gately. Mulhern and Gately will also see action at other positions.

The infield will be anchored by second-year starter Steve Haggas of North Quincy at second base. He will combine with Rob Higgins, Greg Chambers, Tony Orlando and Kyle Robertson, all young but aggressive.

The outfield will be headed up by third-year starter Pat O'Sullivan of B.C. High, who had an outstanding year in 1985. P.J. Hussey, Peter Lufis, Kevin Duffy and Bill Roche will see a lot of action in the outfield.

The pitching chores will fall into the capable hands of hard throwing lefty Andy Palmariello, a freshman at Suffolk University, and a third-year starter. He will be joined by returnees Bob Laracy and Rich Bryan, along with newcomers Wayne Chambers and Joe Iaylor, who brighten the pitching picture.

The coaches agree that Quincy still has a way to go, but has taken a giant step in the right direction.

Kelly Fans 17 To Lead Red Sox, 10-3

Quincy's own "Dr. K", Scott Kelly, struck out 17 batters to lead the Red Sox over the Angels, 10-3, in the Junior Farm League.

Kelly received lots of help from Todd Thompson, who drove in five runs with two hits.

In the second inning Danny Stone, Jamie Murphy and Jimmy Gallagher had hits for a Sox run after Ronnie McGann had driven in a run in the first. In the third Danny Reynolds, Lee Hughes, Thompson, Joe McCarthy, Ledwick, McCarthy and Gallagher all had hits.

Catcher Danny Hughes and outfielders Johnson, David Kennally and Jenna Nolan played solid defense.

For the Angels, Mike Koski had a single and an RBI and Mark Tarbucco drove in two runs with a double.

Meanwhile, the Braves continued to roll merrily along and improved to 8-0 with a 15-4 romp over the Dodgers. With Dan Farrell the winning pitcher, pitching a three-hitter.

Sean Perry and Jeff Russell had three hits each, Kevin Coleman had two and David Gunther and Steve MacDougall one each. Doug Gallagher played fine defense.

For the Dodgers, Matt Beston pitched well in relief. Justin Tobin has two hits and Jason Downey one.

The Braves overcame a 5-0 deficit with seven runs in the bottom of the third to top the Red Sox, 7-5. Jeff Russell was the winning pitcher and sparked the big inning with a grand slam home run. Steve MacDougall and Dan Farrell shared the pitching chores with Farrell getting a save.

Todd Sullivan, Kevin Coleman, and MacDougall had key hits and Jim Goldrick and Jacob Hart sparked off defense.

Following a run in the second, the Sox scored four runs in the third when Nolan, McGann and Reynolds walked and Lee Hughes cleared the bases with a triple. Hughes scored on Thompson's single.

Sox first baseman Murphy and right fielder Jed Kingsbury turned in fine efforts.

The Braves also topped the Mets, 13-7, with Russell the winner, striking out nine as he shared the pitching duties with Farrell.

Jim Goldrick had a home run and single and five RBI. Perry and Farrell had two hits each, Gunther had a double, Jacob Harte had a key hit. Gallagher had a single and Kevin Coleman made two Outstanding defensive plays.

For the Mets J.J. Farrell and Neil Mahoney had three hits each, and Tom Cedrone played fine defense.

The Cubs improved their record to 5-2 as they edged the Dodgers, 5-4, and blasted the Indians, 18-1.

In the Dodger game Brendan Ridge was 3-for-3 and drove in the winning run after Matt Miller and Susan Sheehan walked and Dan Donahue singled.

The Cubs pounded out 13 hits as Donahue went 3-for-3. Gerard Baccalao had two doubles. Joe Keohane singled twice and had two RBI, including one in the bottom of the fifth to tie the game and A.J. Carthas, Wayne Johnson and Bob Callow had the other hits. Carthas pitched six innings, allowing seven hits, striking out 10 and walking five. Sheehan, Donahue and Carthas made fine defensive plays.

Against the Indians, Donahue pitched a two-hitter, struck out 12 and walked six. Johnson tripled for three RBI. Donahue had two singles and Ridge, Bill Coughlin and Callow had key hits.

Dudek has yet to gain a yard in Denver, but at last count he was on three Denver radio talk shows. "I get a thrill out of all this attention," he said. "I love it."

ESPN, the cable sports network, splashed the free agent's signing over a few prime time minutes, replete with Plymouth State highlights.

According to the national scouting combines, Dudek is not the kind of out-of-the-backfield receiver who will make you forget Walter Payton, whose NCAA touchdown mark was broken by Dudek last fall.

"But Joe will work harder than anyone you've ever seen. He'll never, never quit," said Cotto.

"I've heard so much about his running ability that I'm wondering if he's sorta like Red Grange," said a smiling Denver head coach Dan Reeves.

Reeves will defer his answer to the question "can Dudek play in the NFL?" until after the Broncos' developmental workouts in Greeley, which will last six weeks. Joe arrived too late for the team's three-day mini-camp.

One of the things most scouts question is Dudek's receiving ability. He had only 32 receptions for 348 yards and three touchdowns during his four years at Plymouth State.

"I feel the rap about my receiving is deceiving," he said. "I caught everything they threw to me in college. The problem was we didn't throw that much."

That is one of the things he will find very different about the Broncos, who have one of the NFL's best passers in John Elway.

"Denver was my first choice all along and I chose the Broncos (the Dallas Cowboys offered more money) because of the six-week camp," he said. "It means the coaches can get a longer look at me. The money doesn't really matter, I have to make a team first."

He'll get the chance as Denver is a little short on backs. Last year the Broncos initiated a one-back system, carrying only four, but backfield coach Nick Nicolau, who formerly coached at Warcham High, hinted that they may carry a fifth back this season.

"I'm not the head coach, but I'm pretty sure we'll carry five," he said. "So it's not like he's up against a stacked deck. If we go to another guy, he'll have the opportunity."

"When a guy is as productive as he was, even if it's in high school, you've got to take notice. The biggest negative I saw in New Orleans at a scouting session, was that he struggled a bit to catch the ball. But he held his own on the rest of it."

Dudek was slowed down at the scouting session by an ankle injury suffered in his final college game. That injury greatly slowed him down and kept his action to a minimum in the Japan Bowl.

One of Dudek's Denver boosters is Bill MacClurg, public relations assistant for the Denver Zephyrs baseball team of the Triple-A American Association.

"When I was a senior defensive back at Norwich University, I went against Dudek, a freshman, in 1982 in the season's opener," he said.

"He rushed for well over 200 yards and scored four touchdowns in a 52-14 win. I drilled him my best shot every time but he was always three yards deep in the end zone. I think the Broncos made a good move in signing him."

Dudek had been greatly disappointed at not being selected in the NFL draft. He was drafted second by the Tampa Bay Bandits of the USFL but decided against signing with the USFL, whose future is in jeopardy.

"It's a relief now that I know where I'm headed and have a certain time frame," Dudek said. "It will be tough, but I'll make the best of it."

Burgin Wins Pair

Burgin Platner improved its record to 6-3 in the Little League with wins over Kiwanis and State Street Visa.

Burgin topped Kiwanis,

5-3, as Mark Kelleher and Tommy Balzano combined for 11 strikeouts.

Balzano and Mike Malvesti has two hits each with Balzano hitting his fifth home run and Brian Doherty played outstanding defense.

Burgin defeated State Street, 4-1, as Kelleher and Balzano again combined for 11 strikeouts. Kelleher struck out seven and gave up only two hits.

Balzano, Malvesti and Doherty had two hits each and Mike Berry and Steve Rayne played fine games.

Reale Has Good Major League Draft Chance

Quincy's Brian Reale, who played his high school ball at Boston College High School and who was an outstanding infielder for Morrisette Legion teams, recently completed an excellent baseball career at Holy Cross College and has a good chance to be selected in the major league draft later this month.

Reale batted .386 this spring as the Crusaders won the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference and played in the ECAC tournament.

"It's something you think about as a kid. I've worked hard and done the best I could," Reale said about his chances for selection in the draft.

Reale was red hot down the playoff stretch as he went 17-for-29 (.586) over the final eight games to raise his average from .306 to .386 and his slugging percentage from .521 to .653.

In the ECAC tournament he was 6-for-11 with three doubles, two RBI and four runs scored. In the field he had eight putouts, 16 assists and didn't commit an error.

He finished the season leading Holy Cross in at-bats (101), hits (39), runs (34), triples (five), RBI (30), home runs (four), average, slugging percentage, assists (77), total bases (66) and game-winning hits (five).

Reale also completed an outstanding basketball career last winter when he won the Maloney Trophy, emblematic of a hustling style of play. He was named co-MVP with Jim McCaffrey the past two years.

"We had a saying when the game was on the line. We said it's 'Reale Time' because we wanted to get Brian in the midst of the action at the crucial stages of the game," said basketball coach George Blaney. "He's a fierce competitor."

Killion, Barrett Shine In E-Mass Meet

North Quincy's Julie Killion and Tricia Barrett, who had made outstanding showings in the Suburban League meet, turned in excellent efforts last week in the Eastern Mass. Class B meet at Reading.

Killion, who had won the javelin in the league meet, took second in the Eastern Mass. meet with a toss of 112-7.

Barrett, who was third in the mile in the league meet, placed third in the two-mile in the Eastern Mass. meet in 11:41.7.

Granite City Slugs Way To 2 Wins

Granite City Electric won two games over the weekend to improve its Babe Ruth League record to 5-2.

Granite City rolled over Morrisette, 15-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Erik DeBoer, who struck out five and walked only two. In three complete games DeBoer has allowed only 12 hits.

Tim Brillio paced a 14-hit attack with a double and two singles, Brian Howlett had a triple and single, Sean Thompson and Angelo Kyrans a double and single each and Steve Wysocki two singles.

For Morrisette Dave Hutchins had two doubles and Ed Ryan, Peter Lyons and Keddy singles.

Granite City outslugged Sons of Italy, 19-10, after jumping off to a quick 7-0 lead.

Ken Caiewski allowed only five hits but was victimized by six errors. He was relieved by Tony Anderlinis in the sixth but was the winner improving to 2-1.

Thompson had a long triple, a single, walked three times and scored five runs. Howlett had three hits, including a 350-foot triple to deep center field, Caiewski had two singles, Wysocki had one and Paul McDonnell scored twice and played well in the field.

Jeff Powers had a triple and single for Sons of Italy and played well in right field and Keith Oliver, Frank Calabro and Ritchie Kiesel also had hits. Scotty MacDougall, Joe Russell and Dan MacDonald all played well.

The Elks also swept two games over the weekend, defeating Houghs Neck and Firemen.

The Elks scored six times in the sixth and topped Houghs Neck, 10-3, to snap a three-game losing streak.

With the Elks leading, 2-1, Houghs Neck scored twice in the bottom of the fourth when Dan Steele singled, stole second and scored on Eric Abboud's double. Abboud stole third and scored on a wild pitch by Scott Campbell. Catcher Scott Logan apparently slipped and hurt his knee going after the ball but stayed in the game, switching positions with third baseman Bob Buttomer.

The Elks came back with two runs in the fifth as Logan singled, Buttomer tripled and later scored.

The Elks brought in 13-year-old Bill Warren to pitch and the Elks scored six runs in the sixth to win going away. Logan, Jim McCarthy, Chris Beatrice and Dan Gilmartin all walked and Buttomer and Mike Cahill came up with key hits.

Dan Steele caught a fine game for Houghs Neck and threw out three Elks runners. Bob Austin, Ray Waldron and Steve McGinnis all had hits.

The Elks topped the Firemen, 12-6, coming from behind after the Firemen started off with two runs in the first inning. Eddie Monteith and Rob Neigher scored the runs.

The Elks tied it in the second when Campbell walked, stole second and scored on Beatrice's single. Cahill drove in Beatrice with a towering triple.

In the third the Firemen scored a run on Bill MacDougall's double and Chris Noble's triple, but the Elks scored four runs with Logan and Gagey having RBI. The Elks added two in the fourth, one in the sixth and two in the seventh. Logan drove in the two in the seventh with a long triple over the left fielder's head.

For the Firemen Ryan Taylor caught a fine game, 13-year-old Mike Bayliss had a double and Neigher and Noble had singles.

City Schools Benefit From Arts Funding

Students in the city's public schools have had the opportunity this past school year to work with nationally and internationally known artists thanks to grant fundings by the Mass. Arts Lottery.

The art of storytelling was presented to pupils by artist Jay O'Callahan as well as Quincy's own storyteller Mary Blaney.

In another program students explored the world of music through working with songwriter Betsy Rose of the University of Massachusetts Woodwind Quintet, and the United Brass Quintet.

Art students attended workshops held by printmaker Berg Kailian and the Institute of Contemporary Art's program "Art Without Boundaries."

The fund also sponsored high school students attending Eastern Nazarene College's spring production as well as a workshop held by the Preservation Society in Newport, R.I.

Dr. Janet DiTullio, coordinator at Squantum School, said the city's school system has received additional grants from the Massachusetts Arts Collaborative to sponsor artists in residence at Broad Meadows Middle and the Snug Harbor schools.

Farmers' Market Opens Friday

The annual Quincy Farmers' Market begins its fifth season Friday, June 6 at 11:30 a.m. at the John Hancock Parking lot, across from Quincy District Court.

Quincy Farmer's Market is a fresh produce market where farmers bring their home grown fruits and vegetables for all to enjoy.

For the first time, there will be Farmstead cheeses of Massachusetts, Smith's Country Cheese from Winchendon, Ma., Country

Smoked, Caraway and plain Gouda cheese.

Pat Merill, of Houghs Neck, will bring in lobsters and crabs, cooked or alive, for the buyer's choice.

For more information call Anneli Johnson at 479-1601.

Historical Society Plans June 19 Maine Trip

The Quincy Historical Society is planning a trip to Maine, including York, Berwick and Kittery on Thursday, June 19.

In York, the group will view the Emerson-Wilcox House with its Bulman crewel bedhangings, the Old Gaol, the oldest remaining public building in the colonies, the John Hancock Warehouse and Wharf and the Elizabeth Perkins House.

There will be a picnic lunch at the Perkins House. The group will then visit Berwick and the Hamilton House, a Georgian mansion built by Col. Jonathan Hamilton.

En route home there will be stops at various outlets in Kittery.

The tour bus will leave from Adams Academy, 8 Adams St., Quincy, at 8 a.m. and return between 5:30 and 6 p.m.

Reservations are to be made at the society office by June 12.

YMCA Aquacrobics Registration Starts June 9

Registration will begin June 9 at the South Shore YMC, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, for "Aquacrobics," a class done in water to music.

There will be two, 6-week sessions, starting June 23 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Cost per session is $25 for 'Y' members and $35 for non-members. If you enroll in both sessions the cost is $40 for members and $60 for non-members.

For further information call the 'Y' at 479-8500.

'Learn To Swim' Week At YMCA June 23-27

Registration is now underway for the South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, "Learn To Swim Week" scheduled for June 23 through June 27.

This program is for non-swimmers, ages three to adult.

There are three youth classes (ages 6-17) at 9 to 9:30 a.m., 9:35 to 10:35 a.m. and 10:10 to 10:40 a.m. and the cost is $15.

There are two young tot classes (ages 3 to 6) at 1 to 1:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 2 p.m. and the cost is $17.50.

Two adult classes run 7:30 to 8 p.m. and 8 to 8:30 p.m. and the cost is $20.

For more information call the South Shore YMCA at 479-8500.

'Gastric Balloon' Program On Ch. 3 June 10

"How a Gastric Balloon Promotes Weight Loss" will be the topic of a program on Cable TV, Ch. 3, Tuesday, June 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Guests on the program are Dr. Robert Sipzner, Director of Gastroenterology at OCH, and Dr. Charles Schwartz, also a Gastroenterologist at the hospital.

The program will introduce and discuss the non-invasive method for achieving weight loss, which has been highly successful, according to the hospital.

The technique involves temporary placement of a small gastric balloon which is thought to suppress appetite and create a feeling of chronic fullness.

According to noted physicians and gastroenterologists throughout the country, "the procedure is an effective adjunct to behavior modification and diet therapy, because it enables patients to change their eating habits."

Quincy City Hospital is the first hospital in the South Shore area to offer this service and the community is encouraged to watch the program and call in their questions.

WEEK OF: JUNE 5

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Your profile is prominent in career sphere... this is a key week for promoting your plans. Romance may demand a lighter touch as partner is unexpectedly sensitive.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
This is a week for following present rules; in career especially, it's not time to deviate. In friendship matters you become less naive. Travel detours offer rewards.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Sensibly simple jobs become surprisingly complicated. Apologies arrive and a relationship is on a much steadier path. In career or education, be less vague, more specific.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
You may be entering a partnership plan during this period. Detective work brings results after the weekend. New hobby may have a financial fringe benefit.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
A self-indulgent streak surfaces... do what you can to avoid overspending. You're expected to make a major family decision. Platonic friendship brings rewards all week.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Friend may be taking advantage of your kindness and you may have to be firm. Travel is favored, but in this and other areas, avoid extending invitations prematurely.

LEO — July 23-August 22
It's important to be well read, news that comes your way can be used to personal advantage. Weekend cancellations may prove blessings in disguise. Family tensions ease by Monday.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Discussions with real estate or travel agents may prove beneficial. You and partner may not be on the same wave length, but this situation is temporary. Academic interests expand.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Thursday Friday highlight financial dealings... don't rush negotiations. Old fashioned approach to romance brings results on the weekend. Intuition is strong, especially where career is concerned.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Thursday Sunday find you involved in family discussions; your role is to keep these from getting overheated. Monday Tuesday accept paperwork related to finance and property matters.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
romantic situation improves once you take the initiative. You may experience rough going in area of friendship; don't force any issues. Career dilemma is solved thanks to quick thinking.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Be sure to give credit where due; indeed, paying genuine compliments may lead to advancement. Career horizons broaden. Family rift widens unless you assume role of peacemaker.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You love variety... and you love your freedom. Versatility is your middle name. But later this year you may be making a greater commitment to one particular individual. Monetary expansion is highlighted too. In finance and love, methodical preparation is critical.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 5th, director Tony Richardson; 6th, playwright Harvey Fierstein; 7th, singer Tom Jones; 8th, actress Alexis Smith; 9th, composer Cole Porter; 10th, lawyer F. Lee Bailey; 11th, opera singer Rise Stevens.

CITY OF QUINCY
PROPOSED STATEMENT OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT OBJECTIVES
1985-1986 PROGRAM YEAR

I. Introduction

The City of Quincy will be receiving $1,520,433 from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to operate its community development block grant program in 1986-1987. This proposed statement contains sections describing the community development objectives of the City of Quincy; how funds were expended to date in the 1985-1986 program year; and how the City purposes to expend funds in the 1986-1987 program year. Public comments on this Proposed Statement are welcome and should be addressed to the Department of Planning and Community Development, Quincy City Hall.

The U.S. Congress is presently considering legislation which, if successfully passed as law, would restore $500 million to the Community Development Block Grant Program nationwide. In this instance, Quincy's allotment would increase to approximately $1,817,433.

II. Community Development Objectives

As the City plans for and implements its CDBG programs and activities, it attempts to enhance the quality of the living environment of low and moderate income persons residing in the City of Quincy. As a result, the City has established several objectives for its CDBG Program, which include the following:

1. Maintenance and revitalization of its low and moderate income neighborhoods;
2. Preservation and improvement of the City's housing stock;
3. Elimination of health and safety hazards within its residents' homes;
4. Improvement of the City's infrastructure;
5. Renovation and improvement of the City's parks, playgrounds, and neighborhood recreational facilities;
6. Provision of basic and necessary human services;
7. Preservation and improvement of the City's non-residential building stock; and
8. Revitalization of the City's commercial areas, particularly those which provide goods and services to residents of its low and moderate income neighborhoods.

Through the establishment and pursuit of such objectives, the City of Quincy is making a firm commitment to all components of its neighborhoods - its housing, infrastructure, park and playground facilities, public services and commercial development. In addition, the City has attempted to give maximum feasible priority to activities which are benefiting low and moderate income families and aid in the prevention or elimination of slums and blight. The City's efforts have offered the residents of our low and moderate income neighborhoods the opportunity to work together to achieve all objectives, and make living and working in Quincy a more enjoyable experience.

III. 1985-1986 Program Year

Funds expended for the period July 1, 1985-April 30, 1986 in the present program year (1985-1986) are as following:

Housing Rehabilitation	$708,968
Commercial Rehabilitation	22,500
Public Works Improvements	267,591
Parks & Playgrounds	137,622
Improvements	126,655
Elderly Youth Outreach	126,655
Neighborhood Recreational Services
(Community Centers)	124,388
EDC Operating Funds	12,500
Public Housing Security Services	35,235
Emergency Food Center Services	9,581
Historic Preservation, Thomas Crane Public Library	360
Land Acquisition Appraisals	2,475
Administration Planning	307,848
Engineering
TOIAL	$1,751,723

As the community development objectives listed above also apply to the 1985-1986 program year, one can clearly see that the City's CDBG expenditures follow its stated objectives. Five categories of expenditures in particular are indicative of the City's commitment to the stated objectives: Housing Rehab, Neighborhood Recreational and Social Services, and Elderly Youth Outreach; Public Housing Security Services, and Emergency Food Center Services. The first stated expenditure category, housing rehab, consists of approximately 40% of total expenditures and is a strong indication of the City's commitment to the preservation and improvement of the City's housing stock (Objectives 1, 2 and 3). The latter four expenditure categories comprise the bulk of the public services component of the Quincy CDBG program, a component which addresses the objectives numbered 1, 5 and 6 above. These categories encompass the operation of seven community centers; the elderly van transit program; social outreach workers in three neighborhoods; and the staffing and management of the Council on Aging and the Youth Commission. While public services expenditures are capped in the regulations of the CDBG program, the City of Quincy has consistently been at or only slightly below the maximum expenditures allowed.

IV. 1986-1987 Program Year

The proposed budget for the 1986-1987 program year is as follows:

Housing Commercial Rehab Program	$504,000
Handicap Unit Modifications, Quincy Housing Authority	75,000
Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services	175,000
Drop-In center Renovations - Barrier Removal	15,000
Public Works Improvements	60,000
Tree Planting	25,000
Professional Fee Expenses	14,500

Elderly Outreach
Elderly Van Program	58,481
Neighborhood Recreational & Social Services Program	169,519
Planning & Administration	304,000
Contingency	119,933
TOIAL	$1,520,433

NOTE: 1. The above budget is further broken down by the following targeted neighborhoods: Atlantic, Central Business District, Germantown, Montclair, Quincy Point, West Southwest Quincy, Wollaston. Individual neighborhood budgets are available upon request.

2. If $500 million is restored to the national Community Development Block Grant Program, Quincy's allotment will likely increase to $1,817,433. In this instance, several line items will be budgeted at higher figures as noted:
Public Works Improvements	$228,000
Elderly Outreach
Elderly Van Program	103,081
Planning & Administration	363,500
Contingency	144,833

Excluding the Planning and Administration and Contingency line items from the total budget leaves a balance of $1,096,500. Of this amount, approximately $832,000 (75%) is targeted to projects or programs principally benefiting low and moderate income residents.

The 1986-1987 Quincy CDBG Program is once again highlighting housing rehabilitation as a key element in community development and neighborhood stabilization. Three 1986-1987 programs in particular bear this out. The first is a new housing rehab program aimed at addressing rehab needs of the family income group above Section 8 limits but within Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency guidelines. To be operated City-wide, this particular program will bring low-interest (8%) rehab loans to a particular income group never before served directly by CDBG housing funds.

The second program is the capitalization of the revolving loan pool to be operated by Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services, Inc. in its new target area, Quincy Point. At $150,000, this revolving loan fund will provide rehab loans tailored to the financial capabilities of eligible applicants. The Quincy NHS has made a significant contribution to the Southwest Quincy community, and similar contribution is clearly to be expected in Quincy Point.

The third key housing program reflects the City's commitment to its handicapped residents. Funded at $75,000, this program intends to renovate four units at the Germantown public housing site into units suitable for physically handicapped or disabled individuals. This commitment mirrors that to owners of private residences, as the City also operates a handicap adaptation program for this population as well.

Major planning initiatives in the 1986-1987 program year are to deal with the lack of affordable housing in Quincy; the development of alternative plans for active and passive recreational use of several of Quincy's attractive open spaces; and continued development of the Quincy Traffic 2000 study. To be completed in the Winter of 1986, this particular study is intended to set public works and capital construction priorities for the next fifteen-twenty years. Three areas of Quincy are the focus of Quincy Traffic 2000: the Southern Artery Corridor between Sea and Washington Streets; North Quincy; and Quincy Center.

V. Displacement

Notice is also hereby given that the City of Quincy undertakes all of its CDBG programs and activities in a manner which either eliminates or minimizes the displacement of persons. To this end the City has prepared and is following a displacement plan. A copy of this plan is available through the Quincy Department of Planning and Community Development.

July 16 Target Date For Hospital Project Start

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Quincy City Hospital is aiming for a July 16 ground-breaking for the $57 million reconstruction of a major portion of the hospital, according to director Mark Mundy.

Construction on the 36-month project should start in early August, according to Mundy who gave an update Monday night to the City Council which approved a $64 million loan order for the work.

The additional money is required as a reserve, it was explained.

The Quincy facility recently became the first public hospital in the country to receive approval for FHA insurance. That means that the reconstruction can be financed through revenue bonds insured by the FHA.

The city will borrow the money, and the loan will be repaid from hospital revenues.

The construction will be in two phases, according to Mundy, Phase I, which will last five months, will include such things as excavation and digging the foundation. Phase II, over 31 months, will be the major work, he said.

Councillor James Sheets, chairman of the council's Public Health and Hospital Committee, said that the hospital's enterprise account helped it to obtain the FHA insurance.

Since July 1, 1981, the hospital has operated on its own revenues, rather than as a city department.

James LaVigne, an investment banker working the hospital from Kidder-Peabody, agreed.

Sheets continued, "The City Council made a very wise decision when it submitted legislation establishing an enterprise account."

"What is happening at Quincy City Hospital is nothing short of miraculous."

Debris Set Afire In Squantum

A 20-foot high pile of foundation debris at 160 Crabtree Rd., Squantum, erupted into flames June 2, and police are calling it arson.

Police said they arrived at the scene Monday to find the debris, mostly scrap wood, fully engulfed in fire.

The property is owned by Nicholas Phillips of Aberdeen Rd., Squantum, who said he plans to construct a new home on the site, according to police.

Two neighbors told police they heard someone running on the stones of the nearby beach, then a car door slam and a popping sound before the fire broke out.

Phillips told police that he built another house on the site four years ago and it burned down just before completion.

Kenneth Johnson New Building Inspector

A 26-year-old Squantum man with a master's degree from Worcester Polytechnic Institute has been appointed by Mayor Francis McCauley to succeed Allan F. MacDonald who is retiring as the city's building inspector.

Kenneth F. Johnson, Jr.,

of 5 Sycamore Road is scheduled to begin work June 23. Johnson will work with MacDonald for three weeks to become acclimated to the job before the current building inspector retires in mid-July after 35 years with the city.

The position will pay $38,726 which will be increased to $39,000 as of Jan. 1, 1987, according to the mayor who announced the appointment at a press conference Tuesday.

Studds Amendment May Be Catalyst Union Optimistic Shipyard Can Open In January

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"If everything falls into place, we could be back in operation in January," said George O'Kane, president of Local 5 of the Shipbuilding Workers Union at General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard which closed recently.

"I'm really optimistic," said O'Kane, "all of a sudden, the momentum is moving in our direction."

"We had a good turnout Sunday (at a union meeting in which a worker buyout of the yard was discussed)," explained O'Kane. "People seemed positive in approach, and they wanted us to go ahead with the feasibility report."

"We were competing with some heavy stuff, the Celtics game, but we had a good turnout of upwards of 600 members."

"The House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries voted to accept an amendment, offered by U.S. Rep. Gerry Studds, to a 'Build and Charter' bill authorizing $852 million for construction of new Naval vessels."

Studds' amendment included passenger vessels to be used in coastwise trade, which are the likeliest candidates for contracts at the Quincy shipyard, within the category of vessels eligible for funding under the bill.

"That's a step in the right direction," said O'Kane.

"And the state came across with funding (for the feasibility study)."

"Now our only problem is funding shipbuilding," he said.

O'Kane noted that American Flag Ship is interested in having a minimum of two, and a maximum of four, cruise liners built at the yard at a cost of $225 million each.

The fate of the "Build and Charter" bill will effect the possibility of having the liners built at the yard, according to O'Kane.

"We're also looking at other areas, other projects, such as repair work, the third harbor tunnel."

O'Kane said the money to buy the shipyard could come from the state or from developers such as Thomas Flatley of the Flatley Co.

Union officials are scheduled to meet Friday with Flatley who has expressed interest in buying the 102-year-old shipyard to help preserve shipbuilding in the area.

General Dynamics is now marketing the property and will look at bona fide offers in mid-August, officials have said. They could make a decision by the end of September.

O'Kane said he does not know how much money it would take to buy the shipyard.

"That's the magic secret with General Dynamics," he said. "They haven't told anyone yet."

McCauley To Attend Mayors' Conference In Puerto Rico

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will join about 150 mayors of major U.S. cities in San Juan, Puerto Rico, June 14-18 for a conference to reaffirm positions on federal responsibilities in cities.

This 54th annual conference, being held in San Juan's Caribe Hilton Hotel, will give the mayors an opportunity to discuss and vote on nearly 50 urban issues they have submitted.

These include: Reauthorization of federal programs that support essential public services, abandonment of the revenue neutrality in federal tax reform, elimination of certain federal preemptions and mandates, federal leadership in resolving the nation's liability insurance crisis, prevention of terrorism in cities.

In addition to session on urban policy positions, mayors will attend a number of workshops on current urban issues.

Hearing On Auto Towing Firm Continued

By DAN CONNELLY

The License Board continued a show cause hearing to June 24 on why it should not revoke, due to expansion, the license of Piccarini Auto and Towing, 24 Raymond St., Quincy.

Mrs. June Piccarini was told to get rid of any vehicles abandoned outside the property, no body work is to be done there, wiring is to be re-inspected and the firm cannot sublet any parcel of the property.

Mrs. Piccarini appeared at the hearing with attorney James Shannon. He asked the Board to show 'compassion' to his client, who he said was widowed in 1984, and who is inexperienced in running this type of business. He also added that she has received an eviction summons from the landlord.

She denied to the Board she has sublet any of the property. Instead, she said she allowed another party to do related automotive work, but on a commission basis.

Atty. L. Paul Marini, whose wife owns the property, also appeared at the hearing. He cited to the Board faulty wiring and housing conditions that he contends constitute a fire hazard.

Noting that the company, licensed as a towing business in 1975, and operated by the late Joseph Piccarini, has gone far beyond that service, the Board Tuesday ordered Mrs. Piccarini to remove all abandoned tires, housekeep the property and no body work is to be done on the premises.

They said the city fire prevention department and wire inspector will examine alleged complaints and report back to the Board before the June 24 hearing.

Board Reinstates Vissa Licenses

The Quincy License Board reinstated the licenses of Joseph H. Vissa & Sons at 18 Furnace Ave. The vote was unanimous.

A repair shop and gasoline storage licenses were returned after Robert Vissa, who represents the firm, told the Board the yard is properly fenced and all equipment kept within the licensed area.

The license was revoked May 27 after Joseph R. Valante of Valante Mechanical Contractors at 32 Furnace Ave. complained to the Board that Vissa had created an eyesore with unregistered vehicles and equipment. He also said Vissa had expanded the business beyond the licensed limit.

The Board had told Vissa that while he is a legal nonconforming firm in an area zoned Business B, two sides of the property must be fenced and all equipment must be within the licensed area.

Vissa's licenses will be returned, said the Board, when the required work is completed.

New Chinese Restaurant For Quincy Point

A mandarin-style restaurant, serving Northern Chinese food will open soon after the License Board granted a common victualer license to Chioumin Harry Lee to do business at the Aka-Aka Restaurant, 618 Washington St., formerly the Doughboy Diner.

Lee's attorney, Louis Bertucci, told the board his client was a former owner of a successful chinese food restaurant in Collidge Corner, Brookline.

The Brookline man's request also drew the appearance of Ward One Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro, who said he did not object to another restaurant featuring chinese food in the area, but did want to go on notice that if Lee plans to apply in the future for any sort of alcoholic license he will meet strong opposition.

David Walker, whose home backs up to the property expressed concern over rubbish and food disposal and cooking fumes.

The board granted Lee his license with stipulations: a compactor be installed, he use an industrial disposal, and he will install a wash system of some sort to break down the cooking odors.

City's Largest Project

First Building To Be Started At Crown Colony

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Developers are about ready to break ground on a 30,000 to 40,000 square foot building, the first of four planned at Crown Colony Place, West Quincy, according to Planning Director James Lydon.

At some two million square feet, the project is the largest in the city, according to Lydon, who likened it to the size of the State St. complex. He noted that the value is estimated at several hundred million dollars.

"They will be filing for a building permit in the next 30 days," said Lydon, who noted that the project will also include a hotel.

"Very definitely, there will be an announcement this summer of a top-shelf hotel with convention facilities going into the site," said Lydon. "Start of construction will be in the fall."

The project is being planned by the Musaad Al-Saleh family of Kuwait on the site of the Old Colony Crushed Stone land off Centre St.

"They are in the process of selling the land off to American corporations who will construct the buildings," said Lydon. "The land is being subdivided."

"Crown Colony is certainly a prime focus for new jobs in the community and new tax revenue," said Lydon.

"State St. complex is now a mature office park that has been virtually built-out. Future expansion of office space within the city of Quincy must occur principally on the West Quincy site," said Lydon.

Meredith & Grew is the real estate broker, according to Lydon.

Two years ago, the Planning Board approved subdivision of the property, Lydon said, and about a year and a half ago, the board and city council approved a hotel use on the property.

FIVE St. Ann School students have received scholarships totaling $2900. They are from left John Kelly, Lori Forbush, Daniel Keating, Tina Lescinskas and Tom Cosseboom. Lescinskas also was awarded a full, four-year scholarship to Notre Dame Academy.

For Monthly Parkers

New System In Downtown Lots

Monthly parkers in the Hancock and Ross lots, Quincy Sq., are being asked to pay $30 this month, an extra $5, as Kinney Systems implements the "Secom" computerized parking system.

Kinney said that it is the most sophisticated system of its type available on the market.

The extra $5, for this month only, is a deposit for a "Secard" to be used upon entering and exiting the lots. It is about the size of a credit card.

The deposit will be returned when monthly parkers cancel their parking agreement, according to Kinney.

If a card is lost or stolen, the $5 deposit will be forfeited. A damaged or malfunctioning card will be replaced free of charge, the company stated in a hand-out for monthly parkers.

Motorists insert the card into the ticket spitter on the way into the lot, and into the black box beside the cashier booth on the way out, to activate the gate arm.

Kinney notes that monthly parkers must use their "Secards" even when the gates are up and the facility is closed, because of Secom's anti-passback feature.

This means that cards may only be used in sequence, according to Kinney. After motorists have used their card to enter the facility, the card must be used to exit the facility before another entry is possible.

The "Secom" system card readers will accept cards 24-hours a day, seven days a week, according to Kinney.

Zoning Task Force Meeting Dates Changed

Councillor Thomas J. Nutley, chairman of the City Council's Zoning Review Task Force, announces that previously announced dates for testimony by interested parties before the committee have been changed.

"Because of schedule conflicts," said Nutley, "we have asked the builders, developers, realtors, to appear and speak before the committee at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 12, rather than on the previously announced date.

"Civic association representatives have been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 19. Both meetings will be held at the second floor conference room of the new City Hall.

"Again, we welcome written testimony at any time," said Nutley, "but these will be the only occasions where oral comments will also be accepted."

"Following those two public sessions, the committee will review all input, written and oral, and be better prepared to make recommendations for zoning changes, if necessary," concluded Nutley.

IF THE IRS CALLS

QUESTION: We sold our home two years ago and took a lot of deductions. We were just audited by the IRS and I had a problem substantiating the deductions. How do you minimize this type of trauma?

ANSWER: Make a permanent file of all ownership papers — mortgage, cancelled checks showing purchase costs, etc. Also keep all evidence of home improvements — receipts, contracts, and cancelled checks.

Document maintenance costs for fixing up within 90 days of the sale. Many of these items can be deducted from your capital gains and reduce the tax you'll have to pay as well as satisfy an audit.

A Moving Experience

The St. Anthony Festival Mass at St. John's Church Saturday was a couple minutes shy of two hours.

But, it was the shortest two hours you could ever spend.

There was no fidgeting, even among the young people. There was no watch checking.

It was a moving, uplifting experience with Bernard Cardinal Law completely captivating and charming the SRO audience in attendance.

It was an experience you wished could go on -- and on.

The liturgy, planned and coordinated by Fr. Daniel Graham, associate pastor at St. John's was simply beautiful.

So beautiful, there were tears in the eyes of many. Even a few in the eyes of Fr. Graham during the opening procession as the Cardinal came down the middle aisle, greeted by increasing applause as he reached each pew, and as he slowed or stopped to say hello or to touch the head of a baby in his father's arms.

Earlier the talented St. John's Choir, directed by John Cicc, set the mood with a prelude concert of popular Italian songs like Santa Lucia, Ole Sole Mio, Mamma, Lamela Femmena, Return to Sorrento and Finiculi Finicula.

The Cardinal paid tribute to St. Anthony and to St. John's parishioners of Italian ancestry. And, he had special words for Fr. William McCarthy, pastor, and for Fr. Graham. The latter was given a standing ovation for the beautiful liturgy and for all his work in putting together the St. Anthony Festivals at St. John's the past decade.

The Cardinal urged continued help for the homeless and acknowledged the work that has been done at St. John's in that area.

At the end of the Mass, obviously enjoying himself and in no hurry to leave despite a long busy day that included the ordination of 11 new young priests at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross that morning, Cardinal Law started calling youngsters to the altar and gathered them around him.

While he had them there he made a pitch for future priests and nuns and zeroed in on acolyte Tom Ross who just graduated from Quincy High School.

The Cardinal said he thought Ross would make a fine seminary prospect. And, before Ross knew it, the Cardinal removed his red zucchetto and placed it on the youth's head and told him it looked good on him. Young Ross beamed as the audience roared and applauded.

LAW

GRAHAM

The church was so crowded that the Cardinal invited those standing at the back to come down and sit in front of the first pew on each side of the main aisle.

Many did, including Dave Rowell, son of Police Capt. and Mrs. David Rowell, and George Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hill.

The youngsters wound up sitting on the carpeted stairs leading to the altar and were at the Cardinal's feet as he distributed Communion.

In appreciation young Dave gave the Cardinal a piece of penny candy -- a "bull's eye" -- which he had in his pants pocket.

"Oh, thank you," the Cardinal said as he handed the candy to a priest to hold for him.

The Cardinal had planned to mingle with parishioners on the church grounds after Mass but more rain changed that.

But he went to the lower church and patiently remained until he had greeted the very last one.

"When he looks at you," said one parishioner, "he looks right into your heart."

Later at the rectory, instead of sitting down to dinner, he said he would just like a little tea, toast and peanut butter. But Mary Linnane, housekeeper, talked him into a little marmalade, too.

A Cardinal, but a man of simplicity.

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING the Mass were Mayor Francis McCauley, First Lady Sandra, Senator Paul Harold and Councillors Joseph LaRaia and Ted DeCristofaro.

"I could listen to him (Cardinal Law) anytime," said McCauley. "He has that something special."

Then, paying tribute to the Cardinal's charisma, McCauley added: "Boy, it's a good thing we don't have to run against him for office."

Thanks Quincy Residents For Therapeutic Help

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
On behalf of the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society, I would like to thank Betsy Tonra and Sybil Whyte of Quincy for volunteering their time and effort to help with an Easter Seal therapeutic swim program at the MDC pool in Weymouth this past spring. This is the first season Easter Seals has offered this program to adults with physical disabilities, living on the South Shore. An accessible pool, a qualified instructor, and swim volunteers or aids are necessary in order to conduct a safe and worthwhile program.

The Easter Seal Society depends on dedicated volunteers for many of its programs that serve people with physical disabilities. We appreciate their support.

At a hearing at the State House Quincy officials and civic leaders urged expenditure of $18 million for the construction of a sewage treatment plant for sludge at Nut Island.

Arthur Weston, chief engineer of the state department of public health said that plans for the plant were all prepared; all that was needed now was the appropriation from the legislature.

The Quincy leaders also went on record against the proposed extension of time on the Boston Harbor pollution project.

Koch Club Flag Day Parade Saturday

The 35th annual Quincy Flag Day parade will be held Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. at the Vocational Technical School parking area on Coddington St.

It will proceed along Hancock St. to Veterans Memorial Stadium for a flag raising ceremony and brief exercises.

Quincy is one of the few if not the only community in the country to consistently conduct formal recognition ceremonies of the Flag Day holiday. The program was initiated in 1952 by the Koch Club with the parade winding through the streets of North Quincy and the flag raising at Cavanagh Stadium.

The event has increased each year to include the Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and Brownies as well as St. Ann's Baseball Leagues, the Quincy Track Club, Quincy Youth Soccer and the host Koch Club Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues of the North Quincy, Broad Meadows, Montclair and West Quincy Districts.

Preceding the parade at 9:15 a.m. representatives of the Koch Club will place wreaths on the tombs of President John Adams and John Quincy Adams, at United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq.

The North Quincy High School Band will provide the marching music for the first division while Boy Scout Troop 19 Drum Corps will also assist in the musical accompaniment.

Along the parade route the marchers will pause at the John F. Kennedy Health Center to place a wreath in memory of the 35th president, the only honorary member of the Koch Club.

The Quincy Police and Fire Departments will again lead the parade with color guards and will be joined by a United States Army Color Guard and veteran organizations.

At the stadium program, the following Koch Club scholarship winners will be presented their awards.

Quincy High School - Robert J. MacMillan and Miss Stacie Gail Nigro.

North Quincy High School - Stephen C. Miller and Miss Anne Marie Hughes.

Vocational Technical School winners - Cornelius C. O'Connor and Miss Kasandra L. Lamson.

The flag being used for the flag raising ceremonies at the stadium was presented by the late Congressman James A. Burke to the Koch Club in the 1976 Bicentennial Year.

Two billboards on Hancock and Washington St., Quincy have been donated announcing the Flag Day parade.

Blood Pressure Screenings

City Hospital will be conducting a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, June 17, in the Ambulatory Care Department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

These screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable the individual to keep track of his blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

These screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

When is a Father just 'Dad'? H.C. Chatfield answers this question this way: 'If he's wealthy and prominent, and you stand in awe of him, call him 'Father'. If he sits in his shirt sleeves and suspenders at ball games and picnics, call him 'Pop'. If he tills the land or labors in overalls, call him 'Pa'. If he wheels the baby carriage and carries bundles weekly, call him 'Papa', with the accent on the first syllable. If he belongs to a literary circle and writes cultured papers, call him 'Papa', with the accent on the last syllable. If, however, he makes a pal of you when you're good, and is too wise to let you put the wool over his loving eyes when you're not; if, moreover, you're sure no one else you know has quite so fine a father, you may call him 'Dad'...

Regardless of what you are called... Father... Pop... Pa... Papa... or just plain Dad... Have a Happy Day!

Openings Available In College Discovery Program

The fifth annual Summer Institute for Gifted, Academically Talented Students sponsored by Quincy Junior College will be held from July 14-25.

A few openings remain in the College Discovery Program.

The College Discovery Program enables college bound students entering grades 10 to 12 to learn how to select the right college, how to fill out a winning application, and how to apply for financial aid.

Students will visit M.I.T., Harvard, Tufts, Brandeis, Boston College and other college campuses to see what college is like and to meet with admissions counselors.

Program leader is Dr. Linda N. Shapiro, former school psychologist in Quincy, now director of the guidance department at Newton North High School.

For an application or for more information, contact Dr. Carol Lee Griffin at 786-8742.

Rose Millen, 85

Village for Retarded Adults, Pembroke, 02359.

A funeral service for Rose (Kupervass) Millen, 85, of Quincy, wife of the late Dr. Maurice Millen, was conducted Tuesday at the Stanetsky Memorial Chapel, Brookline.

Mrs. Millen died June 7 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

She was a life member of the New England Villages for Retarded Citizens, a member of Temple Beth-El, the temple's Woman's League, the Quincy Chapter of Hadassah, Massachusetts Kiddie Kamp and German chapter of the Eastern Star.

Born in Boston, she had lived in Quincy many years. She is survived by a son, Lawrence Millen of Pembroke; a sister, Ida Gurvitz of Randolph; and many nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Sharon Memorial Park.

Distinctively Yours

FOR THE BRIDE • FOR THE GROOM

For those special celebrations...

Create an effervescent wedding atmosphere with sparkling wines

Engagement parties, bridesmaid brunches and rehearsal dinners are festive occasions meant to be shared with family and friends.

When planning these intimate parties, add an extra touch of elegance without taking a big bite out of your overall wedding budget — serve imported sparkling wine rather than expensive champagne. You can celebrate by popping the cork with this alternative at every wedding celebration.

Sparkling wine is an ideal complement to formal and informal party menus. You can serve it with inexpensive hors d'oeuvres and entrees, or turn your pre-wedding gatherings into dazzling dinner parties accompanied by imported sparkling wine served in a variety of ways. Its natural effervescence adds excitement to every occasion once the cork pops and the bubbles rise.

To maximize the pleasure of your wedding celebrations, the experts at Viceroy Imports suggest these delicious variations using Champs D'ore, an imported blanc de blancs Cuvee Speciale from France:

CHAMPS D'ORE PUNCH

- Rind of 1 orange
- Rind of 1 lemon
- 3 tps. sugar
- 1 bottle Champs D'ore
- 2 ozs. cognac
- 2 cups Grand Marnier
- 2 cups carbonated water
- Ice cubes

Place fruit rinds and sugar into two-quart pitcher. Pour in Champs D'ore and liqueurs. Stir and put in refrigerator for 2 to 3 hours.

Before serving, add carbonated water and ice cubes. Stir gently.

Serves 7 (one cup each).

SHERBET FLOAT

Fill standard wine glass two-thirds full with Champs D'ore; add scoop of your favorite flavor of sherbet. This creamy delight will melt into a luscious foam.

Serves 1.

KIR D'ORE

Fill champagne glass two-thirds full of Champs D'ore; add Cassis and twist of lemon.

Serves 1.

CHAMPS D'ORE GLACEE

For a sparkling French ice treat, fill glasses with fine ice chips; make a well in middle of chips and fill with Cassis. Now fill glass with Champs D'ore and, voila!

Serves 1.

CHAMPS D'ORE FRUIT DELIGHT

Once poured, you can "dress up" the wine itself in the glass. Freeze strawberries, cherries or blueberries in ice cubes made from pink lemonade and place in wine. Or add a peach slice to each glass of sparkling wine for a very romantic effect.

EMERGENCY SPOT CLEANING FOR YOUR GOWN

It's every bride's nightmare: You're wearing your dream wedding dress and someone accidentally splashes you with salad dressing or douses you with wine. BRIDE'S Magazine has this advice to make sure a wedding-day spill doesn't ruin your big moment:

- Learn about your dress fabric beforehand. Ask your salon owner or salesperson what material your dress is made of and cleaning hints for it.
- Act fast to keep a stain from setting. Don't rub the spill or expose it to extreme heat — instead, a few quick blots will take care of the worst of the problem. What to blot with? That depends on the stain.
- Fight water soluble stains with water.

Champagne, wine, perspiration, beverages are common water-soluble spills. Their cure: Put a towel under the fabric and blot top with a damp cloth, preferably wrung out in a light solution of white vinegar or detergent and water.

Don't rub because it can break fibers — especially the delicate fibers of many wedding dresses. As soon as the stain is gone, blot dry to prevent a ring.

• Use cleaning solvent on greasy stains. Lipstick and other cosmetics, perfume, salad dressing, chocolate and various foods respond well to dry cleaning solvents or spray-on spot removers.

Sprays or solvents can be found in purse size in any drugstore — it's a good idea to carry one.

Atlantic Challenger II Docks At Marina Bay Before Trying For Record

The Atlantic Challenger II docked at Marina Bay for customs inspection before beginning its attempt at breaking the record for crossing the Atlantic Ocean.

The boat left Marina Bay for New York where the Challenger and its six crew members will be on alert for ideal weather to attempt this historic crossing.

Last year the attempt was made by the Challenger I which sank just two hours short of completing the journey. Richard Branson, one of England's largest and most popular entrepreneurs, is skipper of the boat. Branson is head of the Virgin Group Consisting of Virgin Record Label and Virgin Atlantic Airlines.

While at Marina Bay, Branson talked about the attempt, "It's one of the few challenges left like climbing Mount Everest. The job was not completed last year and we are off to succeed. The boat is a monohull and stronger than last years boat. Risks are still great but we're up for the Challenge."

The six-man crew from England is determined to bring the coveted Blue Ribband award back to England. The title has been held by the United States since 1952.

Discover A Village

Visit The Seaside Village That Isn't Oceans Away

Marina Bay Village offers everything that your favorite offshore island does, plus one more—convenience. Just minutes from Boston by car or boat, Marina Bay Village features the relaxing atmosphere we appreciate so much on summer days. Come stroll the oceanside boardwalk, take in the delicious salt air and enjoy the variety of shops and restaurants that make Marina Bay Village so unique.

Distinctive gifts, at Anchor. Unique jewelry and gifts at the Treasure Chest. And a complete line of nautical supplies at The Boat House.

If by now you've worked up an appetite with all this shopping, stop in at Amelia's or The Eddy Fitz Raw Bar for a light bite and a cool drink. Or make the day into a real occasion with a water's edge picnic. Choose gourmet foods from Chutneys, fresh salads from Seaside Salads or take-out Chinese from Cathay Marina. Top it all off with an old-fashioned ice cream from McGillicuddy's or a tempting sweet from Montilio's Confectionery.

For a truly special dining experience, you might try The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, once an actual working tugboat.

Marina Bay Village Shops

Whatever you're looking for, you're likely to find it at Marina Bay Village Shops. Casual resort fashion for men and women at Fran's Landing. Swimwear and accessories at East Coast Girls. Beautiful fresh flowers and plants at The Flower Loft.

And before you do anything else, visit Clippers at Marina Bay for a smart new haircut and indulgent manicure.

Also this summer, look for the new pushcarts, providing more variety and fun for browsing and buying and take a unique sight-seeing tour with Boston Skyview Helicopter Tours.

A Day To Remember

Marina Bay Village is the perfect spot to spend an easy summer day. Bring the family or make it just the two of you. There's no rush, no schedules—just the gentle sound of the water, the scenic view of Boston and the joy of discovering a new place to be. It's all here, and all so close. At Marina Bay Village.

Church News

St. Anthony's Festival Rescheduled For Friday, Saturday At St. John's

St. John's St. Anthony's Festival which was postponed last week because of rain, has been rescheduled to be held on the church grounds Friday from 6-11 p.m. and Saturday from noon until 11 p.m.

Fr. Daniel Graham, festival general chairman, announces the general public is invited to attend and participate in the many activities that have been planned. Admission is free.

Fr. Graham said the festival is Italian in spirit and flavor. Young and old will enjoy a wide variety of foods and pastries. All family members will enjoy the special events, booths, games and prizes, dunk tank, music and singing.

Proceeds will benefit the parish charities and building fund. More than 300 parishioners and their families are assisting Fr. Graham on the festival committee.

St. Anthony's Festival has become one of the most popular religious, social and cultural events on the South Shore.

St. Anthony of Padua in whose honor the Festival is being held is the patron saint of Italy, and the poor and oppressed.

Children's Day Observed At Covenant Congregational

Children's Day was observed at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts. Sunday.

Members of the Sunday school and their teachers were introduced to the congregation at the 10:45 worship service. The children sang "This Is My Father's World," accompanied by Mrs. Karen Nelson, chairman of the church. Mrs. Nelson led the service, at which Esther Sanger, director of the Quincy Crisis Center, spoke.

Mrs. Sanger gave an update on the various programs sponsored by the crisis center and the opening of the Mary and Martha Learning Center in Hingham.

Mrs. Sanger also noted that the first time she ever preached was at the Covenant Congregational Church.

Following the service, the church picnic was held. Due to the rainy weather, it was held in the fellowship hall downstairs, but there were hot dogs and a pie-eating contest anyway.

Flea Market At Squantum Church

The 17th annual Squantum Flea Market, sponsored by the First Church of Squantum, will be held Saturday, June 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the church area.

A section of Bellevue Road from Huckins Avenue to Sycamore Road will be closed to traffic to create an enclave for shoppers and varied exhibits.

There will be antiques, crafts, books, plants, jewelry, furniture, tools and more for sale.

A large restaurant area with varied offerings, including home-baked goods, slush, and cotton candy will be available.

Anyone requesting space reservations should call Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

In case of rain, the flea market will be held June 28.

Children's Day At Squantum First Church

Children and parents at the First Church of Squantum celebrated Children's Day Sunday during the morning service.

The worship leaders were all young people. They included Blythe Bumpus, giving the call to worship; Marci Hurd, leading the opening prayer; Lori Ogilvie, greeting the congregation and making the announcements; Kim Olson, giving the prayer of dedication; and Kristin Reister, offering the sending prayer.

The church also recognized three of its young people who have just graduated from high school: Susan Scott, Deborah Stohberg and David Williams. Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, congratulated each of them and the Chairman of the Board of Christian Education, Patti Hurd, presented them with a gift on behalf of the church.

Four choirs participated in the worship including the Cherub Choir, led by Susan Scott and Mimi Hurd, singing "God Is So Good" (Oo Guana Waka Noka); the Crusader Choir, singing "Freedom Train's A' Leaving" by Jill Gallina; the Youth Choir, singing "Ris'n' Out of My Soul" by Joyce Eilers; and the Chancel Choir, singing "Because You Are God's Chosen Ones" by G. Alan Smith. Mary Ruth Scott directs all of the choirs except the Cherub Choir.

Choir prizes for faithful service were awarded to all of the members of the Crusader Choir by Mary Ruth Scott, their director.

The hymns sung by the congregation were "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee", "Now Thank We All Our God", "How Firm A Foundation" and "Now, O Lord, Go With Us."

Dr. Langevin preached on the topic "Building the Christian Family", taking as his text, "...but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." (Joshua 24:15)

The scripture for the morning was Joshua 24: 1-15. Greeters for the morning were Sally Johnson and her daughters, Erin and Kate.

Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Katherine Hansen and Shirley Mason.

After the service, the children of the church went on a picnic with their Sunday School teachers. Children's Day traditionally marks the end of Sunday School classes for the year. Nursery and child-care for children of Sunday School age will continue to be provided during the second service (10:30 a.m.).

This Sunday there will be a Father's Day breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and the service at 10:30 a.m. call Hazel Mayne at 328-4367 to make reservations.

The annual Flea Market of the church will be held on the church grounds at Bellevue Road and Huckins, Avenue in Squantum on Saturday, June 21, 1986, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The rain date is Saturday, June 28. Table space can be reserved by calling Ruth Swenson at 328-1990.

Farewell Reception Sunday For Fr. Joseph Raeke

A farewell reception for Fr. Joseph K. Raeke, associate pastor for the past six years at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, will be held Sunday, June 15, after the 11:30 a.m. Mass.

It will continue until 4 p.m. on the church grounds.

Anyone who would like to contribute refreshments for the party is asked to call the rectory at 472-6321.

Fr. Raeke's new assignment will be St. Michael's Parish, Avon.

"Fr. Joseph Raeke will be greatly missed in our parish. He has touched and influenced many of our lives," said Fr. Joseph J. Downey, pastor.

Quincy Crisis Center Sponsors New Hingham Learning Center

Quincy Crisis Center will sponsor a new program this fall in Hingham to train mothers with young children in living and career skills while assisting them in solving crises.

Ester Sanger, executive director of the city's Crisis Center, said the program is to be named the Mary Martha Learning Center and will open September 2 at 1045 Main St., Hingham.

Sanger said that while enrolled, clients will be provided with information and assistance designed to enhance their physical well being, intellectual and career growth, and to provide for spiritual and emotional enrichment.

"This design," said Sanger, "is consistent with the philosophy of the Quincy Crisis Center which treats the total person - body, mind, and spirit - while maintaining the dignity of personhood and giving hope at the point of despair."

Examples of classes to be provided include: nutrition, exercise, high school equivalency preparation, career planning, money management, parenting, stress management, communication skills, art and music appreciation, planning long and short term personal goals.

The center will also provide services to students and a small number of elders who may need the same type of program to obtain independent life styles, Sanger added.

Vacation Bible School At Ft. Square Presbyterian

Proverbs in action will be the theme of Vacation Bible School, June 23-July 3 from 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. at Fort Square Presbyterian Church. The church is located behind Grossman's and the Star Market at 16 Pleasant St.

Children entering Kindergarten to grade seven are welcome. Nursery care is provided.

Storyteller and Christian children's author Patricia St. John will speak at Family Night, Thursday, June 26 at 7 p.m.

Program On Alcoholism At NQHS June 17

Spofford Hall Regional Office, in cooperation with the Quincy Public Schools, will present "Together We Can," a free community education program on alcoholism and its effects on family members. Tuesday, June 17.

Coffee and refreshments will be served 7 to 7:30 p.m. at North Quincy High School.

The program will take place 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The film, "Soft is the Heart of a Child," will be shown.

John Murray, I.C.S.W., Substance Abuse Counselor, will discuss the disease of alcoholism.

Diana O'Dell, M.Ed., coordinator, regional office, will lead an open discussion with questions.

140 Central Students

Some 140 seventh graders at Central Middle School have transferred their classroom studies from Quincy to Camp Wing in Duxbury for this week.

The curriculum will focus upon environmental studies with many options for which the students will have made their selections prior to departure for Duxbury. The list of options include, arts and crafts, boat safety, canoeing, group dynamics, problem solving, obstacle course, swimming, sports clinic, plastercraft, stenciling, photography, nature study.

hiking, chromatography, pond study, art workshop, volleyball and archery.

Field trips to Plimoth Plantation, Cranberry Woods, Woods Hole and Martha's Vineyard are also planned.

The 1986 edition of the "Wind Warbler" the newspaper Central students publish on Thursday is done under the direction of Mary Catherine Iannoni, Dr. Laurence Osborne, and John Buckley.

Members of the Central Middle School staff and the Camp Wing Staff will coordinate the activities with assistance from several parents who will be presenters and drivers.

To Study In Duxbury

Junior counselors this year will be Brenda Campbell, Barbara Carroll. Junior counselors will assist with cabin assignments and teaching which is involved in the various activities. The program for this week is organized under the direction of the head counselor Mary Catherine Iannoni assisted by James Piccini, Christine Prendeville, Edward Steele, Fred Crowther, Thomas Henderson, Mary Schies, and Raymond Whitehouse.

This marks the ninth year that Central has conducted this unique learning experience for its seventh graders. The premise is to teach and learn in another setting with emphasis on the environment and to learn to live with peers in a setting without television, radios, hair blowers and junk foods.

For most the week permits young people to formulate a deeper appreciation for privacy and mother's cooking.

At Doran & Horrigan You Are A Name, Not A Number

It was 22 years ago this September that insurance agents Joe Doran and John Horrigan decided to team up and open their own Agency at 19 Billings Rd. in North Quincy.

The rest is history: they prospered.

Today this North Quincy service-minded insurance agency has one aim: "our clients will always be a name and not a computer number."

As Doran & Horrigan grew other changes took place. In 1981 the building where they are headquartered was completely remodeled. This modernization and office expansion benefited their customers.

The agency is staff by professionals, all skilled as customers service representatives (CSRs). In addition to Doran and Horrigan they are: Linda Maher, June Panarello, Marge Way and Sally Campbell.

To add to office quality Doran & Horrigan installed an in-house computer. This not only increases CSRs efficiency but creates an additional service aspect for clients, processing claims and new rates.

Their clients are repeatedly outspoken in high praise for this agency's time-saving, one-stop financial services. For in addition to automotive, home and business insurance departments, Doran & Horrigan handle real estate, life insurance and income tax preparation. They also feature the service of two notary publics.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors, Linda Maher, of Weymouth was named corporation vice-president and Sally Campbell of Quincy, office supervisor.

Doran and Horrigan, active members in a number of local and state insurance and real estate organizations, are looking forward to 1986 as their most productive year.

They stress they would like YOU to be one of their satisfied customers whether it be in insurance, real estate or just plain good advice.

In urging YOU to drop in and say hello they'll look over your policies for a free, no obligation quote. (You'll be glad you did. So many others have.

Tender Care Grooming At 'Pick Of The Litter'

By DAN CONNELLY

The reason Sharon Long has no pet peeves today is due to her owning 'Pick Of The Litter,' a pet grooming salon at 72 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Sharon, 25, of Weymouth, was a talented photographer traveling all over New England doing baby portraits.

But "I wanted something more stable instead of living out of a suitcase so I enrolled for a course at a dog grooming school," she says.

After graduation, Sharon worked for several area businesses but still felt her destiny was in operating her own business.

Three years ago a friend decided to relocate and put her shop up for sale. This gave Sharon just the vehicle she needed to start 'Pick of the Litter.'

"I was the new 'kid' on the block but the neighborhood children couldn't do enough to help. The other store owners in this predominantly small business community also provided moral support and a helping hand. It sure made me feel comfortable," she said.

During those early months, she made housecalls to increase her clientele. Today, the customer card file is the envy of any small business entrepreneur.

Helping to shoulder a lot of the specialized and personalized grooming service there today is Jeff Maranbas of Squantum. He is also a qualified dog trainer.

Sharon remarked that, not only does the shop groom all breeds professionally, including cats, it also carries brand name pet supplies.

Shop hours are 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. "Yes, it's a heavy work load but I love it," she adds.

Visible during all store hours is Sharon's pet dog 'Wilda,' a Rottweiler mix who occupies a place of honor in the store window.

"Dogs are like kids," Sharon explained. "When they first come in they're nervous. Once the owner leaves we immediately add our touch of tender-loving-care and they quickly settle in."

Sharon said "that running this type of business is similar to a hair salon. Any pet owner will try several until they find the one their pet is comfortable with."

She does not shy away from feline grooming. "Having dogs and cats under one roof for appointment grooming creates no problems. The treatment is similar to the ones dogs receive; and cats are not adverse to accepting a bath as long as the water is warm and they are in competent hands."

No one will argue that man's best friend is his dog. But its grooming certainly belongs to people like Sharon Long who offers a piece of advice:

"If your pet isn't becoming to you...it should be coming to us!"

Wollaston School Update:

McCauley Surprised At McGrath Over Surplus Funds Use

By DAN CONNELLY

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said City Council President Stephen McGrath's suggestion the city use surplus personnel funds in existing departments to help fund the proposed reopening of the Wollaston School was "somewhat surprising and discouraging."

Last week McGrath, in a communique to McCauley, said there is available some $340,000 which could be used for refitting and reopening the school.

McCauley, who believes it is unnecessary and unwise to reopen the school at this time, said in a letter to McGrath:

"Your comments on spending all the surplus is somewhat surprising and discouraging."

"The surpluses is indeed good news. It indicates that for the sixth fiscal year in a row the city will conclude annual operations in the black. This performance is all the more impressive when you realize the city ran deficits in its annual operations, in fiscal years 1976 through 1981, of some $13,900,000."

McCauley also pointed out in the letter that the city's free cash position was in deficit in the amount of some $10,968,000 as late as July 1, 1982.

"Through some hard work on the part of all our local elected officials this deficit was completely eliminated as of July 1, 1985. However, the city still has a way to go before the free cash account has an adequate balance as a hedge against unforeseen expenses," said the mayor.

McCauley's letter also said school department studies show that there are ample surpluses in the present nine elementary schools to adequately take care of the space needs through the 1993-94 school year. Any additional funds made available for the School Department should be used to care for the plant needs of the school buildings presently in use, he said.

Parents Committee To Meet

Quincy Citywide Chapter 1, Parent Advisory Committee, will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the rear of the former Miles Standish School, 440 East Squantum St. The agenda will include family field trips for fun and learning. All parents and teachers are welcomed to the meeting.

Union Optimistic Shipyard Can Open In January

O'Kane said he thinks General Dynamics would consider selling the yard to the workers.

"I don't think they'd have a choice if we had the money," he said.

As part of a worker buyout of the yard, employees would possibly be asked to accept a temporary reduction in pay and benefits, according to O'Kane.

"It wouldn't involve anyone selling their house. The money for the buyout would not come from the workers themselves."

"Everyone would own one share of the company."

would be a very democratic situation."

We would be the deciding body, the workers, on the disposition of profits, how we would share in them, or whether they would be redistributed in the company," O'Kane explained.

As part of the feasibility study, the union is determining such things as the actual cost to build ships, reducing the size of the facility to make it more economically sound.

"We want to make sure we can be competitive," said O'Kane. "We want to get rid of all the fat, to streamline things."

O'Kane said that city and state officials, including Cong. Brian Donnelly, Cong. Gerry Studds and Sen. Edward Kennedy, have done an "excellent job" championing the cause of the workers.

"We have a lot of political power coming our way," said O'Kane.

"When we first started out, there were few possibilities. But we're starting to feel that we're not alone."

"There is a more positive attitude around the city and state."

O'Kane said that even though the yard is "desolate" and has less than 100 employees left, just about all of the union members have kept in touch.

"I'm willing to bet that when the time comes, we'll have all the people who care to come back."

"They feel more comfortable doing what they do best."

In the meantime, O'Kane said letters can be written to congressmen supporting the building charter to "get work down here."

"Anything people want to do to help is appreciated."

Council To Act This Month On McCauley's PUD Veto

The City Council could act June 23 or June 30 on Mayor Francis McCauley's veto of a council order regarding density in Planned Unit Development areas.

The veto will be presented to the council at its June 16 meeting, but it must remain on the table for seven days before any action can be taken.

The Council voted 7 to 2 May 19 to increase the square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1000 as originally suggested by McCauley. Councilors Richard Koch and James Sheets were opposed.

However, McCauley decided to veto the order as inadequate after listening to neighborhood groups.

If this veto is upheld, he said he will resubmit a planning board recommendation of 1750 square feet to the council.

Several councilors, including opponents and proponents, say he will have an uphill battle to have his veto sustained since he will have to change the minds of two councilors to do so.

Meanwhile, reports are circulating that if the veto is not sustained, and the 1,000 square feet stands, a group will begin collecting signatures to seek a referendum on the question.

City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie said that such a procedure, which would override the City Council, has taken place in other cities and towns but not in Quincy.

MacRitchie said the procedure would be that 15% of the voters would have to sign the petition within 20 days of final action by the council and submit it to City Clerk John Gillis.

There would be five days to certify the signatures and to determine if it is a proper petition, MacRitchie said.

Once it is certified, a special election would be held not less than 30, and no more than 45 days from the day of certification by the Board of Registrars, he said.

The referendum would be binding, according to MacRitchie.

Heather Sargent Named To Conservation Post

Mayor Francis McCauley has appointed Heather Sargent of Quincy as the city's conservation enforcement officer.

A resident of 22 Prescott

Terrace, she recently coordinated the first city household hazardous waste day collection May 17.

She is a magna laude graduate of Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, Cham-berlayne Junior College, Boston, and Woodward School for Girls in Quincy.

She has been employed by the city's engineering department and the Department of Public Works and has extensive knowledge in landfill operations, zoning and flood plain maps. She also acted as secretary for the waste water treatment site hearings.

Housing Development Topic At June 24 Seminar

A seminar on "Linking Growth Management and Housing Development in Quincy," will be held Tuesday, June 24, 5:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall.

Objective of the seminar, sponsored by the city and its fair housing committee, is to provide a forum for discussing relevant housing issues and opportunities.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the city has invited officials of the U.S.

Department of Housing and Development (HUD) and the Executive Office of Communities and Development (ECCD) who will discuss housing in Massachusetts and the various state housing funds.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion on growth management and housing development strategies. Quincy developer Stephen Ricciardi will also address the seminar.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the North Quincy Business and Professional Association for a permit to conduct their annual "Sidewalk Sale" on Friday and Saturday, June 20-21.

- Granted a request from The Edmund Fitzgerald, 542

East Quantum St. to operate two sausage and hot dog carts during the summer months on the walkway leading to the union building. Ron McGillivray assured the board the carts will only be fueled by two 20-pound propane tanks. Two reserved tanks will be stored and chained outside

Legion Season Opens Morrisette Defeats Wollaston, 5-2

The Morrisette Legion baseball team began its quest of a 24th Zone 6 championship by defeating Wollaston, 5-2, Monday night under the lights at Adams Field.

Quincy, hoping to rebound under two new coaches after several disappointing seasons, turned in a fine effort in its opener Monday night but lost to Randolph, 4-1.

Wollaston's game at Randolph and the Quincy-Canton game at Adams Field last Sunday were postponed due to Randolph and Canton high school graduations.

Wollaston will host Holbrook Friday night at 8 at Adams Field while Morrisette plays at Milton at 6 and Quincy plays at Braintree at 8. Monday, Quincy will be home to Mass. Truck at 8 at Adams and Morrisette will be at Braintree at 8. Tuesday, Wollaston will meet Milton at 8 at Adams and next Wednesday it will be Quincy at Milton and Wollaston at Canton at 6.

John Christiani pitched five-hit ball for Morrisette and struck out 12 against Wollaston.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the first on singles by Ed Flavin, Dan Biagini and Chris Marshall, Marshall driving in the run. Chris Ricciuti and Mike Joyce singled in the second but Morrisette didn't score.

Wollaston tied it in the top of the fourth when Tom Logan doubled and scored on Chris Rossi's single.

Morrisette took the lead in the bottom half when Ricciuti singled and went all the way to third when the ball got by the left fielder. He scored on Bob McDonald's sacrifice fly.

Morrisette clinched the win with three runs in the fifth. Biagini singled, Marshall and Christiani walked and all three scored on Bob Hunter's double.

Biagini played excellent defense at shortstop for Morrisette.

T. J. Steen was the starter and loser for Wollaston and was relieved by Rich Nabstedt in the fifth.

Quincy's Andy Palmariello pitched two-hit ball and struck out nine at Randolph but two wild pitches with men on third and two outs helped Randolph's cause.

Quincy loaded the bases in the seventh with one out but Eric Klein relieved Randolph starter Jim Halperin and halted the rally.

Bill Mulhern paced Quincy's attack with three hits.

Sun Sports Frustrating Season For Raiders

Bob Sylvia led Quincy's baseball team to a .500 record in his first season as coach last year.

This spring the Presidents wound up 11-9 and missed qualifying for the Eastern Mass. tournament by just one victory and Sylvia admitted he was frustrated at missing the tournament.

"We had high goals this season and the boys are genuinely disappointed at missing the tournament," said Sylvia. "We honestly feel that we should have made it."

"We beat ourselves in several games and our inconsistency cost us. Those games come back to haunt us. For some reason we had some bad Monday games and came back to play much better later in the week."

Quincy had to win its last three games to qualify for the tournament and won two of them over Brookline, but lost the third to undefeated Brockton, the number one seed in Division One South in the tournament.

Larry Iaglieri had a fine season, posting a 7-5-1 pitching record and losing some tough games. He pitched 70 1/3 innings, gave up 66 hits, struck out 70, walked 30 and had a 2.30 ERA. He pitched in 15 of the 20 games and was named to the Suburban League all-star team. He has been offered a scholarship to Eckert College in Florida, which has turned out some outstanding baseball teams.

Tommy Logan also had a tremendous season, hitting .422 with 27 hits, six doubles, six home runs and 25 RBI. He also made the league all-star team.

Dave Tocchio was named a utility man on the all-star team after a fine season.

Bobby Hunter had a good season and batted .336 and others who stood out were Sean Flavin, Dan Biagini and T.J. Steen, who came along well and pitched both wins over Brookline in the final week.

"He looks like the ace of the future," Sylvia said. "Flavin did an excellent job, after being sidelined last year with a knee injury. He won a key game for us and had several hits in crucial situations."

In the first of the three "must" games, Steen pitched six innings of no-hit ball against Brookline. He was relieved in the sixth inning with Quincy leading 13-0, but was forced to return to finish the game after two relievers gave up six runs. The final score was 13-6.

Biagini had a double and a two-run triple. Tocchio had two hits and an RBI and Logan had two hits and an RBI.

The Presidents' tournament hopes were then dashed when they lost to Brockton, 5-1, despite a fine pitching effort by Taglieri.

"We played very well tonight," Sylvia said. "But we hit the ball right at them. Give Brockton credit, though, they know how to position their fielders to take away those extra base hits."

Quincy's lone run came in the fourth when Hunter walked with two outs, went to second on Steve Constat's single and scored on Steen's single.

In the season's finale Quincy blanked Brookline, 4-0, as Steen pitched a five-hitter and struck out seven.

Logan had a solo homer in the third and Tocchio scored three runs.

"We have a lot of boys coming back and the future is rosy," said Sylvia.

-TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's baseball team had a frustrating season and finished with a 3-17 record, the same as last year's club.

The difference was that this year's team, under first-year coach Leo Donovan, was in most games, while last season many games were blowouts and the players showed a lack of interest as some quit the team and the Raiders had to forfeit one game.

"We lost some real tough games and I felt sorry for the boys, as they gave me 100 per cent and more," Donovan said. "We just had too many walks and errors in several games. We have a lot of boys coming back and things should improve next year."

Chris Ricciuti and Chris Rossi were named to the Suburban League all-star team and several other Raiders had fine seasons.

Ricciuti batted .380, had 21 hits, three doubles, a triple, two home runs and 16 RBI.

Rossi batted .320, had 16 hits, double, a triple and nine RBI.

Chris Gray had a good year with a .296 batting average, Billy Murphy batted .303, Peter Tufts batted .259 with four doubles and a home run and Steve Happs played excellent defense at second base. Tom Casey did a fine job catching.

Freshman Billy McDougall batted .285 and Neil Hatfield, Dan Santry and Mark DiMattio pitched well despite the team's record.

"All three will be back and they should be better with this year's experience," Donovan said.

• Quincy Youth Soccer Rain Cuts Down Action

The Quincy Youth Soccer League will hold its annual picnic Sunday at Faxon Park with free hot dogs, tonic and ice cream.

Several of last weekend's games were rained out.

Last weekend's results: Boys under 8: Quincy Cable and Optometric Assoc. tied, 1-1. Dan Stone scored for Cable with Scott Stasiak assisting. Sonny Higgs, Jeremy Riley and Jeff Sullivan played well. Randy Milburn scored for Optometric with Eric Wirtz assisting. Nick Shea and Ryan Degan had fine gas.

Adams Cleaners edged Quincy Savings, 3-2, on two goals by Tim Sheehan and one by John Marinelli. Mike Doyle and Brian Walsh played strong games. Nick Atanason and John Lovendale scored for Savings and Paul Arnstein and Neil Costa played well.

Bryan Post squeezed by Wood Building Mainenance, 1-0, with Jeff Verlicco scoring the goal and Andy Meyers and Jonathan Hadad assisting. Goalie Matthew Waddins, George Hill and David Rowle played good games. For Wood Gavin Murphy, Eric Goodrich and Danny O'Donnell played fine games.

Angelo's Auto got by L.C. Plumbing, 2-1, with Matt Jarnis and Matt Baldock scoring the goals and John LoPriore having an assist. Joe Melville, Bruce Stenberg and Joshua Maloney played well. Joey Tucker scored for Plumbing unassisted and John Torney, Daniel Beakey and Robbie Churchill played strong games.

The Mayor McCauley Club shut out South Shore Buick, 4-0, as Joe McCarthy scored twice and Brian Morrissey and Danny Hughes once each. Jim Rendle had two assists and Hughes and Jason Burke once each. Greg Kyller, Ryan Grant, Colin Kearney and John Rodenhiser played fine games. Jon Mahoney, Tom Bowes and Matt Knowles played well for Buick.

H.F. Goodman and the Joanne Condon Club tied 1-1. Anthony Chella scored for Goodman with Vinni Cicci assisting. Goalie Bill Sullivan, Jason Lumagini, Michael Greene and Jason Moore played well. John Manning scored for Condon with an assist for Tim Boyle. Kevin Ryan, Nick Read and John Johnson turned in fine games.

Girls under 8: Quincy Plumbing edged Bolea Funeral Home, 1-0, with Elizabeth Fitzpatrick scoring the goal and Jilliam Barbuto and Colleen Mulcahy assisting. Kristen Kelly, Brenda Linehan and Karen McNally played well. The entire Bolea team played a fine game.

Boys under 10: Quincy Police and Commonwealth Builders played to a scoreless tie with both teams playing inspired ball.

Friar Tuck blanked Tucker Anthony, 5-0, with Liam Griffen and Tom Cunio scoring two goals each and Marc Cellucci one. Cellucci had four assists and Charles Hardman one. Goalie Robert Ragusa was outstanding. The entire Tucker Anthony team played well in defeat.

• Babe Ruth Baseball MacDougall Fires 3-Hitter

After losing, 2-1, to the Firemen, Granite City Electric rebounded to defeat the Elks, 6-4, and Barry's Deli, 13-6, to improve its Babe Ruth League record to 7-3.

Granite City was blinded by Billy MacDougall of the Firemen, who struck out 13 and allowed only three hits, two singles by Steve Wysocki and a double by Brian Holwett.

Tim Brillo, making his first start after a fine season for Don Bosco High, matched MacDougall pitch for pitch until an arm problem forced him out after three innings.

Howlett relieved and gave up four hits in four innings. Michael Walsh's seventh inning double drove in Chris Noble, who had singled, with the Firemen's winning run.

In the win over the Elks, Erik DeBoer gave up five hits, struck out seven and walked five. DeBoer, 3-1 on the season, has allowed only 20 hits in pitching four complete games.

Brian Howlett had a double and single. Sean

Thompson a double and two runs scored and Wysocki, DeBoer, Brillo, Dave Gamsby and Jim Munroe a single each.

For the Elks Tim Cahill had a triple and single and Dave Clifford, Joe Gately, Jim McCarthy and Dan Gilmartin a single each.

Ken Caiwesi pitched 2 1/3 innings against Barry's Deli before a sore arm forced him to retire. Tony Anderson was brilliant in relief, shutting down Barry's with three hits and striking out six.

Thompson paced Granite City with a double and two singles, DeBoer had a 325-foot triple and Wysocki and George Walsh singled. Angelo Kyranis was solid behind the plate and Andy Colleary, Wayne Sit and Mike Picariello played strong defense.

Barry's was paced by Mat Collins with three singles and Dan McLaughlin with two. Jim Glynn had a single and Jim Kearns played well at shortstop.

Road Teams 2-2-1

Several of the Quincy Youth Soccer League's road games were rained out last weekend with only five games played.

The Quincy teams won two, lost two and tied one.

In boys under 10 Quincy Comets signed Whitman, 6-1, as Michael Giese had a hat trick and Tom Nutley, Anthony Bianco and Michael Walsh a goal each. Aiden O'Donoghue had two assists and Nutley and John MacNeil one each.

Quincy Bees tied Holbrook 2-2, with Kenny Downey and Varinder Dhillon scoring the goals and Billy Degan having an assist. Goalie David Cedrone, Pat Devins and Dean Morris played well.

In boys under 14 Quincy Rovers topped Holbrook, 7-3, as Shawn Echelle and Dave Dempster scored two goals a piece and Brian Clifford, Jim Feeney and Matt Giese one each. Echelle had three assists, Dempster two and Clifford and John Foster one each. Goalie Chris Halloran, Jim Flaherty, Eddie Cunio and Jonathan Burke played fine games.

In boys under 16 the Quincy Bullets were blanked by Weymouth, 4-0, with Bill Santry and Banny Yee playing well in defeat.

In girls under 16 the Quincy

Hurricanes were edged by Hanson, 3-2, with Sheila O'Connor and Lisa Nutley scoring for Quincy and Suzanne Shea, Michelle Columbus, Christine Price and Kristen McCloud having assists. Goalie Karen Hensdale, Brenda Biggins, Julie Murphy, Donna Mastroianni, Jessica McKeon, Bethany Walsh, Eileen Rogers and Gail McDonough played well.

City To Sponsor Hershey Meet

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch announces that the Recreation Department will sponsor the Hershey National Track and Field Youth Program by hosting a community meet, open to all boys and girls ages 9-14.

This local meet will be the first step in a competition which could result in a local athlete advancing to the National Championship in Hershey Park, Pa. New England Champions are awarded an all expense paid trip by Hershey Chocolate, the national sponsor.

The program is open to all youngsters ages 9-14, and participants do not have to have previous track experience, or be a member of a community track program. There are no entry fees and spikes and starting blocks are not allowed.

The Quincy meet for boys will be Wednesday, June 25, at 6 p.m. The Quincy meet for girls will be Thursday, June 26, at 6 p.m. Both meets will be at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Registration will be on the day of the meet, the age of the participant shall be his/her age as of December 31, 1986. Both boys and girls will compete in three age categories: 9-10, 11-12, 13-14. Those youngsters currently 8 years in age, but who will turn 9 years before December 31, 1986, may compete in the 9-10 group. Youngsters currently 14 years in age, but who will turn 15 years before December 31, 1986, are not eligible.

The events are:
Age 9-10 Boys and girls: 50 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Age 11-12 Boys and girls: 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 800 yd. run, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Age 13-14 Boys and girls: 100 yd. dash, 200 yd. dash, 400 yd. dash, 800 yd. run, 4 x 100 yd. relay, standing long jump, softball throw.

Each participant may compete in up to three events, and if three are chosen, one must be a field event.

Welch noted, "The philosophy of this program is to stimulate participation of all eligible children, it is in no way to be contained as an All-Star program. This event is run in cooperation with the National Recreation and Park Association, and the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sport. I encourage our young residents to take advantage of this excellent program."

Members of the Quincy Track Club will assist in conducting the local meets. For additional information contact the Quincy Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

• Little League

Foley Wins 9th

Foley Chrysler appears to be the team to beat in the Quincy Little League, posting a 9-2 record over the first half of the season.

The team has received outstanding pitching from Patrick Clifford (5-2) and fireballing Sergi Wassiliew (4-0).

Jim Gately, Joe Marnikovic, Scott Kohler, John Gladu and 10-year old rookie Terry Manning have provided clutch hitting.

Foley came from behind in two of the last three starts to pull out a 9-8 win over Quincy Cable and a 6-5 decision over VFW.

Defensively the team is anchored by Brandon Balducci at shortstop, Keith Norris at first base and Robbie Guarnieri behind the plate.

Foley has some excellent reserves in John Austin, Andy Kenney, Aubrey Shackford and John Svagdis, all new additions to the team.

Maloney Leads Tufts To Tennis Title

Phil Maloney, a post graduate from Quincy, paced the Tufts University men's tennis team to the 1986 New England Small College Athletic Conference championship by winning both singles and doubles titles in the 11-school meet.

Unseeded, Maloney won four straight matches, taking eight of nine sets, to capture the A Flight title in singles competition. He teamed with Mark Pearlstein of Newton to win three straight matches in straight sets for the B Flight doubles crown.

During the regular season Maloney was 3-8 in singles and 6-2 with Pearlstein in doubles.

Maloney had a career record of 18-17 in singles and 23-8 in doubles. He won conference titles in each of the last three years.

A former tennis standout at B.C. High, Phil is the son of Dr. Philip L. Maloney.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal. We need $25,000 of this sum by June 22nd.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

The Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Pageant will be July 18 at 9 p.m. at One Center Plaza.

Quincy, North Joint Chemical Health Night June 16

North Quincy High School will host a joint sports night for all fall athletes at North Quincy and Quincy high schools, Monday evening June 16, at the North Quincy High School auditorium at 7 p.m.

Parents of all athletes are invited to attend. Parent permission cards will be given to the athletes at the meeting. These cards must be signed before students are allowed to take physicals for participation on athletic teams in September.

Eighth grade students in particular are invited. This will be their first exposure to high school athletic policies, which will be explained at the meeting.

The Athletic Department of the Quincy Public Schools is committed to the Chemical Health Awareness program being sponsored, throughout the state, by the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association and the Massachusetts State Coaches Association. Marty Finn-gan, Quincy athletic director, has been a member of the team presenting programs all over the state. Marty's enthusiasm and dedication to the program is most evident. He feels that Quincy is fortunate to have a School Committee and Administration that is so aware of the current trends.

"This will be the final get together for this year," Finnegan said. "We want to have an opportunity to talk with the parents and the athletes before the summer vacation. We have an interesting program to present. We have spoken to the Middle School athletes and have sent letters to their parents. The high school athletes have been spoken to by their coaches and they have been given letters to take home also.

"Quincy has a many faceted approach to the drug problem. We have a 'Just say No' program at Broadmeadows which is a model for all middle schools. The Health and Physical Education Department has received a grant at the elementary level for innovative programs. John Mahoney, Social Health Coordinator has provided a number of programs for both high schools. This is an effort by the athletic department to do their share in the Quincy Public Schools approach to the problem.

"This problem of chemical abuse ought to be the number one priority of every school system in the Commonwealth. Too many are denying its existence. One community ran a program recently at which only twenty people attended - an example of almost total unawareness by parents and community. Any community that doesn't recognize it has a problem that is the same as any other selling its youth out. If we are to show our kids we love them we better find ways to talk with them. That's what we are trying to promote.

"The program for Monday night is geared toward this goal."

Swim Program Testing Friday

City Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that the Recreation Department will conduct an advance testing program in preparation for registration for its summer instructional swimming program at the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Pool.

Registration for classes will be done later this month, and the registration is according to the child's ability. This testing program is for persons who are unsure of their child's swimming ability, and who previously have not been enrolled in swim lessons.

The schedule for testing is Friday, June 13 from 5 p.m. - 7 p.m. The pre-requisite swim test for boating and sailing will also be at this time.

Pool lessons are open to Quincy residents age 6-16 who have a current pool participation card issued by the Quincy Recreation Department. Youngsters 1-6 are eligible for Parent and Tot lessons. Persons desiring lessons at beach locations need not attend testing as it will be done by beach instructors at the time of registration.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Recreation Department office, 773-1380, ext. 204. The normal schedule of swims during testing hours are cancelled.

Flyers Lead Suburban League

The Flyers lead the South Suburban Softball League with an 8-2 record, followed by the Darkhorses at 7-3.

The rest of the standings:

Koch Club, 6-4; Luke's Lounge, 6-4; Royal Pizza, 5-5; Means Precast, 4-6; Spoilers, 3-7, and VFW Post 613, 1-9. Games are played Sunday mornings at 10 at Montclair (Bishop Field), Snug Harbor and Cavanaugh Stadium. David Walsh is league president, assisted by Charles Phelan and Thomas Koch.

Parry Selected For Agganis Game

Don Parry, one of the top wide receivers in the Suburban League last fall and one of the few bright spots in an otherwise dreary Quincy High football picture, has been selected to play in the 25th Harry Agganis all-star game Aug. 1 at Manning Bowl in Lynn.

Parry will attend the University of Rhode Island in the fall as one of the school's leading recruits.

The Ponkapoag Golf Course Ladies' Inner Club recently held a "six best of nine holes" tournament and tied for first place were Hilda Appel, Belle Smith and Edna Tenney.

A "best 12 of 18 holes"

3-Way Tie In Ponkapoag Ladies Tourney tournament was played with Pat Fitzgerald first, Dottie Pitts and Peg Williams tied for second and Stella Carvelli, Nancy Carlton and Sis Jenkins tied for third.

A "throw out three worst of nine holes" tournament was won by Fitzgerald and Charlotte Dickie with a net 32. Kay Iredale, Rita Rogers, Bert Sigelman and Ruth Zaleski tied for second with a net 36 and Laura Lunch, Margie Semple and Dot Yancey tied for third with a net 37.

QHS Finishes Strong In Science League

Quincy High School finished fifth in Massachusetts and 10th in New England in the American Computer Science League this past school year.

Final student standings were: Renee Picard and Christopher Coughlin, first place; Samuel Connolly, second place; David Walsh, third place; Jennifer Golden, fourth place; and Marlo LeVangie, fifth place. Competition was supervised by Paul Karhu.

David N. Rounseville, son of Sandy and Nancy Rounseville of Weymouth,

David Rounseville Graduates From Noble And Greenough

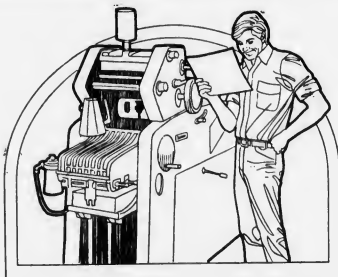

formerly of Quincy, was recently graduated from Noble and Greenough School in Dedham.

He will enter Haverford College, Haverford, PA, in the fall. His major field will be physics.

A pitcher for the Hanover Braves Baseball Team of the Coast League during this summer, he is a student of Darrell "Bucky" Brandon, the Braves coach and formerly a member of the pitching staff of the Boston Red Sox.

Rounseville's brother, John, will be a fourth class student at Nobles in the fall.

January 21, 1986

Be it Ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976 as amended are further amended as follows:

In Chapter 2 Administration, Article XXI Planning Board, add the following new section:

Section 107A - Process for the Purchase of City Owned Land

The process for the purchase of any parcel of City Owned land shall be as follows:

1.) Any party wishing to make an offer to purchase city owned land shall submit an offer form to the Treasurer-Collector in such form and in as many copies as the Treasurer-Collector shall determine. Accompanying such offer shall be a deposit of at least 25% of the proposed purchase price, but not less than $100.00. The Treasurer-Collector shall not accept an offer of less than $100.00. Notification of each offer to purchase is to be given to the Clerk of Committees by the Treasurer-Collector.

2.) The Treasurer-Collector shall verify the City's ownership and report the method and manner that the City obtained ownership in his report which he shall forward to the Planning Board and City Engineer at his earliest convenience.

3.) The City Engineer shall issue a report to the Planning Board which shall include a description of the property, any easements and restrictions which he feels should be retained by the City and his opinion, based on the best professional judgement, as to whether the parcel should be sold. The Planning Board and City Council shall not be bound by such opinion. If a subdivision plan is necessary, the Applicant shall forward a copy of the plan to the City Engineer for his consideration.

4.) After receiving the reports of the Treasurer-Collector and City Engineer, the Planning Board, acting through the Planning Director shall determine whether a notice in the Central Register, established by M.G.L. Chapter 9, Section 20A is necessary. If so, such a notice shall be published. Following the deadline contained in such notice, or if not required, at the next practical date the Planning Board shall hold a hearing to determine their recommendation on the proposed purchase. The Planning Board's recommendation shall be forwarded to the City Council.

5.) The City Clerk, upon receiving a positive recommendation from the Planning Board shall draft an order including the description for the City Council's consideration. If the Planning Board's recommendation is unfavorable, the City Clerk need not draw the order until the Land Conveyance Committee indicates that it will recommend that the Council not adopt the Planning Board's recommendation.

6.) Following a favorable vote by the City Council, and approval by the Mayor, the prospective purchaser shall pay the balance of the purchase price and pro rated taxes as required by M.G.L. Chapter 44, Section 63A to the Treasurer-Collector within sixty days. If such payment is not made within such sixty days, the offer shall be deemed withdrawn and the deposit returned.

7.) Upon receipt of total payment, the Treasurer-Collector shall so inform the City Solicitor who shall prepare a deed, be forwarded to the purchaser. The responsibility for recording the deed shall be that of the purchaser.

Student Exhibit At Historical Society

Twenty-six classes of fourth graders from Quincy's schools, public and private, will display projects beginning today (Thursday) showing knowledge they have gained through a Quincy Historical Society program.

The students attended an educational program over the past school year entitled, "Working with Quincy's Past," which stressed Quincy's economic aspects throughout its history.

The classes were under the direction of Sandra Waxman, Quincy Historical Society's museum teacher.

Projects completed by the students will be exhibited at the Quincy Historical Society Building, 8 Adams St.,

Quincy Center, through Wednesday, June 18, excluding Sunday, June 14.

The exhibit will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The classes that have contributed projects are invited to visit during the week.

Parents and the public are invited to attend Saturday, June 14, 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

This program is sponsored, in part, by grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a State Agency, the Institute of Museum Services, a Federal Agency, the Fred E. Bergfors Foundation, and the Quincy Arts Council.

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: JUNE 12,

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
The worrying you do now proves counterproductive. Energy level is high; look for a positive outlet. In all financial dealings, a meticulous approach is essential.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
In matters of the heart, spontaneity brings results by the weekend. Youngsters provide bright ideas that help you surmount a hurdle—financial goals should be drafted, then polished.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Romantic expectations are more realistic; this is a good period for outlining goals. Watch that you're granted due credit for work assignment. Financial picture may brighten by Monday.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Health and diet are highlighted; this is a good week for taking inventory. Deceptive streak is at work toward the weekend; avoid impulsive decisions. Romance picture is bright.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Conflict may be avoided but your sense of timing is critical. Weekend highlights travel, bargain hunting, and long distance correspondence. Romantic roadblock is cleared by Tuesday.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Good week for self improvement, for writing resumes and reports, and for romantic patchups. In finance, it's time for tightening the moneybelt and planning a long term budget.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Judgment may be somewhat clouded on Thursday Friday; avoid taking risks or making hasty decisions. The intellectual side of romance is highlighted. Communication network improves by Wednesday.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Creative activities may have a profitmaking angle that's worth exploring. Trying new methods work so long as you don't ignore tradition and true techniques. Romantic news is optimistic.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
A good week for pampering loved ones and encouraging a friend to realize his/her potential. Career news requires prompt clarification. Mechanical difficulties require quick, professional attention.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
If planning a trip, be sure that all details on the homefront are carefully organized. Intuition is sharp in romantic matters. With career or education, logic is the key.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
You make major strides in career provided you appreciate the broader picture as well as the details. Romantic life perks up as partner becomes more appreciative and more spontaneous.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Your clever ideas are not always successful, but you have a large number of winners this week. Give much more thought to projects before you sign on.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're highly adaptable, and feel at home in nearly all settings. Curiosity is your middle name, a trait that keeps you youthful. Decision making is generally not your strong suit, but in the coming months you may find yourself making important commitments in areas of romance and finance.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 12, actor Jim Nabors; 13th, actor Richard Thomas; 14th, actress Dorothy McGuire; 15th, musician Stuart Hastings; 16th, designer Charles West; 17th, composer Barry Manilow; 18th, writer Robert James.

CITY OF QUINCY
IN COUNCIL

ORDER NO. 120
ORDERED: March 17, 1986

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy that the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended, be further amended in Chapter 11, Licenses, by adding the following new section:

SECTION 22(a)

The Treasurer and Collector shall annually furnish to each department and board, hereinafter referred to as the licensing authorities that issues licenses or permits including renewals and transfers, a list of any person, corporation, or business enterprise, hereinafter referred to as the party, that has neglected or refused to pay any local taxes, fees, assessments, betterments or other municipal charges for not less than a twelve month period, and that such party has not filed in good faith pending application for an abatement of such tax or a pending position before the appellate tax board. Such listing shall be prepared with the assistance of the Director of Data Processing.

SECTION 22(b)

The licensing authority may deny, revoke or suspend any license or permit, including renewals and transfers of any party whose name appears on said list furnished to the licensing authority from the Treasurer and Collector; provided, however, that written notice is given to the party and the Treasurer and Collector, as required by applicable provisions of law, and the party is given a hearing, to be held not earlier than fourteen days after said notice. Said list shall be prima facie evidence for denial, revocation or suspension of said license or permit to any party. The Treasurer and Collector shall have the right to intervene in any hearing conducted with respect to such license denial, revocation or suspension. Any findings made by the licensing authority with respect to such license denial, revocation or suspension shall be made only for the purposes of such proceeding and shall not be relevant to or introduced in any other proceeding at law, except for any appeal from such license denial, revocation or suspension. Any license or permit denied, suspended or revoked under this section shall not be reissued or renewed until the license authority receives a certificate issued by the Treasurer and Collector that the party is in good standing with respect to any and all local taxes, fees, assessments, betterments or other municipal charges, payable to the City of Quincy as the date of issuance of said certificate.

SECTION 22(e)

Any party shall be given an opportunity to enter into a payment agreement, thereby allowing the licensing authority to issue a certificate indicating said limitations to the license or permit and the validity of said license shall be conditioned upon the satisfactory compliance with said agreement. Failure to comply with said agreement shall be grounds for the suspension or revocation of said license or permit; provided, however, that the holder be given notice and a hearing as required by applicable provisions of law.

SECTION 22(d)

The Mayor may waive such denial, with the City Council's approval, suspension or revocation if he finds there is no direct or indirect business interest by the property owner, its officers or stockholders, if any, or members of his immediate family, as defined in section one of chapter two hundred and sixty-eight in the business or activity conducted in or on said property.

This section shall not apply to the following licenses and permits: open burning, section thirteen of chapter forty-eight; bicycle permits; section eleven A of chapter eighty-five; sales of articles for charitable purposes, section thirty-three of chapter one hundred and one; children work permits, section sixty-nine of chapter one hundred and forty-nine; clubs, associations dispensing food or beverage licenses, section twenty-one of chapter one hundred and forty; dog licenses, section one hundred and thirty-seven of chapter one hundred and forty; fishing, hunting, trapping license, section twelve of chapter one hundred and thirty-one; marriage licenses, section twenty-eight of chapter two hundred and seven and theatrical events, public exhibition permits, section one hundred and eighty-one of chapter one hundred and forty.

ORDERED: March 3, 1986

Be it ordained that the revised ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended, are further amended as follows:

In Chapter 24, The Zoning Ordinance, Article I Administration, Section 15, Special Permits, subsection 1 to read as follows:

ARTICLE I ADMINISTRATION

Section 15 Special Permits

ORDERED:

1. By the terms of this Ordinance and in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 40A, as amended, of the General Laws of the Commonwealth, the Board of Appeals is hereby designated as the "Special Permit Granting Authority" and is authorized to approve or disapprove certain uses specified in ARTICLE IV Section 42, Table of Use Regulations), for which a special permit is required, except that the City Council is designated as the "special permit granting authority" for application filed under ARTICLE III, Section 31, sub-section 2, Planned Unit Development, ARTICLE IV, Section 42, Table of Use Regulations, subsection 12, Adult Uses, and subsection 9 (b) Heavy Industry 10, Waste Recovery. In acting on these matters, the Board shall take into consideration the general purpose and intent of this Ordinance and may impose such conditions and safeguards deemed necessary to preserve community values. The Board may grant a permit without finding of hardship, or, for stated reasons, may deny the permit. In granting a permit, the Board may impose further restrictions on the property as are appropriate, but shall not waive or relax any applicable provision of the ordinance, and in ARTICLE IV Use Regulations, Section 42 Table of Use Regulations in subsection 9 Industrial (b) Heavy Industry add the following new subsection:

Subsection 10. Waste Recovery.

Included in this subsection shall be resource recovery plants, solid waste recovery plant, any transfer station for solid waste or any other facility performing similar functions.

clude sitting on the five member License Board.

A long-time Quincy resident, Johnson said he has been professionally involved in the building industry for nine years.

He said he has most recently been employed by Charles Donald Associates, Inc., Medford, as a project manager engineer.

His projects have included a four-story commercial building, three-story hospital addition and hospital rehabilitation he said.

He has also been employed by Shaughnessy Companies, Boston, and Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., Boston, according to Johnson.

"I'm Flattered to have been offered the job," said Johnson, who referred to MacDonald's reputation as "impeccable."

Johnson is a graduate of Worcester Polytechnical Institute, with a master of science degree in structural geo-technical engineering.

He was also graduated from Wentworth Institute of Technology, Boston, with high honors with both an associates degree in civil engineering and a bachelor of science degree in engineering technology.

A member of the Professional Advisory Council of Wentworth Institute, he is also a member of the New England Solar Energy Association.

A 1977 graduate of North Quincy High School, he said he has worked throughout the country in various aspects of structural engineering, construction and design, including commercial building and hospital construction.

"The building inspector job is far beyond what it used to entail," said McCauley, "there is an awful lot of construction such as Crown Colony and the Bargain Center project."

"Johnson's background is what we need."

He will begin as a provisional employee and must take the Civil Service exam before becoming a permanent employee, according to McCauley.

$16,000 Bargain Center Grant

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that the Department of Planning and Community Development has been awarded a $16,000 Planning Grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Communications and Development.

The grant is to be used to recompense the city for planning costs that relate to the Bargain Center project, known as President's Place.

McCauley stated that the grant, although not large, is significant in that it is the state's first positive acknowledgement of the Bargain Center project. He also said this early action by the state should begin to establish a positive momentum for the project as the city seeks further aid and approvals.

The grant will be used for appraisals and the preparation of an urban development plan, two actions that are necessary for the establishment of site control.

WE'LL GIVE YOU TODAY'S
CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

There's always something good on today's cable.

You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

CABLE ISN'T JUST MORE TV.

BASIC. THE HEART OF THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $9.95 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues
 Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise

The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science

Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game

Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood

Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension

C-Span with coverage from Congress

News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local

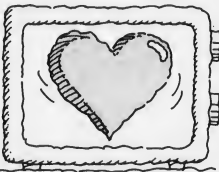

Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network

Economics of one and two person households

National Geographic Explorer Series every week

Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

PEOPLE ARE

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

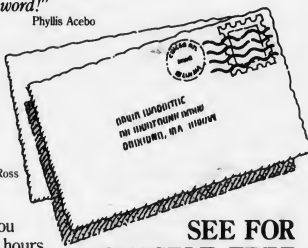

Mary A. Maloney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

SEE FOR YOURSELF, FREE.

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

A GUARANTEE, NOT A GIMMICK.

We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like to give cable a try, please give us a call at 479-2936 or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

Washington Trip Planned To Seek Quincy Bay Funds

A group of Quincy officials plans to visit Washington, D.C., next Wednesday and Thursday to seek federal funds for the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Scheduled to make the trip are Mayor Francis McCauley, his executive secretary Peter Kenney, Planning Director James Lydon and former City Councillor Leo Kelly, a member of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority advisory board.

The group plans to meet with Cong. Brian Donnelly's office and then to determine strategies to pursue Environmental Protection Agency funding, according to Lydon.

"Essentially, we've been feeling that the court suit which Quincy brought against the MDC to clean up the harbor and the activities of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority are looking toward future remedy of the sewage from Metropolitan Boston," said Lydon.

"Nothing has been set aside to remedy the current problems of Boston Harbor," he said.

About 1971, the EPA gave license to the MDC to handle chemical waste, said Lydon. Since then, there has been continued build up of sludge in Quincy Bay, he said.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts designated New Bedford for potential EPA clean-up, according to Lydon, and Quincy Bay and Boston Harbor have been relegated to second place.

"We're looking for the EPA to come in and test, to find out what's there, how much is there and where it is located," said Lydon.

"The second phase of the program would be to remove pollutants and sludge which have accumulated," he said.

Lydon said he is hopeful that funding will be available. "Leo Kelly has written to the EPA and it has recognized that the bay is polluted."

"It also suggested methods for ascertaining funding for remedies."

"They have not only acknowledged the problems, but are encouraging us to seek funding," said Lydon, who noted that this is the first time that the city has sought funding to clean up the bay.

McGrath Would Base Parking Spaces On Bedrooms Number

City Council president Stephen J. McGrath thinks that the number of parking spaces required for multi-unit dwellings should be based on the number of bedrooms per unit.

And he is scheduled to suggest to the council's Zoning Task Force tonight (Thursday) during its meeting at City Hall that it study the feasibility of such a change.

"This would be a truly effective method of beginning to control growth in our city," said McGrath.

"I feel the current requirements of 1.5 plus .25 designated guest parking is not adequate to address the issue of overbuilding in the city," he said.

"Issues of traffic and congestion, I think, dictate this change in the Zoning Ordinances."

"The number of bedrooms should be determinative as generally two bedrooms translate to two cars," McGrath said.

According to Thomas J.

Nutley, task force chairman, builders, developers and realtors are scheduled to appear tonight at 7:30 p.m. to discuss zoning issues.

Civic association representatives have been scheduled for Thursday, June 19, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall, he said.

McGrath established the Task Force for Review of the Zoning Ordinances in April because he questioned whether the zoning ordinances were adequate for the city in 1986.

City Would Take Land To Help Major Retailer To Look Over Kincaide Site

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Over the next few weeks, developer Frank Messina plans to show a well-known retailer the site of the former Kincaide Building at 1621 Hancock St., Quincy Square, according to Planning Director James Lydon.

And if the retailer were to make a commitment to downtown Quincy, the city would do everything in its power to see that the site is made available, even to the point of exercising its urban renewal authority, Lydon said.

"We're looking for a major retailer for the site," Lydon said. "We feel it's important for that end of the square."

"It's safe to say that we would encourage whatever private negotiations could take place with the owner of the land (E.A.M.Y. Trust)."

"But if a commitment were made by a retailer, and private negotiations could not be concluded, the city would be willing to use its urban renewal authority."

Lydon explained that urban renewal involves the ability of the city to take land that is blighted, derelict or substandard and use it for a higher and better use.

The price would be set according to two appraisals by independent appraisers, he said.

Three weeks ago, the owners of the property, E.A.M.Y. Trust, ordered a drawing of what they would like to see built on the Hancock St. site.

They envision an underground garage, retailing on the first level and an apartment complex above.

They also would like to be able to add more property footage to the existing site.

The City Council adopted a resolve Monday night introduced by Councillor Stephen McGrath that the city consider taking the property under its urban renewal authority.

It also referred to its Downtown and Economic Development committee a requested appropriation of $300,000 for engineering and construction costs for the Ross Parking Deck.

The deck is scheduled to be constructed behind Quincy Fair, a mini mall owned by Messina's F.X. Messina Enterprises, and adjacent to the former Kincaide site.

"The parking garage could tie in very nicely with plans for this site," he said.

Lydon said he expects to receive some reaction from the retailer in the next two or three weeks.

"The square needs a major retail tenant as an advertiser and drawing card for the other merchants," explained Lydon.

Pier One Imports is among the tenants at Quincy Fair, but Messina has had difficulty attracting more tenants to the

Plans For Police Station Presented To City Council

Plans for the $8 million addition and renovation of the Quincy Police Station at Southern Artery and Sea St. were presented by the architects to the City Council's Public Safety Committee Monday night.

And the council gave its thoughts on the project to architect Martin Kretsch of DiNisco and Kretsch who stressed that the plans are not "cast in stone."

Kretsch showed a scale model of the station with a basement and three floors.

The addition would be located at the current front of the station, and the entrance would be moved to what is now the back of the building, he said.

Below ground parking for police vehicles would be located on the Broad St. side of the building, according to Kretsch.

Plans call for the location of the entrance as far away from the busy intersection of

License Board To Check Conditions At Auto Shop

Noise pollution late at night and Sunday work was the factor in the License Board's decision to continue a hearing to June 24 and again take up the matter of conditions at Karl's Auto Body & Repair, 65 Holbrook Rd., Wollaston. Alan LeBrun was called before the board after complaints from abutters in the area about loud noises after 9 p.m. and the shop being opened on Sundays. Police Chief and board member Francis X. Finn made it clear to LeBrun that there still exists today, and enforced, a city ordinance that no heavy work can be done after 9 p.m. LeBrun was also reprimanded by the Board for doing business on Sundays.

LeBrun said these conditions arose when his through new construction and six through alterations.

Permits were issued for two one family dwellings estimated to cost $160,000, and one two-family dwelling estimated to cost $100,000.

There were three multi-family dwellings which consisted of one 255 unit auto repair business 'mushroomed.'

Finn retorted: "You can't make your neighbors suffer this kind of aggravation because of that."

The board voted unanimously to continue the hearing for one week while Building Inspector Allan MacDonald inspects the property about conditions there.

condo; one seven-unit condo; one 33 unit condo. Estimated cost $24,124,000.

There were 90 residential alterations at $616,137, eight other alterations at $87,000, eight removals at $72,600, six signs at $12,300 and 12 miscellaneous at $32,649.

City Puts New 'Teeth' In Leash Law

By DAN CONNELLY
Quincy has put some new teeth into enforcing its leash law with new fines that will go into effect July 1 for violators.

The City Council hopes that the new regulations will encourage owners to better control their dogs.

Included in the changes is one against anyone who allows a dog to perform its natural body functions on someone else's property. First offenders can expect to pay a $30 fine. A second offense will cost $25, and three or more violations in a one-year period will bring a fine of $50.

And, there will be new rules aimed against barking, biting and howling offenses, carrying the same fines.

Other changes in the canine ordinance include anyone allowing a dog to run free when not restricted to the premises of the owner or keeper. First offense is $20. A second offense will cost $25, third offense $30, and four or more violations in a one year period will bring a fine of $50. Under a 1976 city ordinance, this offense carried a flat fee of not more than $25.

Pet owners will have to pay a new $10 late fee for failure to purchase a dog license by April 30 each year. This cost will be in addition to the license fee. Also, an increase in the reclaiming fee from $5 to $10 for dogs that are picked up by the canine control officer.

Also, owners will now pay $50 for unsprayed and unleashed female dogs found roaming at large "in season" by the dog officer or assistant.

The fee for the issuance of a dog license also went up. Four dollars instead of $3 for a male dog, from $6 to $7 for a female dog and $4 for a spayed female dog instead of $3.

Acting Dog Officer Phyllis Berluchi said the city issues approximately 2,800 licenses each year.

$25,213,486 In Construction

The Building Department reports it issued 132 permits for construction estimated to cost $25,213,486 during the month of May.

The department received $35,945 in permit fees and $575 for public safety inspections. A total of 299 dwelling units was added

Fourth Offense (within a calendar year) -	$50.00 and subsequent offenses

3.2 No person shall permit a dog owned or kept by him to perform its natural body functions on the property of other than that of the dog's owner or keeper without the approval of said property owner.

3.3 The Municipal Dog Officer or his/her assistant is hereby authorized to seek a complaint against the owner or keeper of a dog or other animal who is found to have violated the provisions of Sections 1, 2, or 3.2 of Article I, Chapter 13 for which the following penalties shall be imposed:

First Offense (within a calendar year) -	$20.00
Second Offense (within a calendar year) -	$25.00
Third and Subsequent (within a calendar year) -	$50.00

3.4 In addition to the requirement that a dog shall be duly licensed as required by law, the owner of a dog which is not licensed on or before April 30th in any year shall be assessed a late fee of $10.00, in addition to the license fee.

3.5 The owner of any unsprayed and unleashed female dog roaming at large and in season (heat) and found by the Dog Officer or his assistant, shall be subject to a fine of $50.00.

The fee for the issuance of a dog license, to be collected by the City Clerk pursuant to M.G.L. Chapter 140, Sections 139 and 173 shall be as follows:

- Four Dollars ($4.00) for a Male Dog.
- Seven Dollars ($7.00) for a Female Dog.
- Four Dollars ($4.00) for a Spayed Female Dog.

Section 6: Reclaiming Fee

The Municipal Dog Officer shall collect a fee of ten dollars ($10.00) from the claimant of a dog that has been in the custody of the City due to the violation of leash and/or licensing ordinances or laws. Said fee shall be collected in addition to board fees authorized by M.G.L. Chapter 140, Section 151A.

Fitness Center Told To Shape Up Property

The city's license Board told the owner of South Shore Fitness & Health, 500 Washington St., Quincy Point, to shape up the outside of his property by June 24.

At issue before the board were mounds of dirt piled against a fence, which abutters say, is a nuisance because prevailing winds blow dust into their homes. They added this problem has existed for a period of time and still nothing has been done about it.

Joining them in their complaint was Ward Two Councilor Ted DeCristofaro, who said he was tired of having to appear so many times before the Board to have this situation corrected to the satisfaction of abutters.

Peter Ricciardi, who holds a common victualer license for the property, was there to rebut the complaints.

One June 11, Ricciardi submitted plans for an eight-two-bedroom condominium complex before the city's planning board. Those plans were tabled at that meeting.

License Board Chairman John Gillis told Ricciardi he has not played fair with the Board or his neighbors and continued the hearing to next Tuesday.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall.

• Granted a request from Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., to hold a flea market June 28. The event will be held in the church parking lot. There is no rain date.

• Granted a request from William Savonen for the change of name from Fil's Cafe, 214 Washington St., to Brittany's Food & Spirit. Michael Shaheen of the city's Health Department told the board the kitchen has been remodeled.

• Granted a request from Albert Zero of A-Z Repair Service, 471 Hancock St., for a permit to store an additional 125 gallons of gasoline in tanks of about five cars to be stored in the garage. The property is being remodeled to accommodate an extra bay for auto repair work. Address is business zoned.

• Granted a request from John Lawless, 510 Baker St., West Roxbury, for a one day all alcoholic license June 28 at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall for a wedding reception.

• Granted the request of Richard Adams, manager of the Wollaston Yacht Club, 692 Quincy Shore Drive, to renew the club's wine and malt license. It was granted with the understanding Adams submit to the Board, within two weeks, a structural engineers report on the existing pilings of the building.

$1,806 Stolen From Gas Station Safe

A total of $1,806 was reported stolen from the safe of Old Colony Gas Station, 1230 Furnace Brook Parkway, June 15.

Also reported stolen were 17 packages of cigarettes worth $19.55 and $39.66 in gasoline from the pumps.

Police were called to the scene on a report of the pumps being open after the station was closed.

Pumps were shut off by the police and fire departments and the office locked. When the office was opened the next morning, money was found to be missing from the safe, according to police.

Money Taken From Nurses' Pocketbooks

Two nurses at Quincy City Hospital, Kathleen Barry, R.N., and Rosemarie Catarano, R.N., reported to police that their pocketbooks were rummaged through and money taken June 14, at the hospital.

Bicycle Stolen

A 10-speed red Univega bike worth $400 and owned by Stephan Loranger of 17 Langely Cr., Wollaston, was reported stolen from the garage behind his apartment.

To Be Laundromat

Cheney Sees Palmer Pub Closing Blessing

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney thinks the closing of the Palmer Pub, a trouble spot in Adams Shore for a number of years, bodes well for the future of the area.

"The closing Sunday night is timely because most of the complaints have occurred in the late spring and early summer," said Cheney.

"The elimination of the Palmer Pub and the removal of the liquor license will go a long way towards improving the quality of life for the people of the neighborhood."

"We've been able to accomplish two things," explained Cheney. "The first is the closing down of a troublesome liquor establishment."

"The second is to replace it with a use more conducive to the needs of the neighborhood."

Daniel Sweeney of Milton plans to convert the pub to a laundromat at a cost of $250,000 including the renovations and equipment, according to Cheney.

The renovation began Monday and will continue until mid to late summer, according to Cheney. Sweeney has said that he wants to be a viable part of the community and will employ local residents as attendants at the coin operated laundromat, said Cheney.

"Because the laundromat will be attended by a local person, there will be less potential for it to become a hang-out," said Cheney.

The night that the pub closed, the door to the establishment sustained about $400 damage, he said.

"If it weren't for the quick response of the police, there would have been more damage done," said Cheney.

"Hopefully, that will be the last such incident in the area," said Cheney who noted that former owner, John W. Smith, removed all the alcoholic beverages from the premises that night.

Cheney said that he has worked harder on this issue than on any other, except the cleanup of Quincy Bay, since he was elected three years ago.

Smith put the pub up for sale about two and a half years ago, and the neighborhood saw it as an opportunity to voice its strong opposition to a pub operating at that location, according to Cheney.

"For at least seven years, the Palmer Pub had been the site of constant complaints," explained Cheney.

"The police were brought in on a number of occasions to correct the situation."

"They found that the trouble emanated from the inside, and frequently spilled outside to the street," Cheney said.

When a South Boston man, Michael J. O'Neill, applied for transfer of the liquor license, over 100 people attended the meeting at which the request was denied by the Quincy License Board, he said.

Cheney said he met with Smith and his attorney to request that they try to find a buyer interested in a different use for the property than as a pub. They agreed.

After receiving information from Cheney, C and J Realty Trust proposed demolishing the pub and the house behind it to make way for a three-story, nine unit building, Cheney said.

However, the Zoning Board of Appeals denied the request without prejudice because of concerns such as density.

Cheney said that if the laundromat proves to be a success, Sweeney plans to demolish the house to the rear of the property to provide additional parking.

Cheney emphasized the role of Smith, a retired Boston policeman, in helping to improve the situation in the neighborhood.

"After our initial meeting, he took it upon himself to bar over 50 people from the pub," he said.

"He has always stayed in touch, and his cooperation and efforts over the past two years have resulted in the pub being relatively quiet."

"It was always my feeling that no matter who owned the Palmer Pub, it would be difficult to operate successfully."

Cheney noted that another prospective buyer wanted to utilize the pub as a liquor establishment.

"This may have been our only opportunity to get rid of the pub," he said.

Readers Forum Concerned About LaRouche Candidates

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
As a Democrat, I look with a concerned eye towards the followers of Lyndon LaRouche and their activities within my party. One does not have to look far, they are in our own back yard. David Peterson, after running for Mayor of Quincy in last year's city election, is now a Democratic Candidate for Congress, opposing Democratic Congressman Brian Donnelly.

This individual has not been challenged. He has been allowed to run in the Democratic Primary as if he were a regular member of the Democratic party, within the accepted range of differences of opinion on issues facing the party. He will be allowed to participate, allowed to debate, and before you know it he will have achieved legitimacy.

One might say that LaRouche candidates have not been challenged because it is not part of the Democratic process. This is an honorable sentiment, but dangerously wrong. The level of political awareness among many people is so low that many people do not understand who the LaRouchites are.

They speak a political language that many citizens do not understand.

One might also say that with his excellent record that Congressman Donnelly will be elected anyway, so why bother? It will be a hollow victory indeed if his election comes at the cost of allowing a conspiratorial group to be further legitimized as an element of our party.

I call on our Democratic party officials to strengthen our laws allowing one to run for office with the party label of Democrat. If LaRouchites make their way into the organization of the Democratic party, we will indeed be compromising ourselves, and our party.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

DON'T BUCK THE INEVITABLE

QUESTION: Why is real estate any better than the multitude of other investments I can choose?

ANSWER: The early settlers bought land for two cents an acre. Ever since then, real estate has provided the largest single means for individual wealth. Why real estate more than any other investment?
Because of the principle of leverage.

In real estate, because of it's excellent loan security, your profit can be magnified. For example, if you invest $25,000 as a down payment for a $100,000 building and this property later doubles in value.
Your profit would then be actually four times your cash investment of $25,000.

EARLY SETTLERS bought land for two cents an acre.
It's still an excellent investment.

How About A McCauley Or Card?

What the Republican Party could use right now is not only a new face at the top but a fresh, clean one, too.
If one isn't found soon, the GOP elephant in Massachusetts could soon be an endangered species if it isn't already now.

Even if it survives, it could be a long, long time before we see another Republican governor or Republican U.S. senator.

The Republican image in the upper ranks right now leaves a lot to be desired to put it politely.

To put it bluntly, it politically stinks.

Highly respected GOP figures like Christen Herter and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. are gone and it's sad there isn't anyone around today to take their place.

Old guards like John Volpe,
Francis Sargent, Eliot Richardson and John Sears are still here but can't give the party the needed blood transfusion because, face it, their blood is a bit on the tired side after long service.

Would-be's like Ray Shamie and John Lakian didn't have it and still don't.

And, Royall Switzler, this year's GOP endorsed candidate for governor, who just dropped out of the race had about as much chance of defeating Democrat incumbent Michael Dukakis as Ralph Sampson has.

Gregory Hyatt, the lone Republican now in the race, isn't going to do much better than Switzler would have.

Switzler should do an imitation of Tom Dooley and go hang his head.

His imitation as a war hero was pretty good until it caught up to him or his conscience did and he announced he had "embellished" his military record in past campaign literature.

Embellishment is an understatement.
Switzler, a state representative from Wellesley, had claimed he was a Vietnam War veteran with the rank of captain in the Special Forces.

Now, it turns out, he served as a sergeant with the peacetime Army in Korea. Oh, he got to Vietnam all right. Not to fight but to visit in 1962.

Switzler has apologized for playing war hero and has dropped out of the race but his name will still be on the Republican primary ballot.

And, in the eyes of many veterans that will still make the ballot appropriate to wrap fish in.

Construction To Resume On Hancock Water Main

Construction of a new water main in Hancock St.
will resume next week, June 23-27.

Replacement of the 100-year-old Kalimien steel pipeline began last year but was not completed because the contractor, Fillipone Construction Co., failed to perform under the contract.

The Modern Continental Construction Co. has been hired to complete construction from Hayward
St. to Elm Ave.

It is anticipated that construction will be complete prior to Oct. 1.

Hyatt, his opponent, might benefit from all the phony war hero stuff. But he has a few problems of his own.
He couldn't get the GOP endorsement.
The Associated Builders and Contractors say they tired Hyatt for poor job performance and "strange behavior." Hyatt has threatened to sue but nothing has happened yet.

Meanwhile, Hyatt's nomination papers have been challenged by the Democrats after several Belmont residents including Assistant Town Clerk Helen Paragamian said their names were forged on Hyatt's papers. Paragamian discovered her name on the papers while she and coworkers were routinely checking the names for their validity.

The State Ballot Law Commission has scheduled a June 23 hearing on the names challenge.

So both men have clouds hanging over them and they aren't going to generate much faith and trust -- or votes.

The Republican party could soon be in a shambles without new leadership. They badly need a Mr. Clean.

And, if they're looking around for one, they might look to the South Shore.

How about someone like Mayor
Francis McCauley or former state
Rep. Andrew Card of Holbrook now a White House aide to President Ronald Reagan?

Both Card and McCauley are clean, fresh faces. And honest, you could trust them with your wallet.

When the Republican party was the power in Massachusetts in the 1930's and early 1940's, the Grand Old Party seemed to put the accent on the "old."

Young Republicans never had a chance to run for much more than a train out of North or South Station.

The old guard held on tightly and somewhat selfishly.

The young had little to look forward to and some of them looked to greener pastures and even became Democrats.

The old Republicans, someone once said, "ate their young" while the Democrats nourished theirs.

Now is the time for the Republicans -- if they want to survive -- to find some young fresh -- and clean faces -- to lead them now and in the future.

If it isn't a Frank McCauley or an Andy Card, it should be someone like them.

And, they better find them quickly. Or, the day may soon come when the only time you'll see an elephant as a standout will be when the circus comes to town.

Looking Back

From The Files Of Charles Flagg

THERE WAS PLENTY of work at the Quincy Shipyard in March, 1963 when the Contractor was being built for the United States Lines and the yard was owned by Bethlehem Steel. The American Contractor, a cargo-liner, was christened March 21 by Ethel Kennedy, wife of Robert Kennedy, shortly after this photo was taken.

Shipyard Union Officials In Washington To Seek Help

By DAN CONNELLY

In their continuing efforts to reopen General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy, union leaders are in Washington, D.C., to seek help with a federal program that provides government assistance for domestic ship construction. George O'Kane, president of Local 5, Tony Svizero, head of the New England branch of the national shipworkers union, and shipbuilding consultant Peter Gwyn were expected to ask Massachusetts Senators Edward Kennedy and John Kerry to help passage of Title II.

Under this bill, the government does not provide a subsidy, but instead guarantees the debt financing for ships built in the United States under the Merchant Marine Act of 1936.

The union leaders said the Reagan administration has proposed $67 million for the program for fiscal year 1987, whereas the House has requested $500 million.

U.S. Rep. Brian Donnelly was expected to speak for the high sum when the bill comes onto the House floor, aide John Stobierski said. Stobierski termed Title II a mortgage guarantee program.

Svizero said the union acted in the light of the Senate's defeat of the proposed building and charter program nearly two weeks ago.

That bill would have provided money for passenger ships that could be converted to military use. It was approved by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, but then rejected in the Senate.

A New York company, American Flagships, had expressed interest in building at least two $200-million passenger ships in Quincy if the legislation passed.

The shipyard unions are currently looking into the possibility of a worker buyout. At the same time, they are attempting to help secure contracts so ships can be built at the yard if a buyout, or a purchase by an outside company, does occur.

Quincy's Yesterdays

Quincy Drive To Aid Worcester Tornado Victims

A fund drive was organized in Quincy this week to aid the victims of the Worcester tornado.

Mayor David McIntosh kicked off the campaign, declaring, "The people of Quincy will come through this cause as they have always come through in the past. The people in the storm ravaged part of the state need cash, they need it bad, and they need it quickly."

McIntosh was awaiting word from Lt. Gov. Sumner Whittier, head of the Worcester relief committee, as to when the state's fund drive would officially begin.

The Merchants' Division of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce announced its intention to underwrite $40,000 in loans for the stricken Worcester area.

Meanwhile, the sign division of the Public Works Department was busy preparing signs and placing them on parking meters in Quincy Sq. The signs asked citizens to contribute to the fund drive by dropping a dime in the meter. (The dimes would not activate the meter, but rather would be segregated from the pennies and nickles when the meter collections were made.)

Besides raising money for the tornado victims, Quincy residents were also busy collecting personal items belonging to Worcester residents which were scattered as far as Quincy and the South Shore. Marriage certificates, diplomas, etc., were being gathered up for return to their owners.

LAST BUILDINGS AT CLEVERLY COURT RAZED

The final three buildings at the Cleverly Court Housing Project in Quincy Point were razed by the Quincy Housing Authority.

Thus was ended the authority's war time temporary housing operations, which had extended almost eight years.

Last year, nine of the original barracks-type buildings in the two temporary housing projects were razed. The final phase of demolition was held up until the last remaining families were re-located.

Use of granite curbing on all street construction in Quincy was mandated by vote of the City Council (dissenting were Councillors Edna Austin and Frank Orcutt).

Traffic Survey

Drivers To Be Questioned

Drivers stopped at any of 14 city intersections may be approached by representatives of the city's Quincy Traffic 2000 consultants, Vanasse-Hangen beginning today (Thursday), and asked brief questions regarding their trip purpose that day.

The questions will revolve around the beginning location and destination of the trip and the purpose, such as going to work or shopping.

To be undertaken between the hours of 7-9 a.m. and 4-6 p.m., the so-called "peak" travel hours, the survey will enable the consultants to evaluate local and "through" travel patterns. It will continue for one or two weeks.

The 14 intersections are as follows: Adams St. Newport Ave.; Hancock and Dimmock Sts.; Coddington St. Woodward Ave.; McGrath Highway Washington St.; Quincy Ave. Scammell St.;

Franklin St. Independence Ave.; Granite and Pleasant Sts.; Granite and Water Sts.; Washington St. Southern

Artery; Burgin Parkway - Granite St.; Beale and Adams Sts.; Holbrook Road - Newport Ave.; East West

Squantum Newport Avenue Extension; and East Squantum St. Quincy Shore Drive.

'Cancer Concerns For Women' Seminar At QCH

"Cancer Concerns For Women," the four seminar in a series of the educational program entitled "FOR WOMEN ONLY," will be held Wednesday, June 25, at 7 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

According to the hospital, cancer is the leading cause of death in women.

Dr. Walt Kagan, Oncologist, and Dr. Peter Barrett, Radiologist, will present the latest information on breast, lung, skin and cervical cancer; how it is detected, treated and what a woman can do to prevent becoming a victim.

Judith Moran, R.N., a Nurse Practitioner, will teach the recommended breast self-exam procedure to all participants.

The program will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. in the Conference Room on the second floor of the Administration Building. Space is limited and advance registration is required. The program is free of charge. Refreshments will be served.

For more information, and to register for the program, contact the Office of Community Relations at 773-6100, Ext. 4016, Monday through Friday, between the 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Dr. Allan Osborne: Teacher-Author Likes To Lose Students -- For A Good Reason

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

One of Dr. Allan Osborne's greatest satisfactions is to lose students -- not because they have dropped out, but because they don't need special education classes anymore.

"When you see that a student has difficulty, then the student comes along and progresses so that he or she doesn't need special education any more, that's the greatest satisfaction," said the Snug Harbor teacher who teaches Kindergarten through fifth grade students.

Teacher Profiles

"The words 'I can't' are not uttered in my classroom" explained Osborne. "They can say 'it's tough -- but I'm going to do it.' Above and beyond, I try to instill the attitude 'I can conquer this.'"

"What I like to see most is someone accomplish something, and to feel good about themselves," he said.

Osborne has reason to feel good about himself as well.

His book, "An Educator's Legal Guide to Special Education Services" is scheduled to be published early next fall by Prentice Hall, the largest educational textbooks publishing company in the U.S.

"I feel good about the book," smiled Osborne, a soft-spoken man who chooses words carefully.

"It's exciting. It started off with a dream, and I almost had to pinch myself to be sure it was real.

"Now it's almost done and I'm extremely excited," he said.

The book was born out of frustration experienced while doing research on his doctoral dissertation in 1981 at Boston College, Osborne explained.

"I was looking for comprehensive information on special education law, and saw a real need for the book" said Osborne.

The research covered such topics as what a school system must do and what types of programs must be provided in special education.

The book, to be published by Parker Publishing, a division of Prentice Hall, is for educators in the field.

Osborne sent out his book prospectus to over 30 publishers.

"I was on Cloud 9 when Prentice Hall expressed an interest," he said.

"I've had a lot of help along the way," said Osborne. "I could fill a whole chapter thanking everyone."

"A lot of people have given me encouragement.

SPECIAL EDUCATION teacher Allen G. Osborne, Jr. of the Snug Harbor School prepares to teach his class. (Quincy Sun photo by Charles Fluge) and that makes all the difference in the world."

Osborne does not expect to get rich from the book.

"There was no advance to write the book," he said. "If I meet my expenses, I'll be pleased."

"I could get lucky and make enough money to take a nice vacation."

"But my approach was more scholarly."

"I see the book as my contribution to the field, and I'm honored that it will be published."

It also could provide opportunities to enter new phases of special education in the future, he noted.

Writing is not foreign to Osborne, who has had 14 articles published in the last two years.

"It comes naturally to me" said Osborne, whose father, Allan Osborne, Sr., is a former sports editor and now semi-retired reporter for the Milford Daily News.

Allan, Jr., worked part time at the newspaper while in school.

A psychology major in college, Osborne didn't plan to go into special education.

"My career counselor suggested special education explained Osborne. "Up until then, I didn't know much about it."

"I had a hazy memory of the class down the hall secluded from everybody else. I only realized later that it was a special education class," he said.

After receiving bachelor's and master's degrees, he taught for seven years in the Bellingham public schools, and was special education coordinator for three years in that town.

That's where he met his

Editor's Note:

Allan G. Osborne was selected for a teacher profile by a panel from the Quincy Education Association for his work as a professional educator and an involved community person.

Panelists are Deanna White-Hebert, Snug Harbor School; Paul Phillips, North Quincy High School; Jack Buckley, president, Central Middle School; Thomas Walsh, Quincy High School; and Mary Curtin, Atherton High School.

Teacher profiles will continue in the fall in The Quincy Sun.

Heart Association Quincy Branch Planned

Plans to organize a Quincy branch of the American Heart Association are announced by Carol Speranzo of Second Sight, Quincy, temporary chairperson.

The first meeting will be held June 30 at Quincy, city hospital at 7 p.m.

"All those of the Quincy area," Speranzo said, "who are interested in learning how they may join in the fight against heart disease in their community are cordially invited to attend."

Speranzo added, "last year cardiovascular diseases were responsible for more deaths than all other causes of death combined. Reduction of and proper attention to the risk factors of heart disease will be one of the major goals of the Quincy branch. I hope that many people of our community will join me and become actively engaged in the control of heart disease."

For more information call the American Heart Association at 584-0446.

Teen Volunteers Sought At Happy Acres Camp

City Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, announces the Recreation Department is seeking teenage volunteers to assist regular staff at the Happy Acres Day Camp for children with special needs.

The camp, located at 100 Southern Artery, offers a variety of recreational programs for handicapped Quincy residents.

Persons who are accepted may volunteer one day or longer each week and gain valuable experience while providing an opportunity for handicapped children to

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A small word, but it packs a big meaning . . . As a general rule, people resist change. Human nature being what it is, few of us readily accept it. We get comfortable with things the way they are and want to keep them that way.

But change is the very substance of life. Without change, there would be no progress. No air-conditioned automobiles, no color TVs, no open heart surgery, no trips to the moon or trips into orbit in a rocket and coming back in an airplane . . . Put it simply, there would be no bettering of our conditions. There must always be change, even though we sometimes cling desperately to the old ways.

A quote from Donald M. Nelson expresses this thought quite aptly: "We must drop the idea that change comes slowly. It does ordinarily - in part because we think it does. Today's changes must come fast, and we must adjust our mental habits, so that we can accept comfortably the idea of stopping one thing and beginning another overnight. We must discard the idea that past routine, past ways of doing things are probably the best ways. On the contrary, we must assume that there is probably a better way to do almost everything. We must stop assuming that a thing which has never been done before probably cannot be done at all."

Hundreds March In Flag Day Parade

The weather was ideal as a clear sky and beautiful morning greeted the 35th Annual Flag Day Parade in Quincy which stepped off at its assembly point on Coddington St.

It was led by color guards of the Quincy Police Department and Fire Department as well as a United States Army color guard.

The Metropolitan District Commission Metro Police participated with a motorcycle and mounted police unit.

Hundreds of boys and girls wearing the colorful uniforms of their organizations and groups each carried an 18-inch by 12-inch United States Flag in youths' tribute to "Old Glory" in Quincy, a tradition sponsored by the Koch Club for three and a half decades.

The North Quincy High School Band provided the musical beat for the marchers along with Boy Scout Troop #19 Drum Corps of Weymouth.

The sponsoring Koch Club Boys Basketball and Girls Softball Leagues in their traditional hats and t-shirts composed the first division with units from North Quincy, Broadmeadows, Montclair and West Quincy.

The second division was led by the Camp Fire Girls and included Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Brownies while the third division included St. Ann's Baseball League, the Quincy Track Club and Quincy Youth Soccer League.

The McDonald caboose and characters were recognized by the younger children along the parade route.

At Veterans Stadium following the parade, a member of the George F. Bryan Post raised the U.S. flag presented to the Koch Club in the bi-centennial year while those attending the stadium ceremonies pledged allegiance to the flag in unison.

Anthony T. Delmonico, chairman of the Koch Club Scholarship Committee, was assisted in the presentation by Howard F. Crowley, Thomas J. Koch and School Committeeman Stephen Durkin.

Those receiving the Koch Club Awards for 1986 included: Stephen C. Miller and Ann Marie Hughes of North Quincy High School, Robert J. MacMillan and Stacie Gail Nigro, Quincy High School and Cornelius C. O'Connor and Kasandra L. Lamson from Quincy Vot-Tech High School.

Flags for the past number of years have been purchased and provided by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and Quincy City Club.

Cong. Brian Donnelly had the announcement of the Flag Day observance in Quincy read into the Congressional Record.

"Communities would do well to follow the example of Quincy, Mass.," according to the statement read on the House of Representatives floor.

Awards Day Sunday Opens Houghs Neck 350th Celebration

The Houghs Neck 350th Birthday celebration will open Sunday with an Awards Day at 2 p.m. at the Atherton Hough School.

The public is invited. City and state officials closely associated with the community will be special guests. They will be introduced by Jack Nigro, 350th Birthday chairman, who was born at home on Harvey's Lane and is a life-long resident, as is Martin Gordon, co-chairman.

Guests include mayor Francis X. McCauley, also a life time resident; Ward 1 Councillor Michael T. Cheney and School Committeewoman Margaret Nigro, Houghs Neck residents; state rep. Thomas H. Brownell, who grew up in Houghs Neck; and Sen. Paul Harold, who represents the Houghs Neck area among others in the State House.

Awards include $3,100 divided among 10 recipients to be presented by the Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Committee, The Mothers & Others Club of Houghs Neck Congregational Church will present $25 bonds to eight student winners in a poster and essay competition for Houghs Neck students in grades 1-12. The Houghs Neck Legion will award its Atherton Hough Flag Essay winner; and the Atherton Hough PTO will present its scholarships.

A noon to 6 p.m. Family Field Day at LaBrecque Field on June 28 with Darlene Gardner, chairman, will complete June activities.

Two additional summer events have been added, sponsored by Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club and the Quincy Yacht Club. Daniel Boyd, Harvey's president, will coordinate a log rolling and boat rowing contest off Harvey's Wharf July 12 starting at 2 p.m. Sign up at noon.

On Aug. 4 (Monday), a power boat race from Houghs Neck to Provincetown will start at 6:30 a.m., sponsored by both groups and open to all Houghs Neck marine enthusiasts.

City Mission Society V.P. Bethany Speaker Sunday

Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, welcomes as its guest preacher Sunday, the Rev. David S. King.

Rev. King is the Vice President of the City Mission Society, which is the second oldest voluntary social service agency in the country.

He is an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ and has served as pastor, college chaplain, director of social service agencies, and as consultant to the United Church of Christ Homeland Mission Board. Rev. King has been with the Boston-based City Mission Society since 1982.

Rev. King will preach on the topic, "Making The Connection," based on two Gospel readings: Luke 1:46-55 and Matthew 25:31-46. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington will serve as liturgist for the service. In addition, Rev. Huntington will give the sacrament of Christian Baptism to Matthew Sean O'Reilly, son of Jeffrey and Carolyn (Trout) O'Reilly; the lay Scripture reader will be Russell D. Hodgkins.

The worship service is at 10 a.m. and is broadcast live over WJDA.

During the service of worship, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Kravinski, organist, will present two anthems, "Sheep May Safely Graze" by J.S. Bach and "Awake The Trumpet's Lofty Sound" by G.F. Handel.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

There will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor after the service at 11 a.m. All are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's programs and ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Bookstore Owner Guest Preacher At Covenant Congregational

Kenneth Jensen, owner of the Heritage House Bookstore in Brockton, was the guest speaker at the Covenant Congregational Church, corner of Whitwell and Granite Sts., Sunday.

The service was held at 10 a.m., the starting time for the summer schedule. The service was led by Mrs. Margaret Bennett, vice-president of the church. In observance of Father's Day, all fathers were recognized and honored with a small remembrance.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sylvester. Ushers were Trudy Acker, Florence Anderson, David Day and Bendix Lundgren. Jensen read from Exodus and spoke about salvation and the importance of remembering this gift.

The choir, under the direction of Richard Smith, sang the folk anthem "Lonely Voices" by Hanks, and Luisa Dano sang "Thine is the Greatness" by Galbraith. The organ Prelude was "Sicilienne" by Bach and the Postlude was "Trumpet Tune" by Stanley, played by Mr. Smith.

On June 22, the service will again start at 10 a.m. Rev. Fred Lawson will preach on the topic: "The News We Want To Hear."

Starting July 6, the summer services will be held outdoors, weather permitting, in the church park, adjacent to the church building.

Following the services, coffee hours will be held in Fellowship Hall.

Shepherd Church Observes 44th Anniversary

This coming Sunday the Rev. Richard Lindgren will be guest preacher at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd's observance of its 44th anniversary.

Rev. Lindgren is the Lutheran campus minister on The Fenway. He will be joined by three parishioners who will address the congregation on how the church has influenced their lives.

Starting Sunday, June 29 the summer church schedule will go into effect. Service will be at 9 a.m. with a nursery provided.

The church is located at Harvard and West Sts., Squantum.

Save Gas and Money... Shop Locally.

Father's Day Celebrated At Squantum First Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum celebrated Father's Day Sunday with an all-church breakfast and a special worship service.

The breakfast was sponsored by young people of the church to raise money for their youth ministry.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the subject, "The Christian Father," taking as his text, "But as for you, man of God, shun all this: aim at righteousness, godliness, faith, love, steadfastness, gentleness." (1 Timothy 6:12). The scripture for the morning was 1 Timothy 6:6-16.

The Crusader Choir sang Joyce Kilmer's "Forty Days and Forty Nights." The Youth Choir sang the spiritual, "Joshua - Jericho" as arranged by Patsy Simms. Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs.

Hymns sung during the service included "God of Our Fathers," "This is My Father's World," "Rise Up, O Men of God" and "Lord, Dismiss Us with Thy Blessing."

Organist Mary Ruth Scott

played for the service but Minda Hurd also played a special musical selection on the organ, "Preamble" by Frescobaldi.

Greeters for the morning were Jack and Ruth Westerbeck. Stewart Scott and Cliff Mason were the ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Barbara Anderson and Genevieve Todd.

This Sunday there will be two services again: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

FURNACE BROOK RAINBOW REPORT

June, 1986
Vol. 1, No. 1

Ethnic Respect:

Understanding Other People And Their Cultures

The Furnace Brook School recently presented three ethnic stories with universal themes inspired by storyteller Judith Black. The presentation was under the direction of Nancy Hebert, second grade teacher and Susan Farrell, fifth grade teacher. The presentation by Ms. Hebert's and Ms. Farrell's class was based on the school's equity objective of developing an appreciation for the understanding of other people and of other cultures.

Rainbow Tales

Monies for the program were realized from Quincy's Arts Council and the Cultural Education Collaborative Institute for the Arts. All students and parents of the school had the opportunity to view the program which had as its universal theme The Rainbow Song. (See enclosure.) Art and music was incorporated into the program with assistance from arts specialist, Jerry Finch, and music specialist, Gay Carbonneau.

SINGING "THE RAINBOW SONG"

An Interview With Judith Black

Q. How did you become a storyteller?

A. When I was a teacher I would make up stories to tell the children because I didn't like the selections that the school had.

Q. Are you a founding member of Storytellers in Concert?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. Did you go to college?

A. Yes, I went to Wheelock College in Boston. Then I got my masters in Early Childhood Development.

Q. Do you like writing stories?

A. Yes, I love it.

Q. Do you perform across the nation?

A. No, just on the east coast.

Q. Do you tell stories in different languages?

A. No.

Q. Do you perform for people of different ages?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you write stories in magazines?

A. No, all of my stories are oral. I do perform on the radio.

Q. How long have you been telling stories?

A. I have been telling stories for more than 10 years.

Q. Why did you choose to do the plays with us?

A. I chose to do the plays with you because the people at Furnace Brook are so nice.

Q. Do you enjoy acting out stories for children?

A. Yes, since I have my own child I act out stories for him.

Q. Did you always want to be a story teller?

A. No, I wanted to be a teacher and an actress.

Q. Do you have any hobbies beside story telling?

A. Yes, I like gardening, and I'm an anti-nuclear activist.

Q. Where are some places you have performed?

A. I have performed at the Children's Museum, the U.S.S. Constitution museum, WBZ TV, WGBH Radio, The Spider's Web, and The Peabody Museum.

Q. How many stories have you written?

A. Dozens, and dozens of stories.

Q. What kind of job did you expect when you were eleven?

A. A garbage woman, because everyone said I was stupid.

Q. Have you ever performed around the world?

A. No, not around the world, but I would like to.

Q. Are you satisfied with your job?

A. Yes, I love it!
Joanna Dyer, Gr. 5

History Of

'The Rainbow Tales'

In the spring of 1985, Mr. Bernazzani, Ms. Hebert, and Ms. Farrell decided to direct a play about equity.

This play would teach the children to respect others and to always be kind.

Mr. Finch, our art teacher, and fourth graders from Miss Mahoney's class designed and painted all of the scenery. The fourth graders held the scenery for all of our performances. We couldn't have done it without them!

A group of parents formed a costume committee. They spent many hours making costumes for the characters and fitting them. We borrowed props from Mr. Creedon's theater collection at Broad Meadows Middle School. Mr. Creedon also made a visit to our school to give a makeup demonstration.

All of a sudden it seemed we were ready. We had our first performance for the kindergarten, first, and second grades of our school. Everyone was nervous, except Tracy Rowderink. Then we did a second play for the third, fourth, and fifth grades.

I think everyone was more relaxed by then. Ms. Hebert and Ms. Farrell then invited all of the children's parents to see the third play. That was our major performance.

Then Ms. Hebert and Ms. Farrell invited classes from three other schools to see the plays. That was our fourth and final production. How happy we were that we were so successful.

The Rainbow Song

Red and Black and Yellow and Brown
Are the colors that we know.
These people live upon our earth
Like colors of the rainbow.

We all go back a long long way to many different lands
And like a garden our earth will grow if we walk together hand in hand.

Verse

The Indians lived here long ago
Before the Pilgrims came
They planted corn and planted grain
Hunted buffalo and prayed for rain.

Chorus

Verse

But whether you're from Russia
Or Mozambique or Greece
The thing we have in common is
We want to live in peace.

Richard McNeice To Be Cemetery Dept. General Forman

Foreman Richard McNeice will be promoted to general foreman of the Cemetery Department in a department reorganization at the management level following the recent death of Cemetery Supt. J. Vincent Smyth.

Mayor Francis McCauley said that the position of cemetery superintendent will be eliminated, at a savings of $32,430 a year.

The position would have been eliminated upon

Smyth's retirement, according to McCauley who noted that the reorganization was recommended by Richard Koch, executive director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments.

The position of general foreman will be reestablished to assume the overall management and maintenance supervision at $28,107 a year.

McNeice will be given the provisional appointment pending examination. His salary of $27,157 is scheduled to be increased to $28,107 in November.

Henry Verileco, now a foreman at $25,004, as of July 1, will be assigned to the Pine Hill and Hall Cemeteries.

Ralph Brancaccio, now a working foreman, will be promoted to the foreman's position, provisionally pending an examination. His salary will be $24,056.

Brancaccio will be responsible for Mount Wollaston, Hancock, Snug Harbor and Fenno St. cemeteries and his salary will be $24,056.

It was also recommended that Mrs. Jeanne Flaherty be provisionally appointed to head clerk with the additional clerical responsibilities of the principal clerk.

That is subject to review by the upgrade committee.

The other promotions are scheduled to be implemented July 1.

IF YOU'RE A SENIOR CITIZEN, AND YOU'RE WILLING TO SPEND FIVE MINUTES
READING THIS,
WE'LL GIVE YOU TODAY'S CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

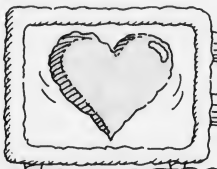

There's always something good on today's cable.

You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

BASIC. THE HEART OF THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $9.95 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

- Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues
- Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise
- The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science
- Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game
- Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood
- Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension
- C-Span with coverage from Congress
- News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local
- Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network
- Economics of one and two person households
- National Geographic Explorer Series every week
- Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Mary A. Maloney

"I'm pleased beyond words...I find your working crew polite, efficient and you keep your word!"

Phyllis Acebo

"It is really a pleasure to deal with honorable people. Thank you very much."

Joe and Esther Ross

We could tell you about cable for hours, but there's no substitute for first hand experience. That's why we're making this special offer to senior citizens only. We'll install cable and give you a month's Basic Cable service, all for free. You can sit back and see what Basic Cable's got for you, without spending a cent.

A GUARANTEE, NOT A GIMMICK.

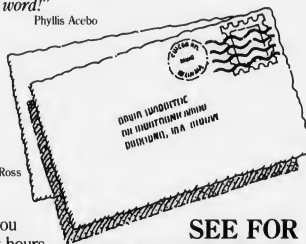

We don't want you to rush into anything. We're giving you a month's free service to help you make up your mind. If, at the end of it, you're not completely satisfied, we guarantee we'll remove your cable and that will be that. So, what have you got to lose?

If you'd like to give cable a try, please give us a call at 479-2936 or 471-9611 today. One month after installation, you'll see why some of our happiest subscribers are seniors. Because you'll be happy too.

'The Jackal's Lawsuit'

This play is about a leopard and a jackal who went out to hunt in the jungle.

Jackal caught a big cow and Leopard caught a measly goat. Leopard was jealous of Jackal's cow. Then Jackal's cow gave birth to a calf one night. Leopard took the calf and tethered it to his goat. In the morning they argued and argued. Who owned the calf?

The first judge who was a gazelle, was so scared that she voted for the leopard. This went on with two more judges. But then they got to the baboon. They thought he was dumb because he was playing music on a rock!

He was not so dumb. He knew that the calf belonged to the jackal. Leopard said "You can't play music on a rock." Then Baboon said "Well if my rock can't give music then your goat CAN NOT have a calf!"

Leopard was caught in his own lie so he ran off to Florida to paint himself black. He called himself a black panther. Not only did Jackal win the cow and the calf but she also won the goat!!

REBECCA BILLIKAS as Malice in "Bouki Dances The Kokioko".

'Bouki Dances The Kokioko'

This is a Haitian tale. There once was a king and prince who loved to dance. Unfortunately, they were very poor and could not pay people to dance for them.

One day while they were passing ideas on how to make money, one of the guards had an excellent thought. The king would make up a dance and the people of Haiti would come and try to guess the steps of the dance. If they guessed the dance correctly they would win five thousand gourds.

One night Malice, the king's gardener, returned to the palace to retrieve his hat. While he was there he saw the king dancing the Kokioko, which was the contest dance. He followed all the steps and ran home to his wife. Now Madame Malice was as excited as Malice was, but they could not dance, or the king and prince would suspect them. "Who would dance it?" they thought greedily. "BOUKI!" they both exclaimed.

The next day Malice went running to his friend Bouki's house. After quite a while he convinced Bouki that he would be a fine dancer. After many days of practice, Bouki was ready to join the long line of dancers. When he was through with his dance the king and prince stood in awe. Bouki had won the five thousand gourds. As they walked home through the forest Malice made Bouki do another dance in front of the breadfruit tree. While Bouki was dancing Madame Malice slipped out of the darkness and took Bouki's gourds.

The End

The moral of this story is not to be greedy, share and be happy with what you have. Don't trust a trickster!

Memories Of 'The Rainbow Tales'

...What will you remember most about our play fifteen years from now?

GRADE 2

Mary Ann Ashworth - how hard the teachers worked to teach us the plays.

Cassandra Beck - to treat others equally.

Rebecca Billikas - the character I played (Malice).

Joseph Cassetta - singing the Rainbow Song.

Anthony Chella - doing my part (the Prince).

Kerri Connolly - how we worked together.

Brad Currie - playing the rooster.

Nicholas DeRosa - being the calf.

Jessica Duffy - when I was onstage.

Jennifer Flaherty - working with the 5th graders.

Daniel Hughes - meeting new friends.

Michael Kenney - wearing the costumes.

Kate Kleimola - singing the Rainbow Song.

Johnny Lee - all the funny parts.

John Manning - how things can always be worse.

Christine Neamtu - the kids who were in the play.

Richard Perona - working with others.

Carolyn Rolfe - how much the people laughed at my narrations.

Tracy Rowerdink - when I was onstage.

Evan Spitzer - that the plays were fun.

William Sullivan - singing the song we had to learn.

Beth Wong - how the characters in Bouki danced.

GRADE 5

Steven Bartkus - aiming the spotlight on the people.

Scott Breska - bringing people on the stage to dance.

William Brown - meeting new friends.

Bianca Burke - how we worked together.

Bryan Carroll - Miss Black.

Michael DesRoache - the teachers.

Christine DiStasio - getting my new lace dress for the play.

Joanna Dyer - the night of the performance.

Nadine Fallon - that it was an equity play.

Maureen Flavin - the 2 classes getting together.

Jeneane Ford - how much fun it was on the opening night.

Rainbow Thoughts

Sharing things with others.

Helping people who needed help.

Acting for an audience.

Respecting others.

Incredible things happened.

Never fighting.

Grateful for what you have.

Michael Kenney, Gr. 5
William Stavros, Gr. 5

Peter Grippi - playing music on a rock.

William Gustafson - how much fun I had knocking down the poor unfortunate man.

Michael Lam - the fun times and the hard work we had.

Gail Leahy - being the wife.

Frank Macdonald - the foolish dance I had to do.

Christine Morris - when I put on the microphone.

Nicole Mullen - what a new experience it was acting on the stage.

Heather Powell - working with the 2nd graders.

Jennifer Reynolds - the cast party.

William Stavros - all the practices we had to take.

Brian Strout - Miss Black.

Friendship

When we did our play we all had to share and to take turns. It was really fun for all of us.

At first I didn't think the second graders would be able to do the same things as the fifth graders. But I sure was wrong. Anybody can do a play!

Jeneane Ford, Gr. 5
Christine Neamtu, Gr. 2

Fairness is being kind to others. Remembering the good times.

It is nice working with second and fifth graders.

Equal to each other at all times.

Never fighting, always understanding.

Don't judge people before you know them.

Love each other all the time.

You and me together forever.

Nicole Mullen, Gr. 5
Maryann Ashworth, Gr. 2

What Is Equity...

Equity is loving and caring for one another. Equity is treating everyone the same. No matter if they're red or black or yellow or brown. They get the same love as everyone else.

Getting treated the same is a part of living. Make a person feel wanted in life and you'll feel wanted.

Gail Leahy, Gr. 5
Beth Wong, Gr. 2

"Sharing"

Sharing is helping each other. It is having respect for each other, also. It's fun working with people and getting to know how nice others are. You should never spy or steal someone else's things. Be grateful for what you have.

We learned to be friends with everyone and not to judge a person by his or her looks. We met different people and had a nice time. It was a new experience.

Jessica Duffy, Gr. 2
Jennifer Reynolds, Gr. 6

W - Working together

E - Equity is for everyone.

A - All people are equal.

R - Run together and win the race.

Faces Quincy Friday

Morrisette Bows To Milton, Braintree

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, after defeating Wollaston in its opening game, lost to Milton Sunday night and Braintree Monday night.

Morrisette will face Quincy Friday night at 8 at Adams Field. Monday Morrisette will host Holbrook at 8 at Adams. Tuesday Wollaston will be home to Braintree at 8 at Adams and Morrisette will play at Carter Post at 6 and next Wednesday Wollaston and Braintree will meet at 8 at Adams preceded by Mass. Truck at Morrisette at 6.

Morrisette committed five errors and handed Milton four unearned runs Sunday. Larry Taglieri pitched all the way and did well but was the hard luck loser.

Milton took a 2-0 lead in the first on two infield errors, two singles and a sacrifice fly. Morrisette scored a run in the third when Taglieri reached on an error and Ron Fletcher, John Cristiani and Chris Ricciuti walked. Milton made it 3-1 in the fifth on three hits and an error but Morrisette came back with three in its half to take a 4-3 lead.

Fletcher singled, Cristiani and Ricciuti walked, Chris Marshall drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and Bob McDonald drove in two with a single.

Milton won it with two unearned runs in the sixth. A two-out error was followed by a single and a triple.

Monday night Braintree ace Ted Novio blanked Morrisette on five singles as Braintree won, 6-0.

Cristiani started for Morrisette and the loss evened his record at 1-1. He was relieved in the fifth by Dan Overby.

Morrisette's only threat came in the seventh on walks to Fletcher and Mike Joyce and Steve Minichiello's single. Minichiello had two hits and Dan Biagini, Ricciuti and John DeBariolo one each.

Quincy Legion lost to Mass. Truck of Weymouth, 4-0, although pitcher Andy Palmariello threw a four-hitter and struck out four in a baseball game played Monday night at Adams Field.

Winning pitcher, Lars Lambros, threw a one-hitter and also struck out four batters.

TWO NORTH QUINCY legends, Mary Pratt and LaRoy "Curly" Rogers, got together for a chat at the recent Special Needs Night at the North Quincy gym.

American League All-Stars Rally For 6-5 Win

The American League All-Stars scored three runs in the fifth inning to come from two runs down and edged the National League stars, 6-5, in the 35th annual Junior Farm League all-star game.

Playing outstanding games for the Americans were Tom Malvesti, Mike Koski, Keith Martinson and Mike Santoro of the Angels, Dyan Bell, Dave Cooper, Mark Connolly and Brian Bartkus of the Indians, Ron McGinn, Lee Hughes, Scott Kelly and Todd Thompson of the Red Sox and Paul King, Mike Kane, Tim Kunz and Shawn White of the Tigers. The team made many outstanding defensive plays.

Martinson was named the game's MVP as he drove in three runs and played well at third base. King was the runnerup MVP for his two solid innings of pitching.

Neil Mahoney, Steve Barrett, Jon Farrell, Tony Cedrone and Pat Donovan had key hits in a four-run National League burst in the third inning. Shawn Hoy, Matt Beston, Jon Farrell, Jeff Russell, Dan Donahue, Dan Farrell and A.J. Carthas shared the pitching and did well.

Barrett and Brad Gray sparked at first base and also playing strong defense were Steve MacDougall, Jim Goldrick, Brendon Ridge, Bill Coughlin, Jason Downey and Justin Tobin. Dan Farrell's triple and MacDougall's single gave the Nationals their first run in the first. Tom Meade and Dave Pacino also hit well.

Barrett was presented the game ball for his performance.

Braves Finish With Perfect 11-0 Record

The Braves finished with a perfect 11-0 record in the Junior Farm League with a 16-0 romp over the Tigers.

Dan Farrell and Jeffrey Russell combined for a two-hitter and Steve MacDougall had a big day at bat with a triple, double and single and five RBI. Jim Goldrick had a homer and single. Kevin Coleman a double and Gregg Santoro and Sean Perry a single each. Santoro also turned in an outstanding defensive play.

For the Tigers Paul King, Mike Kane and Shawn White sparked on defense.

Earlier the Braves topped the Angels, 5-1, with Farrell and Russell this time combining for a three-hitter.

Farrell had two doubles, Russell a double, MacDougall a triple and Steve Koch and Perry had key hits.

For the Angels Tom

Malvesti pitched well and had two hits and Mike Koski, who had the other hit, and Mike Santoro played well on defense.

The Braves now face the Cubs in a best of three playoff series at Paganet Field. The Cubs qualified for the playoffs by winning two of their last three games.

Boston Gear Wins 9 Out Of 10

Boston Gear, after losing its first three games, won nine of its last 10, including seven in a row, to move into a top tie in the Junior Baseball League's National League.

The most recent win was a 3-2 decision over VFW with Mike Patch the winning pitcher. Sean Donovan was the hard luck loser, allowing only three hits. Seven walks kept him in trouble.

Billy Skutul, Derek Happs and Timmy Byrne paced the Gear attack with key hits, while the defense was anchored by Danny Savage, who made a spectacular running, sliding catch in center field; Danny Duncan, who made two key plays at second base in the last inning, and Happs, who caught an excellent game. Also playing well defensively were Matt Riley, Patch, Eric Kruetz, David Skutul and George Wirtz. For VFW Scott Dunn had two singles and Eddie Costello, Mike Geddes and Mike O'Connell one each. Dunn and Christine Barrett sparked on defense.

Gear rolled over Burgin Plauter, 12-2, with Happs pitching an excellent game.

Gear had 11 hits, led by Patch's 3-for-3, a double and two singles. Savage had a double and single, Billy Skutul two singles and Riley, Happs, Wirtz and Kruetz a single each. David Skutul was outstanding at third base.

Patch was the winner in a 10-3 decision over Keohane's as Gear exploded for five runs on five hits in the first inning. Patch and Happs had three singles each, Byrne, Wirtz, Kruetz and David Skutul two apiece and Riley and Billy Skutul one each. The entire team played well on defense.

Gear continued its winning ways with an 8-4 win over Colonial Federal with Savage and Happs combining on a four-hitter. Happs was the winner. The offense was led by Riley, Savage and Billy Skutul with two hits each, while Patch and Peter Grippi had one apiece. Duncan, Happs, Byrne, Kruetz, Wirtz and David Skutul shone on defense.

Happs was again the winner in a 9-2 win over the Elks as he gave up only three hits while striking out seven.

Happs and Savage had three hits apiece. Patch had two and Riley and Kruetz one each. Billy Skutul, Wirtz, David Skutul, Grippi, Duncan and Byrne played strong defense.

Gear blasted Rotary, 14-1, with Patch the winner, pitching a one-hitter and striking out 11.

Patch, Grippi, Billy Skutul, Savage and Happs had two hits each and Duncan and Byrne also had key hits. The defense was led by Riley and Wirtz.

Patch, Happs and Savage shared the pitching chores in a 6-2 win over Houghs Neck, combining for a four-hitter and striking out eight.

Duncan had a double and single, Patch two singles and Savage, Billy Skutul and Kruetz one each. Happs, Byrne, Riley, Grippi, Wirtz and David Skutul anchored a strong defense.

Gear handed Foley Chrysler-Plymouth its first loss of the season, 5-3, as Happs and Patch held Foley to two hits.

Happs and Savage paced an 11-hit attack with three hits each, Byrne had two and Duncan, Patch and Billy Skutul one each. Riley, Grippi, Wirtz and David Skutul shone defensively.

Gear edged Quincy Cable, 4-3, with Happs, Savage and Patch sharing the pitching and Patch striking out seven of 10 batters.

Gear scored all its runs and had all of its four hits in the first inning with Riley, Patch, Happs and Savage having the hits. After that the defense took over, led by Kruetz, Billy and David Skutul, Grippi, Byrne and Duncan.

Foley improved to 11-1 with a 14-3 romp over Houghs Neck, pounding out 19 hits. Sergi Wassiliew had four hits, Jim Gately, John Gladu and Pat Clifford three apiece and Brandon Balducci and Scott Kohler two each.

Pat Clifford pitched a five-hitter and struck out six.

Foley also breezed past Rotary, 14-2, led by Balducci's five hits. Clifford and Joe Marnikovic had three each and Wassiliew two. Wassiliew struck out the first seven Rotary batters, finishing with 14 strikeouts while yielding only three hits.

• Babe Ruth

Granite City Defeats Police, Loses To Local 1139

Granite City Electric broke even in two games during the past week, making its Babe Ruth League record 8-4.

Granite City defeated the Police Club, 10-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Brian Howlett. Howlett, one of the league's top catchers, gained his second pitching win.

The Police Club, playing without its top player, Mike Ainsley, who is injured, jumped on Howlett for two runs in the first inning on singles by Brian Kelly and Bill Bellow. Howlett settled down and gave up only one run and four hits the rest of the way.

Granite City's 10-hit attack was led by Howlett with three, including a long double, and Tony Anderlione with two. Ken Caiwsky, Sean Thompson, Tim Brillo, Paul McDonnell and 13-year-old Dave Gamsby also had hits. With Howlett pitching, Angelo Kyranis caught a fine game. For the police Jim Ward, Jeff Calvert and Mike Iacabacci had hits.

Granite City lost to Local 1139, 6-3, as it committed six errors.

Local scored four runs in the first inning on a single by Jim DeCarli, two walks and two errors.

Erik DeBoer pitched well for Granite City, allowing only four hits and no earned runs. He tried to win his own game but his vicious line drive with the bases loaded and one out in the third was caught and turned into a double play by first baseman Mike Kiley. In the fifth with runners on second and third, DeBoer's hard ground ball headed for right field was grabbed by second baseman Ray Grant for the final out.

Howlett had a double and single and Thompson had two hits. Caiwsky played well in right field and had a line single and Brillo had a hit. Thirteen-year-old Gary Rawdon pitched a fine game for Local 1139, giving up only five hits before retiring in the sixth. Brandon Farrell relieved and shut down Granite City in the last two innings, striking out four and giving up one hit.

For Local 1139 Mike Kiley and Grant played well defensively. Jim DiCarli had two hits, Farrell had a single and Steve Kohler scored two runs. Mike Toland did a fine job catching.

Bellow pitched two-hit ball and Mike Cronin had a clutch hit driving in two runs as the Police Club defeated Houghs Neck Legion, 3-1.

It was Bellow's first win since becoming eligible to pitch after a fine season for Abp. Williams High School.

The game was scoreless for three innings and in the top of the fourth the defending city champions scored all their runs. Jeff Calvert walked and John Ward hit a towering double. Calvert was thrown out at the plate but, 13-year-old Ralph Bevilacqua singled and stole second. Cronin then laced a clutch single for two runs and he scored an insurance run on Iacabacci's single.

Bellow was replaced after five innings because he had pitched in relief earlier in the week. He had eight strikeouts. Calvert earned the save as he struck out four in two innings.

HN threatened briefly in the seventh when Jay Lespasio and Bob Austin walked and Eric Abboud drove in the lone run. Abboud, Dan Steele and Mike Connor had hits for HN. Austin was the losing pitcher.

The Police ran into mid-season difficulty with surprising losses to Morrisette, Golden Manet Press and Local 1139 but still are barely out of first place with a 7-5 record and are still strong contenders to repeat as National League and city champions.

Many of the losses came when it had to operate without Sean Cafferty, Iacabacci and Ainsley. The team is now healthy again and has found two new pitchers in Bellow and Thayer Academy southpaw Tom Roberts. Youngsters Jason Vaga, Peter Whyte, Jattie Ryan and Brian Kelly have been outstanding.

Bryan Post defeated the Sons of Italy, 5-3, as Rob Cinquegrano had 10 strikeouts and Sean Murphy, Mark Dwyer and Sean Mulkern had two hits each.

Catcher Chris Standing played well and Pat McDonough, Chris Kyller, Brian O'Malley, Steven Waas, Aaron Silverman, Chris Stenmon, Kevin Mulla and Donald Anderson all contributed to the win.

Bryan Post also staged a dramatic rally to tie Granite City Electric, 5-5, in a game halted by the curfew.

Bryan's Murphy struck out nine and Standing led the attack with a triple, double and single. Dwyer had two hits and Murphy, Cinquegrano, Kyller, Mulkern, McDonough, O'Malley and Silverman had one each. Dwyer had a fine game at third base and the game ended with a spectacular catch by Silverman in left field.

$1,000 Burke Donation

Stadium Lighting Fund Passes $10,000 Mark

Atty. George G. Burke presented the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee with a check for $1000 on behalf of the Hanrahan Trust, of which he is a trustee to help put the fund raising campaign over the $10,000 mark.

"The trust was established several years ago to assist various endeavors in the City of Quincy," said Burke, a former basketball star. "I am happy to present this check. Permanent lighting at the stadium will benefit the city and the youth of Quincy, especially the high school football teams. I hope others will give to this worthwhile drive which will be beneficial to the youth of the city in years to come."

Burke, who has worked hard for the youth of the city, was captain of the Quincy High basketball team in 1950 and went on to excel at Thayer Academy and the University of Massachusetts. He later played for the Koch Club and other Quincy teams and was one of the last players to be cut by the Celtics. He led every team he played for in scoring.

Burke's check and other contributions increased the money raised toward purchasing the permanent lights to $10,120.

The committee needs $100,000 to achieve its goal and needs $25,000 of this sum by June 22.

R.F. Ronayne contributed $200 and Colonial Federal Savings Bank, William C. Raymer, Union Warren Savings Bank, Charles Santoro, Dan McPhee, Woodward Spring Shop, Bryant L. Carter, Yellow Cab of Quincy and Flemming-Langlois Attorneys $100 each.

Other contributors were Nostalgia Inc., Christopher F. Kennedy, Allen F. McDonald, Atlas Liquors, Chutney's, Scott Williams Inc., Atty. Louis A. Cassis, Joe Malvesti, Warren E. Watson and Copeland Package Store.

Earlier contributions included $1000 from Granite Cooperative Bank and Darbes Brothers Contractors, $250 from Boston Gear Works, $200 from Fore River Motors, SCI Contractors, Quincy Youth Football League, Quincy Point Panthers and North Quincy Apaches of the Youth Football League, Quincy Football Parents Club and National Fire Protection Co.

Quincy Oil Co. gave $150, Palmer Cigar $125 and Pete Zoia, Tim Cahill of Handshakes Cafe, Miller

Studio, South Shore Buick, Sabina's Beauty Salon, Patriot Ledger, Dot's Smoke Shop, McCauley for Mayor, Development Concepts, Hancock Exxon Service Station, Frank Anselmo, Dan DiBona of Home Improvements of Quincy, Dee Dee's Lounge, City Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, Dan Montani Vending Co., James Bersani, Beacon Sporting Goods, Sportlight Cafe, James Moody, Bob Meenan, Photo Quick of Quincy, Scotty Whitelaw, Karen and Paul Moody, Margaret and Paul McCormack, Marge and Jerry Perfetuo and the Raymer family $100 each.

Others contributing to the fund are BFI, Disposal, Quincy City Hospital, Darcy Village Pub, South Quincy Bocce Club, Kenneth Balducci, Barry's Deli, David Parry, Quincy Cooperative Bank, Meredith and Grew Management, Shaw's Supermarkets, George Lyons, Frank Evans Co., Samuel Volpe, Bernie's General Store, United Corrugated Box Co., Universal Fixtures Co., Friends of the Youth, Roxie's Market, Lillian and Robert Carella, Albert and Cheryl Smith, Al Clive Woodbine Garage and Joe the Barber.

Competitive Swim Camps To Be Held June 23-26

Recreation director Barry J. Welch announces that the competitive swim camp, sponsored as one of the nine self-supporting sport camps and instructional workshops by the Quincy Recreation Department, will be held June 23 to June 26 at the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Pool.

The competitive swimming program, directed by William Walker, head coach of swimming at North Quincy High, will focus on refinement of competitive skills and exposure to a number of different types of training.

Open to both boys and girls ages ten - high school, this is not a learning-to-swim program and all applicants must be able to swim and acclimate themselves to the rigors of training. All participants must have an intermediate level swimming ability. Persons under age 10 may be eligible if they pass a qualifying test administered by the camp director.

The camp will be held at the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Pool from 8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. and the cost of the four-day camp is $14. Some of the areas that will be covered are as follows: strokes, starts and turns, videotaping, and analysis of the swimming of world class swimmers.

Registration for this can be made at the Quincy Recreation Office, 100

Southern Artery, Monday - Friday from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. beginning June 16. For additional information, call 773-1380, ext. 204.

Baseball Camp, Drama Workshop Offered By City

The Quincy Recreation Department has added two new offerings to its popular summer sports camps and instructional workshop program.

The new additions this year are a baseball development camp and a drama workshop. The baseball development camp is a camp for boys and girls, 12-15 years in age, which will be co-directed by David Perdios, assistant baseball coach at North Quincy High School and for the Morrisette Legion, and Mike Marshall, all New-England pitcher at Suffolk University.

The second camp is a drama workshop open to boys and girls ages 7-12. The workshop is designed for participants who are interested in acting, and will be directed by Mary Travers, a Theatre Arts/Film major at the University of Massachusetts at Boston.

According to Recreation's Director Barry J. Welch, "These camps have been designed to give Quincy residents a low cost alternative for youngsters who desire specialized instruction in sports, without the high cost of residential sports camps. The week-long programs are under the direction of qualified coaches and staff from the area, and will feature individual instruction and an approximate ratio of one to ten. The programs are offered on a self-supporting basis, and in previous years have provided many memorable recreation experiences without additional tax support."

Registration for all programs will begin on Monday,

June 16th, at 8:30 a.m. and continue weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. at the Recreation Department Office at 100 Southern Artery. Enrollment is limited and is taken on a first come first served basis.

To Help Needy Youngsters YMCA Fit-A-Thon Raises Over $9,000

The South Shore Y.M.C.A. recently conducted its Annual Fundraising Fit-A-Thon Event.

Purpose of the event is to raise funds to help sponsor needy youngsters to YMCA Summer Day Camp programs, year-round memberships to the YMCA, support on-going youth programs and YMCAs in other countries through YMCA World Service.

This year's goal was $5000, and over $9000 in pledges were received.

YMCA professional staff, YMCA board members, part-time staff, teachers from the Quincy Public Schools and YMCA members participated.

Special interest groups included Day Care staff and youth, Leaders Club, Latch Key youth, Aerobic Dancing Program and Nautilus Program.

WJDA Staff participated and raised $1700 in pledges toward the YMCA's effort.

Prizes will be awarded to the top three contributors. Adult prizes include: Adult Male or Female Y Membership, first; Dinner for two, second; Running Suit, third.

Youth Prizes will include: first-youth male or female Y membership; second-AM FM cassette radio walkman, third-pair of Red Sox tickets.

The YMCA expresses its appreciation for those who helped make this year's Fit-A-Thon event a success.

DAY CARE children run for the Fit-A-Thon. Sean and Scott Humphreys run with their mother, Diane.

Mets, 13-6, as Susan Sheehan hit a three-run triple in the sixth inning. Also contributing to the win were Dan Donahue with three hits, Brendan Ridge and A.J. Carthas with two apiece and Gerard Baccalao, Bill Coughlin and Mike O'Brien one each.

Donahue, Carthas and Ridge combined to pitch a one-hitter in an 11-0 romp over the Dodgers. They struck out 16.

Donahue and Baccalao had three hits each, Ridge had a double and Matt Miller, Sean Mahoney, Bill Manning and Coughlin all had singles.

The Cubs lost to the Tigers, 8-4, with Ridge having two hits and Sheehan, Donahue, Carthas, Baccalao, Coughlin and Bill Dunn one each.

In regular season games the Red Sox topped the Pirates, tied the Dodgers and lost to the Tigers, Angels and Indians.

The Tigers edged the Sox, 5-4, as Paul King struck out 14 Sox but also walked 12 while giving up just two hits. Scott Kelly of the Sox pitched a five-hitter, struck out four and walked eight.

In the third King walked

Ronnie McGann, Kenny Ledwak and Todd Thompson. Kelley drove in two runs with a single. McGann's sixth inning hit drove in a run but the rally fell short. David Kennally and Bryan Johnson played fine defense for the Sox.

Sox bats were silent against the Angels and Indians as they lost to the Angels, 4-0, and to the Indians, 5-0.

Against the Pirates the Sox bats came alive as they won easily, 16-5. In the first Joe McCarthy drove in three runs and in the second McGann tripled and Kennally, Thompson, Ledwak and Kelley singled.

Johnson and Kennally singled in the fourth and Danny Hughes and Jamie Murphy singled in the fifth. Shawn Hughes, Kingsbury, Danny Reynolds, Jenna Nolan and Danny Stone looked good defensively.

year with the Sox scoring twice in the last inning to pull out a wild 13-13 tie.

In the first inning the Sox scored seven runs on hits by McGann, Lee Hughes, Kingsbury and Murphy and walks to Reynolds, Danny Hughes and Stone.

Murphy singled in the third and Johnson drove in two runs. The Dodgers led, 13-11, in the last inning when McGann's clutch hit with the bases loaded drove in the tying runs.

Stanton Wins In National Tourney

Milton's Roger Stanton, a Navy midshipman and a former member of the South Shore YMCA, recently won the national boxing tournament in the 139-pound class at Colorado Springs, Co.

Stanton had won the Best

Boxer award at the Eastern NCAAs, qualifying him for the nationals. He also won decisions at the Downtown A.C. in New York City and at the Virginia Military Institute. He plans to become a Navy aviator.

Karl-Erik Johnson Joins Europe Concert Tour

"An opportunity of a lifetime," is how Karl-Erik Johnson, 17, of Quincy describes his selection to sing with The Youth of America Chorus in an eight-nation European concert tour next month.

Karl-Erik, who sings tenor in Mrs. Katherine Carnebuci's Quincy High School concert choir, was selected to join that illustrious group because of his outstanding musical achievements at school and recently being chosen for a district chorus.

"I really couldn't believe my invitation; I feel this is a once in a lifetime opportunity to perform in Europe and, at the same time, represent America and Quincy there," said Karl-Erik.

He will join other outstanding high school musicians from around the country who comprise this highly selective musical organization for special concert performances before audiences in England, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, West Germany and Holland. Johnson said he and other members of the group will not only achieve a unique cultural, musical and educational experience during the tour, but will work hard as young 'ambassadors' to foster better human relations with America's allies.

His trip is being sponsored in part by the Quincy Savings Bank and Quincy Sons of Italy, who recognize the value of this type of good will through music. He is working as a newspaper carrier to earn the remainder of monies for the fare.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Johnson of Garfield St. Quincy.

Firemen's Muster June 29 To Benefit MDA

The third Firemen's Muster, with all proceeds to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, will be held Sunday, June 29.

Rain date is July 7. Lt. Michael Butts of the Quincy Fire Fighters Association said the event will start off with a parade of fire fighting equipment at 11:30 a.m. from Shaw's Market on Quincy Ave. and proceed to the grounds of the Elks Home, 440 East Squantum St.

A dunk tank will be a feature at the muster and refreshments will be available.

Point Congregational Singles Group To Take Part In Whale Watch

The Quincy Point Congregational Church Young Adult Singles Group has scheduled a number of activities for summer and fall.

This Saturday, June 21, members will board the Boston Aquarium whale watch boat. Other events planned are an outing to Great Woods, a day at Duxbury Beach or a pot luck cookout, a trip to Newport, R.I., brunches and theatre trips.

The group was formed recently after a few single members of that church cited a need for a group to serve the South Shore singles population, especially those ranging from college age to 45, of all faiths, to join in fellowship and group activities.

Colleen Cooper Miss American Pre-Teen Finalist

Colleen Cooper of Quincy is a state finalist in the Miss American Pre-Teen pageant to be held next month.

She joined other finalists at a recent 'get acquainted' party at the Sheraton Boxborough Hotel, Boxborough, where they participated in a fashion show in outfits of their own choosing. Pageant video tapes were also shown and questions about pageant weekend, July 5-6, were answered for contestants, parents and friends who attended the party.

Miss American Pre-Teen Pageant is held in most states for girls between the ages of 8-12 who are outstanding in their commitments to school, community and/or churches.

A state winner will be selected by a panel who will judge them on poise, appearance in interviews and on stage. The girl selected will best represent the state at the national pageant in November, at Tampa, Fla.

This year's pageant theme is "Youth, Pride of the Present, Hope of the Future."

The pageant is held to promote and recognize young girls and encourage them to be proud of their accomplishments now and set high goals for the future.

Colleen is the Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper.

Flea Market At Squantum Church Saturday

The 17th annual Squantum Flea Market, sponsored by the First Church of Squantum, will be held Saturday, June 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the area of the First Church of Squantum.

A section of Bellevue Rd. from Huckins Ave. to Sycamore Rd. will be closed to traffic to create an enclave for shoppers and varied exhibits.

There will be antiques, crafts, books, plants, jewelry, furniture, tools and more for sale.

A large restaurant area with varied offerings, including home-baked foods, slush, and cotton candy will be available.

Anyone requesting space reservations should call Hazel Mayne at 328-4367.

In case of rain, the flea market will be held June 28.

WEEK OF: JUNE 19

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Communications lines may be temporarily broken, but you manage to get your message through by Wednesday. Weekend favors introductions to important contacts. Domestic expenses may decrease.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
In romance, the key is to learn from recent mistakes. You may have to speak up about a relative's meddling. Academic interests bring unusual satisfaction by Wednesday.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Professional advancement is highlighted. Writing reports is what you do well now. Oral communication may be less successful. If there's a feud, solve it through a note.

Taurus — April 21-May 22
Week finds you arranging and organizing books, records, reports and parties. Look for new ways to cut costs. Romance accents its sentimental side on the weekend.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Thursday/Sunday favor trips with a favorite companion, perhaps to unusual destinations. Monday and Tuesday focus on budgeting and other financial activities. Recreational contests are positively spotlighted.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
You indulge in more than your share of life's little comforts... don't feel guilty. Projects wrap up more quickly than expected. Career assignment may lead to new friendship.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Partner may tend to overreact to your plans and suggestions. You may be asked to make a large share of charitable donations. In all areas, selectivity is essential.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Surprise invitations arrive in a week in which unpredictability is the theme. Business dealings require careful consideration. Renewed friendship is highlighted from the weekend on.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Joint ventures require advance planning, especially if funds are involved. Educational pursuits are highlighted after the weekend. Social life slows down, giving you a brief respite.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Week may see you signing up for special interest programs. A more imaginative approach can help you in dealings with highups. Taurus may step into the friendship picture.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Coworkers or neighbors may be moody, but it's important that you maintain an upbeat approach. A friend from faraway may contact you. Romantic travel may be in store.

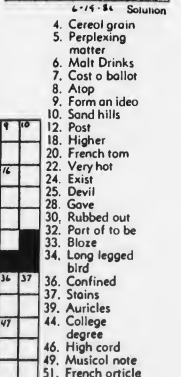

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
A new physical outlet can help you cope with a stressful situation. Career matter remains up in the air. In romance you understand just where the relationship is directed.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Caring for others is your great strength, but sometimes you spend too little time looking after your own interests. Making a greater commitment to your personal needs can lead to professional advances by autumn. It can also improve your standing in the eyes of your admirers.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 19th, actor Malcolm McDowell; 20th, pianist, André Watts; 21st, actress Jane Russell; 22nd, actress Lindsay Wagner; 23rd, choreographer Bob Fosse; 24th, actor Al Molinaro; 25th, singer Carly Simon.

two-level mall at the site of the former Sears store.

A five-alarm blaze of suspicious origin last month caused an estimated $4 million damage to the former Kincaide Building which has since been demolished.

Since the blaze, a meeting has been held between some Quincy Sq. merchants, Lydon, Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, and Principal Planner Kevin Shea.

"It was a very preliminary meeting," said Foley. "The merchants were concerned about what might happen."

"There is about an acre of land, and it offers quite a few possibilities," said Foley.

The possibility of the city using a portion of the more than $2 million it received after the sale of 200 Newport Ave. could be used to revitalize the area.

discussed.

"The money has to be used for community development purposes, and that's a possibility," said Foley.

The money is repayment of a $1-million UDAG grant which was awarded in 1984 and was to have been paid back over 15 years. It also includes such things as interest and a share of the profits which were part of the agreement.

Plans For Police Station Presented

Southern Artery and Sea St. as possible, he said, and for the continuance of the architectural tradition of the city, including the use of granite.

"We feel the concept is workable, but nothing is cast in stone," Kretsch said.

The construction will be in two phases, each expected to take about a year, and the plans are expected to go out to bid at the end of the year, he said.

At the request of Councillor Theodore Cristoforo, Police Chief Francis Finn talked to the council about the plans.

"We are working closely with the architect, and are satisfied with the basic design of the building," said Finn.

He said he wants all of the departments to sit down with the architect to discuss their needs and make sure the traffic flow within the building is good.

"We're also concerned that the cell block comply with the new state regulations," said Finn.

"We want to try to determine what our needs will be in the years to come."

Finn said that he did not intend to go forward with plans for a gymnasium because of the cost to maintain it, but was working with Mayor Francis McCauley on a plan to use the nearby South Shore YMCA

Councillors Thomas Nutley and Patricia Toland said they were concerned about the appearance of a blank wall facing Southern Artery.

"We can try to do something with mosaic or graphics, but we don't want people to enter there," explained Kretsch.

"That's something we can work on in the next several weeks," he said.

"We all realize that it is a difficult site on which to build," said Councillor Toland, "but I'm not wild about the presentation."

"People of the city will be looking at the building because it is on a major corner."

"We want something that is aesthetically pleasing, as well as functional and utilitarian."

She also suggested that a cleaning company could be employed to clean a gymnasium, and Finn said he was willing to discuss it.

Councillor Michael Cheney, committee chairman, said he was concerned about the loss of some greenery at what is now the front of the building.

"We have to use every inch of available space," said Kretsch. "It's the only way we can do it."

Cheney also said he was concerned about acceleration and de-acceleration traffic lanes for the station, and would like to see dollar estimates regarding a gymnasium.

"We've come an awful long way, but we still have a long way to go," Cheney said.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT O Holy Spirit. You who enlightens me, who illuminates all things so I may attain my goal. You who gives me the divine gift of forgiving and forgetting the evil done to me and who is ever with me at all moments of my life. I wish during this short dialogue with You to thank You for everything and to confirm again my wish to never be separated from you, even and in spite of all material distractions. I desire to be with you in eternal glory. Thank You for Your mercy towards me and all who are dear to me. Must be said three days in succession, after the three days, favor or grace will be attained, even if it appears to be of difficult nature. Then published with instructions as soon as possible, with your initials.

8-Story Complex At Kincaide's

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

An eight-story building with two levels of underground parking, one floor of retail space and 90 to 100 rental units is being planned by the owners of the former Kincaide Building in Quincy Sq.

It could be under construction in early fall.

"This should provide a much needed shot in the arm for the area," said Mayor Francis McCauley who arranged a meeting Tuesday with one of the owners, Barry Goldman, at City Hall where the plans were disclosed.

Also attending the meeting were Mike Kenealy of Key Realty, architect Joseph Donahue and Quincy Planning Director James Lydon.

McCauley said that he asked for the meeting because there has been some concern about the site which has been vacant since a five-alarm blaze of suspicious origin last month.

"The building is down, the area has been fenced in, and the City Council has talked about taking the property by urban renewal," said McCauley.

"It's private property and we wanted to encourage the owner to develop it," McCauley said.

Goldman said that he was concerned about the recent talk of taking the site, according to McCauley, and told those at the meeting that he wanted to work with the city to produce a building on the site which would be good for the owners and in the best interest of the city.

No dollar amounts were discussed, and some preliminary sight plans were shown at the meeting, McCauley said.

Action On Zoning Veto Expected Monday

There is a good chance that Mayor Francis McCauley's veto of a council order regarding density in Planned Unit development areas will be acted on during a special City Council meeting Monday night.

"I suspect that the veto will be taken off the table," said Council President Stephen McGrath. The veto was sent to the council's last meeting but had to lay on the table for seven days before it could be acted upon.

"But I wouldn't want to make a prediction on the vote," said McGrath, who was among the seven councillors who voted in favor of increasing the square feet per dwelling unit in PUD areas from 250 to 1000.

Two councillors, James Sheets and Richard Koch, Jr., voted against the order which was originally suggested by the mayor.

McCauley later decided to veto the order as inadequate after listening to neighborhood groups.

If the veto is upheld, he said he will resubmit a planning board recommendation of 1750 square feet to the council.

Several councillors, including opponents and proponents, have said he will have an uphill battle to have his veto sustained since he will have to change the minds of two councillors to do so.

McCauley said he has sent information packets to the councillors about the matter, but doesn't intend to contact them.

He also declined to predict the outcome of the vote.

"I don't know if anyone has had a change of heart," McCauley said.

He also said he hasn't decided if he will resubmit the 1750 change even if his veto is overridden.

Police Warn Of Flim-Flam Racket

Quincy Police are alerting local residents, especially the elderly, to beware of flim flam artists who come to their door offering services.

"Residents should be sure the people are reputable before they deal with them," said Lt. Walter Lynch of the Detective Bureau.

"They shouldn't deal with anyone who comes in off the street," said Lynch, who has received several reports of residents being flim-flamed by people offering to seal driveways.

An 86-year old Wollaston man lost $400 cash and a $1500 check recently when he agreed to have two people, a man and a woman, work on his driveway, according to Lynch.

"If someone comes in off the street offering services, say 'no,'" Lynch said.

Final Police Study Due In September

A study of the Quincy Police Department should be completed some time after Labor Day, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

"We expect a final report in mid-September," said McCauley.

The City Council appropriated $19,500 in March for the study which is being conducted under the direction of the Massachusetts Municipal Association.

The study was suggested by Richard Koch, Jr., who said he was looking forward to positive results.

Residents Urged To Pay City Taxes, Bills

Mayor Francis McCauley urges residents who owe outstanding city bills and taxes to pay them on or before Monday, June 30, the day that fiscal year 1986 ends.

The taxes include real estate, personal property, automobile and boat excise taxes, and water bills.

"All monies received by this day will be credited to fiscal year 1986 and will help ensure that the city will finish the year in the black," McCauley said.

New 2-Year Contract Ratified At Pneumatic Scale

Pneumatic Scale Corporation employees, represented by the mechanical and allied production workers union, Local 444 R.W.D.S.U. AFL-CIO, have ratified a new two year company-union agreement retroactive to June 19. The new contract will provide a six per cent wage increase over the next two years.

There were also changes in the medical insurance plans at the North Quincy Plant. The new contract also gives the employees improved sick leave, vacation, and pension benefits.

Representing the union were Norman Nelson, Vice President New England Joint Board; Steven McDonald, President. Local 444; and Robert Bowie, Chief Steward. Other Union Negotiating Committee members were Charles Colby, James Harrington, Terry Manley, Neil McPartlin, Lawrence Boisvert, and James Hyland.

The contract becomes effective immediately. Pneumatic Scale Corporation is one of America's largest manufacturers of bottling and packaging machinery.

• Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Frank Y. Cassella, 1640 Washington St., East Bridgewater, for a Motor II license at the C & H Cling, Inc., 9-11 Franklin St.

• Granted a request from Marc G. Merlis of Michaels Deli and Pastry Shop, Bates Ave., West Quincy, for a common victualer take out only license. The license was granted subject to the approval of the city's building fire, and health departments.

• Placed on file recent complaints by abutters relative to Karl's Auto Body & Repair, 65 Holbrook Rd., Wollaston. They told the Board at a June 24 hearing the shop was open on Sunday and loud noises were coming from the property after 9 p.m. The Board agreed that conditions there had been corrected but will reopen a hearing if it happens again.

• Approved a common victualer license for a take-out-only from Deli-21, at 1272 Sea St., Houghs Neck. The proposed business will be operated by Jamie Gravalas at the site of the former Finlay's variety store. Gravalas told the Board the customer area will be limited which will discourage anyone congregating and causing a nuisance in the neighborhood. Michael Cheney, councillor for Ward I, which includes Houghs Neck did not object to the granting of the license.

• Granted a transfer of a common victualer license for take-out-only from Ocean's Fish Market & Food Supply, 210 Washington St., to Fresh Seafood & Fried Fish, Chak Wing Chow told the Board the business will feature seafood.

• Placed on file for the summer abutters complaint about conditions at Lansing Realty Trust, Inc. doing business as Channel Home Centers, Inc. 550 Adams St., West Quincy.

According to Victor Mutty of Furnace Brook Parkway, youths constantly congregated on the premises and conditions outside the building need to be cleaned up.

Store manager Edward Joseph said he was in the process of handling the latter but told th Board his efforts to rid the property of loitering youths has not been successful. Police Chief and Board member Francis X. Finn told Joseph his department will help him in bringing about a solution to that complaint.

McCauley To Continue Talks With Flynn On Moon Island Taking

Mayor Francis McCauley said he would like to get together with Boston's Mayor Raymond Flynn to continue a discussion begun at the recent Mayor's Conference in Puerto Rico on Quincy's taking of Moon Island by eminent domain.

McCauley said he briefly had a chance to talk with Flynn when both were members of the Community Development, Housing and Economic Development Committee at the conference.

He said he told Flynn that the city does not intend to interfere with the current uses of the island which had been owned by Boston before Quincy took it in May. Quincy has awarded Boston $10,000 for it.

The uses include a police firing range and fire fighting academy, he said.

McCauley said Quincy is planning a passive park and recreation area.

"Mayor Flynn made no commitment one way or the other," said McCauley. "He said he would look into the matter."

Quincy took Moon Island by eminent domain in an attempt to block it from being considered for the site of the Suffolk County House of Correction. Southhampton St. in Boston was eventually selected.

KENNETH F. JOHNSON, JR., was recently sworn in as Quincy's new building inspector, succeeding Allan MacDonald. City Clerk John Gillis, administrators oath as Mayor Francis McCauley looks on.

Health Commissioner Possible By July

The city hopes to be able to select a new health commissioner by mid to late July, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

Applicants have been asked to submit resumes by the end of this week, according to McCauley.

Personnel director David Smith will review the resumes. Then, with the mayor's administrative assistant, Arthur Foley, will conduct interviews, said McCauley.

Smith will then bring a recommendation to the mayor.

"The position is long overdue to be filled," said

McCauley, who noted that it has been vacant since the death of Dr. M. Grace Hussey in January, 1985.

Richard Stuart filled in as acting health coordinator until he suffered a heart attack, and the administrative part of the job was taken over by Smith.

The five-member City License Board has been short a member since Dr. Hussey's death.

McCauley said that nine resumes have been received so far.

Some of them, he said, are from people who applied last year for the position and continue to be interested.

After he had difficulty finding a medical doctor to take the job for the salary of slightly over $40,000 the city was offering, McCauley introduced a home rule petition dropping the requirement of an MD degree.

The petition was recently signed by the governor. McCauley said there is no requirement that the new health commissioner be a Quincy resident.

"We want someone who is well qualified for the position," said McCauley.

"If the person is a Quincy resident, so much the better."

Conditions At Quincy Point Property Improve

By DAN CONNELLY

The city's License Board once again continued the hearing of a Quincy Point commercial property owner when it was disclosed there is progress with a board order to shape up his property.

Issue at last week's hearing was against Peter Ricciardi over his delay in removing mounds of dirt piled against a fence outside South Shore Fitness & Health, 500

Washington St. Abutters contend this constituted a nuisance because prevailing winds blow dust into their homes.

They told the board this week that this work is being done but there still exists on the property an abandoned truck, and other general cleanup work is needed.

Again joining abutters to support their complaints was Ward Two Councilor Ted DeCristofaro. He said it is not true that there is animosity against Ricciardi, and if he, Ricciardi, would cooperate and talk with his neighbors, this problem would be quickly resolved.

The board, realizing that Ricciardi is complying with their order, gave him three more weeks to shape up the property, or face a special meeting of the Board which is now in recess for the summer.

Friday Deadline For Quincy Bay Pageant

Friday is the deadline for entries in the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant to be held Friday, July 18, at 9:05 p.m. at Quincy Center Plaza in Quincy Sq.

"We encourage anyone who meets the requirements to enter," said pageant chairman Beth Ann Streng of the Hurley Insurance Agency.

"It really can do a lot for your self confidence and it's a fun time," said Miss Streng who was crowned Miss Quincy Bay in 1981.

The winner of the pageant will receive the largest share of more than $1,000 in prizes and the honor of reigning over Quincy Bay Week Aug.

6 to 10.

The pageant is the highlight of the three-day Sidewalk Bazaar which opens Thursday, July 17.

Open to South Shore single women ages 16 years and older, it is co-sponsored by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association and the Quincy Bay Race Week Association.

Contestants will be judged in evening gown and swimsuit competition and for overall poise.

Entry forms are available at the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, 1416 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., at member stores and businesses and at South Shore yacht clubs.

Social Workers Cannot Disclose Case Information

All social workers are prohibited from disclosing information given to them in their professional capacity except in certain limited circumstances, State Senator Paul D. Harold notes.

Under new legislation now in effect, the former ban on disclosure has been specifically extended to include social workers employed by any state, county or municipal agency. The law formerly referred to those in private practice but did not specifically mention public social workers.

Harold said social workers are prohibited from disclosing information except:

- When they have the written consent of the client.
- When the information involves plans to commit a crime.

- When the client waives the privilege by bringing charges against the social worker.

- When the social worker is testifying at a foster care hearing on the death, absence, unavailability or unfitness of a parent, or at an adoption hearing where one of the parents refuses to consent to the adoption.

- In a child custody case when the judge determines that the social worker's testimony is important to deciding custody.

Harold said the new law also adds a new paragraph allowing disclosure when the social worker gained the information while investigating a child abuse case.

Gillis Not Interested

If you're keeping track of potential mayoral candidates scratch the name of City Clerk John Gillis.

He's been approached to run next year. Which really is nothing new. He's been approached to run ever since Arthur Tobin retired as mayor in 1981.

The big difference this time is that unlike in the past, he isn't going to think it over.

"I don't need that headache," he says. "Not at this stage in my life."

Gillis would have no problem raising money and other support if he wanted to run. And, he would make a strong candidate.

He has a good name, he has been around a long time, he has the common touch and he wears well.

There are those who will still try to talk him into running but it doesn't look like anyone is going to succeed.

Right now he's content to remain city clerk. He doesn't need -- and doesn't want -- a political ego trip.

THIS YEAR'S STATE elections from a local standpoint add up to a big yawn as noted here a few weeks ago. There are no local contests for state senate, state representative, Norfolk County sheriff, treasurer, etc. etc.

DURKIN

And, this was quite evident at last week's 35th annual Koch Club Flag Day parade. The only political figure marching was School Committeeman Stephen Durkin.

"I received an invitation so I participated," he says.

Wonder how many others were invited but couldn't make it?

INCIDENTALLY, Durkin is trying to figure out how he recently received a Republican National Committee membership card. He's a Democrat.

AND, speaking of the Koch Club Flag Day parade, a recent news story reported that Flag Day is hardly recognized anywhere in the country anymore. But, of course, not so in Quincy.

For three and a half decades thousands of youngsters have marched in the parade carrying flags joined by bands and others. Enough probably to clasp hands and stretch to Washington, D.C.

Richard Koch, Sr., founder of the Koch Club, deserves a lot of credit for all his effort as do many Koch Club members down through the years for making Flag Day still something special.

By the way Flag Day is a legal holiday in Pennsylvania.

GILLIS

If he decides that it is too much of a hassle before the year is up, and resigns, there will be a special election to fill his at-large seat.

If he hangs in there until January, and steps down, his successor will be elected by the remaining eight councillors.

So far though, Koch is doing pretty well.

For example, there were several committee meetings prior to last week's final regular council meeting before the summer break. A number of the councillors were late for the committee meetings causing delays in the start of the Public Works and Public Safety Committee meetings.

But, among those who were there on time was Koch.

A special council meeting is scheduled for Monday, June 30, and there may be other special sessions during the summer.

And Koch will be watched for any sign he may be ready to stay on the Cape.

Crisis Reported In Funding Children's Mental Health Services

Eight children in Quincy, Milton and Randolph will be denied crucial services if state mental health supplemental money is not approved by the legislature says the South Shore Council for Children.

Katrina Selawsky, a member of the Needs Assessment Committee of the council said: "This is a crisis situation. The Department of Mental Health (DMH) has run out of money for children who need their services."

That committee, who has been closely following the DMH budget, said DMH needs approximately 1.2 million in deficiency funds to pay for children already in placement as of July 1, 1985. That agency also needs approximately 1.1 million in supplemental money to pay for children who have been or will be identified as needing DMH services since that July 1 date.

"Legislators need to know of the literally life and death nature of this budget crisis," said Kathie Webb, another committee member. "Those on the Senate and House Ways and Means Committees are especially important," she added as the South Shore Council urged residents to contact their legislators in support of the deficiency and supplemental budget.

State Grant To Aging Council

The Quincy Council on Aging has been granted $2500 by the state Elder Affairs to fund innovative programs and develop grass roots services. The discretionary grant will enable the city to add to this with local dollars in services to the aging.

Steve Downing, Manager

TAX FREE EXCHANGE

QUESTION: I have made a huge paper profit on a building and am ready to sell. How can I do this and defer paying the tax?

ANSWER: You can accomplish this result with a "tax-free exchange".

To qualify, both properties must be held for "productive use in business or investment" and must be of a "like kind", but most real property held for business or investment would be considered so. The most significant advantage is that you use the inflated current value of your present property without having to pay the tax on the profit because it is an exchange, not a sale. Have a professional handle the details. It's no arena for amateurs.

A TAX-FREE exchange is an excellent way to increase ownership and save on taxes.

Quincy Action Offers Energy Weatherization Program

Summer is the time when you should be planning on how you can reduce heating costs for next winter said the Quincy Community Action Organization.

Spokesperson Robert Cosgrove said Action is now accepting applications for their no-cost, full scale weatherization program which targets the following: Insulate attics and walls; weatherstrip doors and windows; replace broken glass; repair storm windows; tune-up and repairs of heating units and minor repairs as needed.

Cosgrove said if you are a homeowner or renter you may be eligible for the program which has received additional state and federal grants for low-income and elderly families to make their home or apartment energy efficient to save them dollars off fuel costs.

"Once a client is determined to be eligible we do an energy audit on their home or apartment. The audit is then reviewed and work is assigned depending on need and priorities. We use our own crew and licensed contractors who have the skills and concerns for energy conservations," he said.

For further information to see if you are eligible for this free program call Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 479-1655 or 471-3366.

McCauley, Sheets Attend Mayors Conference

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Councillor James A. Sheets attended the 54th Annual Conference of U.S. Mayors held recently in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The conference adopted over 50 resolutions recommended by the six outstanding committees of the conference.

Mayor McCauley is a member of Community Development, Housing and Economic Development Committee. The committee approved eight resolutions including some urging the retention of the CDBG and UDAG Programs.

The conference also adopted a resolution urging the retention of Federal Revenue Sharing.

Speakers addressing the conference included the Governor of Puerto Rico, Rafael Hernandez Colon and Mayor Baltasar Corrada Del Rio, Mayor of San Juan, who extended greetings to the 150 mayors who attended the conference.

Other speakers were Hatwood Futrell, president of the National Education Association; Jack Germond, syndicated columnist and TV commentator, Richard Shubert, president of the American Red Cross and a 1958 graduate of Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy, U.S. Representative Charles Rangel and Governor Bruce E. Babbitt of Arizona.

Mayor McCauley attended workshops on Managing Cities in the Next Decade, Public Finance, and Tourism.

A major topic of discussion among the participants of the conference was the future of state and municipal boards in the forthcoming federal tax legislation.

Other Massachusetts mayors attending the conference included Mayor Raymond Flynn of Boston, Mayor Richard Lak of Chicopee, Mayor John McCarthy of Everett, Mayor Theodore Mann of Newton, Mayor David Musante of Northampton and Mayor James Conway of Malden.

Mayor Joseph P. Riley, Jr. of Charleston, South Carolina, was elected president of the Conference of Mayor's for 1986-1987.

Nervy Thieves Crack Safe At Quincy Court

Burglars came into the halls of justice this week to take $350 from the safe in the Quincy District Courthouse. Complaint slips were used as torches to light the work of cracking the safe in the clerk's office. The break was discovered by John Otto, assistant custodian.

Upon discovery, Otto called the police and various court officials: clerk Lawrence Lyons; chief probation officer Edward Avery; custodian Ted Hunt and court officers Amos Loring and Arthur Hultman.

O'ROURK PLAYGROUND DEDICATED

City officials joined local veterans in paying tribute to John J. O'Rourke, disabled veteran, at the dedication of the West Quincy playground in his honor.

The ceremonies were under the direction of Morrisette Legion Post, with the assistance of Councillors Arthur Drohan and George McDonald and members of the pro board.

MCGRATH ASKS FOR SALARY DONATION

Mayor McGrath this week called upon the city employees for further salary donations, in addition to the two weeks salary contribution already made.

The Mayor said that the immediate economic future was bleak. The city's income was reduced, state contributions were below that of 1931, while at the same time welfare work in Quincy had increased.

He asked the city employees to help bear the burden while the city made necessary financial adjustments.

Council On Aging To Hear Governor's Report

The Quincy Council on Aging will meet today (Thursday) at 2 p.m. in the conference room at Quincy City Hall Annex.

All meetings are open to the public.

Agenda items include a report on the Governor's Conference on Aging, the 1986 Senior Olympics, and SCOOT a newly instituted transportation program for handicapped individuals and senior citizens.

Council member Frank Kearns, and John Noonan, recently reelected council chairman for a fourth consecutive term, are members on the board of directors for the South Shore Coordinating Transportation Corporation (SCOOT).

This regional organization is supported by private and public funds through a brokerage composed of local business and civil officials. Two new vans were dedicated last week and are operational for residents in Braintree and Weymouth.

Four more new vehicles are expected to be on the road by the fall and will serve 11 South Shore communities including Quincy. Individuals eligible for transportation may contact SCOOT at 848-3910.

In other council activities, Kearns was honored by the Quincy Citizens Association and presented with the Citizens of the Year award. Mayor Francis X. McCauley also appointed Kearns a member of the board of commissioners of the Quincy Housing Authority. He also holds the post of treasurer of the South Shore Elder Services Inc.

Noonan said members who have been active in organizing a city chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, will meet July 2, 1:30 p.m. in the Tobin Towers conference room, Clay St., Wollaston.

Mrs. Bella Krovitz, recently participated in a seminar at the Governor's Conference on Aging as moderator for a panel on mental health.

Rev. Alicia Corea was elected Vice-Chairperson and Mary Kay Bamford, secretary, at the council's recent meeting.

Patriot Ledger writer Sue Scheible and Noonan, a Quincy Sun Ch. 8 reporter paneled a meeting of the South Shore Coalition of Workers on the topic: "Challenging Ageism in the Media."

QCH Auxiliary Donates $100,000 To Hospital

The Quincy City Hospital Auxiliary recently presented a check for $100,000 to the chairman of the building project to start a $1.6 million fund drive for the hospital.

The gift is the largest single contribution to the hospital in its history, according to the auxiliary.

The presentation was made by auxiliary president Mrs. Hazel Genereau to John Kane, also a member of the hospital's Board of managers, at the auxiliary's annual meeting and luncheon.

About 100 members and friends of the auxiliary attended the event in the Adams Room of the Hollow Restaurant, Quincy.

The contribution by the 33-year-old auxiliary was accumulated from various sources after proceeds were invested over the years.

The auxiliary operates the Cherry Gift Shop, gift carts, and has interests in the television service to patients and the machines in the Coffee Shop.

It also conducts fund raisers during the year.

The auxiliary has purchased furnishings and equipment for the Hospital each year. Recently, it bought special chairs for cardiac patients and equipment for the intensive care unit.

Auxiliary members also work in the volunteer's office.

Head table guests at the luncheon included Mark Mundy, hospital director;

Gerald Marquis, chairman of the board of managers; Margaret Crehan, director of Volunteers; and Mr. Kane.

Mundy presented a plaque from the hospital and a planter to Mrs. Vi Faulkner, retiring chairman of the gift shop. Mrs. Genereau presented a gift from the auxiliary.

A search committee headed by Mrs. Ruth Dahlgren is seeking a replacement for Mrs. Faulkner who will retire June 30.

Mrs. Genereau will serve in the interim.

Mabel Biagini, accordionist, entertained.

Mrs. Dahlgren was general chairman.

Early Pregnancy Program At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will sponsor an "Early Pregnancy - For Healthy Mom and Healthy Baby" program for expectant mothers in their early stages of pregnancy, Thursday, July 10.

The two-session program will cover emotional and physical changes of pregnancy, fetal development, nutrition, exercises and other information that will guide mothers-to-be in making decisions for themselves and their newborn baby.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Hospital. Expectant women, regardless of their hospital affiliation, may call 773-6100, ext. 3017, to receive a brochure or register for the course. There is no charge for this program.

The course is designed for women only.

Information about other childbirth preparation courses, breastfeeding, or sibling orientation programs sponsored by the hospital's maternity department is available by calling the Family-Centered Maternity Unit at 773-6100.

Healthy Back Program At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA, 79 Coddington St., Quincy, will start its "Y" Way To A Healthy Back" program Monday, July 7. The program is designed for those who suffer discomfort and pain in the back area and need to increase overall flexibility.

Developed by medical specialists, the program is taught by certified instructors.

Cost is $30 for members and $45 for non-members.

To register or for further information, contact Bill Johnson at 479-8500.

Morrissey To Seek Sixth Term

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey will seek a sixth term as state representative in the First Norfolk District.

The Quincy democrat said his strength was recently tested when Moon Island was one of those mentioned as a possible site for the proposed new Suffolk County House of Correction.

"I fought diligently to protect the island and the surrounding communities," he said. The city of Quincy should not be dealt the injustice of being burdened with the problems of Boston. Moon Island was later taken off the list of proposed sites.

Morrissey said his appointment as chairman of the Committee on Counties has allowed him to give Quincy a greater access to the leadership on Beacon Hill.

He added that in his role as committee chairman he has been a strong advocate for the state assumption of the county correctional system and said that through this leadership, counties have been given the opportunity to control their own destiny with the passage of the county charter reform legislation.

Morrissey, in reflecting on his years at the State House, said he has accomplished a great deal. Some of the major issues he points out includes the fight for airplane noise reduction, saving the Norfolk Recreational Facility, and the building and relocation of a new MDC sewerage treatment plant on Deer Island. He also said he is pledged to continue to push for the state takeover of Quincy Junior College, the reconstruction of Willard St. and a final determination of the use of Moon Island.

Morrissey also noted he voted for the largest tax reduction in the history of the Commonwealth by the repeal of the surtax. He is a co-sponsor of legislation which increases the estate tax exemption and gives low to middle income families a substantial savings.

Morrissey said "His record speaks for itself." The citizens of Quincy now have a greater opportunity to be heard and are assured a determined legislator to follow through with their concerns."

Discover A Village

Visit The Seaside Village That Isn't Oceans Away

Marina Bay Village offers everything that your favorite offshore island does, plus one more—convenience. Just minutes from Boston by car or boat, Marina Bay Village features the relaxing atmosphere we appreciate so much on summer days. Come stroll the oceanside boardwalk, take in the delicious salt air and enjoy the variety of shops and restaurants that make Marina Bay Village so unique.

Marina Bay Village Shops

Whatever you're looking for, you're likely to find it at Marina Bay Village Shops. Casual resort fashion for men and women at Fran's Landing. Swimwear and accessories at East Coast Girls. Beautiful fresh flowers and plants at The Flower Loft.

Distinctive gifts, at Anchor. Unique jewelry and gifts at the Treasure Chest. And a complete line of nautical supplies at The Boat House.

It by now you've worked up an appetite with all this shopping, stop in at Amelia's or The Eddy Fitz Raw Bar for a light bite and a cool drink. Or make the day into a real occasion with a water's edge picnic. Choose gourmet foods from Chutneys, fresh salads from Seaside Salads or take-out Chinese from Cathay Marina. Top it all off with an old-fashioned ice cream from McGillicuddy's or a tempting sweet from Montilio's Confectionary.

For a truly special dining experience, you might try The Edmund Fitzgerald Restaurant, once an actual working tugboat.

And before you do anything else, visit Clippers at Marina Bay for a smart new haircut and indulgent manicure.

Also this summer, look for the new pushcarts, providing more variety and fun for browsing and buying and take a unique sight-seeing tour with Boston Skyview Helicopter Tours.

A Day To Remember

Marina Bay Village is the perfect spot to spend an easy summer day. Bring the family or make it just the two of you. There's no rush, no schedules—just the gentle sound of the water, the scenic view of Boston and the joy of discovering a new place to be. It's all here, and all so close. At Marina Bay Village.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

We are often asked as to why some people pre-plan their own funerals and why it is a good idea... Some important reasons come to mind... First, one of the essential benefits of arranging service prior to need is that all of the pertinent decisions may be made logically and intelligently, when you want and how you want. Pre-planning makes one's wishes known and at the same time it does away with any possible disagreement among the bereaved as to what to do, how much to spend, etc. Pre-planning provides a guide for those you love to follow later. Pre-planning eases the burden the family faces at a very trying time of their lives.

We believe it is our professional responsibility to offer the families in our community complete information on pre-arranged and pre-paid plans. We do so without cost or obligation. Please feel free to stop by and talk to us or call today for complete details. We are available at any time to answer any questions you might have and this is in the strictest of confidence, of course.

Board Files Lodging House Request

By DAN CONNELLY

The License Board voted Tuesday to place on file a request from Mrs. Hikmet Abraham for a lodging house license at 3 McGrath Highway.

Her original license was revoked in March of 1985 by the board for public safety and public health reasons after a fire injured an aged roomer and caused an estimated $35,000 damage.

With Mrs. Abraham at the hearing Tuesday was Craig Leslie of Stoughton who identified himself as a builder. He said he intended to submit renovation work plans for the lodging house.

The board told him and Mrs. Abraham that no work can be done there because her license was revoked and they are totally on their own regarding any future renovating plans because this Board will not guarantee Mrs. Abraham a lodging house license because of past performance.

At a March 26, 1985 hearing, City Clerk John Gillis, who is also chairman of the License Board, called the rooming house "a disgrace." It was also brought out at that time the property was licensed for 12 lodgers and 18 were in the house the morning of the fire. The fire department was also critical of building conditions there.

Gillis urged Mrs. Abraham to seek other avenues of commercial interest for her property and added that whatever structural plans are drawn up by anyone they are to be submitted to the city's new Building Inspector Kenneth F. Johnson, Jr.

The 26-year-old Squantum man was appointed to the post by the mayor this month. He succeeds Allan F. MacDonald, who retired after 35 years of service with the city.

Kent Osborne, 41 Boston Gear Vice President

A funeral Mass for Kent Osborne, 41, of Duxbury, vice president of operations for Boston Gear Co. of Quincy, was celebrated Wednesday in St. John's Church, Duxbury.

Mr. Osborne died June 21 at Jordan Hospital, Plymouth, after suffering a heart attack.

As vice president manufacturing operations for Acme Chain and Boston Gear Co., he was responsible for operations in the Quincy, Holyoke and Louisville, N.C. plants.

He directed the Boston Gear chapter of the Junior Achievement last year.

He was a member of the Duxbury Boosters Club, director of acolytes at both Trinity Episcopal Church, Randolph, and St. John's Church, Duxbury, a Boy Scout leader and coach of Duxbury Youth Baseball.

A member of the National Guard 26th Infantry until 1974, he received the Alfred L. Wilson Award for outstanding enlisted member in 1970, the Outstanding Soldier Award of the 26th Infantry in 1971, the Armor Leadership Award in 1970, and the Knox Award for field artillery in 1970.

Born in Brockton, he graduated from Randolph High School in 1963 and Northeastern University in 1968 with a degree in industrial relations.

He is survived by his wife, Kathleen M. (Dillon) Osborne; a son, Scott F. Osborne of Duxbury; a daughter, Traci A. Jennifer of Duxbury; a brother, Ernest R. Osborne of North Easton; and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Mayflower Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the MacDonald Funeral Home, 1755 Ocean St., Marshfield.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Kent Osborne Scholarship Fund, c/o Daniel Mahoney, 5 Cordwood Path, Duxbury, MA 02332.

John M. Foley, Jr., 77

A funeral Mass for John M. Foley Jr., 77, a retired salesman for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, was celebrated June 19 in St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mr. Foley died June 16 at the Crest View Nursing Home after a long illness.

Born in Boston, he lived in Milton from 1950 to 1976, when he moved to Harwich. He had lived in Quincy the past three years.

Helen Carter

A funeral Mass for Helen G. (Papkey) Carter, 73, of Quincy, was celebrated June 20 in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mrs. Carter died June 17 at the Braintree Manor Nursing Home after a long illness.

She was born in Woonsocket, R.I.

Wife of the late Arthur M. Carter, she is survived by a daughter, Barbara H. Savoia of Nashua, N.H.; a brother, Roy Papkey of Weymouth; three grandchildren and two great-granddaughters.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

QHA Awarded $212,158 For Day Care

State Secretary of Communities and Development Amy S. Anthony announces the award of $212,158 to the Quincy Housing Authority for the development of day care facilities in local public housing projects.

The award is one of 22 presented to 15 communities which will serve over 600 children.

The total state award of $1.3 million is the single largest amount the state has ever allocated for the provision of child care services in public housing developments.

'Fire From Heaven' Sermon At Bethany

This coming Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, located at Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled 'Fire From Heaven' based on Luke 9:51-62 and Galatians 3:23-28. The sermon will focus on the issue of homosexuality, AIDS, and the church. The lay Scripture reader will be Heather E. McLean.

Peter E. Krasinski will heat the organ console and will direct the trio of Shirley Pyne, Maureen Welch, and Helen Krasinski, in singing "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by C.S. Elliot. In addition the prelude will be from Symphony #6 by Tchaikowsky, and the postlude will be from "Nimrod" by E. Elgar.

Nursery care will be provided by church members for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast live at 10 a.m. over WJDA, 1300kc. A cassette tape of the service is available for $2 by contacting the church office at 479-7300.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. Members of the community are welcome to share in both the worship and in the fellowship.

Independence Day Breakfast Sunday At Quantum Church

An Independence Day breakfast will be held Sunday at 9:15 a.m. outside at the First Church of Quantum.

The decorations will all be red, white and blue or little American flags. The menu is orange juice, French toast and syrup, sausages, baked beans, melon and a beverage.

The breakfast is sponsored by young people of the church to raise money for camperships at Christian camps. An Independence Day service will be held in the church after the meal. Child care and a nursery will be provided.

The Quantum community and the public are invited whether they can attend the service afterward or not. Those attending the breakfast are encouraged to wear the colors of red, white and blue, and, if possible, a straw hat. Because of the number of people attending, it is strongly advised that reservations be made in advance by calling Hazel Mayne at 328-4367. Price of a ticket is $2.50. There are reduced prices for teenagers ($1.75) and children ($1). Babies and very young children are free.

"Happiness from God" was the title of the pastor's sermon this past Sunday at both morning services. The sermon, which was preached by Rev. Gene Langevin, was based on the text, "Happy the people whose God is the Lord" (Psalm 144:15b).

Soprano Susan Scott and her mother, also Mary Ruth Scott sang "The Twenty-third Psalm" as arranged by Katherine K. Davis as a duet.

Guitarists David Williams, Andy Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott were at the first service. Mindi Hurd and Karen Reister were the ushers. During the second service, Kate, Bonnie and Ian MacRitchie were the greeters. Ushers were Lore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the second service was hosted by Ruth Danforth and Edna Swanson.

On Thursday of this week there will be a special meeting of the Church Council at 7:30 p.m. All interested members of the congregation are encouraged to attend.

Young people of the church will hold a car wash at the church Saturday, June 28, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. This will be the first fund-raiser in a series planned to raise money for a three-week trip in 1987 to a national Christian youth gathering in California. Young people from the community who would like to go should join one of the youth groups at the church now.

Alcohol, Drug Abuse Panel Discussion At St. John's

St. John's Youth Group will sponsor a panel discussion on alcohol and drug abuse for parents and adults Sunday, June 29 at 7:30 p.m. in St. John's Lower Church Hall.

Guest speaker is Jack Donahue, founder and executive director of Heavenly High and Project Feelings.

Heavenly High is sponsored by the Boston Archdiocese. Project Feelings is associated with the governor's Speaking Bureau against Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

Other speakers include Father Walter Martin S.J., Chaplain of the Seaport of Boston, Eleanor McCarthy, whose son died at the age of 20 from an alcohol and drug overdose, and Brian Donohue, newest member of the New York Jets Football team.

'Depression' Sermon Topic At Covenant Congregational

Rev. Fred Lawson of the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts., spoke on the subject of depression at last Sunday's service.

The message was based on 1 Kings 19:4b, which tells of Elijah's struggle with depression.

Greeters were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaBelle and the ushers were Florence Anderson, David Day, Bendix Lundgren and Doris Moore. The organ prelude, played by Richard Smith, minister of music, was

"Sinfonia" by Handel; the offertory, "Lyric Interlude" by Schreiner, and the postlude, "Now Thank My Soul Thy Master" by Walther. The choir, directed by Mr. Smith, sang "I'll Walk with God" and soloist Luisa Dano sang "In Heavenly Love Abiding."

Rev. Mr. Lawson reported on the events of the annual meeting of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America held in Rosemont, Ill. A new president, Rev. Paul F.

Larsen, of Redwood City, Calif. was elected. Following the morning worship service, coffee was served by Anna and Bob Day.

This Sunday, the service will begin at 10 a.m. and Rev. Lawson's sermon topic will be "A Singing Faith." It will be the last service of the summer at which the choir will sing.

Starting in July, the morning worship services will be held outside in the church park adjacent to the church building.

Summer School Program At St. Joseph's School

St. Joseph's School, 22 Pray St., will again offer a summer school program.

The program will be remedial in nature and be in the areas of reading, math and English from Grades 1-8. It will be held daily from 9 to noon from Monday, June 30 to Friday, July 25. The program is open to all students both public school and parochial school. It will be $25 per week, per subject.

Students will be assigned a time for class after registration has been completed.

Registration forms may be obtained by calling the school office 773-8080 between 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Joanne Tompkins Commissioned Lay Reader

Joanne Tompkins of Sacred Heart parish, Quincy, was among the 24 women and men from 16 Boston-area parishes who were recently commissioned lay ministers by Bishop Daniel A. Hart, Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Bishop Hart celebrated the special commissioning liturgy at the Holy Spirit Chapel in Boston, May 11, before nearly 350 family, friends, and sponsors of the candidates.

The ceremony culminated nine months of training by the candidates, who enrolled in the Lay Ministry Training Institute to prepare for more effective leadership in their local churches.

For Good Reason:

Mom Is Proud Of Her Sons

By DAN CONNELLY

Seventeen-year old Robert MacMillan of 30 Quarterdeck Rd., Germantown, received six scholarships totaling $2400 at his Quincy High School graduation ceremony last week, and the loudest applause from the audience came from his mother and older brother.

Robert's academic achievements as a senior made him the recipient of the following scholarships.

Kiwanis Club of Quincy, $1,000; Gerald Hallisey Jr. Memorial Scholarship, $500, administered by the Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union; Charles Bifulchi Memorial Scholarship, $500; Quincy Lodge of Fks, $200; Quincy High School National Honor Society, $150; Koch Club of Quincy, $100.

In addition, Robert recently received a presidential academic fitness award and a school science certificate of merit.

Robert, who plans a career in meteorology, and who will enter the University of Lowell in the fall, is following in his older brother's educational aims.

Michael, 21, a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute, received a tuition scholarship in teaching assistantship. This will enable him to pursue his masters and doctorate in physics.

Raising two "whiz kids" was far from "easy street" for Mrs. Kathleen MacMillan. She was widowed in 1970 when the boys were ages six and two. Her husband Joseph, a bookkeeper at the Hancock Tire and Appliance Company in Quincy, died of a heart attack.

Despite their family tragedy, mother and sons picked up the pieces of their lives.

Soon after she realized that social security benefits were just not going to be enough so she obtained a job in the city's school lunch program at Snug Harbor and lived in public housing.

During the boys' growing up years she had to be parent, friend and counsellor.

"I would listen, offer advice and help them in any way that I possibly could," she said. "As a guideline I drew on my own upbringing. Well, somewhere along the road it must have worked 'cause a lot of people are saying: 'you did a great job.'"

"I'm embarrassed when they say that. The two who deserve all of the credit are Michael and Robert. Sure I was blessed with good sons but they showed me and the world that if they worked hard they too can achieve goals that in others are sometimes 'impossible dreams.'"

Mrs. MacMillan said her job at Snug Harbor also enabled "me to be there when they came home from school. Having someone to come home to is so important."

She added that "there were times when we'd want something. But, circumstances wouldn't allow it. Well, the boys accepted it. But I made sure that when we could afford it I got it for them."

Health problems, good and bad times, didn't defeat the MacMillans. Instead it "provided us with a solid foundation to work hard and prove we too could achieve our share of happiness in life. I think we did rather well, considering."

Of Robert's professional meteorological future, Mrs. MacMillan predicts he'll do a better forecasting job than some of today's weathermen.

PROUD MOM -- Mrs. Kathleen MacMillan with Michael, left, who will pursue his masters and doctorate in physics, and Robert, who received six scholarships at his recent Quincy High School graduation.

DeCristofaro Requests $4,260 For Basketball

Ward Two Councillor Ted DeCristofaro has asked Mayor Francis McAuley for an appropriation of $4,260 for refurbishing the Elm Street Playground outdoor basketball court.

In a recent letter to the Mayor, Councillor DeCristofaro said, "This is one of the most heavily used basketball courts in the city, and this relatively small expenditure would provide many years of recreational enjoyment for thousands of neighborhood youth at this popular basketball location."

Specifications would include the repair of cracks, installation of a new set of galvanized basketball standards, backboards, hoops and nets, sealcoating of the playing surface, stripe and paint regulation lines.

Councillor DeCristofaro has asked the Mayor for his earliest possible response to this request.

Mary Cooper Honored

Mary Cooper of Quincy, a South Shore Hospital volunteer, was honored for her 1000 hours of service there in 1985 at a recent ceremony.

Over 600 volunteers from some 21 communities served by the hospital, were feted during the observance of National Volunteer Week.

Those volunteers gave a total of 75,550 hours of service to the hospital.

8-Story Building Planned At Kincaide Site

in the project the building next door, which houses South Shore Barber, was also discussed, the mayor said.

"I think it's very encouraging that this interest is being shown in creating the type of space the city wants," said Lydon.

"The owners are very definitely committed to furthering the retail frontage along Hancock St.

"Any housing units downtown are important to the future of downtown Quincy," said Lydon, who noted that the parking planned would comply with zoning ordinances.

Lydon said he didn't think the additional retail space, next to Quincy Fair which has had difficulty attracting tenants, would be detrimental.

"When you begin to create large retail areas, you tend to key into different kinds of companies," explained Lydon, who noted that the Goldmans also own property which developers hope to include in the President's Place project at the site of the former Bargain Center in Quincy Sq.

"The mayor made clear that our cooperation in one area would necessitate their cooperation in the other project," said Lydon. "and they agreed."

Developer Frank Messina, whose Messina Enterprises owns Quincy Fair, had planned to show a well-known retailer the Kincaide site, and Lydon said if interest were shown, the city could offer assistance.

"The city could act as a catalyst for a joint venture between Quincy Fair and Kincaide," said Lydon.

"We had a good meeting," said McCauley. "I'm very pleased that the owners want to move quickly to develop the property."

"It will be a good addition to Quincy."

Elliott Hoffman Won't Be 'Stuffy' New Director Wants Historical Society To Appeal To All Ages

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Elliott Hoffman, 38, newly appointed director/curator of the 1200-member Quincy Historical Society, says he doesn't intend to be a "stuffy director."

"I like to be informal and accessible, open to ideas and open to listening," said the Collinsville, Conn., resident whose appointment is effective Aug. 11.

"I don't want the institution to be stuffy either," Hoffman continued.

"I want it to be one which will appeal to all segments of the population."

"How I'll do that, I don't know yet. I think it's wrong to come to any position like this with too many ideas."

"There's no way to tell until you get your feet wet and get out in the community," said Hoffman who succeeds Lawrence Yerdon.

Yerdon resigned last December to become director of the Hancock Shaker Village, Pittsfield, after 10 years with the Quincy Historical Society.

Since then, Doris Oberg, a 30-year member of the society, has been acting director. Mrs. Oberg will now be a first vice president.

"We feel very fortunate to have Mr. Hoffman," said Mrs. Oberg who explained that he was chosen by the society's search committee for an undisclosed salary.

For the past 15 years, Hoffman has taught American history at the college level. He has also been associated with five museums, including Strawberry Banke, Portsmouth, N.H.

From 1980 to 1984, he was director of the Noah Webster Foundation and Historical Society of West Hartford with assets of $1 million, a paid staff of 11, and a volunteer staff of 60.

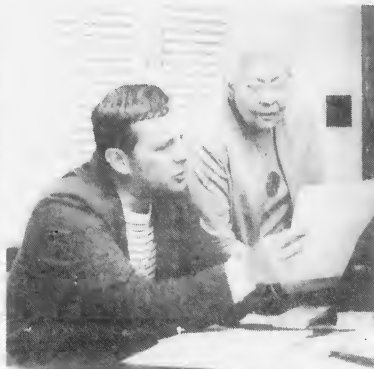

"We ran one of the largest intern programs in the state of Connecticut," said Hoffman. "We had six or seven schools involved in the graduate and undergraduate level."

"The museum became more vital," he said.

When he first went to that museum, it was open one full day and two half days, and he was the only paid employee, he said.

Four years later, it was open five and a half days, had 11 people on the payroll and the number of residents who used the museum tripled, according to Hoffman.

"You have to be open when people want to come and use the museum," he said.

Hoffman noted that museums also have to make people feel welcome.

"If people don't feel welcome, they won't come back."

"The impression that they get is of the people that are there."

"If someone goes to a department store to buy an item, and he or she doesn't like the salesperson, they won't go back."

"It's the same principle." Hoffman intends to move closer to the Quincy area with his two children, Nathan 14, and Stephanie, 11.

"I'm not really that familiar with Quincy specifically, but I'm looking upon the appointment as an opportunity and challenge," he said.

He hopes to institute growth in the society which has as its headquarters Adams Academy just beyond Quincy Sq. It features 20,000 artifacts related to the history of Quincy, an extensive research library, exhibit on Quincy and auditorium and meeting place.

Hoffman also intends to make the institution more open to the public and more useful. He also plans to assure that it is financially sound and to reward volunteers and make them part of the institution team.

"I'd like to try and attract an audience of all ages, and that's more difficult today," he said.

"People are more transient, they don't get involved in the city's history," said Hoffman.

"Many museums seem to depend on people over 40 or 50. I'd like to attract students in school.

"There's no reason we can't have high school and college students as interns," he said.

"We could use their energy and skills."

Hoffman noted that the Historical Society already has a program for fourth graders, which could be expanded to keep a steady stream of students and others through the museum during the "lean months" of December through March.

He stressed that hands-on activities, rather than lecturing to students, is much more meaningful.

Hoffman also intends to work on exhibits and other events.

"History is my job, and something that I like," said Hoffman who explained that he has been interested in the subject since he was a youngster.

"It always made sense to put references in time," he said. "You find out that people years ago were just the same as you and me as far as emotions."

"They lived their lives with different technologies, but we are more similar than we are different," he said.

Hoffman feels that visiting the museum is a good way for new residents to become familiar with Quincy's past and present, and for long-time residents to acquaint themselves with their heritage.

"A place like this offers a variety of experiences for people from Quincy to Timbuktu."

"What other city has had two presidents come out of it?"

There's so much material, both on national and internationally known people.

"I want to ensure that this will be a first class historical operation."

"A city the size of Quincy deserves it."

In Sun Spotlight Villari's Studio Of Self Defense Accents Confidence, Discipline

By DAN CONNELLY
Self confidence, self discipline and self defense are rare commodities these days but obtainable through the martial arts, says Donald Spink, manager and chief instructor at his Fred Villari's Studio of Self Defense, 11 Revere Rd., Quincy Center. Spink teaches this 4,000-year-old art to students, regardless of sex, or size, from ages four to 74. The aim is to enrich all students both mentally and physically, and instill in them, through training, the ability to come out a winner when confronted with tensions so prevalent in these times. "The fundamentals of Shaolin Kempo, or Kung-Fo, as it is referred to by the Western Chinese, is to learn restraint when provoked, and defense when attacked," said Spink. "Rarely will you find a true student of the martial art involved in a fight or a brawl; because he or she has the confidence of knowing they'll be the ultimate victor, and will be able to walk away from most confrontations without loss of self-respect." (Cont'd on Page 16)

Blood Pressure Screenings At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will be conducting a free blood pressure screening for the general public July 1, in their ambulatory care department from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

These screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable the individual to keep track of his or her blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

These screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of each month, are free of charge.

5 Residents Xaverian Graduates

Five Quincy residents have graduated from Xaverian Brothers High School in Westwood.

They are, Uwe A. Bucher, Anthony Losordo, Timothy J. O'Brien, Joseph H. Pasquale and Stephen G. Ross.

Villari's Studio Of Self Defense Accents Confidence, Discipline

Apex of his studio is the very large main room which is carpeted, wall-to-wall, spotless and decorated with large wall mirrors.

During a private session, Spink and a student go through the intricate moves of an exercise in karate called "Kata." Like dancers, they choreograph their foot work simultaneously with offensive and defense maneuvers.

The studio's lower floor has a bag and weight room (and showers.) The former is to cultivate strong and flexible bodies, thus promoting good health and longer life.

Spink said there is no traffic jam of students at the studio. "Beginners, intermediate and advanced are segregated by class." (This is not like some other area martial art studios.)

Spink is no newcomer to this exciting world. He's been at it for some 13 years. And, in 1980 obtained a franchise to open one of the international Fred Villari Studios in Quincy.

There is no magic formula to achieving quick success in the martial arts, says Spink whose students come from as far away as Boston.

Prospective clients are urged to observe a class first before enrolling. "When he or she decides to come aboard, we tell them they know, or should know, their own physical limitations," said Spink. "They should use this as a sort of yardstick as they progress. People with medical problems should check with a physician prior to applying," he said.

His positive attitude, superb physical fitness and glowing confidence makes Spink the ideal martial art instructor. He finds his work hard, sometimes fun but most important fulfilling.

Proof of this is a large glassed showcase in the studio foyer where trophies and memorabilia are displayed; true evidence his studio has found the right key to operating a successful business and providing the correct instructions in the exciting world of martial arts.

Point Task Force To Meet June 30

The first meeting of the Quincy Point Task Force will be held Monday, June 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy.

The group will meet to organize its study of the entire Quincy Point neighborhood. The study includes surveys of image, market and building conditions in the area.

Volunteers are needed to help complete the study and are urged to attend the meeting.

Good News For Everyone Born Before 1921.

IF YOU'RE A SENIOR CITIZEN, AND YOU'RE WILLING TO SPEND FIVE MINUTES READING THIS, WE'LL GIVE YOU TODAY'S CABLE FOR A MONTH, FREE.

Until now you probably thought that cable wasn't for you. That it was just an extra expense. If you'll be good enough to spare us your time, we've got some facts that may well change your mind.

There's always something good on today's cable. CABLE ISN'T JUST MORE TV. You'll always find programs to entertain you, inform you and keep you in touch, just when you're in the mood. Cable's even got programming especially for seniors. You don't have to watch more, you just enjoy it more.

BASIC. THE HEART OF THE CABLE DIFFERENCE.

People often think that cable must be expensive. But the fact is that the essence of cable, Basic Cable, is really a bargain. For $9.95 a month you get great reception on the channels you're getting now, plus 33 fascinating new channels. Here's just a taste of what they offer:

- Senior Spotlight with local personalities and senior issues
- Senior Nutrition and Senior Exercise
- The Discovery Channel with the world of nature and science
- Senior Smarts and the Senior Dating Game
- Classics from the golden days of TV and Hollywood
- Lifetime with tips on finance and life extension
- C-Span with coverage from Congress
- News, 24 hours a day, world, financial and local*
- Country and Classical music, The Home Shopping Network
- Economics of one and two person households
- National Geographic Explorer Series every week
- Plus The Weather Channel and documentaries not seen on ordinary TV

PEOPLE ARE A PART OF THE PICTURE. If Basic is the heart of cable, Senior Service is the soul. Our people go out of their way to provide thoughtful, courteous and prompt service to everyone. But especially to senior citizens. Just listen to what some of our senior subscribers have to say about us:

"Senior Smarts has done a great deal to add to the enjoyment of senior citizens and helps to keep them young, active, and important."

Steve Marx

"Let me thank you for your good service and especially for providing such good TV as Mother Angelica."

Morrisette Rebounds, Quincy, Wollaston Bow

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team bounced back after two straight losses to defeat Holbrook, 11-5, Monday night at Adams Field to even its record at 2-2.

Tonight (Thursday) Quincy will play at Braintree at 8 p.m. Friday Morrisette will play at Randolph at 6, Quincy will host Carter Post at 8 at Adams and Wollaston will be at Mass. Truck in Weymouth at 6.

Monday it will be Wollaston vs. Randolph at 8 at Adams and Quincy at Canton at 6. Tuesday Morrisette and Wollaston clash at 8 Adams and Quincy will host Randolph at 6 at Adams.

Next Wednesday Quincy will host Holbrook at 8 at Adams. Morrisette will meet Canton at 6 at Adams and Wollaston will be at Carter Post at 6.

Morrisette exploded for seven runs in the first inning Monday night and never looked back as Larry Taglieri pitched well for five innings, giving up five hits, striking out seven and walking two. He gave up three runs, only one earned. He also helped his own cause with a double and single, two RBI and two runs scored.

Mike Joyce pitched the last two innings, gave up two hits, walked four and struck out one.

Steve Minichiello had three hits, including an RBI triple. Dan Biagini had two hits and three RBI, including the game winner; Chris Marshall had a single and two walks. Bob McDonald was two for three and scored twice and Bob Hunter and Joyce each had a hit.

Although Quincy is 0-3, it has played good ball and has been in all the games. The problem is getting the big hit when needed. Quincy has stranded 24 runners in three games.

In the first two games Andy Palmariello pitched a two-hitter and a four-hitter but lost both.

Last week Quincy lost to Milton, 10-3, as Robbie Higgins pitched in hard luck. Milton is 4-0 and also had defeated Morrisette and Wollaston.

Milton's Pete Kibble hit a grand slam homer which traveled only 265 feet into the left field tennis court and would have been only a pop fly at Adams Field. In the fourth inning Higgins again was hurt by the tennis courts ad Greg Remmes, with runners on second and third and two outs, hit a fly to left field that P.J. Hussey would have caught easily at Adams Field but he ran out of room and the ball bounced off the tennis court fence.

Quincy had four hits off starter Chris Karlson, but he walked nine and Quincy stranded eight runners. Tony Orlando had two hits and Peter Tufts and Hussey one each.

Higgins pitched well coming off a fine season for B.C. High. He was relieved in the fourth by side-arming Bob Laracy with runners on first and second and two outs. Laracy was making his first appearance after suffering pulled muscles in an accident. He retired the next batter and shut the door on Milton the rest of the way, giving up only one hit. Pat O'Sullivan made a fine throw from center field to cut down a runner at the plate with Billy Mulhern making the tag.

The Quincy-Morrisette game rained out last Friday has been tentatively rescheduled for Sunday, July 13, at 8 at Adams Field.

Wollaston, 0-3, was further frustrated last week when it built a 6-2 lead over Canton in three innings but squandered the lead and the game ended 6-6 when darkness ended the game. It will be played off later.

The highlight for Wollaston was Chris Rossi's 360-foot, two-run homer.

Earlier Wollaston had lost to Milton, 10-5, as Milton broke the game open with four runs in the sixth inning.

Two Misiuk Home Runs Sparks Tigers, 16-4

David Misiuk had an outstanding game with two home runs, a single and six RBI to lead the Tigers to a 16-4 win over the Pirates in the Triple A Baseball League.

The Pirates scored seven runs in the first inning and topped the Braves, 11-6, with Gregory Buck the winning pitcher.

McGowan had a triple and single, Justin Silverio two singles and Mark McGillicuddy a triple.

The Pirates scored seven runs in the first inning and topped the Braves, 11-6, with Gregory Buck the winning pitcher.

McGowan had two doubles, a single and three RBI. Dennis Lawrence, Chris Ronecanti and Buck two hits each.

For the Braves Paul Murphy had three hits and Matt Frattolillo and Lee Giordano two each.

The league-leading Yankees defeated the Pirates, 11-4, with Peter Sullivan the winning pitcher.

Shawn Kane had a double and two singles for the Yankees and McGowan a home run and double for the Pirates.

The Braves outslugged the Indians, 16-12, with Kevin Boylen the winning pitcher.

Giordano had three doubles and a single, Boylena double and two singles. Murphy a triple and single in addition to a fine defensive game and Brian Jennette and Bobby Johnston two hits each.

For the Indians, Chris Alibrandi had a triple and double and Sean Cleary two hits.

The Pirates scored three runs in the last inning to edge the White Sox, 10-9. Mike McKinnon was the winning pitcher.

Louis Bertucci had two doubles, a single and four RBI. Lawrence, Buck and McGillicuddy three hits each.

For the White Sox David Flaherty had three hits, Tim Kane and Chris Mazzini two hits each and Philip Bell a double and two RBI.

The Pirates walloped the Indians, 17-1, with Lawrence the winner.

McGowan had a double, two singles and four RBI. Buck a triple, two singles and three RBI. Lawrence two doubles and David Burke two singles.

The standings: Yankees, 11-2; Tigers, 8-3; Braves, 7-4; Pirates, 6-7; White Sox, 3-8; Indians, 1-12.

• Junior League

Boston Gear Sets Red Hot Pace

Boston Gear continued its red hot pace in the Junior Baseball League by winning two games last week, making it 11 wins in its last 12 games.

The latest victim was Foley Chrysler-Plymouth, who fell in a 12-11 slugfest.

Gear is tied for first place in the National League and Foley is on top of the American League.

Gear's usual strong defense was missing as a number of errors handed Foley several unearned runs.

Mike Patch was the winning pitcher, allowing 11 hits, striking out 10 and walking only two. Serge Wassilieu pitched well in defeat, allowing eight hits, striking out five and walking 11, which kept him in constant trouble.

Gear's attack was led by Patch with two doubles, Billy Skutul with a tape measure off-field three-run homer, Timmy Byrne, Derek Happas and George Wirtz.

The defense was led by David Skutul, Matt Riley, Erik Kruezer, Danny Savage and Danny Duncan.

Gear also defeated State Street Visa, 6-4, behind the pitching of Hapnas and key doubles by Sanna in the first inning with the bases loaded, and Duncan in the last inning, driving in the winning run.

Patch, Billy Skutul and Wirtz also had key hits.

The defense was anchored by Byrne, Hapnas, Kruezer, David Skutul and Riley.

Burgin Flatner got back on the winning track with a 12-3 victory over the Elks.

Burgin was led by the 12-strikeout performance of Mark Kelleher, who also led the attack with a home run and a triple.

Mike Malvesti and Tom Balzano had three hits each, Chris Dupill had two and Joe Foley had the first home run of his career to deep center field.

The Elks were led by Tony Bianco with four hits.

Kiwanis rolled over the Elks, 26-7, as Chris Olsen pitched four-hit ball.

Kiwanis had a big night offensively with 23 hits. Bobby Fitzpatrick drove in seven runs with his second grand slam homer of the year, a two-run homer and an RBI double. He has five home runs on the year. Mark Nutley had two doubles and three singles, Mike McManus a two-run homer, a double and two singles; Olsen three singles and a double; David Jolley two doubles, Mark Karlson three singles and Sean MacDonald and Tommy Nutley a single each.

Defensively David Edwards in left field, shortstop Fitzpatrick, second baseman MacDonald and catcher Mark Nutley played excellent games.

Fitzpatrick, MacDonald and McManus pulled off a well-executed double play.

Bianco had two of the Elks' four hits.

Kiwanis also squeezed by Houghs Neck, 4-3, coming back from a 3-0 deficit as Fitzpatrick pitched a five-hitter and struck out nine.

Mark Nutley drove in three runs with two singles, driving in the winning run with his second hit in the bottom of the sixth inning. Karlson had a key sixth inning double and a single. McManus two singles, Olsen a double, Jolley and MacDonald a single each. Richie Gorman played well, making two fine catches in center field. Kevin Mantville pitched well for Houghs Neck.

League Disbands Little Loop Holds 32nd--And Last--Dinner

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop recently held its 32nd and last dinner at the Montclair Men's Club with New England Patriots' end Gerry Phelan, who caught the "miracle" pass from Doug Flutie to give Boston College the last second win over Miami, as the featured speaker.

Neil Hatfield of Montclair Men's Club received the trophy for high average of 111.5. Steve Sullivan of Wonder Bowl and Bill Earley of Local 1451 for high three of 346 and Bob Kovalski of the Atty. George Burke Club for high single of 138.

Montclair Men's Club

received the John A. Mullaney Memorial Award as league champion, Bryan Post was second, and Quincy Elks third.

The Sen. Paul Harold Club had the high team three of 1204 and Atlantic Fuel Oil the high team single of 400.

Dan Perry of Local 1451 received the Jim Broadbent Memorial Award for the most improved player and Steve Sullivan received the "Pop" Hatfield Memorial Award for good sportsmanship.

A moment of silence was observed in memory of the league's deceased directors, Albert Baker, Lester Bigelow, James Broadbent, David Brodie, James Carey, Gerald Connor, John Dennehy, Robert Ennis, Frank Fallon, Joseph Gillis, John Gundel, Alden Hatfield, Charles Linnahan, James McDonald, James McIntyre, Gerry Moline, Richard Morrissey, John Mullaney, Lee Veno and Max Zides.

The league has disbanded after 32 years because of the difficulty in finding available alleys. Several alleys have closed.

Joe Gildea was league president this year, Stanley Kovalski Sr. treasurer and George Hatfield, Stan Kovalski, Jr., James Vey and Jack Hatfield directors.

Little Loop Bowlathon Raises $2,007 For Muscular Dystrophy

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop's John A. Mullaney Memorial Bowlathon this year raised $2007.64 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The league has raised more than $18,000 to fight muscular dystrophy since the first bowlathon 11 years ago. Bob Kovalski was by far the largest fund raiser with a record-setting $613.42.

The total included $1601.64 in pledges, $140 in personal donations and $266 raised at the annual dinner. Thirty-eight of 40 boys participated in the bowlathon. The amounts they raised:

Bob Kovalski, $613.42; Steve Wysocki, $88; Pat Gallagher, $76; Bill O'Neill, $63.10; Mike Perry, $56; Joe Matheny, $52; Al Kenney, $51; Ken Drinkwater, $45.17; Pat Gullins, $41.83; Paul Wilson, $36.90; Tim Johnson, $32.74; Jim Ferrara, $28;

Chris McCulley, $25; Wayne McCulley, $25; Ed Rizzitano, $24.90.

Charles Billikas, $24; Neil Hatfield, $23; Billy Earley, $21; Steve Tobin, $21; Dennis Pateras, $20.30; Bill Wysocki, $20; Jason Bouffard, $20; Chris Stenmon, $19.80; Wayne Wiekell, $18.50; Tashawn Price, $16.02; Dan Perry, $15.06; Pete Wildes, $15.05; Mike Grindlay, $15; Steve Sullivan, $14; Sean Gately, $11.85; Andy Dodd, $11; John McManus, $10; Bob Buhencik, $10; Joe Gately, $10; Dave Zupkofska, $10; Sean Cafferty, $7; Dan Picard, $5; Mike Picard, $5.

5 Quincy Athletes Honored

Five Quincy residents were among the more than 350 Eastern Massachusetts athletes who were honored for their athletic talent recently at the Boston Globe All-Scholastic Banquet.

They are: MaryAnn Kelleher, cross country; Marlo LeVangie, volleyball; Ginny Duggan, volleyball; Lauren Stranding, volleyball; and Dave Holt, golf.

Speaking at the banquet were Joan Benoit-Samuelsor, 1984 Olympic Marathon winner and John Morris, former New England Patriot.

High School All-Star League Opens Aug. 14

The New England Pro-Am Hockey League, under the direction of Mike O'Connell and Bob O'Connell, has announced plans for the annual summer high school division All-Star tournament, to be held at the Quincy Youth Hockey Arena from Aug. 14 - 17.

The four-day tournament will feature four teams of eighteen skaters and two goalies each. The eighty players selected will be chosen from the twenty-four teams (12 Quincy and 12 Danvers) that are participating in the high school division of the New England Pro-Am Hockey League this summer. The dates of the tournament coincide with the annual Chowder Cup Tournament.

which this summer will be played at the Twin Rinks in Danvers. By having the high school tournament at the same time, many college coaches and National Hockey League scouts will be able to travel between the two rinks over the course of the weekend to watch several talented players in both age divisions.

The high school all-stars will be selected by a panel of coaches at a later date this summer. More details will follow as they become available.

To The Mets Baseball Team

Thank you for a good season and all the fun we had and thank you to the parents for all their support. See you next year.

Have a fun summer.

Our Local Business', Alumni, All Citizens

Who are concerned in assisting the athletic programs of our youth that have been greatly effected by recent budget restraints.

Our goal, to install permanent lighting facilities in our Veterans Memorial Stadium.

We need, $100,000 to achieve this goal. We need $25,000 of this sum by June 22nd.

We know that there are many citizens and alumni of our athletic programs that have many fond memories of our stadium. We want our facility to be second to none. Night athletic events will allow many more people to attend various competitions involving all of our athletes. The city of Quincy has always shown great pride in our Athletic Programs and throughout the years they have proudly represented our city of Presidents.

Now in these restricting times our Athletes need our support. We cannot let them down.

We the Veterans Stadium Lighting Committee are asking your help in achieving our goal to rededicate Veterans Memorial Stadium and help us "Brighten Up" the future of our athletic programs for all of the youth of our city.

Your support and tax deductible contributions would be greatly appreciated by the youth of our city.

Cubs Upset Braves, 13-10 On Ridge Grand Slam

The Cubs pulled off the upset of the year by stopping the previously undefeated Braves, 13-10, to even the National League playoff series in the Junior Farm League.

The Braves had won the opener, 9-5, to run their record to 12-0.

The deciding game of the series will be played this week with the winner going against the American League champ.

The Cubs had eight hits and seven runs in the first inning with Brendan Ridge hitting the first grand slam homer of the season. Gerard Baccalao had a triple and Susan Sheehan, A.J. Garthas, Bill Coughlin, Dan Donahue, Wayne Johnson and Billy Dunn a single each.

The Cubs kept it up in the second inning with singles by Sheehan, Donahue, Ridge and Baccalao and a triple by Carthas accounting for three runs, and Sheehan and Donahue drove in two more.

BRENDAN RIDGE

The Braves came back in the third inning with seven runs on seven walks and three hits.

The Cubs scored their final run in the fifth when Mike O'Brien walked and Donahue doubled.

The Braves threw a scare into the Cubs in the sixth by scoring three runs, but Donahue, the Cubs' pitcher, struck out two to prevent further damage.

Carthas and Donahue split the pitching chores for the Cubs, striking out 10 and allowing seven hits. Robby Callow, Cubs left fielder, made a fine play throwing out a Braves runner at second base.

North Quincy Koch Club Awards Night July 2

The North Quincy District Senior Unit of the Boys Baseball and Girls Softball Leagues will close out its 36th season Wednesday, July 2, at 6:30 p.m. with a Parents and Awards Night at Atlantic Middle School Field on Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Brillo's Return Boosts Granite City

Granite City Electric's Babe Ruth League playoff hopes received a big boost from the return of power pitcher Tim Brillo.

Brillo, who had been unable to pitch because of arm problems, overpowered a tough Houghs Neck team, allowing only four hits and striking out 14 as Granite City won, 3-1.

Houghs Neck's Mike Connor, one of the better hitters in the league, had two long doubles, Danny Steele doubled and Peter McLaughlin singled for the only hits off Brillo.

In the second inning, with Granite City ahead, 2-0, Bob Austin walked for H.N. Connor doubled over the head of left fielder Steve Wysocki, who retrieved the ball in deep left and fired to shortstop Sean Thompson. Thompson whirled and threw a strike to catcher Brian Holwert to nip the speedy Austin at the plate.

Austin pitched a strong game for H.N. allowing six hits and striking out 10.

Thompson and Howlett again paced Granite City with two hits each. Tony Anderlionis and Ken Caiwewski each had a single.

In one of the best games of the year Granite City scored three runs in the top of the ninth to edge Golden Manet 8-6.

In the bottom of the first Golden scored five runs on singles by Nick Draggone, Sean McDonough, Rich Crespi, a double by Mike Murray and a walk to Pat O'Donahue.

In the fourth Granite City got two back on a single by Thompson and Howlett's triple. Howlett later scored.

Down, 5-2, in the sixth, Caiwewski singled. Howlett and Erik DeBoer walked and Brillo hit a base-clearing double to tie the score.

In the top of the ninth Angelo Kyranis reached on an error. Andy Colleary singled to right. Anderlionis singled scoring Kyranis with the go-ahead run. Thompson lined a single to center and Howlett belted a long triple to right center to score Thompson and Anderlionis.

Granite City's DeBoer and Golden Print's Draggone matched each other, pitching fine games. DeBoer went all nine innings, allowing nine hits and shutting Golden down with one run after the first inning.

Draggone allowed only five hits in eight innings in a standout effort. Spectacular plays were made by Caiwewski in left field for Granite City and Crespi in left for Golden.

Thirteen-year-old Ritchie Burns caught an excellent game for Golden and had a single. McDonough played well at third and had three singles for Golden and Steve Briere, Draggone, Crespi and Barry Glynn all had singles. Anderlionis, Thompson and Howlett (two triples) paced Granite City's offense.

Golden has a 10-5 record and Granite City is 10-4-1 as the teams now break for the annual Babe Ruth tournament.

Bryan Post defeated Hancock Bank, 5-2, behind the eight-strikeout performance of Sean Mulhern. Mulhern had a two-hit shutout through five innings. With the tying run at the plate he finished strongly by striking out the last two batters to nail down the win. He is averaging better than a strikeout an inning.

Bryan infielders Sean Murphy, Chris Stenmon, Brian O'Malley and Steve Waas supported Mulhern with flawless defensive play. Catcher Chris Stranding had another fine game. The game's defensive gem was made by Jamie Green with a spectacular running catch in left field.

Bryan jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the second inning. Green and O'Malley walked, moved up on Aaron Silverman's perfect sacrifice bunt and Waas drove in both with a hit up the middle. Kyller's hit scored Waas.

Bryan upped its margin to 5-0 in the fifth as Kyller led with a single. Murphy reached on an error and Green singled to center. Rob Cinquegrano delivered a two-out two RB single to left.

Kevin Mullay and Pat McDonough also contributed to the Bryan win. For Hancock Chris Higgins had two singles and Kevin MacDougall singled and pitched well in relief.

Checking your vehicle's transmission fluid regularly helps prevent problems

A car equipped with an automatic transmission offers considerable convenience over manual transmissions. However, as with most convenient devices, there are no free rides.

An automatic transmission represents considerable cost when purchased as an option and is one of the most expensive items on the car to repair or replace. Fortunately, major repairs are typically not required unless the transmission is not maintained.

Recent surveys indicate that motorists are not paying proper attention to automatic transmission fluid (ATF) condition and levels. A transmission depends on ATF to lubricate, cool and provide the power transfer from the engine to drive axles.

The life of ATF can be severely reduced when overheated, and transmission damage can result. Overheating is typically caused by severe usage such as heavy stop-and-go driving, pulling a trailer, spinning the wheels in mud, snow or sand, and low ATF levels.

Remember to check the ATF condition and level periodically when you stop for refueling. If you need to add fluid, consult the owner's manual to determine which type of ATF is required.

If the fluid appears dark brown or has a burnt odor, it may need to be changed. If you must add fluid frequently, it may mean that the transmission has a leak which should be repaired. Faulty gaskets or seals usually cause leaks.

For normally operated vehicles, many manufacturers do not recommend ATF changes until 100,000 miles. However, considering the cost of transmission repairs or replacement, an ATF change and filter replacement at 25,000 to 30,000 miles would be cheap insurance against failures due to burnt or contaminated fluid.

Typical preventive service to transmissions costs between $20 to $50; on the other hand, overhauls range between $200 and $1,200.

If you operate the vehicle under severe conditions or tow a trailer, you might want to have an auxiliary transmission fluid cooler installed. Auxiliary coolers are easily installed and inexpensive.

If you are driving a late-model car, you may have noticed that the transmission shifts frequently. Your car might also have additional selector positions on the gear shift. This means that the vehicle has a lock-up torque converter or overdrive function built into the transmission. This allows the engine to turn slowly while driving the wheels much faster.

This is particularly effective for improving fuel economy. Be sure to consult the owner's manual on the proper way to drive a car equipped with such modifications. Improperly using overdrive at slow speeds or with heavy loads can damage the transmission.

For an informative pamphlet on your car's fluids and filters send 25¢ and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Filters, Car Care Council, 600 Renaissance Center, Detroit, MI 48243.

School's Out, Watch Out!

That's a timely warning issued to motorists by AAA Massachusetts.

"With schools closing for the summer, you'll find many youngsters playing alongside and sometimes in - the streets," Caroline J. Hymoff, Manager of Safety Services for AAA Massachusetts said today.

Vacationing students often forget their traffic safety rules - something drivers should keep in mind.

Mishaps can occur in a split second as children scurry from behind parked cars, dart across streets or take to playing games in or near the streets.

AAA urges drivers to slow down especially during the first few days of summer vacation. "Motorists should be extra careful when backing out of a driveway, no matter what time of day," warns Hymoff. "Stop and look all ways before entering the traffic flow. A skater, bicyclist, jogger, or young pedestrian may be hidden from view."

The AAA listed areas where special caution is required:

- Recreational areas -- playgrounds, swimming pools, tennis courts, ice cream and fast food stores, movie theaters.

- Urban residential areas - lack of space and few recreational facilities tempt youngsters to use streets as playgrounds.

- Suburban residential areas -- corners, curves, and driveways are often "blind" and bike use is high.

STARSCOPE

By Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: JUNE 26, 1986

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Supervisor may respond negatively to your ideas but this is strictly a short-lived trend. Artistic streak surfaces... and your talents could lead to modest profits.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Platonic friendship is highlighted during the weekend. You may be defeating your own purpose by trying to spare someone from the truth. Recent detective work pays off.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Your ingenious ideas may backfire but don't hesitate to devise new schemes... you're bound to come up with a winner. Romantic situation stabilizes before improving gradually.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
You may have to assert your authority before a tricky situation explodes. Your idea or invention is brought to the attention of an interested and influential party.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Thursday-Friday, see you experimenting with a new approach to a relationship. By Tuesday you'll know if the tactic worked. You wind up as mediator in a family dispute.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Thursday-Saturday focus on reconciliations. Weekend accents decorating projects, avoid using second rate products. Monday-Wednesday highlight new interests, especially those related to education or culture.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Budding relationship begins to blossom by the weekend. Intuition is especially strong on Monday but should not be relied on exclusively. Romance and travel may blend very well.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
You're excellent at finding bargains and making sales pitches. Highspur may expect the impossible; don't hesitate to explain your situation. Meeting new friends is highlighted now.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
A series of family decision requires extra consideration and perhaps a new point of view. Shopping expertise is at a peak. Cultural activities blend well with romance.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
A series of obligations can be met by the end of this period. Vitality is at a peak and your wit shines. A romantically upbeat phase is under way.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Romance favors a commonsense approach. Self-discipline is important if you're to realize a career or academic goal. Company from out of town may arrive unexpectedly.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Family budget requires careful review, with the accent on long term goals. Some interesting plans are in the works but don't divulge details prematurely. Romance situation brightens.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You enjoy making changes, you're sensitive to the needs and ideas of others, and you're protective. You're sometimes too cautious, and you find it hard to forgive. A greater willingness to take modest, occasional risks can pay off in various areas of your life. Career shift may happen by early '87.

BORN THIS WEEK
June 26th, actress Eleanor Parker; 27th, opera singer Anna Moffo; 28th, composer Richard Rodgers; 29th, producer Robert Evans; 30th, singer Lena Horne; July 1st, actress Leslie Caron; 2nd, actor Bork Peters.

Awards Presented At Houghs Neck Birthday Opener

Houghs Neck's 350th Birthday Celebration opened Sunday at the Atherton Hough School, attended by more than 200 youngsters through senior citizens.

Essays and art awards were presented to present and past Atherton Hough students with Martin Gordon, celebration co-chairman, introducing the program.

Special guests, all with Houghs Neck affiliations, were Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Councillor Michael Cheney, State Senator Paul Harold, State Rep. Thomas Brownell, and Quincy School Committee-woman Margaret Nigro.

Arnold Beresen, Houghs Neck Community Council Scholarship Committee Chairman, officiated at the awarding of $3,100 in book awards. These went to:

Lisa Norton, $500; Christine McCloskey, $300; Sharon Steen, $250; Helen Mina, $150; and Brian Stewart, $100. College students receiving awards were Jennifer McCauley and Kelly Doherty, $500 each; Julie Kohut, $300; Margaret McCourt and Stephen Magee $250 each.

Memorial awards to these students were presented by Esther Darrow, Mrs. Buzz Orio, Edward Radcliffe, Sr., Mary Ann Nichol Kohut, Rev. James Hart of Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Charles Peter and James Doherty.

Mayor McCauley, who presented the check to his daughter, Jennifer McCauley, congratulated the community on the "dual celebration" of Houghs Neck's 350th Birthday marking the land grant to Atherton Hough, and the 75th anniversary of the Atherton Hough School, built in 1911 at Manet Ave, and Sea St.

Christine Prendergast, president, and Dorothy Sparks of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church Mothers and Others Club, awarded bonds to students for poster and essays prepared in kindergarten through high school.

Art awards went to: Kerry Duffy, kindergarten; Kristin Wainwright, first grade; Kelly Howard, second grade. Essay winners were Kimberly Papa, third grade; Scott Joyce, fourth grade; Carrie Frenette, fifth grade; Robin Praetsch, seventh grade; Arthur Frederick Praetsch, 10th grade; and Patti Morrell, 10th grade.

Receiving Blue Ribbons for honorable mention were: Brook Calderon and Rebecca Mackey, kindergarten; Peter Dennis, David Holler, Geoffrey King, Kristen Mathison and Brenda Vraibel, grade one; Jacoall Bergstrom, Marci Galligan, Sara Gordon, Matthew Logan and Andrea Nickerson, grade two.

Christopher DeLisle, Kevin Nichol and Jay Renzi, grade three; Darlene Daggett, Ashley Davis, Jennifer Harper, Erin Hughes, Rhiannon King, Jason Wakelin, grade four; Robert Gordon, Nicole Manson, Colleen O'Rourke and Tucker Trainor, grade five; Gayle Morrell and Jeanine Quigley, high school.

American Legion Flag Essay winner Robert Gordon received a bond from Post Past Commander Mary Timcoe and Chaplain Alice Scribner, while a trophy will remain for the next year at the Atherton Hough School. This was accepted by Edward Baccari, school principal, from Robert Gordon.

Former faculty members at the Celebration were Miss Ruth Abbiatti, former principal; Miss Lillian Bertoli, Miss Mary Sweeney, and Mrs. Naomi Saltzman, with Mrs. Mary Curtin, still at the school, a former president of the Quincy Teachers Association.

Coordinating arrangements at Atherton Hough School were Denise Mackey, Mr. Baccari, Diane Robbins and Virginia Duffy of the PTO.

11 Residents Receive Academic Honor At Aquinas

Eleven Quincy residents have received academic honors at Aquinas Junior College in Milton.

They are: Michelle Cadman, Anne Marie Cleary, Kristin Fitzgerald, Mary Ann

Higgins, Tamar Kliphani, Barbara Layman, Carol O'Rourke, Lori Phillips, dean's list, class of 1986; Marianne O'Neil, Donna Woods, dean's list, class of 1987; and Debra Morreale, honor roll, class of 1987.

3 Residents On Wheaton Dean's List

Three Quincy residents have been named to the dean's list at Wheaton College for the 1985 fall semester.

They are: Gail M. Macdonald, senior, daughter of Peter and Dora Macdonald; Helena M. Aho, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keijo I. Aho; and Ann M. Weidner, junior, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ann Weidner.

Realtors Board Hears Registration Chairman

The Quincy & South Shore Board of Realtors recently hosted guest speaker, John Kennedy, Chairman, Board of Registration of Real Estate Brokers and Salesmen, at a breakfast held at the Viking Club, Braintree.

Brokers and salesmen had the opportunity to learn about new law revisions in the education required for the licensing exam, as well as continuing education for those already in the field. It is a brokers' salesmen's job, as a professional, to perpetuate the American dream of home ownership by assisting buyers and sellers in their real estate transactions, according to the realtors board.

Heavenly High Program At St. John's

A full panel presentation from the Heavenly High Youth Ministries drug education program will take place Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's lower church, Quincy Center.

Free and open to the public, the event will feature a talk by Brian Donahue

LEGAL NOTICE

INVITATION TO BID

CITY OF QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
55 SEA ST., QUINCY, MA 02169

Sealed Proposals for replacing the flat roof section of the Quincy Point Fire Station, Washington Street, Quincy, MA will be received at the Office of the Commissioner of Public 55 Sea Street, Quincy, MA until July 29, 1986.

At which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The Contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the contract within ten days from the date of the mailing of notice from the Commissioner to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect to do so, the Commissioner may, at his option, determine that the bidder has abandoned the Contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to provide both a performance bond and a payment bond and materials bond each for the full contract price. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of 5% of the base bid shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of $25.00 for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 10 days of the bid opening. Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for Ten Dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover the mailing and handling.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

Faulty Wiring Shuts Down Auto Shop

The Licensing Board suspended the license held by Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St., Quincy Point, after it was disclosed an inspection uncovered faulty wiring there.

Wire Inspector Thomas Purpura told the board he found violations of the city's electrical code.

Mrs. June Piccarini who appeared at the hearing with Atty. James Shannon was told by the board this suspension was ordered because of the very serious nature of the violation.

At an earlier hearing on conditions at the business site, it was brought out that Mrs. Piccarini had received an eviction summons from the landlord.

City Officials Seek Bay Cleanup Funds In Washington

Quincy officials hoped to return with good news today (Thursday) following an overnight trip to Washington D.C. to seek federal funds for the cleanup of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Scheduled to make the trip were Planning Director James Lydon, the Mayor's Executive Secretary Peter Kenney and former City Councillor Leo Kelly, a member of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority Advisory board.

Mayor Francis McCauley had been scheduled to attend but decided against it to conclude matters before the end of the fiscal year June 30.

McCauley expressed confidence in those attending, and noted Leo Kelly has extensive knowledge of the situation.

The group planned to meet with Cong. Brian Donnelly's office and then to determine strategies to pursue Environmental Protection Agency funding.

"Essentially, we've been feeling that the court suit which Quincy brought against the MDC to clean up the harbor and the activities of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority are looking toward the future remedy of the sewage from Metropolitan Boston," said Lydon.

"Nothing has been set aside to remedy the current problems of Boston Harbor," he said.

"We hope the EPA can go in and study conditions of the bay, compile information to determine what degree of toxins are there, and determine different ways to clean it," said Kelly.

"We're looking into different sources of funding to initiate immediate clean up of the bay.

"We want to try and make people aware that the condition of the bay is deplorable," he said.

"There isn't really much being done to clean the bay in its present state, other than the effort of opening the Deer Island Secondary Treatment Plant," said Kelly who noted that that will take place in 10 to 15 years.

Kelly indicated that he doesn't expect results overnight.

"It took a 15-year fight to get something done in the way of proper treatment of sewage.

"The effort has been long and involved and hard.

"But at least we're started in the direction to clean the bay."
